

An Appeal to Your Patriotism; Buy War Savings Certificates

President Wilson and Gov. G. W. P. Hunt have issued proclamations naming June 28th as National War Savings Day.

Economy is a thing everyone thinks he understands, yet which is badly garbled in the minds of a good many people.

What do YOU think economy means? The majority of folks think economy is going without things—usually things needful.

There never was a time when it was so vital for American citizens to get straight—the meaning of economy, extravagance, penny and thrift.

Economy never was intended to cover the act of grabbing and grasping right and left, in order to protect the individual self.

There is a world-wide difference between economy and extravagance. The writer has in mind a woman who thought she was economizing when she bought a corset for 15 cents, at a grand bargain sale.

The government is helping us American citizens to get the habit of thrift. The far-seeing ones in touch with things on the firing line realize the necessity of every individual taking part in the great activities—those activities which are costing money, blood and brains.

When you are inclined to grumble, or feel that your personal rights are being hard pressed, because everywhere you go you are urged to buy bonds, war certificates, or thrift stamps, don't let the grouch get a clutch on your vitals.

Now it's time to wake up, boys and girls, men and women, every mother's son and daughter of us, and learn what it means to SAVE—what economy and thrift can and will do for our country.

And don't get puffed up when you have paid for a bond or two, or have bought a few thrift stamps. Of course, you have helped Uncle Sam—it's your duty and privilege—and you are doing it, but bear in mind that "what blesses one blesses all," and vice versa, what blesses all is bound to bless one, your own self.

Every cent you put into thrift stamps and war savings certificates, or liberty bonds, is helping to win the war—your war, Neighbor John—your war and my war—we cannot differentiate and place the responsibility somewhere else and leave out any individual.

Another thing, while your pennies, your dollars, loaned to the country now are going to win the war and make this country a decent place to live in—a safe place—perhaps the most lasting effect this saving will have on you individually (and every one who does it) is that it will get you into the channel—the channel of righteous economy and saving.

Go look up your dictionary—it will, perhaps, surprise you to read what it says about economy.

Last word—get the government's viewpoint. Because they ask you to save, does not mean that they will ever encourage the disruption of the country's business. There never was a time when it was so necessary to keep a happy equilibrium.

True economy means that you must be alert, and help to keep all righteous business up to normal, while at the same time practicing thrift.

Important Notice!

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES PROCLAIMS FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1918, as NATIONAL WAR SAVINGS DAY

GOVERNORS AND MAYORS MAKE SIMILAR PROCLAMATIONS

AN INTENSIVE DRIVE FROM JUNE 10TH TO JUNE 28TH WILL BE HELD IN ARIZONA, CULMINATING WITH THE HOLDING OF MEETINGS IN EVERY COMMUNITY TO SECURE AND ANNOUNCE SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Pursuant to the proclamations of the President of the United States and the Governor of this State, I, War Savings Director for Arizona, acting under the authority of the United States Treasury Department, have called all taxpayers and wage-earners to engage in an intensive drive for securing pledges and subscriptions, commencing June 10th and culminating on June 28th.

The school officers will conduct the meeting in each school house, keeping a record of the proceedings and reporting the names of all persons present and the amount of War Savings Stamps subscribed for by them.

War Savings Stamps (which are United States Government Bonds, the same as Liberty Bonds) can be paid for during any month in the year 1918, but it is intended that subscriptions will be signed for them from June 10th to June 28th, inclusive.

The price of each War savings Stamp depends upon the month during which it was bought. During June each Stamp will cost $4.17. In July each stamp will cost $4.38, and so on, one cent more each month during 1918.

By way of illustration, note the following table:

COST OF WAR SAVINGS STAMPS DURING JUNE, JULY AND AUGUST, 1918

Table with 4 columns: Stamp quantity, Cost in June, Cost in July, Cost in August and are Worth on Jan. 1, 1923. Rows include 1 Stamp, 20 Stamps, 50 Stamps, 100 Stamps, and 200 Stamps.

The law provides that no person can hold in his own name War Savings Stamps exceeding $1,000.00 maturity value. War Savings Stamps, however, may be purchased for other members of the family, including minor children.

The money invested in War Savings Stamps is not a gift, or a donation, but is a loan to the Government. It will all be paid back with 4 per cent compound interest. If, because of some serious financial reverse, or calamity, it should be necessary to get your money before January 1, 1923, you may do so by giving ten days' notice to any Money Order postmaster.

