Besides the Commercial Potash Many Valuable By-Products Are Turned Out.

EXPERIMENTS ARE SUCCESS

Plant Established by Government in California Demonstrates Profit Can Be Made With Production on Commercial Basis.

Washington.—Kelp, apparently, is going to be a profitable source of potash, an important fertilizer ingredient that the United States formerly obtained almost wholly from Germany.

Many By-Products.

Among the by-products whose commercial obtainability has been established are iodine, common salt, ammonia, and bleaching carbon.

TAX YOU MUST PAY ON 1919 INCOME

This Schedule of Rates Is for an Individual Entitled to the $2,000 Exemption—Heavy Penalties for Those Who Fail to File Returns.

Table with columns: Net Income, Rates per cent, Normal Tax, Surtax, Total Tax, and Decrease from 1918. It lists tax rates for various income brackets from $2,000 to $1,000,000.

The first $4,000 of net income in excess of the exemption of $2,000 is subject to a normal tax of only 4 per cent, but all net income in excess of $6,000 is subject to a normal tax of 8 per cent.

Getting up into the range of higher salaries, take for example, an individual with a net income of $25,532.80. The tax on an income of this amount comes in between the tax on a net income of $20,000 and $25,000.

For each child under eighteen years a deduction of $5 must be made from the total tax shown above for incomes ranging above $2,200 and up to $5,000.

Heavy penalties are imposed for those who fail to file their returns between January 1 and March 15. The full tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return, or if it is desired to make the payments in four installments the first must be paid by March 15, the second by June 15, the third by September 15, and the fourth by December 15.

Every person whose income equaled or exceeded $1,000 for single persons or $2,000 for those who are married must file a return regardless of whether the income is large enough to require the payment of the tax.

HOLLAND WILL PROTECT KAISER

DUTCH WILL NOT FORCE KAISER TO LEAVE HOLLAND, IS ANSWER.

NOT PARTY TO TREATY

HOLLAND DOES NOT FEEL IT IS BOUND TO DELIVER CRIMINAL.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Paris, Jan. 24.—The demand of the entente powers that Holland deliver up to them former Emperor William of Germany, that he may be tried "for a supreme offense against international morality and the sanctity of treaties," has been refused by Holland.

In a note delivered to the foreign office by the Dutch minister, Holland takes the ground that the Dutch government is not a party to the peace treaty which condemned William Hohenzollern, and that it can not recognize as an international duty the necessity to associate itself with "this act of high international policy of the powers."

It declares also that the constituent laws of the kingdom and the tradition of the country, always a ground for refuge for the vanquished in international conflicts, will not permit the government to defer to the wishes of the entente by withdrawing from the former emperor the benefit of its laws and tradition. The declaration is made that the people of the Netherlands cannot betray the faith of those who have confided themselves to Holland's free institutions.

Following is the reply of the Netherlands government to the entente:

"By verbal note, dated Jan. 15, 1920, given to the envoy of the queen at Paris, the powers, referring to article 227 of the treaty at Versailles, demand that the government of Holland give into their hands William of Hohenzollern, former emperor of Germany, so that he may be tried.

"The government of the queen, moved by imprescriptible reasons, cannot view the question raised by the demands of the powers except from the point of view of its own duty. It was absolutely unconnected with the origin of the war and has maintained, and not without difficulty, its neutrality to the end. It finds itself, then, face to face with facts of the war in a position different from that of the powers.

"The government of the queen cannot admit, in the present case, any other duty than that imposed upon it by the laws of the kingdom and national tradition.

"Now, neither the constituent laws of the kingdom, which are based upon the principles of law universally recognized, nor a respectable secular tradition, which has made this country always a ground of refuge for the vanquished in international conflicts, permit the government of Holland to defer to the desire of the powers by withdrawing from the former emperor the benefit of its laws and this tradition.

"Justice and national honor, of which respect is a sacred duty, oppose this. The Netherlands people, moved by the sentiments to which in history the world has done justice, could not betray the faith of those who have confided themselves to their free institutions.

