

COURT CASE IN FAVOR OF ELY

Title to the Sonoita land grant, lying adjacent to the townsite of Patagonia, was awarded to the Ely Real Estate and Investment Co., by the United States Court of Appeals according to word received from San Francisco Tuesday. The decision reverses the decision of the United States court at Tucson, which had awarded the land to Cornelius C. Watts and Dabney C. Davis, heirs of Marie Cabeza de Baca. The tract was included in the Baca Float grant which Watt and his associates claimed extended over a portion of the Sonoita grant and to which they claimed prior title. They filed suit in the lower court to quiet titles to the Ely company, however, appealed the case to the appellate court and the decision was reversed on the grounds that the Ely company's claim was valid because of a land grant of the Mexican government to Leon Herreras which is recognized in the 1853 treaty between Mexico and the United States.

During the pendency of the appeal the Baca Float people cut a lot of post timber on the land in question, caused damage to some of the planted fields and it is probable that a suit for damages will result.

C. L. Northeraft of this place is manager of the grant for the Ely company and very naturally rejoices over the decision, though he felt no uneasiness over the outcome.

The Benson and St. David high schools have each adopted an orphan, thus aiding the state campaign of the Near East Relief which calls for the adoption of 1,000 Armenian children.

A. F. GROSS RETURNS

A. F. Gross, who has an option on the American Boy and the Deep Down mines, the former owned by Mr. Peterson and the estate of the late George Clark and the latter by John Costello, returned Friday evening from a trip to his home at Duluth, Minn. Mr. Gross and his associates have resumed work on the mines—which have been shut down since the first of the year—and will prosecute development as rapidly as men and money can do so. It is the intention to sink on the line between the two mines to a depth of at least 500 feet and if not satisfied to sink to 1000 feet. They have plenty of capital and Mr. Gross is confident that a still greater output can be secured and that even more extensive bodies of ore will be found.

Not dollars but bread. This is what the children of far-off Armenia are crying for. Through its orphanages the Near East Relief is giving the people of Arizona an opportunity to help in a great cause of mercy.

THE BLUE NOSE MINE

The Blue Nose mine at Harshaw which was bought some time ago by the Layman Syndicate has been worked by that organization up to the present time. The company, however, has been reorganized and is now known as the Arizona-Patagonia Silver Mining Co. The company is composed of not only men of capital but progressive, practical men who know the mining game thoroughly and they are doing business on a large scale and in a business way.

A large number of new houses have been built at the mine for the accommodation of the management and employees and a mill is to be put up at once.

The Blue Nose is one of the richest silver mines in the State.

A total of 31 adoptions has been secured by the state organization of the Near East Relief, which has undertaken the care of 1,000 Armenian children during the year 1920.

A BUSY WORKER

Mrs. C. P. Young, of the San Rafael valley, is a busy worker. She was appointed census enumerator for the San Rafael district, finished that work and given the Harshaw district completed that task. There being no one to take the appointment in the Patagonia district she was then directed to do that work and expects to have it practically completed this week. So far as the Patagonian has been able to learn all her work has been entirely satisfactory.

NEW CONCENTRATING MILL

It is said that R. R. Mason, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who some time ago took over the Royal Blue mine located on the Baca Float grant below Tubae, is putting up a concentrating plant with a capacity for about 50 tons a day. It is his plan to supply about half that capacity from the Royal Blue mine and supply the remainder from custom ores from the different mines in contiguous territory. Chief among these will be the Bland and Jefferson. The latter alone will supply 20 tons a day. Ore from this mine that runs $60 to $70 is now being shipped from Patagonia.

Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald were on a shopping trip to Nogales Monday.

NOTICE TO READERS

It is the intention of the new publisher of the Patagonian to put forward the best efforts of the paper for the interest of Patagonia and the upper section of the county. We kindly request any reader who knows of news which will be of value and worthy of publication not to hesitate, but send it in. Judge J. J. Chatham, editor of the Patagonian, who now reside at Patagonia, desires the cooperation of every reader and asks their hearty support.

ABOUT MINES AND MINERS

The Blue Lead mine shipped a carload of high grade silver-lead ore last Saturday to the El Paso smelter.

The Mowry mine's shipment of ore continues at a steady rate. This week several carloads of good silver-lead ore went out from Patagonia to the smelter.

There will be big things doing at the California mine in the near future.

John McDonald has spent the greater part of the week at the American Boy camp.

E. E. Bethell and W. S. Wilson who are working the California mine just below town, made a rich strike the other day which created considerable excitement in mining circles. They are shipping large quantities of low grade ore from the mine and are keeping C. B. Wilson's big teams busy hauling to the ore platforms in the railroad yard.

Mike Hogan, foreman at the Blue Nose mine, was in town from Harshaw Monday.

Mr. Little, who has an option on the Sunnyside group of mines near the Three R mine, put a force of men to work Tuesday and will prosecute development vigorously. This group is owned by Hon. Richard Farrell and his two sons of Harshaw.

GOVERNOR CALLS SPECIAL SESSION ON FEBRUARY 12

Ratification of Woman's Suffrage Amendment is Only Subject to Be Discussed at Special Session; Blow to Treasury Raiders

Governor Thomas E. Campbell has called a special session of the Arizona legislature for the sole purpose of ratifying the Woman's Suffrage amendment. The session will convene on February 12th.

Although Governor Campbell was petitioned by many people to include other items in the special session he refused to do so and thereby saving the taxpayers of the state large sums of money which it is said would be asked for in the special call.

Among the subjects asked to be discussed in the session and which were refused are road bonds and increase in school teachers' salaries.

The limiting of the session to the ratification of the suffrage amendment is termed by many residents throughout the State as a blow to "treasury raiders" who seek to dip their hands in the strong room of the State.

I. H. Hayes, deputy collector of customs at Lochiel, was a Nogales visitor yesterday, having met Mrs. Hayes who has spent the past months in California. They left for their home at Lochiel this morning.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM INJURY

Saturday evening Otho Knasley had a very narrow escape from what might have resulted a serious injury or his death. He was returning home from work in a field with a tractor and in reaching for his coat which was about to fall off the machine, was hit by some part of the machinery and knocked from his seat. This disarranged the steering gear and the tractor went over an eight-foot embankment, landing in a rocky ditch after turning completely over. Luckily Otho fell clear of the tractor and sprawled on the bank with no greater injury than a rough jolt. When the tractor, with block and tackle, was hoisted out next day it was found that no damage had resulted.

OLD TIMER TO RETURN

The old Plomosa mine at Harshaw is to return to its old-time activity. The property is owned by a gentleman in Pennsylvania, but Col. R. R. Richardson has a bond on it and it is very probable that parties now looking the property over will take it over at once. It is a horn-silver proposition and perhaps the only real horn-silver mine in Arizona.

The Plomosa has an interesting history. It was located about the time the rich mines in Tombstone were discovered and the excitement at Harshaw over the discovery was co-extensive with that in Tombstone over the big strike there. The mine has produced more than $2,000,000 in silver and is considered by practical miners as still being very rich.

