EDITORIAL

One day last week the editor of The Patagonian purchased a box of vegetables, about fifty pounds in all, and expressed them to a party at Amadoville where vegetables are very scarce. At Amadoville the box was opened and quite a number of persons permitted to feast their eyes on them, among whom was a wealthy Oklahoma farmer who was there looking for a location. He was very much surprised with the splendid exhibition and declared that he had never seen as fine tomatoes grown in Oklahoma in all the years he had been there. Others said they were just fine enough, and could scarcely be excelled in California. These vegetables were grown by P. E. Smith a little more than one mile from Patagonia. The Patagonia district is a great and productive country, and if some of our farm and garden products could be placed on exhibition at the State Fair this fall a great deal of good would likely result. It is said that a number of Princes and Grand Dukes who were stripped of their wealth in Russia are now running truck gardens in France, and making a success of them. There is nothing like getting close to nature if you want to get ahead and be happy. Agriculture is a most fitting employment for either prince or pauper, as there is nothing in agriculture which tends to corrupt one's morals. In commerce, in manufacture, in finance, even in the newspaper business, there are influences which sometimes drag weak natures down, which maim passive characters. But there is nothing in agriculture to tempt men to do wrong, to tempt men to overreach, to tempt men to quench their avarice with the tears of the poor. Agriculture is production, production of mankind's most intimate and immediate needs. Its nobility lies in its service to the world. Its appeal to noble natures lies in its freedom from the wiles and guiles which too often leaves blotches on the character of those engaged in commercial pursuits. There will likely be more farmers in heaven than any other class for the simple reason that fewer farmers find it to their temporal interest to be mean.

Personally we are glad that the cost of living is coming down, but we wish it would come down so we could notice it.

One thing seems to be agreed on by all parties—that there is either a shortage of houses in this country or a longing of people.

Quite a crowd from this place visited the Ashburn spring and swimming pool last Sunday afternoon. This is getting to be quite a popular resort.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE
Solely for the cure of Catarrh of the Ear, Nose, Throat and Lungs. It is the only medicine that reaches the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Slight cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 70c.

DAIRY PRODUCTS SPECIAL PRIZES AT STATE FAIR

PHOENIX, Sept. 29—In the belief the housewife who makes her own butter is entitled to recognition and encouragement, the Arizona State Fair commission, has announced special cash prizes for the best five pounds of butter made at the ranch, farm or home dairy from cows owned or kept by the exhibitor.

The first prize will be $15, second $12, third $10, fourth $7.50, fifth $5, sixth $3. In addition Vic Heaney, Phoenix merchant, offers a special $25 prize in merchandise for the best 3 pound entry of home made butter.

Cash prizes aggregating $60 will be awarded the best 25 pounds of butter made at any economy, and a large number of cash premiums are up for factory-made cheese.

In all of these competitions, the entries will be limited to Arizona exhibitors to show the full scope of one of the state's growing industries, and one which is destined to come into great prominence.

Dairywomen are especially interested in the competition for market and pasteurized milk and cream, and in the butterfat contest in which cash prizes will be awarded for the cow of any breed producing the most butter fat in three days' milking. Similar prizes will be awarded for leifers.

One of the interesting features of the displays will be the Cow Testing association demonstration. This will be an exhibition of cows producing under record in cow testing associations. Placards will show each cow's breeding, yearly milk and butter fat production and feed cost. A daily demonstration will be conducted, contrasting desirable and undesirable dairy conformation. A cash prize of $50 will be given for the herd of the four highest producing cows consisting of one 2-year-old, 3-year-old, 4-year-old and one mature cow.

CLARK BACKS CAMERON AS BIGGEST NEED FOR ARIZONA

(Special to The Patagonian)
PHOENIX, Sept. 27—Re-election of the officers of the Republican state committee, an address by E. S. Clark, former candidate for the nomination as U. S. senator, pledging of unqualified support to Ralph H. Cameron, featured the proceedings of the committee called in session today for reorganization under the state election code, almost every county is represented by full delegations and enthusiasm for Republican success was evinced on all sides.

Following Clark's speech, Cameron rushed forward and grasped his hand in hearty congratulations and the two stood in the midst of the gathering for a full minute shaking hands, while committeemen voiced their approval in a demonstration the like of which has not been witnessed in the present campaign.

