MR. ADVERTISER

The Patagonian is about to make a slight change in its advertising policy. It enlarges this week, adding one column to each page, and two inches to the length of each column.

Heretofore it has allowed no ads on front page. It is its desire to distribute its advertising matter,—your advertising matter,—so as to give each customer a position as near as may be to reading matter. For this reason we have decided to devote several columns of the front page to advertisers. The front page is probably the best position in the paper. The charge, therefore, will be higher than other pages—40c per inch per week. Only double-column ads which stand without charge for at least four weeks will be placed here, at present.

Should you care for space here, answer by letter. First come first served. The space is limited.

TRAGIC DEATH OF GEORGE CLARK

(From the Vancouver Daily Province, Vancouver, B. C., of Oct. 2, 1919)
 Main street was the scene of two serious automobile accidents this morning which resulted in two deaths and terrible injuries to a mother, which may end fatally.

George Clark, an elderly visitor from Patagonia, Arizona, was instantly killed at 9 o'clock when auto 817 driven by G. V. Chambers of 40 Twentieth avenue east, knocked him down and passed over him.

According to witnesses Mr. Clark with his brother, was at the corner of Main street and Park lane. He started to cross Main from the west side and saw the motor car coming. He stopped but Chambers thought he was going on across the street. Owing to this misunderstanding the car kept on travelling at a speed of from twelve to fifteen miles an hour, say witnesses and knocked Mr. Clark down. His head struck the pavement, the auto passed over him, and when he was picked up he was dead.

Chambers is held by the police.

LEMINISCENCES OF GEO. CLARK
 (From Patagonian, Apr. 25, 1919)
GEO. CLARKE, SONOITA PIONEER
 Interesting Sketch of an Old Timer Who Has Done His Part in the Upbuilding of the Southwest

One of the well-known and well-liked pioneers of the Southwest is George Clarke of the American Boy mine, who came to Arizona nearly a half century ago. Mr. Clarke is an interesting talker and can tell of many events which occurred in the days gone by when the West was in its infancy and which, to the present-day generation, seem like romances of a forgotten age.

Mr. Clarke came to the Sonoita Valley in 1872—46 years ago. In that year he engaged in ranching at Calabasas near what was then old Fort Mason, purchasing the property that had belonged to Mr. Blanchard, an Englishman who had been killed by the Apaches. This deal was made through the old time pioneer, Pete Kitchen, who was administrator of the Blanchard estate. At the time Mr. Blanchard was killed an old timer named Benedict was severely wounded and was later elected treasurer of Pima County, of which Santa Cruz County was then a part. John T. Smith and Pasquat Magray were ranch neighbors of Mr. Clarke during this year.

Mr. Clarke later engaged in mining which avocation he has followed until the present time, having located and sold the Darwin mine on the Bae Plant and also sold what are now known as the Alto mines, formerly known as El Pomo. In later years he located the American Boy mine, which has just changed hands.

During the Apache troubles Mr. Clarke was employed as a scout for General Miles in the hunt for old Geronimo, and can tell of many exciting events concerning those bloodthirsty Redmen. During the Spanish-American war Mr. Clarke was employed as a packer for the government, being connected with the Eighth cavalry, stationed at Fort Principe, Cuba.

When Mr. Clarke first came to the Sonoita the only ranch which was inhabited was the old Tom Gardner place below Patagonia, the settlers on the other ranches having all been killed during an Apache raid.

Before coming to Arizona Mr. Clarke had been a member of the Nineteenth Kansas cavalry and later had driven an ox team across the plains long before the advent of the railroads. In 1877, he joined a Texas Pacific surveying party at El Paso and came into Arizona. This party was under the direction of Tom Scott, at that time a noted man in railroad circles, who later sold the Texas Pacific grants and concessions to the Southern Pacific.

Mr. Clarke has done more than his share in building this great Western empire of ours—in making it a safe and comfortable place in which later generations may live and prosper, and to him and his kind those of the present day owe a debt of gratitude which can never be paid.