CHINESE STRIKE IT RICH

Louie Kang and his brother, Wo Ben, who have a small grocery store in Patagonia, have "struck it rich," to use a familiar mining term. For about five years they have owned the Bonnie Carrie property situated 1500 feet from the famous World's Fair mine. They have worked it in a modest way steadily and some time ago struck good ore. No excitement was created, however, until last Sunday when they struck an immense body of rich silver ore and since that time visitors to the Bonnie Carrie have been numerous. Those who ought to know say that the mine will prove a rich one.

Prof. Charles U. Pickrell of the extension service of the College of Agriculture, University of Arizona, was in town Tuesday and paid the Patagonian a visit.

The San Rafael Co-operative Association will hold a meeting tomorrow at which various interests of the valley will be discussed—principally the question of road improvement.

The social, political and religious forum at Judge Pendergrass' office has passed over temporarily national and Mexican matters and taken up the social status of Poland under the new regime.

The unusual activity at the Flux mine calls to mind the fact that the Flux is an older Patagonia landmark than even Mayor Billy Powers.

MME. MORENO

South and Central America have sent many charming feminine visitors to Washington, but none has won more instant approval than Mme. Carlos Gonzales Moreno. She came to North America to put her oldest son in Cornell university. She is one of the most distinguished women in Buenos Aires and has spent several years in Paris.

OUR FIRST STEP

Readers of the Santa Cruz Patagonian will notice that the size of the paper has been increased this week to a seven column page instead of the usual six. On the regular eight pages this will give our readers eight more columns of reading matter.

NEW COUNTY FARM AGENT

C. B. Brown, the new agricultural agent for Pima and Santa Cruz counties, was in town Tuesday morning. In a talk with the Patagonian he said: "I was recently appointed County Agricultural Agent to cover the Counties of Pima and Santa Cruz, and am now on the job. Naturally the first thing that I wish to do is to become acquainted at the earliest opportunity with every one in this territory interested in farming and stock raising; find out what your problems are, and how I can be of service to you. There is lots to be done but the important thing is to get your expression of what you community or personal problems are and what ones you want to work on first."

"In regard to my attitude toward county agricultural agent work, permit me to say that I look upon the work more in the light of a helper than as promoter of agricultural practices that you do not want, or which for evident reasons are not practical at the present time. I am a new man in this section of the country but have been a farmer practically all of my life. I would appreciate your calling on me at my office in the Old City Hall in Tucson, and thus give us an opportunity to become acquainted possibly sooner than I could by a personal visit."

"I will be out over the country a great deal of the time but will spend Saturday of each week in the office. I can be reached by phone No. 9043, or if I should be out of the city calls could be left with the Agricultural Extension Service at the University."

Mining activities are becoming so lively that it behooves the ordinary layman to be careful in crossing the streets to escape being run over by high water shoes. During the day most of these high-water creations are out in the hills but at evening they predominate in town.

Some of the abundance of gravel adjacent to the town should be dumped into the mud holes in the streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Barry of Sonoita were shopping in town Saturday.

W. J. Mitchell of the Mowry was a business visitor in the city Tuesday.

Some of the fruit trees and all the cottonwoods are in bloom.

Club women of the Salt River Valley are rallying to the support of the Near East Relief. A giant mass meeting has been planned, and this will be addressed by General Azapetian, noted Armenian worker.

B. B. Smith, general manager at the Blue Nose mine, returned Tuesday from a visit to his home in Pasadena, Cal.

PLEASING SAN RAFAEL SOCIAL

A Season of Social Business and Most Delightful Amusement

Last Saturday evening the San Rafael Social Club held its regular bi-monthly meeting. The social club was primarily organized for the purpose of getting the residents of the San Rafael valley together for social purposes, the ultimate desire being to organize a co-operative association that would help the farmer and cattle-raiser to market their produce to better advantage and solve the hired-help problem, which was getting to be a very serious one for them. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Grace A. Farrel, president of the club. The regular order of business of the organization was suspended, and Howard Keener, president of the San Rafael Co-operative Association, a member of the social club, made a brief statement as to the seemingly unnecessary plan of having two organizations in the valley, as the Co-operative Association was the necessary one, while the social club could be made a part of the former organization, the entertainment features of which could be handled by an auxiliary to the party. This plan would do away with the necessity of paying dues into two organizations whose object was almost identical and whose membership was made up of the same persons. The matter of consolidating the two organizations was considered by a motion to make one body of them, which was carried unanimously. Thus the San Rafael Social Club, as a separate institution ceases to exist, and the valley's social welfare will be looked after by the auxiliary of the Co-operative Association.

After the motion to consolidate was passed, the club members and visiting friends were entertained by the committee whose duty it was to provide for the evening's amusement. The program for the evening was not a long one, owing to the fact that the committee in charge had labored under the impression that the greater part of the evening would be taken up with the society's business. The following was offered to "drive dull care away":

Shadow pictures: "Scenes in the San Rafael Valley School;" "A Dentist's Office;" "Barber Shop Scene;" "Doctor's Office;" subject being operated on for enlargement of the heart;" "The Corn Doctor;" "The Manicure;" and a life-like scene "In Church," picturing Geo. W. Parker at a religious meeting. "The Holdup" was another "thriller" for the audience.

Following the shadow pictures Miss Mabel Gates recited a poem, "The Cowgirl," in costume, which was well received.

Then came "A Negro Wedding" in real "black-face." Howard Keener enacted the part of the parson, while Mr. and Mrs. Charles Curtis took the parts of bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Geo. W. Parker gave an interesting reading of Arizona's history from early days to the present time. It was very enlightening as well as instructive to those having the pleasure of hearing it.

Charles Curtis then sang a "coon" song that brought down the house, figuratively speaking. His make-up was a scream, but, owing to the fact that the program was not made up for an encore, the audience was not able by loud and long hand-clapping, to get another song.

Following the amusement program a lunch was served by a committee, including Mrs. Geo. W. Parker, Mrs. W. D. Parker, Mrs. H. K. and Miss Ina Rountree, Miss Grace Van Osdale, Mrs. Charles Curtis, and their families.

After lunch games were entered into by those present and the enjoyment lasted until midnight.

Those present from other sections of the county included Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bergier and Mr. Bergier's mother, Mrs. Joe Bergier, Mrs. A. C. Best and son Ernest.

Nearly every resident of the valley was present and the last meeting of the San Rafael Valley Social Club as an organization was enjoyed in full measure. The ending of the club's existence does not mean that the entertainment features will end, as the auxiliary to be organized next Saturday (tomorrow) night will look after the social welfare of the valley's residents as well as did its predecessor.

The co-operative association of the San Rafael valley has invited all residents of the rural districts of the county to become members, and it is the organization's desire to increase its membership so that the benefits to its members may be multiplied. "In union there is strength," is the motto of the grand old U. S. A., and it applies to farmers' organizations as well as to states.

Former Supervisor George W. Parker and niece, Misses Emma and Mabel Gates, motored from their ranch home in the upper San Rafael valley to Nogales Monday. On their return in the evening they paid the Patagonian a pleasant visit.

MANY FARMERS ARE DISSATISFIED

U. S. POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT ALARMED OVER THE SITUATION.

SEND QUESTIONNAIRES

FARMERS OF NATION SHOW MUCH DISSATISFACTION IN ANSWERS.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Indication of a widespread spirit of unrest and dissatisfaction among the farmers of the country, so threatening as likely to disturb the existing economic structure, is considered by government officials to be revealed in more than 40,000 replies to a questionnaire recently sent out by the Postoffice Department.

