

Immigration Men Hold Harry Bevan Under Service Act

Harry Bevan, age 35, a native of Wales, is the first British subject to fall into the hands of the United States authorities under the recent treaty whereby British citizens could be subjected to military service.

This is the second time Bevan has been before the Nogales authorities as he was held for a short time several days since when taken into custody by Deputy Marshal Walter Bohrens. Bevan was interrogated at that time by Department of Justice Agent Oliver but was ordered released.

At that time Bevan stated that he would return to Tucson but instead crossed the line into Sonora and made his way to Magdalena where it is believed that his journey came to an abrupt end when he failed to produce a passport.

Bevan then returned to the line, reaching Nogales Tuesday night. Before departing for the south he had left his baggage at a restaurant here and crossed the line in the morning to secure his belongings. Bevan admitted entering the United States at a point other than designated by the immigration authorities. He was arrested Wednesday by Deputy Marshal Martin Delahay and lodged in the city jail. He was taken before the Department of Justice officials and subjected to further interrogation with the result that he was turned over to the immigration authorities who will send him to Tucson.

Bevan will either be deported to Mexico or forced to enter the service of the British army. He is being held on a violation of the regulations governing entrance into the United States. It is believed that Bevan has I. W. W. tendencies and on several occasions is said to have made remarks which caused the officers to think he was pro-German if not an out-and-out subject of the kaiser.—Nogales Herald.

PROMINENT PIONEER HONORED

James G. Colter, father of Hon. Fred T. Colter, State Senator and Democratic National Committeeman, has recently been elected vice president of the Pioneer's Historical Society at Prescott. Probably no other of our pioneers enjoys the prominence and wide acquaintance in all sections of Arizona as does Mr. Colter of Apache county. He crossed the plains from Wisconsin in the early seventies, and introduced the first reaper and threshing machine in the state. Savages under the leadership of Chief Geronimo and Victoria periodically attacked white settlers, either killing or driving away the most of their cattle and horses. Of those who came to build their homes in this new country numbers of them met death in these Indian raids, James G. Colter himself being wounded. Mr. Colter is still a young man in spirit, although 75 years of age, and his feats in the saddle still arouse the envy of even the younger generation. His jovial, magnetic personality has made friends whom he numbers by the thousands, and who never lack for real entertainment when they can strike this pleasant old pioneer in a reminiscent mood.

'Help-the-Farmers' clubs are the latest development in colubdom. The idea originated with A. L. Barkman of the department of labor, and he wants women and girls in rural communities to organize and register so that farmers will know whether they can get berry-pickers, fruit gatherers, and help for truck gardening. It may be that we shall go back to farming 'bees' with groups of people going from farm to farm to do quickly the work that needs doing, as they used to do in various regions during harvesting and haying seasons.

Miss Sue Dorsey has to keep track of 1500 navy officers, which means knowing where each of them is and how he does his work. When a ship asks for an officer, he is assigned to duty by this pretty young woman, who is called 'the most valuable woman in the government' by Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, who is paymaster general of the U. S. navy and has asked to have Miss Dorsey duly commissioned as his assistant. This is the only woman who has been recommended for an officer's commission in the navy.

The government is today the greatest employer of labor in the United States, not considering railroad employees. In normal times approximately 400,000 civilians are employed, and in the last year the number has increased to 600,000. In comparison one steel corporation employs 300,000 men, and one railroad 250,000.

Santa Cruz County Gives More Soldiers

The last increment of the first draft of men for the U. S. army left Nogales for Tucson last Monday afternoon, their destination being Fort Riley, Kansas.

The farewell tendered the boys was on the same scale as it would have been had there been a larger number of departures.

TWO-BIT THERIFT

Says Secretary McAdoo I take my pen to write you; For since this Hohenzollern crew Continues hell's own broth to brew, Until the whole world's in a stew, Their course we ought to make them rue— Says Secretary McAdoo.

Our boys will go abroad to fight, And it is only fair and right That we should help with all our might, And so this letter I indite To say, please loose your pursesstrings tight, Says Secretary McAdoo, Addressing me and also you.