The event was full of dramatic and significant interest, for up to this time, Clark has seen fit not to commit himself. Today he said, "Assurances have been given on all sides that Harding and Coolidge will be the next president and vice-president by an overwhelming majority."

"We voters of Arizona must see to it that they are backed up by a Republican congress and particularly must we see to it, that a Republican senator is elected from Arizona."

"The Republican party is not given over to futile post mortems as it has its eyes fixed on the high goals of progress, and it is up to every good Republican to give his loyal and persistent support to the entire Republican ticket in the national and state capitals."

At noon the committee ratified the earlier action indicated to retain in office Judge Albert M. Sanson of Douglas as state chairman and Andrew Faunert, jr., and W. C. Foster of Phoenix, as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

This selection was made with unanimous approval.

The morning session was enlivened by an address by James P. Doyle of Douglas.

Tearing off the mask of subterfuge used by Cox, Hayden and other Democratic campaigners, Doyle said that governmental extravagance can only rightfully be charged to the chief executive and the executive departments of the Democratic administration at Washington. Seven billion dollars cheerfully contributed by loyal American citizens, had been positively wasted, he said, and quoted the Texas Democratic statements that an army of 100,000 government employees in Washington easily could be cut to 60,000. Wilson, he said, through exercise of the veto, had held on to his autocratic power aiding and abetting an era of governmental extravagance which threatened every fibre of the nation.

It is amusing, he said, to hear the pre-convention talk about cutting the high cost of living, with daily statements from Attorney General Palmer as to his intentions and he added, "I have not heard of Palmer since the San Francisco convention. Have you?"

The speaker contrasted the Democratic attitude with that of Harding who has declared that true thrift and economy must begin with individuals and the only way to handle the situation is to elect men to office who have not formed the habit of spending the people's money too freely.

Tremendous enthusiasm was displayed by the meeting when the speaker referred to Governor Campbell as a high class and big man among the governors of the United States and predicted that he would be re-elected by bigger vote than ever, despite what the Democrats are doing in an attempt to defeat him.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24—The railroad commissions of Arizona, New Mexico and Nevada today appeared here before the examiners for the Interstate Commerce commission seeking a readjustment of railway rates in the three states. They charge the railways are exacting a passenger rate varying from four to six cents per mile.

Winter time is coming on just ahead and the coal burnings will very soon cause fires to be kindled in the heaters. Now is a good time to examine all flues and see that they are placed in a safe condition. Do not put it off until it is too late.

Marine Corps Is Popular—Other Items

RECRUITING for the marine corps is rapidly increasing. Before the war 500 men a month was considered a fair average; now it is double that number. The marine corps is now recruited to about 60 per cent of its authorized strength of 27,000, and at the present rate of progress will reach the maximum number within a few months. Recruiting officers believe that the educational advantages now offered to marines are leading large numbers to enlist. REQUEST that the senate committee on reconstruction and production hold a hearing in Chicago and conduct a thorough investigation of the present building, housing and high rents crisis, was received by United States Senator William N. Calder, chairman of the committee from the Chicago Association of Commerce. Benjamin Rosenthal, director of the Chicago Housing association, makes the statement that the housing problem is of greater concern than the coal shortage. ADOPTION of a liberal policy toward licenses under the federal water power act has been urged on the winter power commission by representatives of several New York investment houses. The commission is composed of the secretaries of war, interior and agriculture.

Reorganization of the Secret Service

PLANS for a reorganization of the bureau of investigation, the American secret service, have been perfected. The country will be divided into nine divisions, each under a superintendent, who will have headquarters in a principal city. E. J. Brennan, who has been in charge of the Chicago district, has been designated as superintendent in charge of the fifth division, to include Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota east Missouri and western Michigan, with headquarters in Chicago. William J. Flynn, who became head of the bureau several years ago, stays in that post and L. J. Bailey, who has been the agent in charge of the Atlanta (Ga.) office, goes to Washington to be assistant director and chief of the bureau. Under the new plan the first division will be made up of New England and the states of New York and New Jersey, with headquarters in New York. The third will take in South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, the western district of Louisiana and the eastern district of Louisiana and Porto Rico, with headquarters at New Orleans. The fourth will take in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and eastern Michigan, with headquarters at Cincinnati. The sixth will include Iowa, South Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, and western Missouri, with headquarters at Kansas City. The seventh will comprise Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and western Louisiana, headquarters San Antonio, Tex. The eighth will take in California, Nevada, Utah and Hawaii, headquarters San Francisco; and ninth, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Alaska, headquarters Portland, Ore.