The replies as thus far digested were summarized in a report prepared by George L. Wood, superintendent of the Postoffice Department's division of rural mails, and read to the Senate postoffice committee by James L. Blakesley, fourth assistant postmaster general. The views of the farmers were obtained by the broadcasting of 200,000 copies of a questionnaire throughout the agricultural states asking for suggestions whereby the Postoffice Department might aid in cutting down the cost of living.

Answers to the questionnaires have been coming in since the middle of December at the rate of a thousand a day and while a small percentage of them are from well-satisfied farmers having no suggestions to make, the great proportion, as summarized by officials, show the major complaints of the farmers in numerical order to be:

"Inability to obtain labor to work the farms, hired help and the farmers' children having been lured to the city by higher wages and easier living.

"High profits taken by middlemen for the mere handling of food products; and

"Lack of proper agencies of contact between the farmer and the ultimate consumer."

Many of the replies, said one official, probably as many as 50 per cent, indicate that the writers contemplate either leaving their farms or curtailing acreage under cultivation, because of one or more of the three major grievances and because of the growing feeling against nonproducing city dwellers.

Commenting on the replies, Assistant Postmaster General Blakesley said: "Such a condition at a time when the predominant cry is for production and still more production, cannot but constitute a grave menace."

Excerpts from a number of letters, taken at random from the more than 40,000 already on file at the Postoffice Department, showed the trend of thought among at least a considerable proportion of the farmers of New England, the middle Western states, Georgia and the Eastern agricultural section.

"The time is very near," wrote a farmer at East Chatham, N. Y., "when we farmers will have to curtail production and raise only what we need for our own and let the other fellows look out for themselves. Labor unions are more to blame for the high prices than anyone else. People are trying to get pay for what they don't earn."

The Commercial hotel, the Orme Mercantile Company's building, and the building occupied by the Edward Shoe Company and the telephone office, were burned to the ground here early Sunday.

On account of the demand for residence property at Albuquerque a new tract of land consisting of fifty acres, adjoining the city on the north will be placed on the market in the near future. The owners of the land will give three streets to the county of Bernalillo and will subdivide the balance into lots which will be sold on easy terms.

This should be a banner year for Arizona in highway construction and with proper co-operation between the various highway authorities, two years should see the entire system completed, according to Gov. Thomas E. Campbell of Arizona in an address written by him and read at the state convention of the Arizona Good Roads Association held at Tucson.

That the new dam and canal irrigating upwards of 8,000 acres of fruit and alfalfa lands on the Pecos river at Fort Sumner, N. M., can be completed for less than $200,000, was the gratifying news brought to the farmers of that valley by the final report received from M. C. Hinderlider, irrigation engineer of Denver, who has made an exhaustive study of conditions.

The well being drilled by the E. T. Williams Oil Company in the Willow Creek field of Rio Arriba county, N. M., is down 1,200 feet in depth and may cut an oil sand at any time. This well is being drilled to test out the Pennsylvania system of reefs in the San Juan basin and it is believed that a new oil field rivaling the famous fields of Texas will be opened up.

The board of trustees of the Phoenix public schools have set February 17th as the date for a bond election to determine whether $500,000 bonds should be issued to cover the cost of erecting three new buildings for the Phoenix union high school and of paying adjacent streets. The structures proposed to be constructed are a class room building, manual training building and a gymnasium.

Arizona's taxpayers will be called upon to produce approximately $800,000 in addition to the amounts already budgeted, if the legislation proposed by the school administration committee carries at the coming session of the Legislature, the committee suggesting that the present budget of about $800,000 be increased to almost double the amount in order to increase the salaries of the teachers.

Word has been received at Albuquerque that a party of 125 tourists from London, England, will visit the Southwest during the coming summer. While in this country they will visit El Paso and will ride over the Apache trail from Globe to Phoenix by the way of the Roosevelt dam. The party will reach El Paso about the first of April, but as yet it is not known just what points they will visit in New Mexico.

The final plans for the construction of the Capitan-Nogal Hill forest and road project in Lincoln county, New Mexico are completed and are now up for approval. This project involves 672 miles, the estimated cost of which is about $34,000, and is a section of state road No. 13, running from Roswell to Carrizozo. The construction of forest and road project is done by the forest service and the federal bureau of public roads.

Robbery of the Gilbert, Ariz., post-office by crooksman resulted in the loss of $5,000 in cash, money orders and stamps, it was announced, as a result of a check by county officials and a postoffice inspector.

According to a statement of a prominent oil man here at the present time thirty-seven oil wells partly drilled in New Mexico, and of this number twenty-seven have been obliged to close down an account of bad weather. If all the present plans are carried out there will be 207 wells drilling by the middle of the coming summer. The only wells which are actually producing at the present time are those in McKinley county.

State Land Commissioner N. A. Plead of New Mexico has ordered that the oil leases of 57,000 acres of land in the Tularosa Basin, located west of Tularosa, will be sold at public sale on April 3rd. This land is nearly all in Otero county, there being only a limited acreage in the panhandle of Lincoln county. No bid will be accepted unless the bidder qualifies by filing a bond to guarantee that a well will be completed within one year.

HUNTING LAIR OF SEA SERPENT

Scientists' Search Leads to Discovery of Many Strange Monsters of Deep.

BIG SEA LIZARD EXTINCT

There Are Still Sharks to Be Found, However, Forty Feet Long—Dangerous Marine Creatures Not the Largest.

New York—Imaginative sea captains and their followers on returning to local ports entertain their friends and unsuspecting strangers with highly colored narratives of great sea serpents and other unfamiliar monsters of the deep that they have encountered on their voyages. That monsters of the deep exist today as in olden times is well known to science, but they are quite different from those described by the old sailors.

"The sea serpent," said Dr. John T. Nichols, head of the department of recent fishes at the American Museum of Natural History, "as that creature is pictured in the popular mind is a purely mythical animal. Although there are doubtless many strange beasts in the sea, as yet unknown to science, it is highly improbable that such a monster will be found."

Big Sea Lizards.
The nearest approach perhaps to this monster that ever existed was some of the big sea lizards which used to navigate the globe in prehistoric times. The most authentic reports of sea serpents nowadays when traceable at all turn out to be faulty observations of some ordinary marine creatures. A school of porpoises stretched out in line and rolling their backs above the surface in unison, may readily enough appear like the coils of a great sea monster to an observer with an active imagination. There are plenty of monsters in the sea, though none equal in size to the largest of the whalebone whales. The largest of such creatures are something like 90 feet in length. If there are larger specimens they have been remarkably successful in eluding accurate measurement. In order to find counts, and the whale shark seems to have its principal habitat in the Indian ocean, though stragglers have turned up as far away as the shores of Florida. One such, mounted, is on exhibition at Miami and will repay a visit to any one who chances to be in that vicinity.

Plenty of Sea Monsters.
There are plenty of monsters in the sea, the giant devil fish, or mantis, which probably grows to be over 20 feet between the tips of its great sufficient food such gigantic creatures must be content with a humble diet. Hence they have developed their whalebone—a substance in which no limitation can compete in the manufacture of high-grade whip handles and corset stays—for the purpose of straining an abundance of small fishes or other animals from the sea water.