A definite quota of War Savings Stamps has been assigned each school district and community, which will be announced by the War Savings Chairman through the Daily Papers and otherwise and at each meeting.

It is to be hoped that the subscriptions taken during the drive and at the meetings in your county will show you and your neighbors to be loyal Americans to whom our Government, in this hour of need, does not call in vain.

H. R. TRITLE

Arizona War Savings Director appointed and acting under the authority of the Secretary of the United States Treasury.

Arizona Patriot's War Savings Pledge. I will invest, to the best of my ability, in War Savings Stamps, and hereby pledge myself to purchase, and have in my possession within the year 1918, at least $... of stamps.

If you have not already signed a card bearing the following, do so at the first opportunity. Remember, you help the boys who are at the front by helping the government—and yourself—by loaning your money, on the best security in the world, to finance this war.

The following is self-explanatory: Phoenix, Ariz., June 5, 1918. To the Taxpayer: It is requested by the Treasury Department that any person or persons owing Income or Excess Profits Taxes who have previously purchased Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness maturing June 25, 1918, should use said certificates in payment of their taxes.

These certificates will be accepted at par with accrued interest. Respectfully, LEWIS T. CARPENTER, Collector.

Twenty-five thousand nurses are needed at once for the U. S. Army and Navy. They must be assembled for immediate service this month. The Hun offensive along the Marne has caused the government to issue an emergency call. From across the Atlantic comes the demand through the surgeon-general of the army. It is transmitted to the registered nurses of the nation through the Red Cross.

Mining Company to Open El Paso Group

The Consolidated Arizona Copper Co., composed of a group of middle-west capitalists, whose headquarters are in Kansas City, Mo., is on the eve of beginning extensive development work on its valuable mining claims, the El Paso and Olive groups, adjoining the famous old Mowry mine, at Mowry.

Machinery has been ordered, and upon its arrival work will be pushed with all possible speed, under the superintendence of W. J. Mitchell.

Mr. J. A. Ritzler, president of the company, accompanied by Mr. A. C. Grove, of Gary, Ind., secretary-treasurer and general sales manager of the Mid-Continent Securities Co., of Gary, has been here for several days making arrangements for opening up the mine. Mr. Grove's firm will furnish capital to carry on the development work.

MINES AND MINERS

Don't buy other plans for the Fourth of July. Come to Patagonia.

Pete Elchel has taken a lease on the old Victor mine and will start work on the property immediately. The Victor is patented ground.

Machinery, lately purchased by the World's Fair mine from Montana camp, is being hauled to the mine, and is being installed as rapidly as possible. The World's Fair is pushing work rapidly and soon will be on the shipping list again.

John Campbell, who is interested in mining in the Patagonia district and is well known here, has been in town for several days.

County's Big 4th of July Picnic Rapidly Perfecting Program

The Fourth of July picnic, to be held at the grove on the Sonoita grant, and to be participated in by all the residents of Santa Cruz county who can get here, will be the holiday event of the year, if a program of fun, sports, barbecued meat and dancing can induce the people to lay away dull care for a day and join us at the grove.

Several committees have been appointed to look after the arrangements for the picnic, and others will be named later. Those already announced are as follows:

Building and grounds—C. L. Northcraft, A. D. Sydenham, H. H. McCutchan, C. B. Wilson, J. W. Miller, George H. Francis and Mr. Belue.

Dance—C. A. Pierce, chairman, who will name assistants later.

The Pacific division of the American Red Cross has extended its drive for nurses to continue throughout the week, according to the announcement made by Miss Lillian L. White, director of the bureau of nursing for the division.

Originally the drive, which started June 3rd, was to have continued for a period of ten days, but it is evident that that time will not be sufficient to enroll the quota of 619 nurses allotted the division.

A moonlight picnic has been arranged by some young people of Nogales for Saturday evening, June 22nd, who will journey to Patagonia and hold a dance at the Patagonia Opera House. The proceeds of the dance will be given to the Red Cross, which needs all the dollars you can spare.

A local committee has been selected to assist in the arrangements for the dance at the Opera House, as follows: Val Valenzuela, Jr., Ed Collier, George T. Coughlin and Howard Keener.

Four initiative and referendum petitions and an amendment to the constitution measure are being circulated in the county for signatures. They, apparently, are all worthy of consideration, but before signing any of them be sure to read them to learn what you are to your liking. Most of us are prone to sign petitions on the recommendation of the circulators, without knowing exactly what they contain.