May Pass Rail Bill.

Washington.—An agreement on the railroad bill will be effected in short order when differences involving Sec. 8, relating to earnings and a rule of reworking are ironed out. This is the opinion of some of the conferees who have been keeping in touch with the situation. If an agreement is once reached on section 8 it is believed that neither the transportation board provision of the Senate bill nor its anti-strike provision will stand in the way of a speedy settlement of other issues.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarhal Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Cardinal Gibbons Asks Aid For Starving Armenians

This is the message from James (Cardinal) Gibbons read at the big meeting in Washington in aid of the Near East Relief. The venerable primate of the Catholic Church in America is intensely interested in the appeal which the Near East Relief will make to the country in February for funds to support its work among the starving peoples of that stricken land. To the Washington meeting he wrote: "Advice and information coming from the Near East cannot be doubted. There is great actual suffering and famine. These people, recently become independent and released from bitter thralldom, cannot support themselves. And the Christian and common instincts of humanity which have prompted the people of the United States during the last two years to relieve the distress and needs, especially of the Near East, must not be allowed to grow cold and be diminished. "I hope we shall all unite in this present emergency and be able to collect sufficient funds to enable these peoples to live and work until next summer brings them permanent relief and subsistence. I call upon all to respond generously to the appeal now being made and trust that the committee will be gratified with the results."

THE OLD HOME PAPER

The editor of the Patagonian is well aware of the fact that many former citizens of Patagonia are now living in distant cities or towns remote from the family firesides and scenes of their youth, and however much they may have prospered there is nothing that so ekeers their hearts as a letter from the loved ones at the old homestead, and the more news from home the greater the joy.

Every absent son or daughter, every native of the old home town is glad to receive a letter from the friends of youth. He wants to know all about them, and it cannot be written in a letter, and as it is impossible to write all the news, the editor of the Patagonian suggests that a subscription to the old home paper will solve the problem.

LET'S PLAY FAIR Leonard Wood says: "As an officer of the army I recognize President Wilson as my commander-in-chief and to him I owe my allegiance." This is the sentiment of every true American and we commend it to the cheap party politicians who would discredit the president and belittle the great achievements of our soldiers on the field of battle and our industrious, patriotic citizens who remained at home to furnish supplies. Citizenship should ever be placed above politics and we should all play fair.—The (Phoenix) Messenger.

FAIR-PRICE BOARDS AND PRICES

Fair-price boards have been named, but prices are just as unfair as ever. Action and not resolutions will reduce prices. When the women say prices must come down there will be something doing, but not until the ladies who do the buying of 90 per cent of the food and clothing used begin to act in concert will there be a downward trend. Thrift, economy, saving, and not spending, are the best weapons to lower the cost of necessities. Luxuries need not be bought at all or until things get settled.—The (Phoenix) Messenger.

PREPAREDNESS PAYS

Part of the deadliness of the influenza epidemic during the last months of 1918 resulted, according to the State Board of Health, from lack of housing facilities for caring for those stricken, a shortage of nurses, and the physical inability of the few doctors available to attend to the multitudinous demands made on them. Proper organization planned in advance, is the best way to escape the dreadful toll that was levied because of the unpreparedness and the natural panic consequent upon the general realization of the community's helplessness. New cases are now being reported, not only in different parts of the United States but in Arizona.

Believed Victims of Indians.

Three skeletons, believed to be those of early American settlers were unearthed at Kennelbunkport, Me., by workmen leveling some land near an old fort erected during the war of 1812. Two apparently were victims of Indian massacres or wars. Embedded in the skull of one of the skeletons was an Indian arrow. The tip of the skull of the second was chipped off cleanly, as if done by a tomahawk held in a well-trained hand. The third skeleton was that of a man seven feet tall. It is believed that the bodies were buried in an old cemetery on this spot, and that the graves were covered over by earth thrown up when the fort excavations were being made.