Come, give your government a lift, Invest, it's really not a gift; Let's make in war's dark cloud a rift, And set this Prussian crew adrift, And can, if we practice thrift, Says Secretary McAdoo, A-messing me, and also you.

Two-bits I ask to beat the foe; Two-bits to sink the U-boats too; Two-bits to end this Hun-made woe; Two-bits to let the kaiser know The time has come for him to go— Satan complains that he is slow— Two-bits, says William McAdoo, Just take the hint, from me to you! —Ellis Meredith.

WAR THRIFT CANS, 25 CENTS AND UP

Divisional athletic directors who have received commissions will accompany their contingents to France, according to the war department commission on training camp activities. Boxing instructors will not be sent with the troops as at present the need for these men is considered greater on this side.

In an announcement by the food administration the cause for advance in rice prices is attributed to the fact that most rice mills have been running to full capacity in order to supply the demand for 1,000,000 bags for American and allied fighting forces. As a result the normal supply for home consumption has been temporarily reduced. Lower prices are forecasted.

When the railroads get an order from the U. S. navy signed 'A. Hayden,' they bustle up the cars, little knowing that they are taking orders from a slip of a girl hardly past her majority. Officially, she is executive clerk of the priorities section and takes command in the absence of the head. Two naval officers act as her assistants. She enlisted as a 'voorman' and is an expert draftsman, having formerly been employed in that capacity by a Washington construction firm.

The economy of having your tires re-treaded is a feature not to be overlooked these days of high prices. Flux Mine to Be Put in Operation By Bisbee Men

The famous old Flux mine, the property of Colonel B. R. Richardson, has been bought by Mr. Frederick Colberg, representing a group of Bisbee capitalists. The property will be worked under a new system that is said to be capable of saving more than 90 per cent of the ore values. The new method is not in general use, there being but two other mining properties in the United States at present using the system, one at Bisbee—the Shattuck—and one in Nevada. Mr. Colberg is confident that the mine will become a big producer, as there are thousands of tons of ore in sight. The Flux has produced large quantities of ore in the past, but former workers were not able to save the values to an extent that warranted the expenditure of large capital.

Mr. Colberg says the mine will begin operations in about ten days, and as soon as the necessary machinery has been secured and placed the mine will be worked on a large scale.

The opening of the Flux mine will be of great benefit to Patagonia, as it is near by and will employ a large number of men.

NEWS OF THE MINES

The tunnel being driven on the Dixie property is in about 240 feet, and during the process of the work a vein of silver-copper ore was encountered that has given the property a new interest and value in the eyes of the leasers. The mine has been producing high-grade lead ore, and it was thought that the tunnel being driven would cut the ore deeper, but sometime for some time as a lead property. The new strike will be left for future prospecting, as Mr. Tom Stafford, who is in charge of the work, is anxious to reach the ledge under the old shaft, which will be done within a short time.

Pete Hansen, of the Bland mine, was in Patagonia Wednesday, and reported that the mine has suspended operations until such time as machinery can be installed to take care of the hoisting work at the mine. The shaft is down 130 feet, and the work of hoisting the ore from that depth with a winch is not satisfactory. The intention is to sink the shaft at least 150 feet deeper, as Mr. Hansen is confident there is a good mine in the making, and that the richer ore will be found deeper down in the ground. Samples recently sent for analysis showed values of $25 a ton.

The Trench mine, which is under the able management of John Hoy, is still producing high-grade silver ore. We hope soon to be able to announce that this fine property is on the shipping list.

PIONEER LIFE IN MISSOURI

Was "Fine for Men and Dogs," but Undoubtedly Also Hard on the Women.

