NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Attempt of Communists to Run Metal Industries of Italy Likely to Fail.

TECHNICAL MEN HOLD OUT

Lithuanians Open Hostilities Against the Poles—British Won't Release Irish Hunger Strikers—Destructive Earthquake in Italy—Developments in Politics.

Soviet rule in the industrial region of northern Italy came rather suddenly, but it was not unexpected by those who were watching developments there. The experiment of the workers is of great interest, but the indications are that it will be a failure.

Employers in the big metallurgical works of that part of the country undertook to head off a threatened general strike for increased wages by putting a lockout into effect. The immediate result was the seizure of the plants by the workers, who put them under the management of the soviets, and are trying to operate them on communist principles. The owners did not resist, but the technical and administrative staffs unanimously refused to join in with the others, and consequently the latter are having a hard time in making good. They have no one capable of directing their efforts, and thousands of them are drifting away and refusing to work at all. In the plants that are running the waste is said to be appalling.

So far the communists have generally refrained from violence—indeed, there has been no occasion for it. Therefore the government has declined to interfere, trusting that the employers and men will finally adjust their differences. The government of Italy is in a more precarious position than any other of the great powers and cannot afford to antagonize the laborites and communists. If the soviet movement spreads to other industries and interferes with the public services and the provisioning of the people, Premier Giolitti may be forced to intervene. In order to meet that eventuality, it is said, the employees of the communist automobile factories at Turin are building armored cars and tanks, and the airplane makers at Brescia are mounting on planes a number of machine guns that were secretly removed from the arsenal at Venice. The situation may be cleared up by two conferences that opened near the close of the week.

Italian manufacturers declare that the wage increase demanded by the 500,000 metal workers employed by them would add at least 1,000,000,000 lire to their pay roll, and that this burden could not be sustained. They point out that Italy pays 18 times the pre-war price for coal, while England pays only three times, America only 2.5, France six, and even Germany only 11. As a result foreign production is replacing Italian.

Polish troops, in their operations against the Russians, have run afoul of the Lithuanians, and hostilities have broken out between the two countries. The bone of contention is the province of Suwalki, which is inhabited mainly by Lithuanians and was given to Lithuania by Russia when the Poles were driven out recently. Attacking suddenly, the Lithuanians defeated the Poles in the region of Selnj and then by forced marches advanced beyond the city of Suwalki, with the evident intention of assaulting the Augustow fortress, to which heavy Polish reinforcements were rushed. Poland protested to the League of Nations against the action of Lithuania, but that country refused to accept the blame, stating that it does not recognize the lines of demarcation fixed by Earl Curzon and Marshal Foch, but is ready to cease hostilities and negotiate a new line.

Of course, the Russian reds took advantage of this complication and renewed their attacks on the Poles, but with small success or utter failure. General Rudny, it was reported, was gathering large forces in the Pripiet marshes with which he intended to move against either Lemberg or Lublin.

Predictions that the Germans would be unwilling or unable to disarm and properly intern the many thousands of Russians who were forced across the East Prussian border have been fulfilled. Several times lately large bodies of these reds have recrossed the frontier and attacked Polish positions. They were captured or repulsed, but Poland naturally is peeved. She has sent notes to the allied powers, demanding that Germany be compelled to follow the rules of warfare and keep these bolshevik forces in restraint. The Poles allege that the entire Third bolshevik cavalry corps in East Prussia has been neither disarmed nor interned and their horses have not been taken away from them. They say these troops are in a position to charge across the frontier whenever they wish. The Germans reply that they have insufficient re-education troops to guard so many reds.

The Independent Socialists of Germany have turned against the Lenin regime in Russia, and in conference at Berlin they declared against union with Moscow. Prof. Karl Ballod, one of their wisest leaders, who has been in Russia for several months, told them the Russian soviet chiefs have failed to show that they can establish socialism in their country and have proved themselves wholly incapable of effecting an economic restoration of Russia. He pictured the food, transportation and industrial conditions there as deplorable. The Germans were highly displeased with the anti-socialist policies adopted by Lenin and Trotsky.

Reports from southern Russia during the week were contradictory. One day there would be a story of the defeat of Baron Wrangel's forces, and the next day dispatches telling of victories over the reds. At this time the latest report is that Wrangel's troops had surrounded the bolshevik at Kichovka and that a fierce battle was in progress with the bridge over the Duleper river as the immediate prize. The Russians are using most of their reserves in combating Wrangel. The Polish general staff has declined to undertake a joint offensive against the reds in combination with Wrangel, pointing out that peace negotiations at Riga are imminent and that the allied attitude prevents the renewing of the campaign unless the soviet government refuses equitable terms.

At this writing Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, was still alive, but very weak, and there was no prospect of his relief save by death. This may be delayed a considerable time as he is fed during his periods of unconsciousness. Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, on returning from a visit with Lloyd George in Switzerland, announced: "The decision of the government is final and irrevocable. Neither the lord mayor of Cork nor any other Irish hunger striker will be released. It would be a monstrous thing if any prisoner, political or otherwise, could secure his release at will by refusing food."

The British government has made it clear that the Irish need expect little leniency as long as they continue their campaign of assassination against the constabulary and military in Ireland. It was reported from Rome that the pope had interceded in behalf of MacSwiney, and the mayors of a number of American cities sent cablegrams asking his release. Dispatches from London said Archbishop Mannix of Australia might be permitted to go to Ireland within a few days, having convinced the authorities that he is opposed to extremist measures and seeks to act as peacemaker.

Earthquake shocks in northern Italy killed several thousand persons, made many more thousands homeless and did tremendous damage to property. The region affected lies between Florence, Milan and the Adriatic coast. Numerous towns and villages were wholly or partly destroyed and ed-cost of a crew of 1,200 officers and men, which she must carry. So far the shipping board has declined offers made by steamship companies with the proviso that the ship should be conditioned before the purchase. This would cost about $10,000,000, and it is understood the shipping board has not that amount to its credit, so the biggest ship in the world continues idle.

Capt. John Jamison has been in charge of the Levathan since last November with a skeleton crew.

LEVIATHAN LAID UP A YEAR

Ten Million Dollars Needed to Refit the Liner That Figured Conspicuously in War.

Washington—Traffic by bolshevik agents in precious stones, supposed to have formed part of the famous jewels of the Russian royal family, has been unearthed by federal officers.

The 131 diamonds found on Nella Jacobson, a Swedish sailor, by customs officials in New York July 23, it became known, were inclosed in a package addressed to "Comrade Martens." Using this as a lead, federal officials began an investigation which they declare has definitely connected Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, self-styled soviet ambassador to the United States, with the traffic.

Disclosure of the fact that the package was intended for soviet agents in this country was withheld by customs authorities when Jacobson was arrested, although the details as to the seizure of the jewels themselves were then made public.

Jacobson, officials say, identified during the course of the investigation a photograph of Santeri Nuorteva, former secretary of Martens, as a person to whom previous packages had been delivered.