Bill for Mammoth Cave National Park

IS MAMMOTH CAVE to be the centerpiece of a new national park? Representative Robert Young Thomas of Kentucky has a bill on the congressional calendar which authorizes the secretary of the interior to acquire a tract of not more than 32,000 acres, and including the cave property, at a cost not to exceed $1,000,000, to be set aside as a government reservation and to be designated as the Mammoth Cave National Park. The Mammoth cave lies near the head of unglaciated Green river, which has been improved by the construction of locks and affords a means of transporting coal from the Kentucky mines to the industrial centers of the middle West. Many tourists reach the cave by way of this river, which is famous for its natural beauty. In the vicinity of the cave the country is very mountainous and covered with virgin forests, which, it is said, prevent the filling of the channel by erosion of the hillsides along the course. The acquisition of the forest tract by the government is urged, not only for aesthetic reasons, but also as a means of protecting a stream which has been rendered navigable in a stupendous expenditure to the treasury. This tract would have an area of from 29,000 to 30,000 acres, in addition to the cave property, which contains some 1,700 acres. An interesting side issue is the suggestion that the outwash of pine air at a uniform temperature of 51 degrees Fahrenheit from the entrance to the cave be piped into a government sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculous ex-service men.

Cities Have More People Than Country

IF THE percentage is 51, would be 53,550,000 and 51,550,000 in rural territory. The increase in the proportion of urban population to rural has been manifest since 1820, and has been steady and rapid since 1850. This increase is shown in the following census tables:

Year	Total	Urban	Rural
1850	23,187,750	4,722,438	18,465,312
1860	31,947,724	8,729,223	23,218,501
1870	39,814,623	15,797,182	24,017,441
1880	50,156,298	22,622,282	27,534,016

PERCENTAGE

Year	Urban	Rural
1850	20.37	79.63
1860	27.33	72.67
1870	39.67	60.33
1880	45.10	54.90

FOR the first time in the history of the United States the 1920 census returns will show more people live in the cities and towns than in the rural territory. With one-third of the census tabulated, including practically all the larger cities, the census officials estimate that 51 or 52 per cent of the population of continental United States will be shown by the final figures as urban residents. Based on the total estimate of 105,000,000 made by Dr. J. A. Hill, chief statistician of the bureau, the number of people living in cities and towns,

WOMEN SPIES ARE SELFISH

Betray Their Friends for Money Rather Than for Patriotic Motives.

Mrs. Victoria in German Secret Police Employ—Turkish Spy Kills Self at Ellis Island to Avoid Deportation. New York.—That little romance surrounded the women spies in the world war is shown by intimate bits of history of the more prominent women who risked, and lost, their lives to gain information. Money alone seems to have been the impelling power in the lives of these women, rather than any heroic motive or patriotic desires. Mrs. Marie K. de Victoria, who died of pneumonia in New York city recently in a private sanitarium, was one of the most mysterious figures who arose out of the maze of intrigue unearthed by American secret service agents in their delving into the plots of Count von Bernstorff. She was arrested in 1918 and in May, 1919, told a United States judge and jury what she asserted was the true story of her life.

CRIMEA POVERTY GREAT

Million Rubles Go for $25, but Meal Costs 60,000.

Newspaper Correspondent Finds No Real Money and Little to Purchase in Sebastopol. Sebastopol, Crimea.—One million Don rubles were purchased for $25 here by a correspondent, but afterward he paid 60,000 rubles for a meal, 10,000 more for a short cab ride and at the close of the day was a bankrupt millionaire. Crimea is in an unhappy condition. It has 24,000,000,000 of rubles, but no real money, and there is little to buy here. The harbor is filled with idle and disabled warships and merchantmen. There are no cargoes on the docks. Street cars have been stopped because of the lack of coal, stores have no stocks and streets are deserted except for an occasional cartilage, some wounded soldiers or armed patrolmen. The only life here is on the beaches at the park at the entrance to the harbor. There bathers, for the most part women and wounded officers and soldiers, pass the time when not reading

SCIENTISTS ARE PUZZLED

Origin of This Race Hangs on the Tale of a Snail.