Inhabiting the deep are two gigantic sharks, either one of which may reach a length of 40 feet. The basking shark is found in northern seas, occasionally straying southward to our waters. The model of an individual of 18 feet or so is on exhibition at the American museum. The manta has

WATER LILIES FOOD

Seeds and Tubers Make Good Stew With Meat.

Dr. M. G. Gilmore Learns From Indians of Valuable Food Supply Left Untouched.

Bismarck, N. D.—Tons of food lie peacefully undisturbed in the hundreds of acres of water lilies throughout the United States, according to Dr. Melvin G. Gilmore, curator of the North Dakota Historical society, who is engaged in research work covering North America to determine the possibilities of native products.

As a result of the first stage of his inquiry, findings of which were published recently in the thirty-third annual report of the American bureau of ethnology, Dr. Gilmore declares development of America's wild plant life has been practically nil.

"In the 300 years that the white man has dominated the western hemisphere," the scientist asserts, "he has not reduced to cultivation from wild stock a single native species except to bring under semi-domestication the pecan and certain grapes of the east."

In connection with this assertion, Dr. Gilmore quotes the United States crop report for 1916 as giving a value of $3,000,000 to crops of this country alone grown from plants first brought under cultivation by the Indians.

He sees the greatest possibilities for advancement in this direction in wild fruits, nuts and roots. An instance is found in the "Nelumbo" type of water lily flourishing largely to the ponds of the east and central west. The seeds and the tubers of this species are good food, Dr. Gilmore declares, and make good stew when used with meat, particularly beef. Such stew was originally concocted by the Indians, as were many other dishes which, it is said, could be economically adopted today.

"These uses of wild plants are no longer experimental," the investigator says. "We could have learned all about them from the Indians, but we didn't go to them and inquire."

"I have spent a number of years among them trying to learn more of their habits of domestication and mean to continue the work while the older of the tribesmen still live to hand down these lessons."

PROBLEMS FACING STRICKEN WORLD

Shall Chaos or Reconstruction in Europe Follow the Great World War?

NOW WEAK AND HEARTBROKEN

In Mourning and Poverty She Counts Her Dead and Looks With Eyes of Sadness Toward the Evening Future.

Article II.

By FRANK COMERFORD.

August 1, 1914, was the day. On that day Germany declared war on Russia. The first alarm rang around the world. Passants in the field straightened their backs, listened and looked into the sun confused, wondering. Flags were unfurled, bands played, faces were white, tense and serious. Men left their work and talked in groups on the street corners. Women laid down their brooms, put aside their washing, and talked in whispers; sad lights were in their eyes. Children stopped playing. Something had happened. Evil things were ahead. August 3 and 4 found France and Great Britain mobilizing their sons. The torch was sweeping Europe—the fire of death had started.

For four long years—heart-sickening years—the world ran red. Men waded through mud and blood, fought, suffered, cursed, prayed, while back home in the manless houses women and children worked, cried, prayed and waited. The world was mad. Death poisoned every breath the people breathed.

It is over now. It is finished. A stunned, numbed, weak, heartbroken Europe is again sitting in the sun of peace. Europe is in dirty black rags. The black is mourning, the rags are poverty. Her face is deeply lined—trenches made by suffering. Her eyes are downcast and dead. Hope flutters weakly in her breast; faith has faded from her soul. Her home is a house of darkness. The fire on the hearth has turned to cold gray ashes. The kettle no longer sings, it moans. Her mind is weary, her body is wasted. Hunger has robbed her of her strength. Her stockings, shoeless feet are blue from the cold. Her lips wear starvation color. Ice in the winter's wind lashes her shivering, half-naked body. She mumbles as she stares vacantly into space—she is tired, so tired. As I beheld her it seemed to me that a face so troubled and sad must never have known a smile.

I listened to her mutterings. I found that she was counting. Over and over again she counted on her thin, worn hands—she was counting her dead.

Thinking of Her Loss.
She was thinking. Her eyes looked over the hundreds of thousands of square miles of war zone, slashed with trenches, pitted and pockmarked by shells. She sees where they fell. No tears are in her eyes. Long ago the hurt had reached the point where tears dry up. Row upon row, line upon line, mile upon mile, white-painted wooden crosses mark their graves. For the most part they were her youngest born, her most beloved, who dug deep in the soil to sleep forever in the black dugouts.

As they fell bleeding from steel and lead, choking from gas, writhing in agony from fire, they proved in the dying word they spoke that they were mere boys, as they had shown in their fighting that they were brave men. To the poppies they trusted their message, and the red poppies remember the last word of Europe's dying sons, who went out into the great beyond with this last word on their lips, "Mother."

She has finished counting; an ache shudders through her bent body. She sighs and sobs, "Seven and a half million of my sons are dead."

Her thoughts turn to the living, her arms open to receive them, she holds them to her heart. They have come, but how?

Some with sightless eyes, doomed to grope through the world in a never-ending darkness, a night without stars or moon; stunted, black, hopeless days, and these, too, young men in the very morning of their day.

Others sentenced to silence—deaf and dumb. Never again will she hear their voices nor will they hear hers. Still others in wheel chairs, dwarfed, legless.

More hobbling on crutches, limping on canes.

Some with empty sleeves. Many with great scars, where once was a handsome face.

She sees them all, her heart bleeds; the twisted, the mangled, the torn. She is counting them, the 12,616,017, the wounded of the war.

War's Frightful Cost.
Her voice is husky, her hands are tired, but she must count on. Six and a half million of her sons were marked "missing and prisoners" in the official war scores. Many of these have come back to her, but she does not question them—she does not. Their faces tell of the unspeakable horrors they endured. She sees in their eyes a depth of pain that is unfeignable. She is a mother—she knows.

The war is over, but she is not over the war. Must she never stop counting? Is there no end to her losses? The graveyards are crowded. Her

DEATH BY HANGING.
In answer to a physician who asks what is the cause of death in hanging, and how soon it comes, a medical journal says that if the knot be properly adjusted, instant death from breaking the spinal cord is produced, but in a majority of cases asphyxiation is the cause of death. In this the man may retain consciousness for a few seconds to a minute and a half and may retain life for from 15 to 20 minutes.

SUBJUGATE.
When an army was conquered in Roman times, it was obliged to "pass under the yoke" as an evidence of defeat at the hands of the enemy. This "yoke" was sometimes made by setting up two spears and passing a third across the top. Our English word "subjugate" (derived from Latin "sub," or under, and "jugum," or yoke) thus contains in its composition a spectacular custom from the military life of the Romans.

thoughts turn to the dead who, while they did not die in the war, died because of the war. Those who went out in battle left life in a burst of glory. Others there were who fell in their tracks—exhaustion, broken hearts sent them "west." She has not forgotten how the home folk suffered. The stay-at-homes were not all slackers. They fought hunger and cold, bent their backs beyond the straining point. Worst of all, they waited. It is estimated that 20,000,000 civilians died from weakness, fatigue, strain, broken hearts—the horror of waiting defied resistance. These were the underfed older men and women, the scared, undernourished children. Is there any wonder that Europe has a death look in her eyes? Death has been her morning thought, it has been her night sob, and for four years made up of months, weeks, days, hours, minutes and seconds death has been her Nemesis.

