PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

C. H. Schultz and family left Monday for Johannesburg, Calif., where two sons are employed. They will make their future home in California.

C. F. Peterson, farmer-merchant of the San Rafael valley, was in town Tuesday for a load of freight for his store.

Mr. and Mrs. William DuBoise, C. A. Pierce, Mr. Corie and Miss Helen Corie were Nogales visitors Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Parker of the San Rafael valley were Nogales visitors Tuesday.

Chester Brodine was a county seat visitor Monday. Chester is wearing a broad smile for some mysterious reason.

Mrs. Myron Brown of Globe is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Williamson, who reside in the San Rafael valley.

Grace Van Ordale and her nephew, Howard Keener, visited at the A. L. Kinsley ranch in the San Rafael valley Sunday, where they enjoyed dinner.

Dr. E. W. O'Donnell performed an operation Saturday night upon E. D. Farley at the Commercial hotel. The operation was successful, and Mr. Farley will soon be able to resume his work at the Harshell mine. Dr. O'Donnell was assisted by Dr. A. V. Hardtmayer of Patagonia.

The Misses Marie and Lupa Valenzuela visited in Nogales Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown were in Patagonia Saturday night on their way home from the Canille barbecue and dance.

HEATING PLANT FOR LOCAL SCHOOL MAY BE INSTALLED

Patagonia's school house should be enlarged and a heating plant of some kind installed. The installation of a heating plant is not only an economic necessity but it has been proven that where schools are equipped with plants giving uniform heat that scholars are more advanced in their studies, due to the fact that they are comfortable and give more attention to their studies.

From the standpoint of economy the idea should get consideration. The fuel cost would be much less, as the plant would use coal, creating steam or hot water that would be distributed evenly throughout the building, one fire doing the work that four to six have been necessary in the past.

Rural schools everywhere are installing these plants, one of them in Santa Cruz county, the Riverside school, where there are but two rooms.

We have a progressive school board in Patagonia, that is always looking forward and using every means to make Patagonia's school children comfortable among the best educated in the state. The heating plant idea should be given serious thought with the view to installation before the fall term of school commences.

The cost of installing a hot water heating system would be slight compared to the benefits obtained. A few hundred dollars would meet the cost of putting the plant in readiness for operation.

PAT PATTERSON TAKEN TO A NOGALES HOSPITAL

H. J. Patterson, candidate for sheriff on the Democratic ticket, was taken to Nogales Wednesday afternoon and placed in a hospital, suffering from a light attack of malaria.

Tough luck for "Pat," right at the wind-up of his campaign for office. He was removed from the hospital to a house on the Patagonia-Nogales road, where he will be attended by a private nurse. According to his physician, he will not be out for six weeks.

VISITORS FROM BISBEE

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Washburn of Bisbee are making an indefinite visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neil, at Elgin. Mr. Washburn says he has worked 10 years without taking a vacation and is going to have one grand time visiting his friends before returning to Bisbee. He is an interior decorator in the copper town.

Tom Fraser spent several days this week in Nogales. He is now on a business trip to Bisbee and Douglas.

C. J. Trask was a Nogales visitor Monday.

CONSOLIDATE FARM LOAN ASSOCIATIONS

Tuesday afternoon a meeting of the Tubac Federal Farm Loan Association was held at the Tubac school house. The formation of a farm loan association requires a membership of at least ten persons, whose combined loans shall be not less than $20,000.

A similar association was recently formed at Sonoita, and the completion of plans of both associations has been so slow that it was thought advisable to combine the two, thus having but one such organization in the county.

Charlie Knans is president of the Tubac association and Judge Frank J. Duffy is secretary-treasurer.

County Farm Advisor A. Z. Smith assisted in the organization of the farm loan associations. Mr. Smith left Wednesday for New Mexico, where he will visit relatives for two or three days before going to Washington state, where he has accepted a position as farm advisor with an increase in salary.

The Sonoita association thanked Mr. Smith for his good work while in Santa Cruz county, and expressed regret at his departure. He has been ever ready to give advice and assistance to farmers at any and all times. And has done much good since coming to the community.

ROBERT E. LEE, POPULAR AND EFFICIENT, FOR RE-ELECTION

The present clerk of the Superior Court is Robert E. Lee. He has filled the position with satisfaction to the voters and with credit to himself. He is so well known to the voters that an attempt to tell his good qualities and qualifications would be a waste of space.

Robert E. Lee is one of the "vote 'er straight" Democrats who is a living illustration of ex-President Wilson's definition of a Democrat.