Introduction of the alleged incriminatory evidence of the traffic in precious stones between soviet representatives in this country and abroad at the last hearing in the last deportation proceedings against Martens resulted in postponement of further hearings to enable the self-styled ambassador to obtain evidence, if possible, in refutation of the charges.

Counsel for Martens already has asked that the government commission be sent to Stockholm to investigate the charges.

Senator Brandegee was renominated by the Republicans of Connecticut, and Senator Marcus Smith by the Democrats of Arizona.

Persistent digging by the senatorial committee on campaign funds brought out facts favorable to both sides. Among the witnesses heard was Harry M. Blair, assistant to Republican Treasurer Upham, and the author of the now famous "Form 101" plan for larger cities. He said that he had 250 copies of this circular made, locked most of them in a safe, but took several to New York, where his idea of raising the limit of subscriptions was rejected by the Republican committee. Consequently the circular was never issued, but Mr. Blair admitted some copies might have got out and thus come into the hands of Mr. Cox. Dudley S. Blossom of Cleveland gave evidence in support of the Cox charge that special quotas were fixed for the larger cities, admitting that the Cleveland quota was $400,000, and that he was in charge of 20 teams named to raise that sum. He said that only $74,000 has been raised or pledged.

Other evidence heard by the committee established the Cox charge that within the Republican national committee there was a volunteer as well as a paid organization for raising funds; and refuted the Democratic candidate's charges that the Republican fund was to be $16,000,000 or anything like that, and that subscriptions of more than $1,000 were sought.

The fact was developed that state and local managers all down the line expanded the quotas they were asked to raise, in order to get the amount asked by the national committee.

A man from Augusta, Ill., produced letters to the postmaster of that town soliciting contributions to the Democratic fund. Those bore the signature of Charles Boeschstein, Democratic national committeeman for Illinois. The Republican members of the investigating committee asked that Boeschstein be summoned to explain.

One important event in the world of sport took place on Labor day. That was the vain attempt of Billy Miske to take away from Jack Dempsey the heavyweight championship. The fight was staged at Benton Harbor, Mich., and was witnessed by some 20,000 men and a few women. Mr. Miske was game, but he never had a chance. In the third round Mr. Dempsey knocked him down and, as he arose, shot a right hook to the jaw that put him on the mat for the count.

Not knowing whether Morley was dead or sleeping, and fearing to arouse the man by shouting, he sent for the reserves.

While the officers held a net a "steepjack" member of the force climbed the pole, awakened Morley and induced him to come down.

Perfect Courier System.

Began six months ago, the smuggling is described by government officials as the most perfectly organized courier service between bolshevik agents abroad and in the United States that has been discovered.

Inclosed about the diamonds taken from the possession of the Swedish sailor Jacobson, whom officials exonerated from any complicity in the illegal proceedings, was a quantity of communist literature, including an "appeal of the executive committee of the third international" at Moscow to the L. W. W. This manifesto declared: "Unless the workers of our countries rise against their own capitalists the Russian revolution cannot last."

Soper, pastor of a small church in Florida, by quick thought and action after he had been bitten in the ankle by a large rattlesnake.

Miss Holstein was one of a party which included Rev. Mr. Soper, Bishop Cameron Mann of the Episcopal diocese of Florida, and others who were enjoying a picnic near Coconut Grove, Fla. Rev. Mr. Soper was bringing a pail of water from an adjacent spring when he was struck by the rattlesnake. Bishop Mann immediately killed the snake, but Miss Holstein gave her attention to the wounded man, whose ankle was swelling enormously.

YANKEES IN DANGER

Many Have Close Calls in the Turkish War Zone.

Bullets of Bandits, British and Greeks Keep Americans on the Jump.

Constantinople.—Many Americans have had narrow escapes in the fighting which British and Greek troops were kept up for several weeks with the bandits which are harassing the eastern shore of the Bosphorus. Belcos, a summer place ten miles north of this city reached by hourly ferry service, has been the chief center of the fight between bands of adherents of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, nationalist leader, and the British-Greek soldiers operating under the artillery protection of British warships.

An American oil company is erecting two great steel tanks at Belcos, which came well within the line of fire between the rival forces. The steel riveters were compelled to flee for their lives and for several days bullets played a tattoo on the tanks, which was nearly as constant as the tune of the riveting machines. Many Americans were in summer camps and cottages in the vicinity of Belcos the night the fighting began, but they speedily moved to the western shore of the Bosphorus, where it was possible for several nights to watch the fighting on the Anatolian hills by the light of the naval rockets and searchlights used in directing the gunnery.

Robert college and Constantinople College for Women, the two American institutions of higher learning on the Bosphorus, both commanded an excellent view of the struggle and were safely out of range of the nationalist bullets.

Cigarette-Smoking Snake

Motoring near Bellefonte, Pa., a party of motorists were confronted by a huge blacksnake coiled in the middle of the road, smoking a cigarette. They rubbed their eyes to make sure they were not seeing things when they heard laughing nearby and several young men stepped from the bushes. They were members of Prof. J. A. Ferguson's class of foresters from the Pennsylvania State college, who were camping nearby and had killed the snake and put the cigarette in its mouth to see what would happen when the first man who came along would discover it.

COLLISION BRINGS NEW STAR

Explanation of Recent Phenomenon is Given by Prof. Charles C. Conroy of Los Angeles.

Yafelo, Cal.—The new star in the constellation Cygnus, lately reported through Harvard observatory, was produced by a collision in the heavens between a large comet and a comparatively dim sun.

This is the information given out by Capt. Thomas J. J. See of the naval observatory at Mare Island, from Prof. Charles C. Conroy of Los Angeles.

The star forms a corner of the parallelogram of Alpha, Gamma and Delta Cygni. Captain See said he had been advised. At present it is of the second magnitude and the magnitude may be expected to increase for several days, but will die down in the course of a few months, he reported.

When the persons guilty of the death of thirty-six men and women who happened to be walking on Wall street, at a certain time, are arrested, as they eventually will be, undoubtedly there will turn up numerous men of deep and sympathetic natures who will say it is a shame to punish them, considering that they are guilty of only a political crime.

Frank Doan, the Douglas attorney who was killed in an automobile accident last Sunday, was known to quite a good many people around Patagonia. He was a brother to Fletcher Doan, civil engineer, who surveyed the highway in this county. Mr. Doan's untimely death is greatly deplored by those of our citizens who knew him.

At the present time Texas has more than $10,000,000 surplus cash in her treasury. At the special session of the Legislature recently $5,000,000 was set aside for the schools. The present governor of Texas is a newspaper man, and the state has been made prosperous under his administration.

It matters not how much the two old political parties disagree upon the many complicated and aggravating questions continually arising in this country, just watch them get together when a red-handed anarchist displays his mailed hand.

The farmer works on an average of about fourteen hours a day, but he has to do it because he is carrying the balance of the world on his back.