OLDEST DYNASTY IN WORLD

Distinction Undoubtedly Belongs to the Reigning House of Japan—Began With Emperor Jimmu.

The present Japanese dynasty is by far the oldest in the world, for Yoshitomo claims to be the one hundred twenty-second monarch of an unbroken line, dating from the seventh century before the Christian era, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The early history of Nippon, as recorded in the holy book, Shinto, begins with the dynasties of the gods and is wholly mythical in nature. The dawn of real history begins with the reign of Jimmu Tenno, whose memory is revered today by all the sons of Nippon.

Jimmu the Great forced the savage tribes to accept civil institutions and extended his beneficent sway over the entire country. He established his capital at Kioto. He formulated a code of laws, established courts, encouraged industry, and laid the foundation for that marvelous advance made by the Japanese during the nineteenth century.

The title of mikado, which means "honorable gate," was derived from Jimmu. From the days of this ruler Japanese power in the Orient increased. The successors of Jimmu like the great emperor himself, were worshipped as gods upon earth. Women were not excluded from the succession to the throne, and there are many famous empresses in the history of Japan.

JUST WHAT BECAME OF POND

Foolish Questioner. It is to Be Supposed, Was Satisfied With Explanation Offered Him.

Speaking at a dinner, Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois referred to the propensity of some people for asking foolish questions, and told the following story:

One day a city man happened in a country community, and while rambling around he ran across a depression in the earth covering several acres. Some perplexed, he questioned a native close by, and was told that it was the bed of a lost lake.

"You don't really mean it?" returned the city man. "Whatever became of all the water?"

"It was this way," readily explained the native. "There was a picnic out here last August, and when night came on they had nearly a barrel of pretzels left, which they didn't want to cart back home, so they threw them in the lake."

"Yes, I see," interjected the other as the native paused, "but what had that to do with it?"

"Everything," answered the native. "The fish ate them, and the salty diet made them so thirsty that they drank all the water."

Americanisms in Britain.

Lord Derby, in advising us not to "get rattled," has added another word to our war vocabulary, or, at any rate, given an old word a new meaning. In this sense "rattled" is an Americanism, and we remember reading an article by W. D. Howells some thirty years ago, in which he said he was not very easily rattled. Of course we have used the word in this country with other meanings for many centuries; even Pepys relates on one occasion how he rattled his wife, but that was more in the nature of grumbling, while Lord Derby evidently intends us not to get alarmed or excited, which is the real American sense of the word.—London Chronicle.

Phosphorescence on the Moon?

Several European observers of the total lunar eclipse of July 4-5, 1917, have reported that the brightness of the lunar disk appeared much greater around the limb than near the center. These observations lead M. A. Nodon of Bordeaux to revive a suggestion that has sometimes been made to account for the brilliancy of certain lunar craters; viz., that the surface of the moon may possess a luminosity of its own in the nature of phosphorescence. In that case, perspective would increase the apparent luminosity toward the limb.—Scientific American.

AMONG TOMBS OF MONARCHS

Shaft Will Be Erected on Scottish Coast to the Memory of United States Soldiers.

Nature has built on several of Scotland's western islands great stone shafts that are viewed with wonder and admiration; man has erected on others many columns and monuments that are renowned in art and history. To mention notable examples, the natural may be seen in the basaltic pillars of Skye and Staffa, the artistic in the memorials to Scottish, Irish and Norwegian kings in the burying ground of St. Columba's Isle, Iona. There will shortly appear amid this concourse of records a monument altogether novel, a new-world monument, by which America will signalize the memory of her young soldiers of freedom whom Germany's submarine derring-do drowned in the adjacent waters. On this knoll a lofty monolith of imperishable granite will be raised in honor of the brave who went to death unflinching and self-controlled.

Islay was the chief seat of those fighting chieftains, the lords of the Isles, who began in the twelfth century their incessant warfare with the Norsemen, and the title of the island prince has descended to the Prince of Wales. Quiet past and stirring present seem to meet on this picturesque island. If the shades of the old-world kings ever visit the royal tombs at Iona, they need look south but 30 miles to see a towering sign of the making of new-world history.

PLEA FOR "FOOLLESS" DAY

Movement to Abolish Stupid April First Jokes Surely Would Meet With General Approval.

In connection with the movement for "less" days it is up to some patriot who has the highest interest of the nation at heart to launch a campaign for a foolless first of April.