"AT REST"

Hucie Alvie Gatlin beloved wife of Jesse L. Gatlin passed away at her home near Patagonia, Ariz., Nov. 3, P. M., Tuesday October 14th 1919.

Mrs. Gatlin was a native of Texas and date of birth June 18th 1891. Left to mourn her loss are her husband and their two children, her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Jones of Parker Canyon her two brothers Dave and John Jones besides other more distant relatives and her many friends throughout the country, for Mrs. Gatlin was beloved by all who knew her.

Card Of Thanks

The parents, husband, children, brothers and all relatives of the departed Mrs. Jesse Gatlin wish to thank all who so kindly gave their sympathy and help during their days of sorrow, especially to Mr and Mrs. Fred Barnett whose efforts were untiring.

PETER HENESN'S LUCK

Peter Hensen, who has stood by his mining claims single handed, is leading The Elevations, a group of six, to Pennsylvania people. This is his reward for a long stay through times when circumstances were anything but encouraging. He also reports that at the 230-foot level he is cross-cutting in the Rhea, and expects to strike ore which will run 160 oz. of silver.

LOOKING INTO OLD FIELDS

Geo. W. Crow, one of the best known mining men in the southwest, who has been spending some time in Mexico, and who was connected with the Alto Mines some twenty-five years ago, is back again, and is looking into the old Pierce-Gardner property in the Harshaw district.

A BENEFACTOR

In the road which crosses the Flux Canyon there was a big bowlder, which had been the cause of considerable damage to automobiles lately. Ired Miller came along the other day, and decided the enemy should be engaged. Finding the pick range the obstinate trouble maker was soon reduced to a state of "innocuous desuetude." The people of Patagonia should thank Mr. Miller for his enterprise.

REAL SPORTSMEN

Wayne Sydenham, in company with Frank Valensuela, Ricardo and Gus Amado, and Dave Gardner, who went out for game last week, held their ground until Sunday, when a large five point buck was encountered. Under pressure of circumstance the buck very promptly surrendered, helmet and all. It happened in Hog Canyon, last Sunday. The buck dressed 100lbs net.

Nor did these young sportsmen forget to remember all the rules, presenting the Patagonian with a fine lot of venison, for which thanks, awefully.

THE HERALD SPECIAL

Editor Sisk of the Nogales Herald was here Wednesday in the interest of his big special to appear soon. Mr. Sisk says he is determined to place the edition before the eyes of 50,000 readers. It will contain contributions by the governor of Arizona, the governor Sonora, the governor of Sinaloa, the mayor of Nogales, Ariz., the mayor of Nogales, Son., and others. Patagonia will not be overlooked.

SCHOOL NOTES

Many patrons may be surprised to know that the State Board of Education has made several changes in the text books. The new books are now being used.

The pupils of the Grammar Department show a decided interest in penmanship.

Mrs. Hallie Wooten of Pittsburg, Kans., has been employed in the intermediate Department. Her work began Tuesday.

The A I grade are improving in spelling, and doing excellent work in phonics.

Maria Acuna is leading the A 2 grade in all subjects.

The pupils of the First Primary Department are reading from attractive illustrated charts. Also have made pretty autumn leaves.

The "beginners" have accomplished the task of writing their own full name.

RODENT POISONING

There have been some gratifying results reported to the temporary headquarters of U. S. Biological Survey at Patagonia in regard to the effects of the poisoned grain on squirrels and gophers prevalent among the farmers of Santa Cruz County. Especially have reports come in, regarding successful poisoning of the ground squirrel which is probably the most injurious pest the farmer has in the country wherein the farming land is close to the high elevations.