Galveston and Houston, Texas, have been hard hit by gulf storms this week and much uneasiness for the safety of their inhabitants has been felt.

The citizens of Patagonia (the writer included) might with all ease do considerable more boasting for the town than they are doing without bringing on nervous prostration or hysteria.

"New Machine Beats Housewife" was a recent headline. There is a fellow over in Cochise county who says he doesn't need machinery to regulate his domestic affairs.

The idea of the Italian wiseguys seems to be that if they can only take charge of the factories, markets will take care of themselves.

There is always something underneath. The old-fashioned hungry man who could get a cup of coffee and a doughnut for a nickel sometimes begged the nickel.

This is certainly fine weather for county fairs.

MEDALS FOR EXHIBITS AT STATE FAIR

PHOENIX, Sept. 22—Mrs. Charles R. Howe, who again will act as superintendent of the Better Babies exhibit at the state fair, Nov. 8-13, announced today the manner of making awards.

Two silver medals and a gold medal are included. The best boy and the best girl will each receive a silver medal as "sweepstake honors." The winners of the two silver medals will not be included among those being judged for the gold medal, however.

Ribbon awards will be given to the three highest scoring babies in each of the 10 classes.

Class 1 will consist of boys from six to 12 months of age; class 2, boys, 13 to 18 months; class 3, boys, 19 to 24 months; class 4, boys, 25 to 30 months; class 5, boys, 30 to 36 months; class 6, girls, six to 12 months; class 7, girls, 13 to 18 months; class 8, girls, 19 to 24 months; class 9, girls, 25 to 30 months; class 10, girls, 30 months to 36 months. Ages at fair week will govern classification.

The aim of the contest, Mrs. Howe has stated, is not so much the finding of a perfect baby as it is to help all the babies examined. The awarding of medals is not as important as showing some mother how she can help her baby to a stronger, healthier childhood, she says.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 17, 1920.

To The Editor of The Patagonian

Dear Sir:

Deeply appreciative to those who so generously supported my recent candidacy for the office of County Attorney, I desire to extend my sincere gratitude.

Realizing the confidence that the electorate of the County of Santa Cruz has reposed in me, I shall seek to discharge that trust by act rather than by word; and if elected to the office of County Attorney, I pledge myself to an impartial, economical, aggressive and fearless administration of the duties of that office.

A. A. TRIPPEL, Democratic Nominee for the Office of County Attorney.

Catarrrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sore Throat Halts Cox's Open-Air Talks: Tucson Date Cancelled

Gov. Cox, addressing one of his greatest open-air meetings from the rear of his special train at Lansing, Mich., on his nationwide swing around the circle. This is one of the last of the big open-air meetings the Democratic candidate addressed in a campaign speech.

He contracted a sore throat soon after he headed into the West and was ordered by a throat specialist to cancel all outdoor meetings on account of the affect throat. The specialist stated the governor's throat is in serious condition and requires great care to prevent serious illness resulting.

The specialist's orders are that Cox speak only indoors.

The Democratic candidate is invading Arizona territory this week, speaking at Phoenix tomorrow. He has cancelled his date to speak at Tucson.

It is stated the sore throat has had a material effect on the Western speaking tour dates of the Ohio governor.

ARIZONA DAILES GATHER OCT. 4 IN EL PASO

The Arizona Daily Newspaper Association will hold a regular meeting Oct. 4 at El Paso. Publishers of Texas and New Mexico will also be present. Many daily newspaper publishers throughout the Southwest have announced their intention of going to the meeting as important questions will arise.

El Paso is planning to entertain the publishers with usual El Paso hospitality and the meeting will formally open Market Week of El Paso.

Allan P. Jaynes, publisher The Tucson Citizen, is president of the association; H. R. Sisk, publisher The Nogales Herald, vice-president, and Brick Clark, manager of the Bisbee Review, secretary.

Cameron Campaign Will Be Fastest Month Drive Ever Known in Arizona

Ralph H. Cameron, Republican nominee for U. S. senator from Arizona, has planned the most elaborate and thorough 30-day campaign ever attempted in the history of Arizona as state or territory.

Starting at Phoenix Sept. 27, Cameron will make a cyclonic campaign, sweeping the state and including every county. He will be accompanied by James B. Dunsath of Tucson, Republican candidate for Congress, and Edward J. Flanagan, Republican nominee for Supreme Court justice.

The Phoenix meeting will be the opening gun in the congressional campaign in this state. It will be addressed by the governor and other Republican candidates for state offices.

The schedule for dates in Nogales and vicinity are as follows: Friday, Oct. 1, Tucson, Saturday, Oct. 2: Leave Tucson 9 a. m., Fort Lowell 10 a. m., San Xavier, 1 p. m., Sahuarita, 2 p. m., Continental, 3 p. m., Tubac, 4 p. m., Amado, 5 p. m., Nogales—night meeting. Sunday, Oct. 3: Leave Nogales 8 a. m., Patagonia, 10 a. m., Sonita 12 noon, Elgin, 2 p. m., Benson, night meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Young, Mrs. Kellam and little son and Mrs. Charles Curtis passed through here early Tuesday morning en route to Nogales where they spent the day visiting and shopping.

O'NEILL MAKES ISSUES CLEAR IN RACE FOR STATE SENATOR

In asking the people of Santa Cruz county to vote for me I desire to make clear to them the grounds upon which I stand as a candidate for the State Senatorship:

I profess to be no advance agent of the millennium. I have no Utopian plan or scheme of state government to recommend and I consider it superfluous to inject my views on any proposition into this announcement. For over seven years I have expressed myself fully, frankly and, I hope, to the point on every subject, foreign or domestic that has engrossed the attention of the town, county or state. As a candidate for senator I stand precisely where I have stood as a newspaperman and a private citizen. If sent to the state senate I will go equipped with knowledge of conditions and requirements of Santa Cruz county sufficient to enable me to be of some benefit to my town and county.

As the country at large appears to be clamoring at the present time for better "business administration" in government affairs it may not be amiss for me to point to my experience as a banker and businessman in this community.

As a candidate for state senator I stand on my record as a man and a citizen. I have nothing to conceal. There is nothing in my career for which I wish to apologize or which I would take the trouble to defend.

R. L. O'NEILL.

ALBANY, Sept. 22—Five assembly seats to which socialists were re-elected at the special election last week to fill the vacancies caused by their own expulsion last April when the entire socialist delegation was denied the right to sit in the lower house of the state legislature were again vacant today.
After a 5-hour debate by the assembly last night it was voted 90 to 45 unseat August Claessens and Louis Waldeman of Manhattan and Charles Solomon for the second time. The assembly reversed self on the vote to unseat Samuel Orr and Samuel Dewitt of the Bronx.
The latter immediately resigned saying they could not sit with an un-American body.

Flandrau stroked back to town along El Molino street and down Main. He had just crossed the old Spanish plaza when his absorbed gaze fell on a sign that brought him up short. In front of a cigar store stretched across the sidewalk a painted picture of a Jack of Hearts. The same name was on the window.