Mr. Lee, so far, has no opposition at the primaries in his own party, and it seems to be taken for granted by Republicans that he is one of the Democratic candidates that will be mighty hard to beat at the general election.

WILD WEST SHOW AT CANILLE

Last Saturday a wild west show and picnic was held at Canille which was attended by a large crowd from the surrounding country. Many residents of Patagonia and Nogales enjoyed the entertainment and picnic. A dance followed the day's feature, which was held in the loft of Mal Eason's barn at Canille.

The feature of the wild west show was the riding and roping of Fete Hovey, a one-legged cowboy, who caught a calf and tied it in the remarkable time of 25 1/2 seconds, and taking second money, first place being given to Berry Gardner, whose time was 25 seconds.

Following the roping there was a display of horsemanship by broncho busters, this event being succeeded by horse racing.

DISCOVER LOST GOLD MINES IN ARIZONA

(From the Los Angeles Herald, July 29) Guarded for centuries by "The Old Man of the Mountains," a sentinel rock resembling a monk in a cask, the long-lost gold mines of the Jesuits of Huehuali mission, near Nogales, Ariz., have been discovered by mere chance, hidden beneath the wind-swept sands of the hills along the Mexican border.

On May 17, a slight landslide, caused by rains, revealed a bit of rotten timber buried in a country where word of that kind is a curiosity.

Rodolfo Vasquez, on whose property the slip occurred, and his superintendent, Jesus Billy, investigated and found the ancient "dump" of a mine.

Diving deeper, they uncovered more timber and opened under-ground galleries showing extensive workings which have been proved beyond doubt to be the lost mines of the Jesuits. Legends in the region are rich with data of how, more than 300 years ago, the priests in almost similar manner uncovered the diggings of the Aztecs, Toltecs and the Chichimec Indians, opened for unknown centuries and worked, so far as the records show, at least 500 years ago.

Continued excavations have uncovered nearly 1000 feet of the workings of the ancient mine, but the presence of water has kept the men back, says Vasquez, who has a Los Angeles home at 1921 West Jefferson street, and is there to educate his children.

The Huehuali mission is three-quarters of a mile from the discovery, which is about five miles from Nogales and the border, says our informant. Old trails of the priests through the hills are plainly shown, and it has long been figured out that the locality contained the site of the mines, but long years of obscurity heretofore failed to locate even a dump.

Mesquite has grown over the workings and the region has again assumed the face of a primeval wilderness through the action of the constantly drifting sand.

Sr. Vasquez has not found any rich gold deposits and believes if there were any in the workings they have been removed long ago; perhaps, however, a vein may be found later which will make it a bonanza. Sr. Vasquez says that the dumps and such ore as is in sight are low grade, worth milling only on a large scale.

The mine is in the Gold Hill group of claims, of which Sr. Vasquez owns 17. The discovery was made within a few hundred feet of the rock monument which looks so much like an old man, with his head slumped forward.

Sr. Vasquez is making an effort to capitalize his find, but the discovery is arousing great interest historically. At any rate, it is claimed, if the Aztecs and Jesuits found gold, the mine, when cleaned out and pumped dry, may show leads which will prove valuable.

Sr. Vasquez lived in one of the first three tents in Nogales; Leopoldo Ebbelin, who owns a walnut grove near Los Angeles, lived in the second one on the American side, and the third, over the line in Mexican Nogales, housed a medical distillery.

Thirty years ago Sr. Vasquez sold to L. W. Hylan, Los Angeles lumber dealer, the first stock of lumber to be cut in the forested region along the border. Later this traffic became a profitable business.

It is anticipated that a large crowd will be in attendance tomorrow night, as usual, and good music is assured. A lunch will be served at midnight. Everybody is invited to attend.

MINES AND MINERS

3-R ORE SHOWING UP WELL

Ed F. Bohlinger, who has been doing assessment work at the 3-R mine, reports having struck some high-grade copper ore. While the extent of the ore body has not been determined, it is thought that a strike of much importance has been made. Samples of the ore have been sent to the company officials at Superior, Ariz., but as yet no report has been received from there as to the results obtained from assays.

The 3-R has turned out a great deal of copper ore, a great deal of it running around 75 per cent. Some of the samples shown from the new strike are very rich in copper, probably running close to 80 per cent.

J. J. Farley was in town Monday for supplies for his camp at the Dixie mine, which he is working, together with Frank Kruse.

Tom Fraser returned home Tuesday evening from Nogales, where he has been on business, and left Wednesday for a trip to Bisbee and Douglas.