Mr. Young of U. S. Biol. Sur. who is conducting the distribution of poisoned grain and demonstrating the use of the same, spent the past week in the San Rafael Valley among the farmers and apportioned out over 200 quarts of poisoned grain. This week he will mix with poison approximately 930 quarts of grain to be apportioned out between now and Dec. 1st to the other farming areas of Santa Cruz County. Any farmer who may have been unintentionally overlooked in the distribution of grain so far, can obtain his free allotment of 10 qts. by calling at government headquarters in Patagonia. It is the desire of the government to see that every farmer, of Santa Cruz County who is troubled with rodent pests, receive enough of this poison to help him eradicate them.

SAN RAFAEL.

Mrs. Chas Durtis has returned to her Valley home after many months in a Nogales hospital.

Geo. W. Parker was a visitor at Nogales and Patagonia the last of the week.

Valleyites in Nogales first of the week included A. L. Kinsley and wife, C. F. Young and wife, Mrs. T. G. Dunham and children and Geo Ringwald.

"We wish to correct our last week's items which should have read, Mrs. Clyde McPherson and Mrs. Ral Baldwin emigrated to Patagonia"—Editors mistake. (Thanks for the correction—Ed.)

On Sunday W. D. Parker motored to Patagonia and was accompanied by Mrs. Burlison who spent the week end with her sister Mrs. Parker.

Many Valley residents attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Jesse Gatlin on Wednesday.

DANGER IN WILD FLOWERS

Many Are a Prolific Cause of Hay Fever, According to Expert Who Sounds Warning.

Hay fever is relatively common to children, but the reason that this is not more generally known is that the attacks are usually mistaken for "colds," writes Dr. William Scheppergrell of New Orleans, president of the Hay Fever Prevention association, in the Medical Record.

Sometimes a child that seems to have a "cold" is taken into a park or away to the country in the hope that the fresh air will effect a cure, and it is there exposed to further infection from the pollen of the plants that are chiefly responsible.

Other flowers against which Doctor Scheppergrell warns are the dogwood, field daisy, black-eyed Susan and other of the Compositae family. These are harmless unless one suffers their blossoms, in which case they are likely to start a hay fever that may persist well into the fall.

to its dignity in a handsome manner. It started with a circulation of 20,000, and this was increased to 250,000 in less than a year. It maintained a French war-organ fund, to which 450,000 soldiers contributed 2,000,000 francs, and in its 16 months of life the paper earned 3,500,000 francs.

There are other details of its progress and its work, among which is one to the effect that it printed 500 poems by soldiers and rejected 20,000. The Editor and Publisher prints an extended review of the accomplishments of the paper, and from it we learn that the staff at one time or another contained something like 250 men. Among them were Sergt. Maj. Philip Van Blou, managing editor, and Sergt. Robert I. Smith, staff contributor, both Clevelanders.

An American Solomon.

The story is told of a member of the American Red Cross, somewhere on the Syrian side of the African continent, who found himself faced with something of the same problem the solution of which earned for Solomon, in ancient days, the reputation of being the wisest of men. On this occasion the child was that of an Armenian woman found in the house of a Turk at Aleppo, and who, the mother said, had been taken from her when three years old. The child she claimed as hers was a little girl of seven years and she gave an account of recognizing her mother. The American who recognized her mother was puzzled to know what to do. An idea struck him. He told the mother to sing the lullaby with which she had been used to rock her baby to sleep. The little girl looked astonished and thoughtful; then she smiled. She was just awakened, and the Armenian woman had recovered her child.

Philanthropic Seattle Man Throws Open Hall for Absolutely Free and Uninterrupted Speech.

A philanthropic fight promoter—one of the enterprising gentlemen who has been in the habit of putting on a boxing match every week or two—is much annoyed at the spasmodic interference of the officers of the law in his business affairs, and is proposing to throw open his hall for a weekly forum of free and uninterrupted speech, in place of the boxing bouts.