Fifty yards behind him was the Silver Dollar saloon, where Luck Cullison had last been seen on his way to the Del Mar one hundred and fifty yards in front of him. Somewhere within that distance of two hundred yards the owner of the Circle C had vanished from the sight of men. The evidence showed he had not reached the hotel, for a cattle buyer had been waiting there to talk with him. His testimony, as well as that of the hotel clerk, was positive.

Could this little store, the Jack of Hearts, be the central point of the mystery? In his search for information Curly had already been in it, had bought a cigar, and had stopped to talk with Mrs. Wylie, the proprietor. She was a washed-out little woman who had once been pretty. She had protested with absurd earnestness that she had seen nothing of Mr. Cullison. A single glance had been enough to dismiss her from any possible suspicion.

Now Curly stepped in a second time. The frightened gaze of Mrs. Wylie fastened upon him instantly. He observed that her hand moved instinctively to her heart. Beyond questioning she was in a fear. A flash of light clarified his mind. She was a conspirator, but an unwilling one. Possibly she might be the author of the anonymous warnings sent Bolt.

The young vaquero subscribed for a magazine and paid her the money. Tremblingly she filled out the receipt. He glanced at the slip and handed it back.

"Just write below the signature of the Jack of Hearts, so that I'll remember where I paid the money if the magazine doesn't come," he suggested.

She did so, and Curly put the receipt in his pocket carelessly. He sauntered leisurely to the hotel, but as soon as he could get into a telephone booth his listlessness vanished. Maloney had returned to town and he telephoned him to get Mackenzie at once and watch the Jack of Hearts in front and rear. Before he left the booth Curly had compared the writing of Mrs. Wylie with that on the sheet that had come by special delivery. Beyond question the same person had written both.

Certainly Mrs. Wylie was not warning the sheriff against herself. Then against whom? He must know her antecedents, and at once. Calling up a local detective agency, he asked the manager to let him know within an hour or two all that could be found out about the woman without alarming her.

"Wait a moment. I think we have her on file. Hold the phone." The detective presently returned. "Yes, we can give you the facts. Will you come to the office for them?"

Fifteen minutes later Curly knew that Mrs. Wylie was the divorced wife of Lute Blackwell.

He returned to the Del Mar and sent his name up to Miss Cullison. With Kate and Bob there was also in the room Alec Flandrau.

The girl came forward lightly to meet him. "Have you heard something?" she asked quickly.

"Yes. Tell me, when did your father last meet Lute Blackwell so far as you know?"

The owner of the Map of Texas answered the question of his nephew. "He met him the other day. Let's see. It was right after the big poker game. We met him downstairs here. Luck had to straighten out some notions he had got."

"How?"

Flandrau, senior, told the story of what had occurred in the hotel lobby. "And you say he swore to get even?"

"That's what he said. And he looked like he meant it, too."

"What is it? What have you found out?" Kate implored.

The young man told about the letters and Mrs. Wylie.

"We've got to get a move on us," he concluded. "For if Lute Blackwell did this thing to your father it's mighty serious for him."

and remained fastened to one story. Now he spoke imperatively. "Come here, Miss Kate. I believe this is a message to us."

"A message?"

"From your father, perhaps?"

"How could it be?"

"I found the paper in the cellar where he was. See how some of these words are scored. Done with a finger nail, looks like."

This was the paragraph upon which his gaze had fastened, and the words and letters were scored sharply as shown before, though in the case of single letters the mark ran through them instead of underneath, evidently that no mistake might be made as to which was meant:

J. P. Kelly of the ranger force reports over the telephone that by unexpected good luck he has succeeded in taking prisoner the notorious Jack Foster of Hermosilla and the Rincons notoriety and is now bringing him to Sagunche where he will be locked up pending a disposition of his case. Kelly succeeded in surprising him while he was eating dinner at a Mexican road-house just this side of the border.

"Do you make it out?" Maloney asked, looking over their shoulders.

Curly took a pencil and an envelope from his pocket. On the latter he jotted down some words and handed the paper to his friend. This was what Maloney read:

Uncle Walt's Story by Walk Mason

VARIETIES OF COURAGE

"KERSMITH is an awful coward," said the retired merchant. "He hasn't as much spunk as a chipmunk. This morning I saw a man half his size twist his nose, and he never offered to defend himself. He trembled all over and was covered with a cold sweat."

"And yet, under other circumstances, Kersmith might show all kinds of courage," said the hotel-keeper. "It isn't safe to jump to conclusions about such things. A woman will climb a tree, and shirk for the police if she sees a mouse, and if a real peril comes along, she'll exhibit more courage in five minutes than the average man could dig up in a hundred years."

"There are scores of different kinds of courage in this world, and you can't expect one man to have them all. A man may tremble and cringe when threatened with physical violence, and yet stand up serene and magnificent when the assessor comes to the door, and there's nothing finer than that sort of moral courage."

"There used to be a blacksmith in this town who had a wide reputation as a fire eater. He wasn't afraid of anything, people said. If he heard of a promising bruiser anywhere in the countryside, he couldn't rest until he had mixed things with him. And he didn't ask for purses or other inducements. He engaged in combat just because he loved it, and was happiest when his nose was knocked to one side, and his eyes were bugged up so that he couldn't see whether he was going or coming. He acted the hero on several occasions, rescuing people from burning buildings, and saving girls who were drowning and his nerve became a byword."

"Well, in the fullness of time his teeth went wrong and his head swelled up until it looked like a squash. He bought about a million things at the drug store, and they wouldn't relieve the pain. The doctor told him he could have his sufferings ended in five minutes by going to the dentist's, but that idea turned him faint. At last he had to go, and the dentist told me he never saw such a doggone coward. That invincible blacksmith just had to be lifted into the operating chair, and as often as he could get his breath, he yelled."

"The dentist's chair takes the starch out of many a brave man. I used to have to frequent it a good deal before I thought these hand-made tortoiseshell teeth, and I saw some moving sights when I was seated in the waiting room. Women would come in there as calm and cool as though they had just stepped in a girl graduate sitting chatting comfortably until her turn came, and then she'd step into the chamber of horrors without turning a hair; and then some big policeman, who'd think nothing of fighting a revolver duel in the dark with a burglar, would come into the waiting room as flippant as a dish, sweating tea and groaning every time he drew a breath."

"A man might easily get a lot of false ideas about courage in the dentist's waiting room."

"That man Kersmith, who stood and permitted a smaller man to twist his nose, has a sort of courage I'd give a lot to have. I've always wished I could make public speeches. I've a lot of pent-up eloquence inside of me that ought to be turned loose for the edification and instruction of the people. But every time I'm called upon for a few timely remarks, I'm seared stiff, and can't say a blamed word. I just gurgle and splutter like a sunstruck lunatic, and hate myself for three weeks after it."