R. deB. Smith, accountant at the Harshell mine, was a Patagonia visitor Wednesday.

A. H. Glidewell was in town Wednesday from Tempe, where he has been doing assessment work on some claims belonging to Supervisor O. P. Ashburn.

J. B. David of the Rhea mine was a business visitor Monday to the county seat.

A. A. TRIPPEL, ATTORNEY, IS OUT FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

A. A. Trippel, a Nogales attorney, has announced his candidacy for the office of County Attorney on the Democratic ticket.

It will be remembered that Mr. Trippel was nominated for that office two years ago, but was defeated by the Republican incumbent, DeRiemer.

Mr. Trippel is of the opinion that he will have the backing of Democrats this year that were not for him in his last attempt to secure the office. He is an attorney of long standing, and came to Santa Cruz county from Tucson. Mr. Trippel will make the race for the nomination against W. A. O'Connor, who will retire from the Superior Court bench at the end of the year.

CHARLIE BROWN JOINS NAVY

Charlie Brown, nephew of Mrs. H. B. Riggs and Lou Quinn, who left Patagonia several months ago to study automobile mechanics at the Sweeney school in Kansas City, has joined the United States navy, with the view of seeing the world before settling down to a business career.

Mrs. Lindley, mother of Mrs. Tom Fraser, left Thursday for Tucson, from which city she will leave for Missouri to visit her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil McDonald were Nogales visitors Monday.

J. C. Miller returned Monday night from Nogales, and will go to Crittendon for an indefinite stay.

REV. UMSTEAD COMMITTED TO STATE INSANE ASYLUM

Rev. Henry Umstead, who through his queer actions and penchant for passing fraudulent checks landed in the clutches of the law, has been taken to the state hospital for the insane at Phoenix, a board of Nogales physicians and a able doctor, who examined him, having reached the opinion that he is mentally unbalanced.

VISITS CHILDREN

Mrs. L. C. Olsen of El Paso, a former resident of Patagonia, and other of Mrs. V. L. McCutchan and Fred and Bertram Barnett, spent the week-end visiting in Patagonia. She left Monday for Tucson, where she was met by her daughter, Alice Barnett, and together they will visit Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Seattle, before going to Boise City, Id., where she has another daughter, Mrs. Harry Stoen (Lavinia Barnett), with whom she will make an indefinite visit. Her youngest son, Harry Barnett, also lives in Boise City.

I. P. FRAIZER ASPIRES TO BE SENATOR FROM SANTA CRUZ

I. P. Fraizer will be a candidate for state senator from Santa Cruz county on the Republican ticket. This decision was reached by Mr. Fraizer after many of his intimate friends requested that he make the race. He will be opposed by George Fiedler of Nogales, it is said.

LIKE PATAGONIA

C. S. Phillips and H. B. Higgins, who spent several weeks in Patagonia and then went to Mount Lemona for a three weeks' stay, have returned to Patagonia satisfied that this is just the right place for anyone seeking a delightful change of life.

HELD RED MEN AS SLAVES

Puritans Had No Scruples in Thus Employing the Enemies They Captured in Battle.

The Indian captives in early Massachusetts wars were divided in lots and assigned to housekeepers. Even the gentle Roger Williams once wrote for "one of the drove of Adam's degenerate seed" to serve as his slave.

Rev. Peter Thatcher of Milton, Mass., bought an Indian in 1673 for 75 down and 25 more at the end of the year—a high-priced servant for the times. One of his duties was to take care of the Thatcher infant. Shortly after the purchase, the reverend gentleman made this entry in his diary:

"Came home and found my Indian girl had had to have knocked by Theodorus on the head by letting her fall. Whereupon I took a good whip-out stick and beat the Indian to purpose till she promised to do so no more."

The Puritans sold Indian captives as slaves to the West Indies. One of Phillip's wife and child were thus sold and died there. Their story was told in southern language by Edward Everett.

Economist's Ingenuity

An English lady, successful in a business deal in New York, wrote the following message to her wife: "Business successful; £1000 profit; sail to-morrow on the Magestic. Arrive Liverpool 25th; leave early same evening. Your loving husband, JACOB."

Jacob, however, was appalled when he found the cost per word and set out to reduce the length of the message. He reasoned as follows: Rachel would notice that the cable was from New York and, having no friends there, would know it must be from Jacob. She would know, too, that he had expected to make £3000. She would guess that he would take the first boat and that she could identify that from the shipping office. Finally she would think there was something wrong if he was not her "loving husband." So in the end Jacob's telegram consisted of Rachel's name and address only.—Chicago Daily News.