"I want every guy that has anything to say to come over and say it," said the promoter, according to the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, "and I'll give him ten minutes to spiel, and then he must shut his trap. I don't care what he is; any kind of a nut can come over and say right out what is on his chest. My luck has been so bad, and my spirits so depressed, that I want a laugh, and I believe a nut gathering of this kind would equal anything the Orpheum circuit or Patagos or the best of them ever put on. You know, nature keeps playing jokes on humanity all the time; she mixes together some queer patterns in heads, and a lot of fellows can't help what they think; some have a bunch for one thing and some for another; I suppose we could get a few startling facts on anything from religion to chess in these verbal tournaments. And it will be absolutely free; I might pass the hat around at the close of the entertainment to square me on the hall rent, but for the rest I wouldn't want a cent to pay outside of the entertainment I got out of it. As soon as I can pull a jazz band together to fit in with the speechmaking I will announce the details, and we will be sure to for a summer's entertainment, if the sheriff don't close us up."

HOMESICK FOR ARCTIC SNOWS

No Affection About the Longing for Far North That is Experienced by Explorers.

If you are of ordinary health and strength, if you are young enough to be adaptable and independent enough to shake off the influence of books and belief, you can find good reason to be as content and comfortable in the North as anywhere on earth.

If you remember that all of us who have spent more than a year "living on the country," are quite of the Eskimo opinion that no food on earth is better than caribou meat, and if you have any experience in your life as a hunter anywhere, you will realize that in the evenings when we sit in these warm snow houses, feasting with keen appetites on unlimited quantities of boiled ribs, we have all the creature comforts.

What we lack, if we feel any lack at all, will be possibly the presence of friends far away, or the chance to hear opera or see the movies. At any rate, it is true that today in the movie-infested city I long for more snow house evenings after earthen hunts as I never in the North longed for clubs or concerts or orange groves. And this is not peculiar to me. The men who have hunted with me are nearly all of the same mind—they are either in the North now, on the way back there by whaling ship, or eating their hearts out because they cannot go.—Vilhjalmur Stefansson in Harper's Magazine.

Probably Envious.

"After a few months in other States, I was returning to Indianapolis," remarked a traveling salesman, "and I don't mind telling you I was glad to be getting back home. As I sat down beside the stranger I told him how good it was to be back in the land of cornfields.

"So we started to talk about the beauty spots of Mother Nature. It is nothing more than natural for any Hoosier to talk about his own state. And I had to ask him whether he had ever been in Brown county.

"The stranger looked out of the car window a minute, saying softly to himself: 'Brown county, Brown county.' When he looked around at me again he said:

"Yes, I have been there. That's the place where the squirrels have to carry a lunch with them when they go across the county, is it not?"—Indianapolis News.

Flowers of Poland.

According to an English newspaper correspondent who recently reported a journey he had made from Paris to the Polish capital, the most impressive spectacle that he saw was the mantle of blossoms, clustered profusely, which fringed the highways and byways about Warsaw. "All the wars of Poland," he writes, "could not check the new life that came riding through her borders at the head of the advancing spring; sprays of lilac found place in the gray caps of Polish laurers, tulips and chestnut leaves, tokens of the new dawn, in the garb of peer and peasant. Everywhere was spring yielding back a measure of her everlasting riches." But the flowers never took much notice of the war even "at the front."

Honey 92.1 Per Cent of Normal.

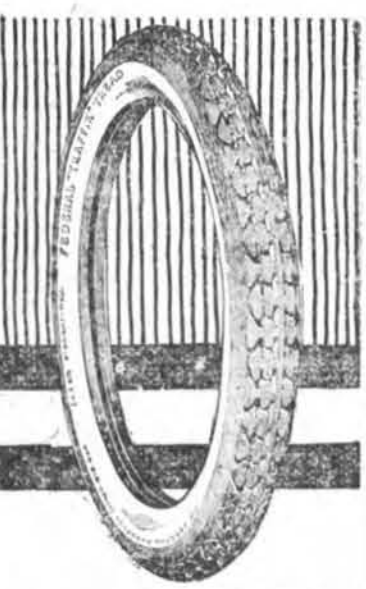

The honey crop of the United States was 92.1 per cent of normal on July 1, according to the estimates of the United States department of agriculture. Reports to the bureau of crop estimates warrant the estimate that the yield of surplus honey per colony was 25.8 pounds and that about one-half of the annual product per colony was realized by July 1. The high condition of 92.1 per cent of normal on July 1 this year compares with 96.7 in 1918 and 81.3 in 1917.