"But when Kersmith is called, he rises without a tremor, and smiles sweetly upon the audience, and goes ahead saying what he has to say as though in his own arm chair by his fireside. I'd be willing to have my nose and ears twisted several times to have his courage."

Chilean Nitrate Fields. The nitrate fields, the principal sources of Chile's wealth, are limited to a narrow strip of arid desert located on the eastern slope of the coastal range, west of the cordillera of the Andes, at an altitude of from 2,000 to 5,000 feet above sea level, and inland a distance varying from 10 miles in the northern part of the zone to 90 miles in the southern part.

Fellow Artists. Mr. Petalbas—I am a musician. I give recitals on the pipe organ.

Mr. Prouffier—That so? I wish you could meet my son. He plays the mouth organ in vaudeville. You organists might be able to help each other.—Columbia State.

Beautiful. Mary—They say that very wise people are awfully homely.

Mary (very ardently)—Mary, you're the most beautiful girl in the world.—Cornell Widow.

Killed Value of Old Coins. Old-fashioned copper cents of the years 1817, 1818, 1819 and 1820 were formerly very rare and correspondingly valuable; but bags full of them were found in an old barn and the market was flooded.

"Inspired Idiot." We are told that this was a nickname bestowed by Horace Walpole on Oliver Goldsmith, because of the strange medley of wit and foolishness, genius and stupidity which entered into his mental makeup.

Thread of Interest. "This cook book ought to be popular."

"Why so?"

"There's a love story mixed in with the recipes."

Seek Wealth Under Ocean. Miners Think Little of Burrowing Beneath the Waves in Their Pursuit for Treasure.

Man is a burrowing animal. In the pursuit of wealth he will even burrow under the sea. The most valuable iron mines in Nova Scotia are under the ocean. There are outcroppings of the ore beds on shore, but the miners follow them far out as they dip down under the sea floor.

It might be asked, how do they prevent the sea floor from caving in upon them? No trouble at all about that. Enough of the iron-bearing material is left untouched to serve as pillars, upholding the roof.

Elsewhere on the coast of Nova Scotia coal is mined in the same way, under the sea. It is an excellent quality of bituminous coal. On the coast of Cornwall, in England, mining is done for tin under the ocean. The lodes being followed out from shore. The bottom is of solid granite and the workmen can actually hear the boulders rolling about over their heads as the storm waves drive their about.

In one case a vein extraordinarily rich in tin was found at extreme low tide in a patch of rock. A bulkhead was built around the rock and a shaft sunk, large quantities of precious ore being taken out before a storm wiped out the work.

Before Needles and Thread. "Thorns and fish bones were used as a means of fastening clothing long before the discovery of needles and thread. Among the remains of the lake dwellers of central Europe have been found a great number of pins. Some of bone and others of bronze. They are quite fancy, having ornamental heads, while others are clumsily fashioned. Some have double stems and a few have been found that were made exactly like the safety pins of today. Among Egyptian and Greek ruins have been found many specimens of artistically made pins. Ancient roman, bronze pins and bone hairpins, with fancy heads, have been found at Pompeii. The Romans also made very elaborate fibulae, similar to the present day brooch.

Getting Gold Out of Australia. Australia forbids the export of gold without authority, but the Chinese who go back to their own land on a visit show considerable ingenuity in taking away the coveted sovereign. Recently customs inspectors made a rich haul in a rabbit jar, the back of a shaving mirror, an alarm clock and the leather band of a hat. The Chinese cheerfully paid the fines imposed on them and were delighted when the confiscated gold was returned to them.

Thread of Interest. "This cook book ought to be popular."

"Why so?"

"There's a love story mixed in with the recipes."

THE KITCHEN CABINET

The secret of life—it is giving. To minister and to serve. Love's labor binds the man to the angel. And ruin befalls if we averse.—Lucy Larcom.

Of sweets we have garnered from life's golden cup. Shall not weary ones taste and little ones sup? Why hoard up life's nectar our own cups to fill? If one other heart we might comfort or thrill?

SOME GOOD SALADS. A salad is always a welcome dish, and if well prepared and garnished is a joy to the eye, as well as the palate.

Tomato and Pine-apple Salad. Take one dozen tomatoes, two cupfuls of pine-apple cut in cubes, one cupful of English walnut meats, three teaspoonfuls of salt. Mix well and cover with the following dressing: Two teaspoonfuls of salt, one saltspoonful of pepper, one-quarter of a cupful of vinegar, or lemon juice, and one cupful of olive oil. Beat with an egg beater until smooth and thick.

Lamb Salad. An excellent salad for a hot day is this: Line a salad bowl with the heart leaves of lettuce, arrange dainty pieces of cold roast lamb, a few capers and cooked peas; salt, pepper and cover with a good boiled dressing.

Luncheon Salad. Take equal quantities of chopped hard-cooked eggs and diced celery, mix with a good highly seasoned salad dressing and serve on lettuce.

Anchovy Salad. Wash, skin and cut in two, lengthwise, six anchovies. Cut into neat pieces two boiled potatoes; chop fine one pickled beet and one sour cucumber pickle. Put into a salad bowl one dash of lettuce; add the potato and a head of cayenne, then the anchovies, the chopped pickle and spread over all three tablespoonfuls of boiled dressing. Garnish with a mound of chopped pickled beets placed in the center.

Shrimp Salad. When canned shrimps are used, wash thoroughly and dry on a cloth. Add to the shrimps tomatoes, hard-cooked eggs and serve on a bed of water cross, with any desired dressing. Tripe, boiled, cut into strips and served with potato, onion, celery and a few chopped capers, makes a most appetizing salad.

For still in mutual suffering lies The secret of true living; Love scarce is love that never knows The sweetness of forgiving.—Whittier.

STAIN REMOVERS. A fresh blood stain on wool or any garment may be removed if quickly rubbed with starch, which will absorb the blood and leave the garment unstained.

To remove obstinate mud stains, dissolve a little baking soda in warm water; apply in a circle outside of the spot and work inward, rubbing the stain until it disappears, then press with a hot iron. A mixture of salt and flour will remove some mud stains.

To successfully remove tea and coffee stains, first sprinkle with borax and soak in cold water, then stretch the linen over a bowl and pour boiling water from a height directly upon the stained places.

Peach stains are the most objectionable of all fruit stains; remove them with the sulphur treatment. Place a little sulphur on an old earthen plate, moisten with a bit of alcohol, cover with a funnel after lighting it and hold the cloth moistened with water over the funnel so that the fumes will strike the stain directly through the small end of the funnel. Rub in a weak solution of ammonia. Rinse in clear water and dry.

To Remove Ink From Rugs or Carpet. Pour a little turpentine in a saucer and in it shove some good white soap, stir until the soap is thoroughly dissolved. Keep this on hand to apply as a cleansing agent for spilled ink. If applied at once before the ink dries, the spots will disappear immediately.

Cleaning White Spats. Wash in a basin of white soap and warm water, rinse but do not wring. Hang them up dripping wet over night and in the morning they will be smooth and ready to wear.