About the Dead Sea.

Swimming in the Dead sea is refreshing sport, but swimmers have to be careful not to get water into their eyes. In a ton of water from the Caspian sea there are 11 pounds of salt. In a ton from the Atlantic ocean there are 31 pounds, from the Mediterranean, 85 pounds; but in a ton of the Dead sea there are 187 pounds. Contrary to a prevailing belief, there are plains on the shores of the Dead sea that are so fertile and well watered that as soon as one crop is harvested another can be planted; but as a whole, the basin is a dreary region.—Youth's Companion.

PADEREWSKI AT THE PIANO

Description of Great Master's Playing Well Called a Gem of Humorous Composition.

The death recently of Ed H. Smith recalled the humorous editorials which made his little newspaper, the Chula News, noted. The one which first drew attention to it follows:

"We heard the Polander, Paderewski, play the piano in Kansas City last night. The fellow is deceitful. He makes you think all the time that he is going to play a tune, but he never does. He flirts all around a tune, but never touches it. His hair looks like a wig, but it isn't. He deceives you in a hundred ways. He makes the sweetest sounds you ever heard that were not a tune. He has his piano so trained that the doggone thing will keep right on playing when he is not touching it. He reaches out slowly and strokes it, drawing back his elbows like a man brushing a girl's hair. You see the moonlight and you're there with your girl, but somehow she don't love you. We know the sorrow of that, and that's why we don't like Paderewski. There are troubles enough in the world without hearing Paderewski. A man don't want to feel like he had thrown the mutilated remains of his grandmother in the sewer. If this is Paderewski's last visit to America we're glad of it. But we wouldn't take $100 for what we heard."

LOOKED AS IF HE KNEW

Good Reason Why Soldiers Urged Lieutenant to Take Military Policeman's Word for It.

A colored detachment under a white lieutenant was making its way through the shattered territory near Dun-sur-Meuse during the thick of the Argonne drive. At a crossroads it encountered a traffic-directing M. P. who halted the column.

"Sorry, sir," he said to the officer in charge. "You are not allowed up that road. We have information that it is about to be shelled by the enemy."

The officer carefully examined his orders. "My instructions read differently," he declared. "I cannot believe that this is the road to be shelled. Have you any verification?"

At this moment a shell burst within a hundred yards, tearing up the earth and sending debris flying in every direction. The entire landscape was obliterated, and a dead silence, broken only by the crash of falling stones, ensued. Then, out of a cloud of settling dust, arose one faint, terrified voice:

"Fo' Gawd's sake, lieutenant, please take de gemman's word fo' it!"—The Home Sector.

Business Welcomes Radio Circuits.

With the new radio circuits in operation between America and the far East, it is comforting to know, even if one has infrequent occasion to communicate with Japan, Hawaii and the Philippines, that the new service is considered quite reasonably inexpensive. One may communicate with Manila from the California stations for 6 cents a word, and with Hawaii for 3. Even if the rates were higher, however, the new circuits would be welcomed by American business interests, for the development of trade, as well as the transmission of news, has been seriously handicapped by lack of facilities for communication. The United States will get a better news service in consequence, do more business, and may feel also, according to naval officers, that the national defense system has been strengthened at a weak point.—Christian Science Monitor.

Airship Construction.

Some interesting facts regarding the work required in building a large modern airship are given in a recent issue of the Engineer, which states that the general problems of design are closely allied to those of naval architecture, although the airship designer must be a highly skilled mechanical engineer and also must have a knowledge of textile technology. For the work on construction, owing to the multiplicity of parts required, a very efficient shop organization is necessary. In a rigid airship structure, excluding the machinery, there are 20,000 different parts, a total length of structural material of 20 miles, 60 miles of wire and more than 2,000,000 rivets.

Ruskin's Birthplace for Sale.