"You are boasting surely, mon ami?" said the Viscount de Loveland. "You have every one of these plays in your library," said Doquelin quietly. "Get them all out and put them on the table." The viscount did so. "Now," said Doquelin, "let anybody select a cue from any one of these plays at haphazard and give it to me." They tried him with 16 plays out of the 53 and he never missed a single cue or made one mistake.—Fortnightly Review.

Santa Cruz Patagonian. One Year $2.00, Six Months 1.50, Three Months 1.00. Entered at the postoffice at Patagonia, Ariz., as second-class mail matter.

AN INTERNATIONAL FAIR FOR NOGALES

This editorial, be it understood in the outset, is not intended as a boost for Nogales. In the course of time the Patagonian, under present management, as heretofore will be well understood to stand, firm and strong, for the interests of Santa Cruz County. But it may be understood now, that the Patagonian stands committed, not that enterprise is an accomplished fact, to an international fair at Nogales. Such an enterprise is fraught with similar reaching and direct interest to every miner, every farmer, every cattleman, and every wage-worker in Santa Cruz County, that this paper unhesitatingly pronounces in its favor.

The magnitude of such an enterprise is no doubt, judging by general signs of the times, minimized by the majority of those who have given the matter thought,—indeed they have given it a thought. An international fair at Nogales can easily be developed into proportion equal to, if not greater, than the State Fair at Phoenix.

An international fair at Nogales will promptly develop Nogales into the metropolis of Southern Arizona. Who can compute the value of a metropolis at Nogales to the farmers of Santa Cruz County?

An international fair at Nogales would draw support from New York to Mexico City. There is a fine site at Nogales for grounds, where Mexican exhibits may be arranged and displayed on the Mexican side, and American exhibits on the American side, yet both become a part of the same grounds. Exhibits from Mexico would not be put to the inconveniences arising from import duties regulations. This fair would afford all Mexico an opportunity of exhibiting her products to Americans, and yet without the expense and inconvenience of crossing her boundary. It would afford America an opportunity to exhibit wares to a greater number of Mexican customers, because the attendance from Mexico, by reason of this peculiar arrangement, would exceed by thousands the attendance at El Paso or any other point along the border. In fact, is there another point anywhere along the border so favorably situated for an international fair as Nogales?

Transportation facilities to the site for heavy machinery, can be arranged at small cost. The ever progressive Southern Pacific may be depended upon to do its part. The State of Sonora, other nearby Mexican states, and even the Republic of Mexico, may be expected to appropriate funds for such an enterprise, besides many rich and influential individuals and concerns. The State of Arizona, nearby American states, and even the Department of Agriculture at Washington, may be induced to lend a hand.

There is just one thing which causes the Patagonian to feel a little delicacy in coming out flat footedly for an international fair at Nogales, and that is the fact that progressive farmers at Sonoita, we are informed, are due the credit of locating the Santa Cruz County Fair there. There is no paper in the Southwest which admires the man with grit and hustle more than the Patagonian. The farmers of Sonoita deserve high praise for their public spirit. But in our opinion an international fair at Nogales will be an infinitely greater benefit to those same farmers than a local fair at Sonoita. However, if they chose to do so, the Santa Cruz County Fair could continue at Sonoita, and be held at a time different from the date of the Nogales Fair, and then exhibits transferred to that place. The number of people who would view the County Fair exhibits at Nogales would be many times greater than at Sonoita. The opportunity for sale of articles would be infinitely better. Moreover, should there ever arise such a contingency as the international fair at Nogales absorbing the Santa Cruz County Fair, the fair association at Nogales would no doubt undertake to reimburse the proper parties for any loss incident to the discontinuance of the fair at Sonoita.