To clean blouses—Perspiration stains may be removed from white blouses if they are soaked before washing in cold water to which a little baking soda has been added.

Bodied clothes will come from the wash boiler much whiter if a few drops of turpentine are added to the water.

Berry Stains.—Pour boiling water through the stain as soon as possible. If very obstinate and of long standing, hold the cloth over a dish with a bit of burning sulphur; the fumes will bleach the stain from the cloth. Wash carefully after this treatment.

For iron rust, apply salts of lemon and a little water to the spot, then place in the sun. Lemon juice and salt, cream of tartar and salt are all good.

Neelie Maxwell

Rubbing it In. Patient—Doctor, the only thing that did my rheumatism any good was spirits of turpentine, which my daughter rubbed on my neck. A friend told me about it and it gave me so much relief that I began to read up about it to see what it was. First, I found that it was good for pains in the back, then for sprains, and finally I came to the conclusion that it was good for almost anything. And then I understood why most doctors can make a living.—London Ideas.

CANADA'S HARVEST IS OVER

Threshing Shows Increase Over Expected Yields.

The Winnipeg Free Press of a few days ago contained a cartoon of which the following is a copy:

This probably as much as anything else will give some idea of the state of mind of the Western Canada farmer, as he watches the tally from the threshing machine while his wheat is being carried to the elevator.

From all sections of the country, the most optimistic reports are received, the local and city papers are filled with reports from twenty to thirty bushels of wheat to the acre, while in some places oats are showing a record of as high as 120 bushels to the acre.

Referring to Saskatchewan, it is confidently expected that the wheat yield will be nearly 125 million bushels. Heavy rains which fell in districts that did not promise so well in July, had greatly improved the prospects there, and there is no question that paying yields will be produced. The yields in the eastern part of the province may not show to the advantage that will those of the western part, but too much cannot be said of this, for it is the results as they come from the machine, and often these prove happily deceptive.

There is now every reason to believe that the wheat crop of the three prairie provinces will approach 250 million bushels.

Alberta will exceed the 70 million bushels that had been looked for. The average yield will be considerably higher than it has been in the province in any of the last four years. The Department of Agriculture in a recent report gave the opinion that it cannot fall below twenty-two bushels to the acre, and that it might easily pass the twenty-five bushel mark. Most of the wheat in the province when the report was written, stood well up to three feet high, and on some fields was still higher. The report goes on that in parts of Southern Alberta forty and fifty bushels to the acre yields will not be uncommon, while there will be a good many yields of from thirty to thirty-five bushels to the acre.

In the northwest part of the province, in the country surrounding Battleford and adjacent to the Canadian National Railway line to Lloydminster, and south the crops are excellent and the yield will be heavy.

A larger than average wheat crop is being thrashed in Manitoba. It has been estimated that the total yield of the three provinces will not be less than 225,000,000 bushels, and it may be that somewhere between 250,000,000 and 300,000,000 bushels will be the final figure.

Oats is a good crop in all three provinces. This crop has also grown rapidly during the last two or three weeks. Excepting from those fields which were sown late for green feed, the yield will be heavy and the grain excellent. Barley and rye are above the average. There was sufficient help to harvest the crop.—Advertisement.

EATONIC Users

—Do This—Get the Greatest Benefits

Chicago, Ill.—Thousands of reports from people all over the U. S. who have tested eatonic, show the greatest benefits are obtained by using it for a few weeks, taking one or two tablets after each meal.

Eatonic users know that it stops Belching, Bloating, Heartburn, and Stomach Miseries quickly, but the really lasting benefits are obtained by using eatonic long enough to take the harmful excess acids and gases entirely out of the system. This requires a little time, for eatonic takes up the excess acidity of the body and of course, when it is all removed, the sufferer gets well, feels fine—full of life and pep.

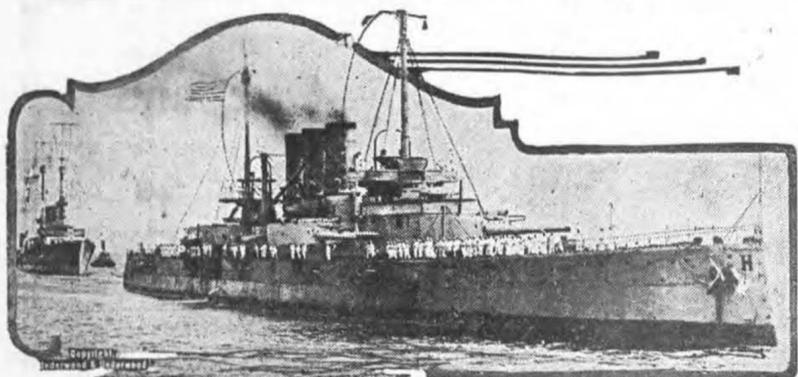

If you have been taking an eatonic now and then, be sure and take it regularly for a time and obtain all of these wonderful benefits. Please speak to your druggist about this, so that he can tell others that need this help. Adv.

America Gets Five German Warships

The five German warships allocated to the United States arrived in New York harbor the other day. After being exhibited and studied, they will be destroyed. The photograph shows the battleship Ostfriesland towing the cruiser Frankfurt.

GERMAN CREWS DAMAGE SHIPS

Vessels Allocated to the United States Arrive Here in Bad Condition.

WILL NOT BE SENT ON TOURS

Only One of Ships Capable of Making Voyage Under Own Power and It Would Be Unsafe to Send Her to Sea Again.

Washington.—Owing to deliberate damage wrought by the crews to the engines and other vital parts of the five ex-German warships recently brought to this country under the peace treaty allocation, necessitating extensive repair to make them possible of operation, none of the vessels will be sent on an exhibition tour of coastal cities, as the navy department had hoped to do.

In making this announcement the department included a statement by Capt. J. F. Hellweg, commanding officer of the convoy which brought the ex-German warships to America, asserting that even the dreadnaught Ostfriesland, the only one of the five ships capable of making the transatlantic trip under her own power, was in such condition on arrival at New York that it would be hazardous to send her to sea again.

Calls It Vandalism. Captain Hellweg attributed the condition of the ships, four of which, the cruiser Frankfurt and three destroyers, were submerged at Scapa Flow, to "deliberate vandalism" on the part of their former German crews.

"The gutted condition in which we found these vessels on taking them over cannot be exaggerated," he said. "What had not been stolen was wrecked. The vandalism indicated a very careful preparation and the usual thoroughness of the Hun in execution."

Expressing the belief that the Ostfriesland had been systematically looted while in the German dockyard for a year after her surrender had been called for, Captain Hellweg also declared the presence of an "unnecessarily large crew aboard when the dreadnaught was brought to Rosyth, Scotland, indicated in the light of developments that the crew was sent with a view of looting everything possible en route."