"In Pioneer Families of Missouri," is printed a letter written by a woman to her sister in Kentucky, the Kansas City Star says:

"The men and dogs have a fine time, but we poor women have to suffer. We pack water from one-half mile to one mile for cooking and washing. My advice is stay where you are. But if you see anyone coming to this country, send a plank cradle for poor little Patrick. His poor little back is full of hard bumps, lying in a cradle George made out of a hollow log, with a piece of wood for a pillow. George and I attended a wedding last week. The preacher, a hard-shell Baptist, had a long buckskin overcoat. The groom was in his shirt sleeves, with white cotton pants that came just below his knees, and white cotton socks and buckskin slippers on his feet. The girl was dressed in a low-necked, short-waisted, short-sleeved white cotton dress that was monstrous short for a girl like her. She had on buckskin slippers and her hair was tied with a buckskin string, which is all the go here. And when the preacher was spelling and reading the ceremony from the book, the girl commenced sneezing and the buckskin string slipped off her hair, which fell all over her face, and everybody laughed."

An early marriage ceremony in Livingston county took place with the couple on one side of Medicine creek and Squire Jordan on the other side. The creek was booming. The young man swam the stream and brought the squire down from his house. Then the young man swam back and took his place beside the young woman. Squire Jordan couldn't swim. He wanted to postpone the ceremony a few days until the creek went down. The young folks wouldn't have it. They joined hands and told the squire to go ahead. The questions and answers were shouted across the creek and the knot was tied. Medicine creek got its name, according to tradition, because a country doctor in trying to swim it lost his "pill bags," as they were called.

POTASH ALWAYS IN DEMAND

Hard to Obtain Sufficient Quantity of This Most Important of Fertilizers.

Potash is perhaps the most important of fertilizers. Although potassium, in its combinations, is one of the most widely distributed of the elements, it is found massed in bulk in only a few places. The Saxon deposits at Stassfurt, and the beds in Alsace, are the world's chief sources of supply.

Elsewhere, potash is to be had only by the treatment of great quantities of material, with a small resultant yield. The case is not as bad as that of radium, where a ton of ore may give only a fraction of a grain of the precious metal; but it is bad enough to make its extraction an extremely costly process. The farmer's wife has always known how to leach potash from wood ashes in sufficient quantity to make the soft soap for the family washing, but this method does not pay commercially.

Horse's Jumping Powers.

If the reader will carefully measure out 30 feet an idea of a horse's capacity in this direction will be gathered. Such a distance a stepphase horse called Old Chandler is reported to have covered at Warwick many years ago; and there is more than one apparently authentic record of a horse clearing over seven feet in height. The scene of such an exploit was at the Phoenix park, Dublin, and the horse was called Turnip. The animal belonged to Sir E. Crofton, and the duke of Richmond, then lord lieutenant of Ireland, wagered £500 that this height could not be cleared. A wall of the requisite dimensions was built, and when finished Turnip was ridden at it. He did what was asked of him in perfect style, but it happened that his grace, not knowing that the feat was ready for performance, was not looking when the jump was made, and Turnip was therefore ridden over it again, not only successfully, but easily.—London Tit-Bits.

Catching Monkeys.

The well-known habit of monkeys to imitate the actions of man is cleverly utilized by wild-animal catchers in taking the agile, climbing creatures captive, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The hunters' method is to walk about for some time within sight of the wild monkeys, wearing short boots. Then the boots are taken off and gum is placed in their bottoms, after which the men withdraw from the scene. Before long the curiosity of the imitative watchers in the trees gets the better of their caution and they descend and start to try on the boots, whereupon they discover that the footwear cannot be removed and, being unable to climb, are easily captured.

Strong Negatives.

There is one great advantage about keeping both glass and film negatives in envelopes made of transparent paper—that the negative can be looked at and identified without taking it out of its envelope. More negatives are damaged by being turned over to find some particular line than by the lapse of time, and the transparent envelope protects them from injury from this source. A system of filing and cataloging, by which any negative required can be found with a minimum of disturbance of the others, also tends to prevent damage.

MEN WITH NERVES OF IRON

Remarkable Feats That Are Said to Have Been Performed by English Steeplejacks.

The business of being a steeplejack has very strangely "run through" several families of England. At Nottingham there was a family named Wootton, members of which had for centuries the reputation of being daring steeple-climbers, not for adventure but in the way of business.