Individuals, like automobiles, are not foolproof, and Mr. Absent Minded, who from time immemorial has been a much-footed man on the fatal day, would rise up and call congress blessed, instead of calling the members thereof names, as he now does, if that body would busy itself with legislation abolishing the April-fool jokes that wreck tempers, ruin dispositions and work havoc generally.

On the other hand, Mrs. Absent Minded would probably fight to the last ditch against any curtailment of the privileges of jeering derisively at her husband when he puts salt in his coffee, cracks an egg which proves to be only a shell, finds the lining of his overcoat sewed up, picks up some stage money on the doorstep and starts to work with a box of soap emulsified as candy in his pocket to munch after lunch.

As a result the sons of dignity will probably have to endure the annual disturbance of their mental equilibrium in order to keep peace in the family.

Man Dumb From War Now Talks.

Parents of Walter Jones, a soldier of Glen Cove, L. I., who has just returned from France, answering a telephone call from New York, heard the voice of their son, whom they supposed was dumb as the result of shell shock. In the trenches in France a shell exploded within a few feet of Jones and he became unconscious. Several of his comrades were killed by the explosion. When Jones regained consciousness he was deaf and dumb. He was sent back to America for treatment and on the ocean trip homeward the vessel was attacked by a submarine. The excitement of this shock is said to have restored both his speech and hearing.

Edwin H. Hisey, the undertaker, and C. L. Dietz, the broker, are brother Rotarians. One stormy day recently Hisey, while returning from Crown Hill with his motor hearse, saw Dietz standing on a corner way up Meridian street. Hisey stopped the hearse and shouted to Dietz: "Going down, Lew?" Dietz stared at his hospitable friend and replied: "I—I—I hope not!"—Indianapolis News.

OUTWITTING the HUN by PAT O'BRIEN.

THIS is without a question one of the most astounding stories of air and land adventure written since the war began. A flier under the British flag, O'Brien, after a hard fight with several Boche machines was finally wounded 8,000 feet in the air, brought down and captured.

While being taken to the prison camp with a German guard beside him with gun loaded ready to shoot, he made his escape by jumping through a window. After 72 days of crawling and slipping by night and hiding by day—bleeding, wounded—passing sentries boldly—fighting peasants—he crossed the boundary into Holland. No wonder he was received with joy by the English public—no wonder audiences all over the United States listened breathlessly to his story. YOU can read it now for we have secured it for our next serial. This long-limbed, hawk-faced dare-devil Irishman—they could not keep him out of war—they could not kill him—they could not hold him! Read his story, it is a splendid proof of that indomitable spirit that makes America unconquerable, invincible.

Our New Serial—Be Sure to Read It

Prediction Somewhat "Off."
"The last great war has been fought and the nations may now look forward to uninterrupted peace."
This was the hope and belief proclaimed from many pulpits in England when Great Britain, by royal proclamation, celebrated a general thanksgiving day following the end of the Napoleonic wars. After the smoke of Waterloo rolled back it revealed a continent given over to desolation. Although England had suffered less than the other nations involved in the long struggle, she had by no means escaped unhurt. For twenty years Great Britain had supplied the financial sinews of war for her allies in addition to active participation in battles on land and sea.

Barges to Fall U-Boats.
If actual trials prove the scheme to be practicable, it is understood that in order to check the depredations of the enemy's U-boats, immense ocean-going barges towed by powerful armed tugs, may be used instead of steamships for transporting freight through the submarine zones. Long, low-sitting, enclosed craft of steel construction will be tested. Crews being unnecessary, the barges are to be decked a few inches above the water line so that from a distance they will be practically invisible to a periscope. As is perhaps generally known, a tub, because of its small size and comparatively shallow draft, offers a torpedo a poor target. In a gun duel, should a U-boat risk a fight, the tug would have nearly an even break with the enemy.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

First Paper Mill.
The first paper mill in this country was started by William Bradford at Germantown, Pa., in 1690. It was known as the Rittenhouse mill, and, of course, the paper was made by hand—the first machine for the purpose being invented in 1799 by a Frenchman, Louis Robert.
The invention of paper is attributed to a Chinaman named Tsai Lun, who is said to have made it from bark, hemp, rags and old fish-nets in the year 105 A. D. Six centuries later the Arabs captured the Chinese city of Samarkand, and there learned the art of paper-making.