Mystery of Migrations Stumps Hundred Experts Who Are in Quest of Polynesian Data.

Honolulu, T. H.—If certain varieties of snails in the Hawaiian islands could talk, tell whence they started their migrations and how they traveled from one island to another in the Pacific, the world would be close to the solution of the origin of the Polynesian race, according to scientists attending the Pan-Pacific scientific congress in session here. Upward of a hundred of the most noted experts of most of the countries bordering the Pacific ocean have discussed the possible origin of the Polynesian during the sessions, and on one point they all agree—they don't know yet where the Polynesians originated. Having failed to pry any information out of the snail, the scientists turned to the common or garden variety of chicken. This useful bird is believed to have been domesticated by the Polynesians about 1000 B. C. According to scientific data the chicken reached Egypt about 700 B. C. It is believed to have originated in southern Asia, but how did it get to Polynesia? Another impasse. Begonia seeds and those of about 700 other plants found in the Hawaiian group furnished a little more information than either the snail or the chicken, according to the scientists. Ocean currents are said to have brought them here. Equatorial currents flowing across Central America from the Atlantic are believed to have forced the Pacific currents westward, carrying driftwood and seeds. The process of transportation and germina-

Test Works, All Right; It Cost Tester His Hand

Sacramento, Cal.—Harry Finegold, a second-hand dealer here, applied the "acid test" the other day in bargaining for a shotgun offered for sale. As a result of his "test" he is now minus the better part of his left hand. Finegold asked the person who brought in the gun to sell if it were loaded. The owner said he wasn't sure. "I can soon tell," said Finegold, and he did. The second-hand dealer placed his left hand over the muzzle and pulled the trigger with the other. It was loaded.

War Cost Millions of People

Actual and Potential Loss in Population Estimated by Statisticians.

Washington, D. C.—Due to war influences, ten European nations engaged in the world war show a potential loss in population of 35,320,000 persons since 1914, according to a statistical research conducted by the Society for Studying the Social Consequences of the War, which has its headquarters in Copenhagen. At the end of 1913, the society reported these nations had a population of 400,850,000, and under normal conditions this population should have increased by the middle of 1919 to 424,210,000. However, it had fallen by that time to 389,030,000, which led to the conclusion by Danish statisticians that the loss of actual and potential human life in these nations approximated 40,000,000. Causes of the abnormal falling off in population were attributed in the society's report as follows: Killed in war, 8,919,000; deaths due to augmentation of mortality, economic blockades and war epidemics, 5,301,000; fall in birth rate, due to mobilization of 55,000,000 men between 20 and 45 years of age, 20,200,000. "David and Goliath" Re-enacted, Indianapolis, Ind.—Just as a mad bull was charging Robert Williams, intent on goring him to death, a small boy hurled a brick. It struck the bull squarely between the eyes and killed the animal. The boy, scared, ran away after the feat. Women Kill Rattles. It has been a little more quiet in Patagonia this week than usual, due, perhaps, to several causes. But soon after the election, it is predicted, work will be resumed in a number of mines now idle, and this, of course, will start the wheels of commerce moving in the old time way. And then it will not be long until farmers will have grain, beans, cattle and hogs to sell, and all these items, small, perhaps, within themselves, but when combined with other forces which will be put in motion will put new life into our commercial affairs.

Ed Black passed through here Monday morning en route from his Sonota ranch to Nogales where he marketed a very fine dressed porker.

HARDING'S CAR JUMPS TRACK; TRAIN CLOSE TO BAD WRECK

MILLWOOD, Sept. 29—Senator Harding's special train narrowly escaped a serious wreck today when the trucks of the Harding private car broke down. The car was derailed. None was injured, although Senator and Mrs. Harding were shaken up. The train was running 35 miles per hour but was brought to a halt after crossing a deep gully.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS
Arizona papers are devoting a good deal of space to envious reviews of the good luck of Editor R. B. Edgell of the Santa Cruz Patagonian, who has recently reported numerous and sundry invitations to dine with his farmer friends and patrons, contributions of luscious fruits and vegetables, and one present of a silver nugget from an appreciative miner friend. Reads like old times.—The Publishers' Auxiliary.

This little item leads to the remark that the people of Patagonia and surrounding country are far from being selfish. In fact they are generous and big-hearted in all of their social and business relations with their neighbors as well as "the stranger within their gates." They are typically "Western" in all of their ways, customs and traditions, and would be ashamed to be caught in the performance of a small, selfish act. The latch-strings to their doors are always on the outside, and genuine, old-fashioned hospitality reigns supreme on the inside.