One of these Woottons, in the time of George III, was famous for repairing steeples and spires without using scaffolding; he did his work by the help of ladders, hooks and ropes. When he repaired St. Peter's spire, Nottingham, in 1789, having finished his work, he beat a drum at its top, thousands of people looking on.

Another of the Woottons undertook the perilous task of ascending the spire of St. Mary's, Manchester, which was very lofty. By a tremendous wind the ball and cross had been bent down, and looked dangerous. This steeple climber raised ladders one after the other, assisted by blocks and ropes, and secured each in succession to the stonework with clamps. When he got near the top of the spire the work became more difficult, and the spectators anxiously watched him as he fixed the last ladder. Having accomplished this feat, Wootton stepped from the ladder on to the crown or pinnacle of the steeple, and stood quite upright, with his hands free. Then he raised a cheer, which was responded to by the crowds below. More extraordinary still, one of these steeple-climbers is said to have performed the feat of standing upon his head on a steeple top.

Got Their "Lively Time."

A famous lion-tamer tells of a queer Christmas present he once received. It was a consignment from a friend abroad of three lion-constrictors and five alligators. "With Jim's best wishes for a lively time," the lion-tamer and his wife got the lively time desired. He says:

"I shall never forget how annoyed I was when, during the night, two of the alligators broke out of their boxes in our bedroom and began exploring. I could not find the matches, and I and my wife remained on top of the bed canopy all morning. Luckily, my wife never thought of the thing that worried me. I was afraid the alligators might call on the lion-constrictors to wish them a Merry Christmas, and so wake them up too!"

Nuts and Digestion.

The reason nuts are thought indigestible by some is because of the thin skin surrounding each kernel, notes a medical authority. This can easily be blanching off by pouring boiling water on the nut, and allowing it to stand for a few moments. Almonds should never be eaten with the red, tough skin on the nut meat. When boiling water is poured on the almond, this skin becomes as tough as leather. The best way to use nuts for children is to grind the nut meats or pound them, for which purpose the nut-butter knife in the meat grinder will be found the right tool. A good nut cracker with strong spring makes nut-cracking easy, and is preferable to buying the ready-picked meats on the market.

Folly of Ridicule.

A moment of indulgence in ridicule may create lifelong resentment, notes a student.

The late Richard Mansfield is said to have nursed a grievance against Henry Irving for years. The reason was that Irving had momentarily indulged a little weakness he had for making sardonic remarks.

Ridicule of persons strikes at personal vanity. And vanity is a very common weakness. Few escape it altogether.

And this kind of ridicule, in fact all kinds, on examination, will be found to be associated with vanity. In ridiculing there is invariably the desire to show how clever one is oneself.

BOLIVIA'S CITY OF SILENCE

Santa Cruz De La Sierra Far From the Outside World—Mail Reaches New York in Two Months.

"The only tropical city of Bolivia it stands from 1,500 feet above sea level so far from the outside world that mail deposited on January 7 reached New York on March 11. Of the 19,000 inhabitants of Santa Cruz De La Sierra, 11,000 are female, writes Harry A. Franck in the Century.

"It is a city of silence. Spreading over a dead-flat, half-sandy, jungled plain, its right-angled streets are deep in reddish sand in which not only its shod feet, by no means in the majority, though the upper class is almost foppish in dress, but even the solid wooden wheels of its clumsy ox-carts made not a sound. There is no modern industry to lend its strident voice, though the town boasts three 'stream establishments' for the making of ice, the grinding of maize and the sawing of lumber, and every street fades away at either end into the whispering jungle. Narrow sidewalks of porous red bricks, roofed by the wide overhanging eaves of the houses, often upheld by pillars or poles, line most of the streets. But there are by no means continuous, and being commonly high above the street level and often taken up entirely, especially on an evening, by the families, who consider this their veranda rather than the pedestrian's right of way, the latter generally finds it easier to plod through the sand of the street itself.

BALLOON LIKE BIG TADPOLE

Latest French Aircraft for Observation Purposes Requires Fifty Men to Maneuver It.