Removing Blight of Islam.
The blight of Islam which has seared Jerusalem for centuries, which has reduced Mesopotamia to a desert, Syria to desolation, promises to be lifted at last over all that region that was the cradle of civilization and the first garden of the world. "The crescent of fertility" stretches from old Judea and Philistia along the Mediterranean littoral curving eastward to the upper Euphrates and Tigris and then continuing southward to the Persian gulf. The zone between the sea and the desert, and again between the mountain and the desert, will be redeemed as Egypt has in our own day been redeemed, provided the Turk be forced back northward and westward behind the Taurus and the Anti-Taurus barrier.

Wide Interest in Astronomy.
There can be no doubt that there is just now a great awakening of public interest in astronomy. Renewed evidence of this, if any were needed, is afforded by the secretary of the American Association of Variable Star Observers. About a year ago, we carried in this column a brief note describing the aims and needs of the association, and appealing for additions to its corps of volunteer observers all over the world. Within one month the secretary states that he had received 53 replies to this very modest little notice.—Scientific American.

The Charm of "Old Glory"

When Freedom was born, 'mid oppression and strife,
 Her halo was blazon'd in hues of the sky,
 With stripes for the struggles and duties of life
 And stars for the light of Jehovah on High.
 Now, in peace and in war, that fair emblem of yore
 We salute as "Old Glory," the flag we adore.
 May that "Star Spangled Banner" in glory e'er wave
 O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

Its cheerful red glow warms the blood from brave sires
 And sparkles for courage, for ardor and might;
 Its rippling white stripes glint the light that inspires
 When Freedom and Duty in service unite;
 And its heavenly blue, with the stars shining thru,
 Heralds union and strength for the faithful and true.
 May that "Star Spangled Banner" for righteousness wave
 O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

When Washington's men, with great perils to face,
 Were crudely equip'd and in dire distress
 The charm of "Old Glory," its promise and grace,
 Brought chivalrous aid and insured our success.
 To old foes and old friends now "Old Glory" extends
 The support that our Freedom, in power, defends.
 May that "Star Spangled Banner" in honor e'er wave
 O'er a chivalrous land and the home of the brave!

Wherever that flag proudly floats in the haze
 Of havoc and conflict between Right and Might,
 Its many new stars and the cheer of their rays
 Should brighten the sky for the Allies of Right.
 May its radiance be shed and, in triumph, be spread
 Over all in the valorous service ahead;
 And the "Star Spangled Banner" forever shall wave
 O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

[Repeat]

("Mid the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
 May "Old Glory" inspire all the brave "over there!")

Old Glory!

By ELLIS PARKER BUTLER
 Of the Vigilantes.

IT IS because it means so much, is the symbol of so much, that our nation's flag is so sacred that the man who defiles it deserves to be shot down in the act.

A flag is a symbol, a sign, as the cross is a symbol and as the triangle is a symbol. The mere silk or bunting of the flag are nothing. A burial squad tramps through the woods bearing the body of a dead comrade, and digs his grave and covers him over in his last bed. On the ground lie two bits of wood. They are nothing but bits of wood, to be burned, or to be left to decay. The dead man's comrades pick them up and bind one across the other and plant the cross thus made at the head of the grave. Now the bits of wood have become a sacred sign and whoever destroys that cross, or defiles it, or throws it down is indeed a dog. The bunting and the silk of our flag are nothing; not until they are assembled in the stars and stripes of our flag and thrown to the breeze as the symbol of loyalty and patriotism do they demand our reverence.

We honor the flag because of what it stands for. Those who dishonor our flag dishonor all it stands for. In days like these, when our nation is at war, there might be placed under the dome of the capitol at Washington a great book of a thousand pages. On the first page might be inscribed the American's Creed, proclaiming a belief in national honor, national justice and national honesty and a belief in a free government for this free American people. To Washington then might be called all the people of the nation, to sign one after another their names in the great book so that all America and all the world might know how each man and woman and child stood, until all our millions were enrolled. There is no need of this. The American's Creed is written in the stars and stripes of our flag. Our flag stands for all that could be written in the great book at Washington. It stands for honor, justice, national honesty, and a free government, and when the time of stress comes, as at present, the flag is at hand, ready to be raised in twenty million homes, a proclamation of loyalty as valid as a signed and sealed book. Our flag is not a gayly colored decoration to brighten our towns and villages; it is a creed—an "I believe"—to tell our neighbors, our nation and the whole world how we stand.