Causes Many Breakdowns. Not only did the German crews commit obvious depredations, Captain Hellweg declared, but their "preparations for future trouble by removing sections of pipes and valves" were responsible, he said, for numerous breakdowns in the Ostfriesland's machinery on the trip across. He cited one instance in

North Dakotan Invents Grasshopper Harvester

Pinber, N. D.—Ed Larkin has invented a grasshopper trap that gave excellent satisfaction this year. The trap consists of a galvanized tank 15 feet long with a perpendicular screen several feet high at the back. It is mounted on two small wheels, pulled by two horses, and the tank is filled with kerosene and soap. Mr. Larkin caught 100 bushels of grasshoppers.

HELP BUSINESS MAN

Uncle Sam to Supply Missing Link Between Science and Industry.

Department of Agriculture Installs Staff of Engineers to Figure Out Application Cost.

Washington.—Uncle Sam is going to help the American business man to use new discoveries.

He is going to do this by supplying the previously missing link between the scientific investigator, who considers processes, and the business man who must measure costs and related problems. This missing link is a force of industrial engineers.

Secretary E. T. Meredith of the department of agriculture, on the suggestion of Dr. Carl L. Albers, chief of the bureau of chemistry, has created a new service—office of development work—with a staff of engineers.

It is under the direction of David J. Price, who was chief engineer in the dust explosion investigations conducted by the department.

The idea is to translate through this new service the discoveries and inventions by the scientific investigators which a six-inch pipe line gave way and flooded the fire room when the vessel was a thousand miles from the European coast. The dreadnaught was forced to make most of the voyage, he said, with only one engine running, although it towed the Frankfurt all the way.

By bringing back on the deck of the Ostfriesland two 12-inch and two 14-inch guns which had formed a reserve for the land batteries of the American navy during the war, Captain Hellweg estimated that more than twice the amount appropriated to bring the ex-German ships across, $30,000, was saved in their transportation.

One Retort Sarcastical. Marion, Ind.—Mrs. Charles Bevan inserted an advertisement offering to trade her five children for poodle dogs, so that she will not be compelled to leave the dwelling in which she lives. The house was sold to a bachelor, who informed Mrs. Bevan she must leave or get rid of the children.

Twins Pastors Puzzle. Greensburg, Ind.—For the good of the church, Rev. Ovis Martin and Rev. Otis Martin, twins, hereafter will preach in different conferences. Because their congregations were unable to tell them apart, they have been separated by order of the presiding bishop of the M. E. church.

Into terms that can be understood and applied in the industry on a commercial basis by the manufacturer and inventor.

Such discoveries are being made every year concerning the utilization of manufacturing waste; a new food substance is found, or a new dye formula, a glue or a preservative.

In the commercial and industrial development of these many valuable processes and inventions they frequently have not been given a fair trial because they were not at once practical.

The application in the arts and industries of such discoveries requires the calculation of source and quantity of supply and cost of production, transportation and manufacture—which is really an industrial engineering problem.

So the plan of the officials of the department of agriculture is to allow the scientist and researcher to proceed to the point where he is able to announce that a certain process is effective. Then the new service steps in and carries on development work to prove whether the new process is commercially and industrially practical.

If it is found practical the engineers furnish cost and other data to the manufacturer and inventor.

WASHINGTON SIDELIGHTS

Large National Reading Class of 13,000

WASHINGTON.—The home educational division of the department of the interior has undertaken the task of supplying Uncle Sam's scattered family circle with proper reading courses.

This work was started about six years ago under the direction of the bureau of education, and today the big national reading class numbers 13,000. Not only is this circulating library information distributed in United States territory, but readers are studying one or more of the twenty-two courses in far away India, China, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, France and Canada.

Particularly is the reading course for boys of great value, for any boy may before he is twenty years old, even without the advantage of schools, become familiar with a large part of the best literature of the world.

The course usually requires three years. Each member must notify the Washington bureau when the book is begun and when it is finished, including a summary of episodes and characters and the reader's impressions.

It must not be understood that the bureau of education furnishes the books to be read; it simply furnishes courses of reading and encourages the co-operation of the state superintendent of public instruction as well as the directors of the extension division of state universities. Nine states are already actively co-operating in this work and include Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, North Carolina, Arizona, Wisconsin and North and South Dakota.

This reading circle embodies literature, history, biography, fiction, home-making, vocational subjects such as shipbuilding, iron and steel, merchant marine and machine shop work.

It is only necessary to send name and address, age and a brief statement of education and occupation to the home education division of the department of education in order to be enrolled without pay on the National Reading Circle Register.

"Times Change; We Change With Them"

CHAMP CLARK, when a small boy, worked for a farmer down in Kentucky who had a disposition like a rattlesnake. The man used to beat Champ on slight provocation, and as the latter did not stand six-feet-two nor weigh 240 pounds there was nothing for him to do but take the beatings—and bide his time.

As he saw himself developing into sturdy young manhood, Champ watched his muscles waxing strong with much gleeful satisfaction. He purposed to hunt up that farmer who had abused him and deal him out a little retributive justice.

It was ten years before Champ Clark determined that conditions were right for going back to that farm and creating a red-letter day for his former employer.

Well, anyway, Champ knocked off from his schoolteaching job one evening and set out on a day's journey to find the man he had been waiting those ten years to meet again. As he neared the old farmhouse the recollections of the beatings he had endured there came back as if they had occurred within a week instead of a decade.

It had been a long wait, but, at last, his time had come. He knocked at the door, and even then clenched his fists, ready to begin the exercises.

But there was a hitch in the program. Ten years had dealt harshly with Champ Clark's former employer. His wife and children had died, and he lay ill. He was all alone when Champ entered the house, and there were signs of poverty and distress about the place.

"I came here to beat you up," remarked the future speaker of the house; "been waiting to do that for ten years, but—I guess I won't."

"Own Your Own Half-After-Six Clothes"

WHEN Representative Albert Johnson of Washington entered congress he brought with him a dress suit all his own. What of it? Well, stop, look listen!

Years ago Representative Johnson was a police reporter on a Washington (D. C.) morning newspaper. He decided to buy a chow-hammer suit, Johnson had a room-mate, Smith, who also had spike-tail ambitions. He forthwith had an inspiration. He proposed that they go fifty-fifty on cost and wear. Johnson agreed.

Johnson had made the acquaintance of Mrs. Stewart, wife of the senator from Nevada. She had a big, formal reception and asked Johnson's city editor to send him to write it up.

Thus it befell that Johnson got a chance to try out the co-operative dress suit.

A salicyl barber let him into the Stewart mansion. Mrs. Stewart came forward with much cordiality to greet him. He stepped toward her, but his shoes were not the antiskid kind and they did not assimilate with the floor. The floor started to rear up and strike the defenseless Johnson and he clutched at a support which chanced to be a massive and high-priced vase—pronounced vase—containing a huge palm. This was surrounded by smaller palms and ferns and flowers. All went down with Johnson. Everything was a total loss, including his dress suit, which split with a sort of low wail.

That was 25 years ago, but to this day Johnson grows pale and nervous when he thinks of it.