Among the latest triumphs of the French aerial service is an observation balloon, named "Le Caquot," writes a Paris correspondent. In shape it resembles a great tadpole. Whereas other types are inconvenienced by a wind of from 50 to 55 feet a second, Le Caquot can remain in the air unless the wind exceeds 65 to 75 feet per second.

It takes 50 experienced men to maneuver it, for as soon as it leaves the shed great attention must be paid to the wind currents, so as to save the envelope from being torn. Attached to the balloon is a wicker car, in which the observer is installed with his maps, charts, arms, barometers, and telephone, the latter fixed over his ears so as to leave his hands free. He is also provided with glass and a white silk parachute for an emergency.

When the balloon attains an altitude of from 2,000 feet to 3,000 feet the windlass to which the cable is fixed is drawn by horses or motor car at a moderate pace to a point near the enemy lines, where a refuge excavated in the soil has been prepared. This accomplished, the observer transmits his instruction by telephone.

Two anti-aircraft posts are established nearby to keep off enemy airplanes. If the balloon is menaced the crew bring it down from 5,000 feet in seven to ten minutes.

WORLD'S MOST CURIOUS CITY

London Magazine Seems to Have Discovered Quaker Settlement on Saginaw Bay, Lake Huron.

The most curious of cities consists of wooden huts on wheels, to the number of about one hundred and thirty, which, when the season arrives, are rolled onto the ice on Saginaw Bay, Lake Huron. The population of this city without a name is about five hundred. Each hut is fitted with cooking utensils, hammocks, and a stove, and is occupied by three men, whose business on the ice is to follow a peculiar method of fishing.

In the center of each hut a hole, about a yard square, is dug to the water. One of the fishermen then takes a live fish of the herring tribe, and after fastening it to a piece of pack-thread drops it into the water. The fish dashes away as swift as an arrow until it is pulled up by the thread, when it returns towards the hole followed by a host of plike and other fish desirous to feast on the dainty morsel. Beside the hole stand the fishermen, harpoon in hand, waiting the arrival of the pursuers, who are received with thrusts of the four or five-pronged instrument, which rarely fails to bring up some writhing victims.

Some huts can show two hundred or more of fine fish at the end of the day's work. The most weird appearance of this city is at night, when the fishermen prosecute the work by the light of torches, which, as is well known, attract fish without the aid of the herring bait. The glancing torches and the shadows of the men leaning over the holes make a strange spectacle. If fish are not abundant in the spot first chosen the hut is wheeled to another site.—London Tit-Bits.

Prince of Story Tellers Would Be Interested in This Wonderful Tale of Adventure.

One of the big ocean liners was several days out from New York on a trip across the Atlantic. It was dinner time, and those at the table fell to telling stories about their experiences at sea. Finally it was the turn of a person who had previously been boasting of his linage. He told this "yarn" says the Youth's Companion.

"It happened a number of years ago," said he, "on my fifteenth trip across the ocean, when we ran short of some provisions, particularly eggs, milk, fruit and fresh meat. We were very fortunate to have on board a resourceful fellow named Brand, who pulled us out of the difficulty in good shape. First he went to the hatchway for eggs, but, as they were a little too old to eat, they were used for cooking, and he requested the captain to have the ship lay to. This operation was repeated until we had eggs enough to go round.

"Then, at Brand's suggestion, the captain fired a ship's rocket into the Milky Way, and all we had to do was to hold buckets and catch the milk as it poured out of the hole made by the rocket. For a fruit supply we let down buckets over the side of the ship and picked up enough ocean currents to last for a week. The next day we had foul weather, which provided us with plenty of ducks and chickens. Some of these we ate and others we kept to replenish our egg supply."

"I was on that very trip," spoke up a wag at the end of the table. "It was the steamer Baltic, in October, 1908, New York to Liverpool. We also had on board a fair-sized goose, which was overlooked in some way. I'm sure they never ate the bird, but I've wondered, all these years until today whatever became of it."

VALUABLE ARTICLE OF FOOD

Banana Really Is Not Appreciated Anything Like as Much as It Ought to Be.

The banana is one of the most useful of all foods. When the population of the earth becomes overcrowded, we shall have to eat more bananas and less bread. An acre in wheat will yield 900 pounds of food. An acre in bananas will yield 120,000 pounds.