No. 54 Hunter street, Brunswick square, London, the birthplace of John Ruskin, is for sale by private treaty. In the early days of the nineteenth century, says the London Telegraph, John James Ruskin came to London from Edinburgh to enter the wine trade. In 1818 he married his cousin, Margaret Cox, and February 8, 1819, the author of "Sesame and Lilies" was born. The house in Hunter street, which is now distinguished by a commemorative tablet, is of the substantial Georgian type so well known in Bloomsbury and was erected at a time when that district was particularly in favor among city merchants.

MUCH LIKE WESTERN CITY

Tiflis, Capital of New Georgian Republic, by No Means Typical of the East.

Mr. Melville Chater, recording impressions in the National Geographic Magazine, admits that he was surprised when he arrived in Tiflis, capital of the new Georgian republic. He had expected a city more suggestive of the East, as the Western mind pictures it; but the Golovinsky prospect, the main thoroughfare through the heart of the city, stretched before him, "as handsome a bit of modern metropolitanism as can be found anywhere," and its restaurants, shops, opera, and what used to be the viceregal palace but which now flies the standard of the new nation, suggested at once the French adjective "chic." More than that, this new capital was brilliant with uniforms, Russian, Georgian, Armenian, British, and most picturesque of all, the Caucasian costume, with its broad-shouldered, wash-waisted coat, high, heelless boots, and astrakhan cap. One marveled at the load of weapons that completed it; a sword rattling and clanking with the wearer's martial stride, a brace of pistols, a pair of daggers, and a collection of what looked like enormous fountain pens hung across the Caucasian bosom, but which turned out to be hollow tubes intended to be loaded with powder and shot. One must add stiff mustaches and a close-shaven skull to picture this Georgian in all his glory on the Golovinsky prospect of his national capital. Clothing for civilians is scarce and expensive in Tiflis, but the cast-off uniforms of military officers are for sale, and many a citizen in need of a new suit had bought himself an old uniform.

ARE RETURNING TO FARMS

Not Many of Uncle Sam's Fighters Have Succumbed to the Lure of the City.

Of America's mighty war forces of more than 4,500,000 men, 1,200,000, it is estimated, came from farms. Records in the bureau of war-risk insurance in Washington indicate that these farm-bred or farm-raised boys carried government life insurance amounting to over $10,000,000,000.

During the earlier demobilization it was so difficult to keep track of the discharged service men that it seemed as though a very large proportion of them did not return to their former addresses or homes. So many of the service men who had come from the farms seemed to be listening to the call of the city that it was feared more than one-half of them were not going back to the farms. Later the tide of migration set in toward the country, and now it is believed that the loss in man power to the farms, as the result of former service men settling elsewhere, may not be more than 500,000.

Dead Towns Awaken.

Dead towns of the West are coming to life as a result of the silver boom. There were towns in Colorado and Nevada and Arizona, which, under the influence of silver in those days after the Civil war, burst into wild, rich life that has no parallel in history.

Clouds of dust are rising along the trails that lead across sagebrush plains. The mining engineer, present-day successor of the prospector and his burro, is astride in the silver country.

They are going back to the old shafts that yielded wealth when silver was above a dollar. With the advance in mining processes in the last four decades the chances of profits are many times multiplied.

Keeps Windows Free From Frost.

In these days, when Jack Frost is busy drawing pictures on the windows, many beautiful works appear over night, but when he completely covers the glass, he is not so welcome. The Russians have a very effective way of preventing the obscuring of the windows by frost. In Russia the walls of the buildings are very thick, and double windows are fitted to the houses, set about 13 inches apart. The window sill between the outer and inner windows is decorated with bright green moss, and hidden there is a dish filled with calcium chloride, which absorbs all the moisture and thus effectively prevents the formation of ice during the long, cold winter.

Farming Fish.

The International Association of Game, Fish and Conservationist Commissioners, at their recent convention in Louisville, pledged themselves to use every influence possible toward stimulation of a nation-wide movement looking to the construction of fish ponds upon farms in which desirable species of game and food fishes, especially the basses and the sunfishes, can be propagated for recreation and for food, at a comparatively small expense when contrasted with the vast benefits which will result therefrom.