Anyway, "Own your own half-after-six clothes" is his motto nowadays.

"Legal Right to Remain in Ignorance"

THE legal right to remain in ignorance is annually granted to thousands of children in states where child labor and education laws are backward, is the information furnished by the children's bureau of the department of labor.

According to an account of the administration of the federal child labor law soon to be published by the bureau, only 783 children out of 10,000 to whom working certificates were issued, or less than 4 per cent, had attended or completed the eighth grade, though completion of the eighth grade is generally regarded as necessary to secure even the rudiments of an education, the bureau says.

Only one of these five states has a compulsory law for children up to sixteen, even when unemployed, and that law permits many exemptions.

In a recent study of school attendance in Cleveland it was found that 2,550 children were so irregular in their attendance at school as to interfere with their studies, and that the reasons for staying out of school were in many cases trivial.

In addition to lax school attendance laws, three of the five states permit children sixteen years old and younger to go to work even if they cannot read or write or never have been to school. Two require only that the child applying for work shall have gone to school for a brief period during the preceding year.

None of the five states where children were granted certificates makes any provision for continuation schools in order to make up for defective education in childhood. Only 18 states in the United States have laws which make such a provision.

Wireless Controls Warships—Other Items

CARRYING out a secret experiment, the control of one large battleship with no person aboard by another States battleships have been maneuvering off Delaware cape. Coast battleship No. 4, once the Iowa of Spanish-American war fame, will plow through the sea with her engines and helm controlled from the radio room. Capt. John Galligan, commander of the Ohio, is supervising the event which may, if successful, revolutionize sea battles. Both vessels have been fitted out for the last two months with secret radio apparatus under the superision of John Hays Hammond, Jr., originator of the idea.

"YOUNG women of America, the world needs nurses! Never before has the call to the ideals of service been so urgent as it is today," says an announcement in the Red Cross Bulletin. It states that hospitals need superintendents, heads of wards and operating rooms, and supervisors of dispensaries and clinics.

CLAIMS totaling $24,122,264 have been filed by the Pullman company with the railroad administration. Of this amount $12,000,000 is for compensation for the rental of its properties during the period of federal control, and the rest for depreciation of equipment and for supplies and cash taken over by the government.

THE commanding general at Camp Custer, Mich., has been directed gradually to abandon and eventually to salvage the camp. The Tenth infantry will be transferred to Camp Sherman, O., and the Fourteenth infantry to the Panama canal.

HAD HIGH AMBITION FOR SON. Father Wouldn't Be Satisfied Until He Saw Him in a Really Proud Position.

An instructor in the military academy at West Point was once assigned to conduct about the place the visiting parents of a certain cadet. After a tour of the post, the proud and happy parents joined the crowd assembled to witness evening parade, a most imposing spectacle. The march past aroused the father of the cadet to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

"There!" he exclaimed to his spouse, "isn't that fine? But," he added, reflectively, "I shall not be happy till my boy attains the proud position that lends 'em all."

MOTORS KILL MANY

Toll of Autos Three Times That of Industrial Plants.

Menace Growing All the Time, Almost in Proportion to Machines in Use.

Atlantic City.—The perils of commercial aviation do not compare with the devastating motor menace, which is exacting a terrific toll of human life throughout America, a report issued by the executive committee of the National Safety council stated.

There are obvious reasons why the problem of making public highways safe for the people who own them should be given immediate consideration by the automobile makers of the country, unless they expect soon to be confronted by a great volume of hostile public opinion, striking from coast to coast, said S. J. Williams of Chicago, secretary of the National Safety council.

"Reports dealing with the commercial development of the airplane show that 75,000 persons were carried on aerial journeys in that country during the last year with very few accidents and but one fatality," the council's statement continued.

"Statistics for the current year in this country show that three times as many people are being killed by automobiles as in all the factories, mines, railroads and other industries in America.

"One person is killed by an automobile in the United States every 25 minutes, and the menace is growing all the time, almost in proportion to the increase of the machines in use. "It is estimated there will be 10,000,000 automobiles in this country by the end of 1920, and the number probably will continue to grow tremendously."

DREAMS OF ARREST; GIVES UP

Actor Walks Into New York Station and Confesses He Dodged Draft.

New York.—Unable to sleep because of a troubled conscience and a daily fear of being arrested, Conrad Jancke, thirty, an actor, walked into the West Forty-seventh street station and, according to Detective Clarence Daly, told him he had dodged the draft and wished to surrender.

Jancke said he avoided registering in the first draft, but that he had registered in the second, under the name of Charles T. Jackson. He said he then went to Panama as a railroad commissary assistant.

He declared he had been haunted constantly with the illusion that he was being followed by federal agents and would start from his sleep expecting to find one standing over him with a warrant for his arrest.

In company with Mrs. Prior and the baby he will leave in a couple of weeks for Louisville, Ky., where he will enter college for the purpose of taking a full theological course. Mr. Prior has had a pretty hard pull here the past year, but everything considered, he has done pretty well. He has pastored five churches, labored much as a painter and carpenter in order to support his family and has succeeded in erecting at this place an elegant cement church building at a cost of about $2,500. The building is not quite completed as yet but there is enough money in sight to pay for the small amount of work remaining to be done. Mr. and Mrs. Prior will leave Patagonia with the best wishes of their numerous friends. The Methodist Conference for this district will convene in Los Angeles Oct. 1 at which time a new pastor will be selected for the Patagonia charge.

The New Triplex Spring Overland

Keeping Up Its Reputation For Keeping Down The Up-keep!

The burning question today is Gasoline. Obviously, the price will come down when more oil comes up. But that will be only a respite, not a cure.

The fact is, the time has arrived to increase the radius of motor mileage independent of the gas tank. The Overland designers reached that conclusion four years ago. That was not difficult. But the solution was. We will tell you why.

Anyone with a smattering of mechanical knowledge knows that to reduce the weight of a car is to reduce the cost of maintenance.

But, ordinarily, to reduce the weight of a car is to sacrifice the comfort of riding in it; and comfort weighs just as much as economy on a motor ride.

The problem was to combine lightweight economy with heavyweight comfort.

Expert engineering knowledge said it couldn't be done.

That was the tradition that a generation of automobile designers had set up.

And that is the tradition that the Overland designers have upset.

After four years of unrelenting effort, involving millions of dollars in experimentation, and millions more in readjusting the thousandfold activities of the Overland plants to the fundamental change in Overland plans, the most perplexing of automobile problems is solved.

Fleet as a cruiser in her light-alloy steels, and suspended securely on the new Triplex Spring—

The Overland is literally a revelation in comfort and a revolution in economy!

You don't know what either comfort or economy is in a lightweight car, till you have ridden in the new Suspension Triplex Spring Overland!

For this is the first time in the history of motoring that economy and comfort have taken the road together!

The Overland Sedan has an average of 25 miles in 97 cities. That is the reason and this is the reason for an Overland Sedan.