In something of the same way the flag of Great Britain tells its story, with the St. George's cross of England, St. Andrew's cross of Scotland, and St. Patrick's cross of Ireland combined. The true story of Prussianism and its brutal aggressions is told by the German flag. The German empire, so much boasted, is shown by its flag to be but a footstool on which the king of Prussia wipes his feet, for in its center is the black eagle of Prussia, crowned, and the black cross of Prussia is smeared all over it. The German empire is Prussia and nothing but Prussia; a military autocracy holding Bavaria, Wurttemberg, Saxony and all the other states in pawn, just as the king-kaiser would like to hold New York, California and all of America, and as he now holds helpless Luxembourg and brave Belgium. The black in all the German flags is the black of Prussia, and black is the color that was chosen by the pirates and cut-throats.

Everyone knows the story of our own flag, with the thirteen stripes that signify the thirteen original states of our Union, and the stars, one for each state in the union today. Our flag was made when the wise fathers of our nation decreed that this should be a union of sovereign states and that no kingly crown or imperial eagle should appear on our banners.

This Flag day it will float from the staffs of a million American homes, perhaps from ten million or twenty million, but its greatest glory—the greatest glory of its 140 years—is that it will float in the breezes of France and Flanders beside the flags of Belgium, France and Great Britain, and on the seven seas of the world, in the world's greatest combat against autocratic brutality. No longer the flag of a group of colonies, Old Glory has become the banner of a world power, the emblem of the mightiest free people that ever existed.

From generation to generation, since Old Glory was born, flags have died, but Old Glory has had new birth. The white flag of royal France and the standard of Napoleon have given way to the tricolor, but Old Glory still waves. From generation to generation our flag is born anew, recreated in our hearts, ever better loved and more sacred in our eyes, because it is the flag for which our heroes have died and because it is the symbol of the only government that can endure—a government of the people, by the people and for the people. It is the flag of no king or czar or emperor, but your flag and my flag and the flag of the brave boy who has gone with a song on his lips to die that we may remain free. Earth has no greater glory today than Old Glory.

WESTERN CANADA'S CROPS

Got an Excellent Start. Big Yields Now Assured.

Never in the history of Western Canada did the seed enter the ground under more favorable conditions. The weather during the month of April was perfect for seeding operations, and from early morning until late at night the seeders were at work, and every acre that could be profitably sown was placed under requisition. Farmers entered heart and soul into the campaign of greater production. There was the time and the opportunity for careful preparation, and as a consequence with favorable weather from now on there will be a vastly increased yield. They realized it was a duty they owed to humanity to produce all that they could on the land, not only this year but next as well. In addition to the patriotic aspect, they are aware that the more they produce the greater will be their own return in dollars and cents.

In many districts wheat seeding was completed by the 1st of May, after which date oats and barley on larger acreages than usual were planted.

As has been said, favorable weather conditions made possible excellent seed-bed preparation, and the seed has gone into the ground in unusually good shape. The available moisture in the soil has been added to by rains, which have not been so heavy, however, as to interfere long with the work in the fields. The grain is germinating readily, and on many fields the young green blades of the cereal are already showing.

An optimistic feeling prevails among farmers that Western Canada will reap a record harvest. If the season from now on is as favorable as it has begun, these hopes should be realized. Mr. J. D. McGregor of the Federal Food Board, who is also an old and successful farmer in Western Canada, asserted a few days ago at Calgary that crop conditions throughout the Prairie Provinces were excellent. "Speaking generally," he said, "the crops have never gone into the ground in better shape than this year, and with an even break of luck as far as the weather is concerned, there should be an enormous crop." His present duties in connection with the Food Control Board, taking him in all parts of the West, Mr. McGregor has exceptional opportunities of observing conditions all over the country.—Advertisement.

Careful Patient.

A woman whose throat had troubled her for a long time grew impatient at the slow progress she was making and made a complaint to her doctor.

"Madame," he said, "I can never cure you of this throat trouble unless you stop talking and give your throat complete rest."

"But, doctor," objected his patient, "I'm very careful of what I say. I never use harsh language or anything of that kind."

Among the Survivors.

A little story a friend of mine told me of a happening at one of the army camps when the first colored troops arrived. The colored trooper replied: "I'll tell you, boss, I was kind of figurin' 'on totin' them around myself."—Chicago Tribune.

RHUBARB—MAKE THE MOST OF IT

Rhubarb Fresh From the Garden. Ready for Use in Any One of Half a Dozen Attractive Ways.

RHUBARB IS ONE OF BEST PLANTS

Advance Guard of Many Good Things in Way of Fresh Fruits and Vegetables.