Fifty-Nine Degrees Below Zero.

Fifty-nine degrees below zero was registered in some parts of the Adirondacks last winter around the first of the year, according to weather bureau statistics. Better (or worse) than that was done by Jack Frost in Sweden, where the temperature registered 70.5 below zero. And in some parts of Alaska thermometers are absolutely useless, the best of them freezing up and refusing to tell how cold it is. In the dead of winter, in the interior of Alaska, pure alcohol freezes into solid blocks of ice, as does kerosene.—Exchange.

Girl Studies to Be Blacksmith.
A girl junior at the University of Washington is learning the blacksmith's trade. Jazz is no lure to her, for the anvil chorus fills her ear and she looks forward to owning and operating a forge and a farm of her own. The desire to master blacksmithing arose from her resolve to be a farmer, and as such to know something of machinery. So she studies the fashioning of bolts and bars and the pointing of plowshares.

CHURCH COUNCIL ENDORSES N. E. R.

Federal Body Says No More Compelling Need in All the World.

Departing from custom, the Federal Council of Churches has endorsed the work being done by Near East Relief, 1 Madison Avenue, New York City, the former committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief which has essayed the task of caring for 1,250,000 starving people in Western Asia.

Resolutions adopted by the executive committee, as announced by Charles S. Macfarland, general secretary, are as follows:

"Your committee recommends that prayers be offered in all our churches for the suffering children throughout the world, especially those who are in distress and peril as the result of the war.

"They further recommend that we reaffirm and emphasize our interest and co-operation in the plans of 'Near East Relief.' We know of no need in the world that is more compelling than that of the Armenian, Syrian and other peoples in the Levant who have already received and must still receive the generous sympathy of the American people."

Holland has begun to produce salt from wells drilled experimentally in two provinces and may be able to obtain enough for all of its needs.

120,000 STAND IN BREAD LINE

More Than 1,000,000 Face Death Is Message Brought by Miss Dakesian.

Imagine a bread line of 120,000 famished people waiting for twenty-four hours a day for the dole of food that is the sole barrier between them and death from starvation. That is the situation in Alexandropol, a city in Russian Armenia, according to Miss Hermine Dakesian, a pretty Armenian girl, one of the survivors of four years of the horrors of Turkish massacres and deportations. Saved by an American woman, she has come to this country and entered Oberlin College.

With her came fourteen other Armenian girls in charge of Miss Adelalde S. Dwight, a Near East Relief worker, who has been instrumental in helping to save hundreds of thousands of their people from death by starvation. Miss Dwight, who is not given to exaggeration and has seen conditions at first hand, says more than a million people are facing death by starvation in Armenia and will perish unless American aids.

Herself an eyewitness to the slaughter of hundreds of helpless women and children by the Turks and a victim of the deportations, Miss Dakesian, an unusually pretty girl, says there is untold suffering in Armenia and Syria. She praises the efforts of the Near East Relief, formerly the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, to save as many of these people as possible. At Erivan, the capital of the Armenian republic, one hot meal is given out daily, and by this relief alone the city's death rate has been cut from a thousand daily to an average of twenty. At Alexandropol, where the refugees from Turkish Armenia were driven by thousands, the situation is appalling, Miss Dakesian says. It is to avert these wholesale deaths that Near East Relief is making a nation-wide appeal for funds.

BOY SCOUTS IN YOUNG ARMENIA

Strangest Troop of All in Constantinople Being Made Into Good Citizens.

American Boy Scout training is aiding prominently in the rehabilitation of hundreds of little Armenian boy refugees from the Turkish massacres, who have been organized into a scout troop in Constantinople as the solution of one of the most troublesome problems that confronted the Near East Relief workers in that city.

Hounded and driven for four years, having seen their parents and relatives slaughtered or worse by Turks and Kurds and themselves forced to beg, steal or do almost anything to eke out the barest existence, these boys had completely lost their moral sense when they finally found refuge in the Near East Relief orphanages.