She is now totting. The figures are appalling. They stagger her imagination. It is easy to write them. It is impossible to understand their full meaning. The mind can't grasp it; the world is bewildered by the number. It is too stupendous, too horrible for understanding. Think of it, seven and a half million young men, for the most part between the ages of eighteen and thirty, the youth, the strength, the spirit, the man power of Europe, dead—twenty million from civil life dead, over twelve and a half million wounded.

Who can measure this loss?
War brought death. It did more—it stopped birth. In the devastated regions of Belgium, France, Italy, Poland, parts of Russia and the Balkan countries, the birth rate fell to almost nothing. In England and Wales the birth rate in the last part of 1915 was 19.5, the lowest on record. Mallett calculated that the birth rate had fallen 12 per cent in England and Wales by 1916.

The Journal of Heredity quotes Savorgnan as having estimated that it will take England at least ten years, Germany 12 years, Italy 38 years and France 36 years to recuperate their populations. These calculations by Savorgnan were made before the fearful losses of the campaign of 1918.

A village in France, Biercourt, tells what the war has done to the man power of Europe. This village, which is in the Chateau Thierry-Soissons district, had a population of a thousand people before the war. Its losses have been tabulated. Twenty-six soldiers from this village were killed in the war. Ninety-seven of the villagers died from war privations. The total of 123 is the death toll of a village of a thousand.

The figures I have quoted from the calculations of Savorgnan and Mallett were made before the war was finished. Since the war, estimates have been made, and these estimates show the situation to be even worse. In France I was told that 57 per cent of the men between twenty and forty years were listed as dead or incapacitated for work. Further, that it would take France over 70 years to recover her normal population.

It is said that it will take Italy 50 years and England 25 years to regain normality of population.

The human waste of the war is more than sad memories. The loss of man power makes a grave problem. It has thrown out of balance the domestic scheme of the world. It will be felt for years. There are a great many more young women than men. Home life is bound to suffer. There will be fewer marriages, fewer children. Statistics only tell part of the story. European Tarantula.
An eminent authority in such matters, in remarking that the tarantula is a spider, says of that terrifying creature that it is the Lycosa Tarantula, a species of spider found in some of the warmer parts of Italy and Spain. When full grown it is about the size of a chestnut and of a brown color. Its bite was at one time supposed to be dangerous and to induce a kind of "dancing disease," but now it is known not to be worse than the sting of a common wasp.

It is an old fable, extending to remote times, that the bite of this spider would produce epilepsy or a strange dancing mania in its victims and that this epilepsy or madness could be relieved only by a particular kind of music. The tarantula of Italy and Spain—and it is found in those countries today—has hairy legs with black markings on them.

America's Debt to Jews.
Jews figured very prominently in the discovery of America by Columbus according to Rabbi David Philipson of Cincinnati. The first man who stepped on the shore of the new world was the interpreter of the expedition, Luis de Torres, a Jew. Bernal, the ship surgeon, was also a Jew, as were several members of the crew.

It is also now said to be established that the long-credited belief that Queen Isabella borrowed her jewels to furnish Columbus with the funds for the trip is a legend. These funds, it is said, were furnished by two Jews, Luis de Santangel and Gabriel Sanchez. A letter by Columbus to Sanchez is still extant, in which he gives some account of his exploits.

A friend of mine called upon a newly wedded pair and I happened to drop in. The bride had been a widow. My friend remarked to me, "You introduced them to each other, didn't you?" "Why, yes," I truthfully replied, "I introduced her to her first and second husbands and who knows but what I'll be the one to introduce her to her third one?"—Exchange.

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP.

A cold is probably the most common of all disorders and when neglected is apt to be most dangerous. Statistics show that more than three times as many people died from influenza last year, as were killed in the greatest war the world has ever known. For the last fifty-three years Boschee's Syrup has been used for coughs, bronchitis, colds, throat irritation and especially lung troubles. It gives the patient a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectation in the morning. Made in America and used in the homes of thousands of families all over the civilized world. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

"Gee-Whiz! How it Hurts—The Pain in My Foot!"

"Sometimes it is in my arm. Merciful Heaven, how my back hurts in the morning!" It's all due to an over-abundance of that poison called uric acid. The kidneys are not able to get rid of it. Such conditions you can readily overcome, and prolong life by taking the advice of Dr. Pierce, which is "keep the kidneys in good order."

"Avoid too much meat, alcohol or tea. Drink plenty of pure water, preferably hot water, before meals, and drive the uric acid out of the system by taking Anuric." This can be obtained at almost any drug store.

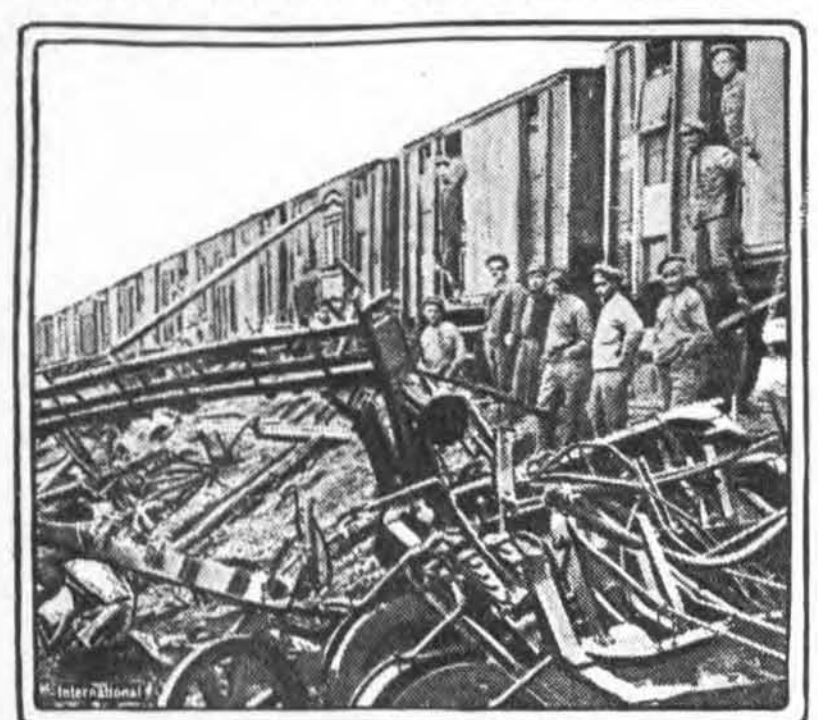

Send a bottle of water to the chemist at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and you will receive free medical advice as to whether the kidneys are affected. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headache, dizzy spells, or twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism or gout; or sleep is disturbed two or three times a night, take heed, before too late. Paris Police Say Wife and Children Aided in Alleged Slaying—Crimes.

Paris.—Police officials investigating charges against Henri Landru, the alleged "bluebeard," who is accused of slaying a number of women and destroying their bodies, claim to have found about fifteen pounds of human bones in a house where he lived.

Among the bones was a skull in a good state of preservation. Some of the bones had been cut with a saw, the teeth of which left peculiar marks which were easily recognizable. It is said the saw has been found and that marks made by its teeth coincide with those found on the bone fragments.