Would Be Citizen Didn't Know Of War In France

DOUGLAS, Sept. 30—Few persons realize how ignorant are some of the applicants for American citizenship, according to Judge A. C. Lockwood of Tombstone, Ariz., who cites the case of a Mexican who was testifying in a civil suit brought to establish a claim against certain mining properties in southern Arizona.

The Mexican, who appeared to be fairly well educated in his native tongue, was trying to tell what year he had made certain development work on the claims in question, the judge said and continued, "But he could not remember the years, and knowing that Mexicans usually attach much importance to events rather than dates, I asked him if it was before or after the war in Europe. He did not know there had been a war in Europe. He explained his ignorance by the fact that he did not read English and lived in the mountains where he seldom saw a white man."

Judge Lockwood cited another case where a foreigner had been asked who was the chief executive of the United States. His puzzled look prompted the examiner to couch his question in more simple terms, asking the applicant who "the big boss, the chief, the head man" was. The man's face brightened, according to the judge, and then gave the name of a city peace officer who had arrested him for some minor offense.

The deer season will open October 1st and many local Nimrods are expected to exploit the big game reserve north of town. We understand however that the game laws are going to be very rigidly enforced and hunters who attempt to overreach their rights and privileges will be prosecuted.

MIDDLEMARCH HAS NEW FLOATATION PLAN FOR COPPER

PEARCE, Sept. 30—General Manager George Brown of the Middlemarch properties at Middlemarch near here, was in Tombstone and reports that at present there are 20 men at work developing more water for use in operating the mill.

Following exhaustive tests whereby a flotation method has been worked out for separating the zinc ores from copper, the mill was closed down owing to short water supply.

The shaft was sunk 130 feet further and drifting is in progress two ways, valuable ore bodies having been cut during the process. As soon as sufficient water is developed, Mr. Brown states, work on a larger scale will be started.

The mill is of 150-ton capacity and through the floatation process copper concentrates will be shipped regularly to the Douglas smelter. The zinc will be shipped to Oklahoma. This is the first successful method developed for separating zinc from copper by floatation, according to Mr. Brown.

SCHOOLS WILL MAKE USE OF NEWSPAPERS
GRAND JUNCTION, Colo.—For the first time in the history of local schools, the school board has voted to advertise in the daily papers, and regular advertisements urging upon the people the value of schooling in the public school have been published. It is believed that the attendance will break all records as a result of this advertising.

There is scarcely a doubt but this plan will prove a success and result in an increased attendance in the city schools of Grand Junction. Not only this, but it will awaken an interest in the parents to the importance of a closer cooperation with the teachers and trustees. The Patagonian has offered to donate space to the public school of this place and urges each teacher to prepare a weekly report for publication showing just what the teachers and pupils are doing, the progress they are making, their needs, ambitions, etc. We believe that through the columns of this paper an invitation to visit the school should be extended to all patrons and others interested in school work. We further believe that every citizen of the town should boost for our public school and at all times be ready to extend a helping hand in making it the best school in this district.

The All-Around Usefulness of THE OVERLAND SEDAN

The Decathlon in the Olympic Games embraces ten events in one.

Is it for men who are varietists in sport rather than specialists. Specialization is the obsession of a single-track mind.

The rare thing in the world today is diversity of talents.

In men and in automobiles the great essential is the ability to match any occasion, to cope with any emergency, and to do it with a minimum of effort and a maximum of success.

But greatest of all the merits of the Overland Sedan is her all-around usefulness—the ceaseless cycle of her service in the Decathlon of Travel—her eagerness for the golf game, her readiness for shopping, her efficiency in business, her up-and-doing spirit on a tour—where the road goes she will go also, swiftly, comfortably, economically, and so safely that any man who buys an Overland Sedan can trust his wife or daughter at the wheel.

The Overland Sedan does not ask for auspicious conditions under which to perform.

She asks only for the open road. If it be smooth, so much the better. If not, then her Triple Spring will make it so.

For comfort is second nature to the Overland Sedan, and maintenance is the least of her difficulties.

Gasoline means no more in her young life than oil in a salad dressing, and her official gallon record exceeds 27 miles.