The banana resembles in composition the sweet potato. Both contain 1 1/2 per cent of protein and 20 per cent carbohydrates. The banana contains more starch than fruits of the temperate climate. As it ripens, the starch gradually turns to sugar.

The late Edgar Wallace Conable said that the banana is the only food which may safely be eaten when it has been picked green. This, he explained, is because the green bananas draw nourishment out of the great central stem, which gradually shrinks and withers. A banana should never be eaten until the skin is beginning to turn black. Some claim that they should be entirely black. However, it is not necessary to go so far as that. As they turn black the starch turns to sugar. Scrape the white material from beneath the skin before you eat the fruit.

The Brute.

"Where have you been tonight?" she asked bitterly, as he snorted in about 11 o'clock. "Was it business again this evening?"

He made no reply, but sat down to the cold supper that was on the table. "Aha, the difference in a short time!" she went on. "I have been trying to solace myself tonight by reading some of your love letters. Here is one," holding it up, "that you wrote one month before we were married; in this you say that you feel as if you could eat me. Oh, the affection, the passionate love expressed in those words! It is one month after marriage," she continued, beginning to weep pearly tears, and sob like the throb of a steamboat engine, "only one month after marriage, and now—"

"I wish to goodness I had!" mumbled the unfeeling brute, with his mouth full of ham.

Novel Bed for Paralytics.

One of the great problems in certain cases of spinal wounds with paralysis is how to move the patient sufficiently to make his bed and tend his wounds without increasing his suffering by moving him. The new bed solves the problem. Surrounding the bed just at the edge of the mattress is a rectangular framework of hollow metal piping. Connecting the two parallel sides are broad bands of webbing stretched across the mattress, and on these the patient lies. The two short sides of the framework, the one at the head of the bed and the other at the foot, are connected by a geared wheel with a vertical steel post so that by simply turning a handle at the head or foot of the bed the framework, with the patient lying on the webbing, can be lifted off the mattress without his position being changed in the least.

Cornmeal in Honduras.

Because of the marked success of recent governmental and private efforts to promote the production of more cereals during the period of the war, writes Consul Walter F. Boyie, Puerto Cortes, an American company has imported and erected the first mill for the milling of cornmeal. This was purchased in the United States and has been erected at San Pedro, Sula, Honduras. It is a small equipment, but marks the beginning of a new industry.

FAIR PLAY ABOVE VICTORY

Canadian Soldier Generous in Seeing That Opponent Should Have His Right Chance to Shoot.

In an obscure Los Angeles suburb lives a blind man. The following is one of the many stories he tells of his experiences:

It was in the early nineties that a picked team of American riflemen had gone into Canada for a friendly contest with the Queen's Own.

The competition had been fierce and the score close when the last American rifleman laid down at 800 yards. He had to make 23 to tie and 24 to win out of a possible 25.

A great crowd had gathered to watch the contest, and had gradually closed in behind the firing station until there was very little space left for the rifleman.

The first four shots scored the bull's eye, counting 20. With his last shot he had to make a 3 to tie and a 4 to win. The excitement was intense, and the air was charged with the magnetic stillness of repressed excitement, as the commanding officer of the Queen's Own stepped forward and called out "Get back there and give the man a fair show. How can he shoot with you standing on top of him?"

The crowd fell back, the American fired, and the indicator recorded another bull's eye, making his score 25.

Age of Fishes.

The most striking characteristic by which fishes of different ages can be distinguished is their size. But the size affords us only the means to estimate the age of younger fishes; as to the older, it cannot serve us as an indication of their age, since their growth may vary according to the different conditions of nutrition, so that often the younger fish will excel in size the much older fish. There is, however, at least as regards the fishes of the Northern seas, a sure indication that betrays their age. It is the otoliths, or ear stones. These ear stones grow as long as the fish itself continues to grow, and form annual rings in the manner of trees. The more annual rings shown by a fish's ear stones the greater its age. In this way the age of a fish can be exactly determined.

A Change for the Invalid.