Inquiry as to the operations of Landru's wife, says the Eclair, shows that she was a "devoted accomplice" of her husband and "knew of everything he did." It is also charged that children aided in disposing of property secured by Landru in the course of his alleged crimes.

TRADEMARKS PIRATED

Business Men Complain of Acts in Foreign Countries.

Appeal to State Department to Protect the Interests of Rightful Owners.

New York.—The American Manufacturers' Export association launched its fight against trademark pirates in Portugal and elsewhere by sending an appeal to the state department asking that the American ambassador to Portugal protect the interests of the rightful owners.

The patent and trademark committee of the association in the appeal pointed out that more than forty American automobile trademarks have already been pirated in Portugal.

The pirating of trademarks is not limited to any particular country, explained a statement issued by the committee, but hundreds of trademarks are appropriated throughout the world.

Recently a Brazilian concern took forty well-known trademarks belonging to American automobile and accessory manufacturers. It was stated. Similar cases of pirating were cited in Spain, Japan, Argentina and Cuba.

The motion-picture industry has also completely lost its foreign trademarks, the statement adds, owing to the practice in the industry of permitting registration by the foreign agents.

The statement pointed out that in view of the patent and trademark provisions of the peace treaty, ratification of the treaty would permit the recovery of all trademarks pirated in Portugal owing to an extension of the international trademark convention, to which this country is a party.

France Has Big Wine Stock

Hundreds of Millions of Bottles of Liquor Escaped Seizure by Germans.

Reims, France.—Labyrinthine wine cellars beneath the cities of Reims and Epernay are being rapidly put in order by the big champagne firms of the two cities. These cellars, which would form a subterranean gallery six miles in length, hold hundreds of millions of bottles of precious vintages, and notwithstanding the fact that this region was for four years under fire from German or allied guns they suffered comparatively little damage.

Losses incurred by the wine industry, while they will place a heavy burden on firms for a time, will be recouped soon, according to statements made to the Associated Press correspondent, who is visiting the former battle zone under special permission from the French government.

German soldiers took very little wine from the cellars when they swept

DIET IS UNIONIZED IN SPAIN

Organized Workers Also Demand Beds With Two Mattresses.

Washington.—Industrial troubles in Spain have the question of diet added to the problems of wages and hours, according to a report at the department of commerce.

Before making a contract to cut a crop of sugar cane, Spanish workmen recently made the following demands: A daily wage of 10 pesetas ($1.75); three heavy meals—breakfast of eggs and meat, dinner of soup and meat stew, supper of bacon, green vegetables and "gazpacho"; hours of work—from sun to sun, with two hours for siesta, or noon-day nap, forty minutes for each meal, three smoking periods of twenty minutes each and one for thirty minutes and a bed with two mattresses.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:--

One year ago I came to Nogales, "the best town on the border," from El Paso where for fifteen years I was engaged in the practice of my profession and for many years headed the largest optical firm.

In opening my establishment here it was made the best in the State with equipment second to none, anywhere, with facilities equalled only in Los Angeles, San Francisco or cities of similar size.

I am deeply indebted to the progressive people of Nogales and vicinity who were quick to appreciate our efforts to render a metropolitan optical service, which eliminated delay in the fitting of glasses and replacing of broken lenses, as our modern factory on the premises enables us to grind any lens in a few hours, instead of waiting a week or more as was formerly customary in Nogales.

From the beginning it has been our desire to render the most efficient optical service obtainable anywhere and our records show that in the past year we have corrected the eyesight of over 1,000 patients in Nogales and vicinity, among whom you will find the most prominent citizens of both sides of the line. In addition we have made a multitude of good friends.

People from this community and from Mexico who formerly passed through Nogales enroute to Tucson, Phoenix or Los Angeles, are now surprised to find that we render as good or better service right here with less expense and less delay. People residing in Los Angeles and San Francisco have been fitted by us, and we recently fitted a patient from Hermosillo who had intended going to New York City.

Our establishment in Nogales is conveniently located at 239 Morley Ave., downstairs, our office hours are from eight to six each week day, or Sundays by appointment. We are in Nogales every day in the year, and spend our money here as we hope you do.

If your eyes or your glasses need attention call and see us, or telephone 286 for appointment. We assure you of real conscientious optical service as good as you will find anywhere, we have the facilities, the experience and we know how.

Yours for good eye sight,

Parents Urged to Register Births For Baby's Sake

The following notification sent out from the office of the State Board of Health, Phoenix, Arizona, will be of interest to Nogales readers:

Birth registration is exceedingly important. Frequently the payment of large sums of money depend upon the birth certificate. Often the eligibility of a man or woman to important places will depend upon the date of their birth. Arizona makes it a misdemeanor for a physician or midwife to "neglect or refuse" to file a proper certificate within five days.

A list of the babies whose births were registered in this county during the month of December, 1919, is given here with. Parents should insist upon their child receiving this protection. If any name is omitted, it should be forwarded without delay.

Parents desiring certified copies of their baby's birth registration can secure same from the Secretary of the State Board of Health, Phoenix, Arizona. The fee is 50 cents.

PATAGONIA BANKER MADE V. PRESIDENT OF NEW TUCSON BANK

TUCSON, Jan. 31—A board of directors for the newly acquired Security Bank & Trust company will be elected within the next two weeks, according to Walter E. Fuller, president of the bank, who, with his associates, recently acquired control of the stock of the former International Bank & Trust company.

The officers elected recently to serve for the coming year were: Walter E. Fuller, president; S. W. Kennard, vice president; W. P. Capelhart, second vice president and treasurer, and Paul J. Colla, secretary and counsel.

The new organization expects to occupy its re-fitted quarters by February 16.

The second vice president, W. P. Capelhart, is the president of the First State Bank of Patagonia. While young in years, Mr. Capelhart has proven to be a success as a banker as demonstrated by the rapid gain of deposits and business of the First State Bank.

Smith said he paid $75,000 for the tiny volume, which is 2x3 inches in size and weighs only two ounces. The volume was purchased for Henry E. Huntington of New York, owner of one of the finest collections of Shakespearean works in the world.

NEW MANAGEMENT
The Patagonian appears this week under new management, with Mr. H. R. Sisk, publisher and owner of the Nogales Daily Herald, as publisher and lessee. Mr. Sisk thus extends his newspaper activities as a purely business proposition, confident of the future prosperity of Patagonia, the wonderful mining possibilities surrounding the town and the splendid promises of the farming and stockraising industries adjacent and indeed throughout the county. The paper has a firm hold upon this rich field and it will be the earnest aim of the management to zealously guard and further the interests of every industry and make the Patagonian a welcome weekly visitor in every home in the eastern, northern and western portions of the county.

Politically, the paper will be independent—the organ of no party, clique or faction, but rather, a live local paper for the home. It will take an interest in politics, however—as every good citizen should do—to the extent of favoring the best men for public office, and candidly oppose those deemed unfit and undesirable as servants of the people.

EDITORIAL NOTES
Marconi, the wireless wizard, says Mars is "calling the earth." Probably wants to float a loan for a few millions in the United States.

Anyhow there is nothing in the law that prohibits one getting "full of prunes."

A member of the Massachusetts legislature gives his vocation as a "professional humorist." A glance at our statutes would indicate that several of that ilk were members of the Arizona legislature in recent years.