YOUNG LEAVES ARE TENDER

Expert of Department of Agriculture Relates Her Experience in Making Delicious Dishes—Some Recipes Are Given.

I always hail with delight the first tender stalks of rhubarb that grow in my garden. They are the advance guard of so many good things in the way of fresh fruits and vegetables that the spring and summer bring to us.

Even the back yard or city garden can have its clump of rhubarb. I find it one of the most useful plants in my garden. By cutting out the bloom stalk before it matures and pulling the stalks often I have good rhubarb all summer. If neglected too long the leaf stalks become woody, but the young leaves in the center of the crown will be tender and usable all summer. The leaf area should not be reduced too much by harvesting, as it will weaken the root and reduce the harvest the following year. Even when fruits come I do not forget the rhubarb, and in preserving time it repays me for my care by saving me money.

Making Preserves.

Strawberries and raspberries are usually expensive to buy by the crate for preserving, but I make preserves, using from one-third to one-half by weight of rhubarb. Both raspberries and strawberries have a decided flavor, so that the rhubarb is not noticeable. I allow the rhubarb to cook down until fairly concentrated before adding the berries. The result is a delicious jam or preserve.

From time to time I cut the rhubarb and, if it is not wanted for immediate use, put up a few cans for winter. I have kept some very successfully by cutting into half-inch pieces, packing in jars and filling to overflowing with cold water, then sealing the jars as usual.

Later in the summer I make a few jars of rhubarb conserve, cooking the rhubarb with sugar until concentrated, then adding nuts and raisins.

When rhubarb made its appearance this spring I resolved to find a way to use it without using more than my share of sugar. I have found that by using corn sirup I can make rhubarb sauce successfully.

Rhubarb Sauce.
 Wash the rhubarb and cut in half-inch pieces. Put three cupsfuls of the cut rhubarb in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of water and cook for five minutes. Add one and one-half cupsful of corn sirup and cook together until the rhubarb is tender.

If you desire a sweeter sauce, a tablespoonful or so of sugar will help. (One of my favorite desserts is rhubarb tapioca.)

Rhubarb Tapioca.
 Soak a half cupful of pearl tapioca in two cupsful of water until soft. Put in double boiler and cook until clear, adding more water if necessary. Add a half teaspoonful of salt and stir in two cupsful of rhubarb sauce. When cool add a teaspoonful of vanilla. Chill and serve with cream.

Another favorite of mine is rhubarb scallop. I save all left-over muffins or biscuits made from the wheat substitutes and grind them into crumbs. These I use as a basis for scalloped dishes.

Rhubarb Scallop.
 Wash tender rhubarb stalks and cut into pieces about an inch long. For each cupful of crumbs use a cupful and a half of the cut rhubarb. If the crumbs are very dry, moisten slightly with water. Butter a baking dish and put a layer of crumbs sprinkled with cinnamon or nutmeg, then a layer of rhubarb and three or four tablespoonfuls of corn sirup. Dot with butter. Repeat until dish is full, covering the top with buttered crumbs. Bake for 20 minutes and brown on top. This may be served hot with or without sauce.

RHUBARB—HOW TO USE IT

One of the food specialists employed by the United States department of agriculture is an enthusiast on rhubarb. Not only does she demonstrate it in the departmental kitchens and elsewhere, not only does she commend its good qualities to women everywhere, but she grows it in her own garden and prepares it in her own kitchen for use by her own family. Head her statement of some of the excellent uses she finds for it.

Breadless Meals Save Wheat.

How are you saving wheat? One way is to serve breadless meals now and then. Have you ever tried them?

Breadless meals need planning ahead. You can't take just any menu and take the bread out and expect the family to like it. Bread has several functions in the meal, and fully deserves the high opinion which we have of it. It is one of our best foods for fuel, furnishing carbohydrate in the form of starch and also body-building protein and mineral substances. But if the meal contains enough other food to furnish the starch and the protein needed why not save the bread?

Try planning your meals so that these wheat-saving dishes take the place of the bread. Potatoes, sweet potatoes or dasheens—mashed, baked, boiled or rice—rice, oven-fried cornmeal mush, hominy grits, large hominy, baked beans, lima beans, split peas—all are good served as vegetables, with meat and gravy. It is not necessary to serve more than one of these starchy foods at a meal, but serving two of them, for instance, well-browned, crusty croquettes or fried mush (and these can be cooked in the oven instead of in the fat kettle) in addition to potatoes or sweet potatoes, makes the meal more tasty for many of us and is an easy way of securing variety. Aside from the question of economy and convenience the important thing in such a case is not the number of cereal foods served, but the character of the meal as a whole, which must be truly varied and not made up almost entirely of any single type of food. We must have other kinds of food in our diet in abundance as well as starchy foods.