If you have a friend lying ill, try taking some daintily prepared edibles next time you make a visit.

Nourishing broths and soups, wine jellies, delicately browned custards and light puddings made of eggs and milk are good. Or a small jar of marmalade or half a dozen lightly browned biscuits for the invalid's tea. Or creamed chicken and creamed oysters delivered in a charming blue bowl and all ready to be heated up by the nurse. Grapefruit is always appreciated and mandarin oranges and white grapes in a pretty basket are an appetizing combination, and there are some invalids who would be delighted with a jar of preserved ginger for occasional nibbling.

Unnecessary Intestines.

The human intestine seems to be partly a relic of prehistoric times, largely useless in this modern day and age. The uselessness of the vermiform appendix, which is simply the stump of what was once an important and functioning branch of the alimentary canal, is well known. Recent operations in a London hospital seem to indicate that a large part of the lower main canal, the colon, can be dispensed with without harm. In these operations sections of the colon have been removed. The work brings up again the famous scientist Metchnikoff's debated contention that these parts of the anatomy are not only useless but dangerous.

"Blue" and Worried?

"Blue," worried, half-sick people should find out the cause of their troubles. Often it is merely faulty kidney action, which allows the blood to get loaded up with poisons that irritate the nerves. Backache, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder troubles are added proofs that the kidneys need help. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands thank them for relief from just such troubles.

A Colorado Case

Mrs. Dacie Brumley, 114 Twelfth St., Greeley, Colo., says: "I had a steady ache in my back and frequent attacks of dizziness made me feel weak and miserable. My kidneys acted irregularly. My feet swelled and ached so that I could hardly stand on them. For three months I hardly slept at all and I was so nervous that I couldn't be still. I used three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and the trouble is now entirely gone and I am in good health."

It Was Mother.

During a Bible lesson a teacher was trying to explain the parable of the tares.

"Can anyone tell me who is like the evil one who sowed the tares?" A hand instantly shot up from a small boy at the foot of the class.

"Well, John, what person do you say?"

"Please, ma'am, my mother." "Why?" asked the teacher in astonishment. "Well," he answered, eyeing his patched trousers, "she sews all my tears."

Evidently Contemplated Visit.

Mrs. Joynson had begun to keep hens, while Mr. Joynson cultivated the back garden. One day there were ominous sounds from the cabbage patch, and Mrs. Joynson exclaimed to her little boy:

"Quick, sonny! See if the fowls have got out. I don't know what your father'll say if they're among his vegetables!"

Sonny ran off and came back beaming.

"Yes, mother, they're out!" he cried. But they're just going in again; they are all wiping their feet on the they are all wiping their feet on the onion bed!"

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

WHERE WRITERS FOUND MUSE

Cottages, Gardens, Woods, Riverbanks and Haystacks Afforded Inspirations for Famous Authors.

There is not much "local color" for a book like "Robinson Crusoe" round about the Surrey town of Dorking, observes a bookworm, but Defoe wrote at least a part of that immortal story of a desert island, the parent of hundreds of imitators, at Burford Bridge, just under Box Hill.

In the garden of the hotel on the opposite side of the road, Burford Bridge hotel, a haunt of birds, one of the places where one may almost certainly hear the nightingale sing, the poet Keats wrote part of his immortal poem, "Endymion," and in a lovely cottage surrounded by a wonderful hedge of box, a hundred yards nearer London, George Meredith wrote "Diana of the Crossways."

Tennyson wrote "Enoch Arden" overlooking the sea in his garden in the Isle of Wight. Shelley wrote "The Revolt of Islam" whilst lying in a punt under the woods at Marlow, and "The Cent" on the roof of the Villa Valsovano, at Leghorn. Being weather-bound at Ouchy for two days, Byron wrote every word of "The Prisoner of Chillon."

Curious School Customs.

Mexican schoolmasters show their appreciation of pupil's efforts in a curious manner. The diligent student is allowed to smoke a cigar during the lesson. When the whole class has given satisfaction permission is given for a general smoke, and even the little Mexicans are allowed to light a cigarette for the occasion.