The boys had been clad in rags for so long that they had forgotten how to take care of clothes. This was a tragedy when the Near East Relief had need of every pair of shoes and of every suit of clothes for new boys constantly coming in.

Then the boys were organized as Boy Scouts and given their uniforms. They began to be careful of their school clothes as well as of their uniforms.

They had been so often hungry they had come to steal without compunction. When they first entered the orphanages they continued to steal. One boy stole a purse from his American teacher. For two or three weeks after he became a Boy Scout he was obviously uneasy. One day he came to her with the purse in his hand.

"I don't want to give it back," he said reluctantly. "But I have to, I'm a Boy Scout now."

To form more scout troops to transform these little unfortunates into good citizens, is one of the reasons why the Near East Relief, 1 Madison Avenue, New York City, is making its appeal for funds.

NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS END CONFERENCE

Members of the Arizona Daily Newspaper Association, who were in conference in Nogales for two days, completed their session Tuesday and departed for their homes. At the several meetings held by the members of the association considerable discussion was entered into, regarding advertising rates and other matters pertaining to the publication of daily papers throughout the state. Secretary Lawrence D. Clark was requested to prepare interesting data relative to advertising which will be submitted to newspaper publishers throughout the state.

DEADLY MEASLES

Every person dreads scarlet fever. Few fear measles. Yet measles kill more children than scarlet fever, the State Board of Health reports. Arizona had 26 deaths from measles in 1918, and only 3 deaths from scarlet fever. For the first six months of 1919 Arizona had 7 deaths from measles and whooping cough, as against none for scarlet fever. "Only measles" must receive more attention by parents, if they desire to save the lives of their children.

TYPHOID DEATHS AVOIDABLE

Typhoid results from causes so unspicably filthy that clean-living people would revolt at the thought of them, says the State Board of Health. It is never a "visitation from God," nor an accident. It is always the result of wholly inexcusable carelessness on the part of some individual or community.

NEAR EAST RELIEF

Phoenix, Jan. 29.—General Mesrop N. Azgopetain, noted Armenian soldier and Lady Anne, his gifted wife, are coming to Arizona to speak in behalf of the Near East Relief, and the campaign of the state organization, through which Arizona is pledged to provide funds which will take care of 1000 homeless Armenian waifs out of some 400,000 reported as facing starvation.

General and Lady Azgopetain will address a public mass meeting to be held in Tucson, Tuesday, February 3, according to a wire received from national headquarters. On the following day the general will go to Phoenix. Those will be the only two stops made in Arizona.

Arrangements for the Tucson meeting have been placed in the hands of Dean Byron Cummings, of the State University, who is state chairman of the Near East Relief, and the state headquarters force will have charge of the arrangements for the mass meeting to be held here February 4.

Charles P. Willis, state director of the Near East Relief, reports widespread response to the appeal for aid. Sunday schools, churches, fraternal and women's organizations throughout the state are undertaking to pledge themselves $15 a month, which will clothe, feed, shelter and keep in school some little orphan. Public spirited men and women throughout the state are also coming forward with generous appropriations toward the cause, and have given their unqualified endorsements.

GEORGE WILSON DIES

George, eldest son of H. T. Wilson, former editor of the Patagonian, died in Mill Valley, Cal., last Friday morning from diabetes, aged about 23 years. He had been sick for about two years and had gone to the coast in hopes of obtaining relief. He formerly lived with his parents in the San Rafael valley. He is survived by his widow and one son, who reside in Nogales. Mrs. Wilson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Arthur. The sympathy of the many friends of the stricken family is extended in their bereavement.

Last Friday Mrs. Shields and H. H. McCutchan traded properties in Patagonia. Mrs. Shields will occupy the old McCutchan home, while McCutchan will move to the Shields place where Mr. McCutchan will have more room to conduct his fast-growing wood and transfer business.