Santa Cruz county boys who were sent with the army to Siberia say soldiering in that country is "something fierce," and wonder why they were sent there.

The statement that all the reservations for the Nogales Chamber of Commerce trade excursion to the West Coast of Mexico were soon taken, created no surprise. The "humidity" of the West Coast is a formidable loadstone quite apart from trade considerations.

California producers and wholesalers are doing all in their power to prevent our producers from having a home market. Consumers should aid home producers by throwing off this yoke.

Santa Cruz county hasn't an acre of desert, is one of the best watered and timbered counties in the State and this fact is a potent attraction for the northern and eastern home-seeker.

Our local mining men and prospectors have always claimed that the mineral sections of Santa Cruz county are among the richest in the State and the gradual coming in of well-organized companies with abundant capital would seem to bear out the truth of this claim. Big mining companies do not rashly invest money in expensive machinery for purely experimental purposes.

A special congressional election in the Third Missouri Congress district is attracting nation-wide attention and big oratorical guns of both parties are being brought into the campaign. Senator Johnson of California has been speaking in the district and Senator Borah of Idaho is to follow him. The Democrats are also sending some big statesmen into the fight. The main issue is the League of Nations and the election will be held on the 14th inst. The district is normally 6000 Democratic.

Women voters are asked to ignore partisan politics and to pick the best man. To hear the husbands tell it, that's what the women have been doing all along.

Prosperity awaits the one who invents a successful method of turning corkscrews into button hooks.

The introduction of diamond drills in the Patagonia district spells a whole lot for the mining industry of Santa Cruz county.

The parties who are to establish a brick making plant in Patagonia are going to add materially to their wealth and the architectural beauty of the town.

ARBOR DAY PROCLAMATION

Arizona, recognizing the value and benefits of the custom inaugurated by the State of Nebraska shortly after the Civil War, has decreed the observance of Arbor Day and imposed upon the Governor the duty of setting aside two days (one for the southern and the other for the northern counties) on which appropriate exercises shall accompany the planting of trees, vines, shrubbery and flowers by the pupils of public and private schools.

In the pursuit of knowledge there is a tendency to devote our time to those subjects calculated to equip us mentally for earning capacity, forgetting that cultivation of the esthetic is essential to a complete and well rounded education and to the enjoyment of those things in life not measured by the standard of dollars and cents. Love of nature is inherent in every human being, but if not educated or lead out it becomes dormant and atrophied. Nature cannot speak her varied language to those who have ears to hear and will not listen and eyes to see and will not look. To such a child or man there is no music of the spheres, no melody in the winds sighing through the pines. For him the birds do not chant a song of praise; there is no glory in the sunrise or lesson of life in the sunset; the desert is merely a barren waste and the Grand Canyon is simply a gigantic hole in the earth instead of an awe inspiring colorful creation of the Master Painter and Architect. Nature has been prodigal with her gifts, but with our eyes to the ground instead of lifted upward to the overlying hills, and the skies which declare the glory of their Maker we miss the beautiful visions which have been created not alone for our mental delectation, but for the purification of our souls.

It is therefore vital that our schools recognize the importance and necessity of impressing upon the plastic minds of our children that through an understanding of Nature they are better able to comprehend what is good and really worth while, and become attuned to the Infinite. Arbor Day therefore has more than utilitarian significance and it is meet and proper that these deeper lessons should be diligently pursued.

...ow Therefore, I, Thomas E. Campbell, Governor of Arizona, by virtue of the authority vested in me, and in conformity with the provisions of Paragraphs 2837-2840, Chapter XX of the Revised Statutes of Arizona, do hereby designate Friday and set apart, Friday the 6th day of February, 1920 as Arbor Day, to be observed in the Counties of Cochise, Gila, Graham, Greenlee, Maricopa, Pima, Pinal, Santa Cruz and Yuma; and similarly I hereby designate and set apart Friday the 2nd day of April, 1920 as Arbor Day for due observance in the Counties of Apache, Coconino, Navajo, Mohave and Yavapai.

And I also recommend that observance of these occasions be not confined to the schools of the commonwealth but that those of older years pause from their labors and with civic pride as their actuating motive, aid in beautifying the several communities in which they live.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Arizona to be affixed.

Done at Phoenix, the Capital, this 30th day of January, 1920.

THOMAS E. CAMPBELL,
Governor of Arizona.
Attest: MIT SIMMS,
Secretary of State.
By R. E. MCGILLEN,
Assistant Secretary.

The dry farmers and all other farmers in Santa Cruz county, raised bumper crops last year and the prospects are more favorable now than they were at this time last year.

The range for livestock in this county was never better than it is this year and the man who owns a sizeable herd is in line for a sizeable bank account.

THE ROYAL REFUGEE
(Arizona Gazette)

Perhaps the allies will press their demand for the surrender of "Count" Hohenzollern. Holland might conceivably be bulldozed into giving him up or Germany into endorsing the demand for his extradition and thereby giving Holland an excuse to let him go. But perhaps the allies will be just as well satisfied if Holland stands pat and Germany declines to intervene.

So far as Holland is concerned, her stand seems warranted by international law and custom. If Wilhelm is properly classified as a "political refugee," Great Britain, with her free traditions and precedents matching those of Holland and America, may well hesitate to back the demand by force. Moreover, the allied governments seem not at all sure as to what they would do with Wilhelm if they got him. It looks, therefore, as if this royal quitter may end his days in his chosen place of exile. And to tell the truth, few people seem to care.

E. E. Bethell and W. S. Wilson have had assays made from their new strike in the California mine and got returns of $89 per ton in silver. Some mine that.

James McCorkill, a former Patagonian miner, is now located at Birch River, Manitoba, Canada.

Mountain Lion That Had Killed $1,000 Worth of Stock in Month Is Slain—Wolves Lay Heavy Toll on Flocks.

Washington.—You would hardly think of the United States department of agriculture as an agency for hunting down desperadoes, but it is. That the desperadoes happen to be not men but wild animals does not detract either from the adventure or the value of the work.

MISSING LINKS ARE FOUND

Expedition to Malay Archipelago to Find Out if They Are Alive.

Avonhurst, Saskatchewan.—Marshall Melvor of Avonhurst, a widely known explorer, and Carveth Wells, who has been in the exploration service of the British government for six years, will leave Canada shortly for an extensive journey through the jungles of the Malay archipelago.

According to Melvor, naturalists have discovered in the jungles of Malaysia the skeletons of creatures which are considered the "missing links" between monkey and man. It is to determine whether such creatures are alive that Wells and Melvor will lead an expedition into the jungles of Borneo and other islands.

They will also study the various monkeys of Malaysia and if possible collect data concerning a tribe of dwarfs, reports of which have reached governmental offices.

VIOLATE FOOD RULES

Illicit Trade Is Spreading in Germany.

Smuggling and Usury Increase—Courts Crowded With Those Who Break Laws.

Coblenz.—Illicit trade in food, with its attendant evils of smuggling and usury, is on the increase throughout Germany, according to newspaper accounts.

The rationing system has never been abandoned even in the occupied areas of the Rhineland, and some of the newspapers contend that the average individual cannot subsist on the amount of food issued. The authorities are making every effort to check the illegal traffic in foods of all kinds, but the courts are crowded day after day.