Therefore, in planning your breadless meals make sure that you serve an abundance of fresh vegetables, such as green cabbage, kale, turnip tops, onions, onion tops, dandelions and other greens, asparagus, green peas, tomatoes, spinach, carrots and so on, choosing those which are in season and abundant in your garden or your market. With a varied meal planned in the usual way, except that the servings of the starchy foods and the vegetables are larger than usual to make up for the bread, you can have a breakfast, dinner or supper which may be pleasing to the taste and which will meet the body needs.

There are other food combinations and dishes which you can take advantage of in planning the meals with bread. For instance, you may prefer to replace part of your usual allowance of bread with a wheat-saving dessert. These desserts furnish much the same food materials as bread, but in a different form: Rice pudding, hominy pudding, Indian pudding, tapioca cream or fruit tapioca, cornstarch pudding, baked bananas (use bananas which are underripe, because they are richer in starch than the ripe ones), or gingerbread made from the wheat substitutes.

Women in Britain Cut Logs.

A quarter of a million women in England are now working more or less regularly on the land, says the London Observer. The great majority are village women who go out from their cottages and work for the farmers. Seven thousand are in the new Land army, which employs women who are recruited for a certain term and sends them wherever they are required.

The women in the Land army enlist either for twelve or six months. In case of twelve months they receive two complete outfits free, consisting of a dress, corduroy breeches, strong boots, leggings, overalls and hat. They also get for the year one jersey and one mackintosh. They are given four or six weeks' free instruction at a training center. Their pay on the farm ranges from $2 to $5 a week.

For a girl who joins the army for six months there is no training. She goes straight away to the land and begins on the work requiring less skill. Services of women enrolled in the Land army are available for timber cutting and hay baling.

REMINDER OF PAST DAYS

Author's Depiction of "Tourist" Printer Will Be Recognized as Drawn From Life.

Thrilling adventures of the old journeyman printers are contained in "These Shifting Scenes," by Charles Edward Russell. These wanderers roamed from town to town, denouncing everything outside of New York as unfit for consideration, and returning by way of freight trains once a year for a visit to that Mecca of journalists. Mr. Russell describes a typical member of the guild, one "Scotty."

"This solid and sorry ragamuffin had so often escaped violent death that he was convinced of a destiny to die of disease and was far more fearful of drinking contaminated water than of riding on car trucks. Once as he clung to the bumpers of a freight car a mad or intoxicated brakeman had fired five revolver shots at him and every shot had clipped or gone through Scotty's hat. Whereupon the brakeman, probably convinced that he had seen a ghost, leaped from the train and was killed.

"Several times Scotty had been in train wrecks. Once the car was on fire and he was pinned down by a pile of joist, but two brakemen worked with frenzied zeal until they freed him and saved his life; and then pursued him down the track pelting him with coal for stealing a ride.

"His walking experiment was made in 1874 when business was depressed and the country was full of tramps. He joined a colony of these and so great was the terror they inspired that the farmers used to come every morning with presents of chicken and milk; but as a matter of fact the tramps were the most harmless of men. One had been a clergyman and used to reprove the others for swearing."

Origin of "Machiavellian."

A favorite epithet for centuries, the word "Machiavellian" has seen tireless service since the beginning of the present war as an adjective to be hurled at rulers who are accused of being treacherous and dishonorable. The adjective is derived from the name of Niccolo Machiavelli of Florence, Italy, who died in 1527.

Machiavelli, famous as an author, wrote a book, "The Prince," in an endeavor to prove that, for the establishment and maintenance of government, any means might be resorted to, no matter how treacherous, unlawful, or dishonorable. The ruler would be justified in using these forces, the author argued, because he would only be pitting them against similar traits of wickedness and treachery in his people.

Machiavelli was a friend of popular government, and for several centuries there were a few who argued that "The Prince" did not truly represent his principles, but in reality was a satire on rule by despots. The dispute was set at rest in 1810, however, by the discovery of a letter written by Machiavelli. The author said he wrote the book for the private reading of the Medici, an Italian family of great wealth and power, because he desired to curry favor with them, and he had no idea the book was to be published. —People's Home Journal.