It is the belief of this paper that an international fair association can be organized at Nogales with a hundred thousand dollars capital. It is our further strong belief that more good—much more—will come to our farmers from such a fair at Nogales than from the County Fair at Sonoita.

The mineral exhibits at Sonoita were limited. Why was this? Don't know, unless it was that miners felt that the crowds would be too small to justify any expenditure incident to a first class exhibit. They would not feel that way toward Nogales. The fair there would of a kind and of such proportions as would afford mining men and machinery men a first class opportunity of getting some benefits from their exhibits.

There is just a hint we would drop here to Nogales. Farmers complain that Nogales is a poor place for marketing perishable stuff. It is said that Nogales merchants in the habit of turning down farmers who offer stuff for sale, and importing the very same stuff from California. The reasons given by the merchants are that they must have stuff every day, and that the farmers won't bring stuff every day, hence the merchants are left at great fainties. This is perhaps true, but the results are disastrous, both to customers and to our farmers. The California stuff is sold to customers at a higher rate, and our farmers are denied a home market.

To avoid all this, to get the support of our farmers, and to take a great big, long step in the right direction, the Patagonian would insist that Nogales institute a free market, a free parking place, or some sort of system whereby farmers may be assured that any day or hour they may have fruits, fresh vegetables, wool, fresh pork, poultry, butter, eggs, etc., for sale, they may be guaranteed a wide open and free opportunity of offering such products for sale. This would not only be of benefit to farmers, but to the retail purchasers of Nogales as well, and need work no injury to local merchants if properly handled.

An international fair at Nogales would go a long way toward promoting cordiality between the two republics, which would serve to further open the door of Mexico to the investment of American money, and vice versa.

With a city of 25,000 at Nogales there should be a market for every pound of farm produce from Santa Cruz County, if the producers but take advantage of it. And there would be a golden opportunity opened up for the mining enterprises as well.

Of course much depends upon disturbed conditions in Mexico becoming quieted. But conditions are growing better, and probably with the election of some strong man like Obregon conditions will ere long be normal again.

It occurs to us that it is not too early to start organized effort looking toward an international fair at Nogales.

On October 22, if possible, there will be held a little luncheon and smoker at the Commercial Hotel Dining room for the purpose of organizing a business men's club for Patagonia. The Y. M. C. A. and the C. of C. of Nogales will have delegations here, and several of the visitors will be prepared with short talks on the benefits of such an organization. The Nogales organizations have promised warm co-operation with Patagonians, and the very first task the three organizations will address their joint efforts to will be a first class telephone line to Nogales. We can never get a local exchange here without that line. And if there is anything we stand sorely in need of at Patagonia it is a local telephone exchange. Committees will be appointed at this meeting to get busy on the promotion of the line to Nogales. A little subscription paper will be passed around to defray expenses of the luncheon. Let's break the ice.

The Patagonian moves for four street lights,—one in front of the postoffice, one over the railroad crossing, one in front of the bank, and one in front of the two pool halls. This number would be of great benefit to beheld travellers. The Patagonian will contribute $50 a month. Who next?

The words "American" and "invincible" should be synonyms. The two business organizations at Nogales are getting results. A business organization at Patagonia can do the same. With organized effort it should not require more than twelve months for Patagonia to land a good concentrator.

There is no boom on at Patagonia, nor do we want any. The healthy growth she is now enjoying will probably be accelerated, but that's enough for the present.

The highway crew is still busy surveying and marking the Bisbee-Nogales line. And there is talk of a paved road, Bisbee to Nogales, and Tucson to Nogales. Let's bring the Tucson road via Patagonia also.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. In Belgium.

Hunger, disease and exposure were not all that Belgian children were subjected to, but every month constantly drifted into what little of their country the hunger that had killed. In this picture first class nurses are seen tending some of the little sufferers near the American Red Cross nursery at La Fenne near a lonely post. It is here as the remnants of bread from the war.