Smuggling of potatoes is being carried on this winter in all parts of Germany on a scale greater than in war time. Germany produced an excellent potato crop this year, and the authorities are trying to save it from falling into the hands of the speculators.

Well-to-do people have been going to Bavaria from Prussia, Wuerttemberg and Thuringia to buy potatoes, eggs and fats, for which the farmers charged exorbitant prices. This worked a hardship on the poorer people who could not compete with them.

Living appears to be cheaper in Bavaria than elsewhere in Germany. Butter has been selling there at 5 marks a pound, compared with 20 marks in Berlin. Eggs are quoted at 25 pfennigs each, while in Berlin they cost 1.75 marks apiece. Eggs in the occupied area have been bringing from 2 to 2.50 marks each this winter, but are very scarce at any price.

Ment is also reported as fairly plentiful in Bavaria, although in all other states this form of food is virtually unobtainable by housewives through regular channels, excepting once or twice each month, when the authorities permit a few ounces to be distributed by the card system to the individuals.

Most of the hotels throughout Germany continue to serve meat three or four days each week, however. The proprietors say they obtain this from Holland and that this does not violate the food regulations.

Mastodons Bathed There

Popular California Beach Was Once Used by Prehistoric Herd, Says Scientist.

Alameda, Cal.—The Alameda beach, which attracts thousands of bathers yearly, was once the bathing place of a herd of prehistoric mastodons, some of them growing to a height of thirteen feet, according to Willis Drake Winetroun, former professor of the University of Wisconsin and a member of the United States Board for Research, who has just completed a study of the Alameda island.

FATES ATTEND BABY'S BIRTH

Peculiar Superstition That Has Strong Hold on the Poorer Classes of Greece.

Almost every nation has some peculiar superstition or belief about babies, and these result in actions which vary all the way from the utterly absurd to the terribly tragic. The peasantry of Greece firmly believe that the future of every child is determined by three fates, known as the Moral.

In the popular mind these fates are three old women, whose habitation is a mountain cave and they come together to a house where there is a new-born child. In preparation for them, all furniture is set aside, that their tottering footsteps may not be impeded, and refreshments in the shape of honey, bread, cakes and wine are set out for these important though invisible guests. Money, too, is placed on the table, as a bribe, for it is believed that in the gift of these fates are all good things as well as bad.

Under no circumstances must a child's beauty be allowed to while the Moral may be in the house, or they will certainly make its good looks disappear.

Goes into Navy. Vincennes, Ind.—George Dewey Rodman, after spending four years in the army, arrived home recently. While here he heard of a navy recruiting officer being in the city on a recruiting mission, and, although he had only been out of the army a few days, enlisted in the navy. He is one of four brothers in his family who were in the army during the world war. Rear Admiral Rodman of the United States navy is a cousin of the youth.

The Difference. "A traveler relates that in Peking if a wife dies and the husband follows her remains to the grave he is not permitted to marry again," dictated stated Professor Pate. "If he stays at home it is an intimation that he has further matrimonial ambitions. Here in America if the bereaved husband sweeps all the way to the cemetery and that it requires the united efforts of several strong men to keep him from precipitating himself howling into the grave the experienced onlookers allow that in less than three months he will be stepping about the girls and declaring that a man is only as old as his 'toes' feel."—Kansas City Star.

Extravagance a La Mode. "I understand that Isabel Gilmore entertains regardless of expense." "I should say she does. She doesn't care what a dish costs if she wants it. Yesterday, when she gave a lunch for her dancing club there were two hard boiled eggs in the center of the table and every guest got a slice."

Pearls in Oysters. Spokane, Wash.—Ten pearls from a quart of oysters that cost him 45 cents were taken by one customer of a local fish market, and two pearls were found by another, the dealer reported. He, himself, found one, he said. The pearls are said to range in value from $2 to $10 each.

Plane Service for Peruvian Coast. Lima, Peru.—An announcement is made that the Handley Page Airplane company will in a short time inaugurate commercial hydroplane service along the Peruvian coast.

TURNED THE LIGHT ON HER

Timed Illumination That Was Not at All Pleasing to the Central Figure.

A few years ago we drove to the East and camped along the way. The first night's camp was made in a field along a side road, far enough from the main road to avoid many passersby.

However, in the midst of our bedtime preparations a car with bright lights turned off the main road and came toward us. My wife, who was using the rear seat of our car for her toilet, gathered her kimono about her and ran around in front of our machine in case the spotlight from the other car should be turned in our direction.

At the same time another member of our party reached for the switch buttons to extinguish one small light which we were using. Imagine his consternation, my wife's horror, and the shouts of laughter from the passing car, as he pushed the wrong button and turned the powerful lights of our car full on my wife's thinly clad form.

Suspicious Youngsters. "I got to admit," said Sol Maunheimer, theatrical manager, "that I've been hounded one."

"How's that?" "I gave a hundred dollars apiece to my three nephews today. They inherited it under a will that I executed. I took the money up to them in nice new bills, and after I'd passed it out, I said: "Now, boys, I've given each of you a hundred dollars, which is your own, to do as you please with. I want you to tell me what's the first thing you're going to do with it." And they all said: "Count it."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

What Doctors Laugh At. In the last 50 years the science of medicine has advanced more than in the previous 50 centuries. But the average man still thinks he knows an infallible cure for a cough.—Journal of the American Medical Association.

The Supply. Kuicker—Favorite soups are plentiful. Bocker—Yes, some states even have twins.

A New One.

They were still out in the conservatory and Tom had just asked Sally to marry him. She had said, "I don't care if I do," and thus they were engaged.

"Tom, dear," she began, "am I the only girl?" "Now, look here, Sally," he interrupted, "don't ask me if you are the only girl I ever loved. You know as well as I do." "Oh, that wasn't the question at all, Tom," she answered, "I was just going to ask if I was the only girl that would have you?"

Opportunity's Door. A man cannot always tell when he reaches the door of opportunity. "That may be true, but the fellow who tries every door he comes to will open one sooner or later."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

If a man would have an untarnished name he should keep his doorknobs well polished.

HEADACHE Often Caused by Acid-Stomach. The, indeed, more often than you think, because ACID STOMACH, starting with indigestion, heartburn, belching, food-regurgitating, flat and gas, if not checked will eventually affect every vital organ of the body. Severe, binding, splitting headaches are, therefore, of frequent occurrence as a result of this upset condition. Take EATONIC. It quickly banishes acid-stomach with its sour blood, gas and gas. It aids digestion—helps the stomach get full strength from every mouthful of food you eat. Millions of people are miserable, weak, sick and ailing because of ACID-STOMACH. Poisons created by partly digested food charged with acid, are absorbed into the blood and fill-stuffed throughout the entire system. This often causes rheumatism, biliousness, cirrhosis of the liver, heart trouble, ulcers and even cancer of the stomach. It robs the victims of their health, undermines the strength of the most vigorous. If you want to get back your physical and mental strength—the full of vim and vigor—enjoy life and be happy, you must get rid of your acid-stomach. To EATONIC you will find the very help you need and it's guaranteed. So get a big 50c box from your druggist today. If it fails to break you, return it and he will refund your money. Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 75c.