Ancient Roadbuilders

Herodotus tells us that in Egypt a great king built a road to carry adobe bricks for the transportation of materials for the Pyramids, employing for this purpose 60,000 men for a period of 129 years. This road was built of massive stone blocks and was lined on both sides with monuments, statues and temples. Traces of what may have been a part of this ancient highway are today found near the great Pyramids and comprise what is probably the oldest remains of a road surfaced with stone. Early historians write of wonderful roads radiating from the city of Babylon about 2000 B. C. and running to Susa, Babelonia, Sardis and Nineveh, as having been paved with brick. The ancient Persians, Assyrians, Carthaginians, Chinese and Romanians were all renowned road-builders. Their works, however, have passed away.

Mrs. Crubshaw—If you don't ask for any more candy I'll buy you one of those nice toy balloons.

Willie—That's just like you, mamma. Whenever you give me anything it has a string on it.

GAS TRAIL

There are 105 automobile factories in operation in this country.

There are 29,000 motor buses now in operation in the United States.

A Milwaukee power concern has 14 motor buses feeding its car lines.

Never turn off the ignition on a hill or the car will drag the engine.

Don't blame the tires if you skid after jamming the throttle too soon.

Extra tires not in use on the car should be stored in a cool, dark, dry place.

A motor bus with a glass belted top proved a curiosity in New York recently.

The average life of an automobile in the United States is estimated at five years.

Make sure the jack is secure and in working order before attempting to take off a wheel.

Paris policemen are now provided with motorcycles that can carry four other officers of the law in the side car.

The average number of people to each automobile in California is 2.16. In Alabama it is 2.85.

It is said that the only Chinese automobile race driver is Jim Ouy, a resident of Canton, China.

The Union of South Africa imported 25,265 motor vehicles during the years 1917-1921, inclusive.

Watch for black smoke. Your car's burning oil. You've got it and oil should not touch your radiator.

The automobile industry is now first on the list. First comes packing, then the steel industry.

No wires should be strung rather closely for the first 1000 miles. Never more than 30 miles per hour.

The production of automobiles in 1921 required 1,361,000 tons of steel. Six million gallons of gasoline and paint were produced.

SUPERVISORS APPROVE HARRY J. SAXON'S APPOINTMENT

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of supervisors Monday, at the county courthouse at Nogales, the appointment of Harry J. Saxon as sheriff of Santa Cruz county was formally approved. The board voted unanimously for approval.

After discussing the matter of the payment of salaries from July 14 to August 1 to Charles Jones and Phillip Clarke, who were not appointed by the new sheriff, the supervisors agreed to allow the claims and eliminate court action.

Sheriff Saxon made the following statement in the board: "I have been subjected to some criticism regarding Mr. Jones and Mr. Clarke. I have been accused of dismissing them from their positions as deputy sheriffs. As a matter of fact, the commissions given deputy by the late George White automatically expired at his death. When I took office, I had no deputies. I dismissed no one. When I decided on my appointments I chose the men who, I thought, could handle the business of the office in an efficient manner. As to the dismissal of Sam White, that's all a myth. He was not a deputy sheriff when his brother met his untimely end. Sam White had been working as an extra deputy, and the records of the office show that he had been relieved of duty several days before I took office. Sam White was a member of the posse that tracked Silva and Martinez as a private citizen. At the conclusion of the manhunt Sam White asked me if I thought I could give him a position in the sheriff's office. I told him to see me the following day. I have not seen him since. I have not discussed the matter before, because I felt that the supervisors should act before any expression on my part was given the press. I am here to render service to the taxpayers of the county and to protect my bondmen, whether peasant politicians like my actions or not."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETS

Saturday night a meeting of the Patagonia Chamber of Commerce and Mines held a meeting at the Commercial hotel and took up several matters of interest to the community. The most important business was the appointment of a committee to call on the board of supervisors at its regular meeting Monday to act in conjunction with a committee from the Nogales Chamber of Commerce in an endeavor to secure the immediate construction of a bridge across the Sonoita creek at Patagonia. The local committee included President C. A. Pierce, Secretary W. P. Capehart, S. W. Kenward, Joe Collier, Tom Fraser, E. E. Bethell, C. L. Northcott, Neil McDonald and Howard Keener. The Nogales committee included Bruce Curtis, J. B. Bristol and L. P. Fraizer.

Howard Keener was chosen as spokesman for the committee, and the request was made for the construction of the bridge. Members of the county highway commission were present and gave the assurance that they were ready to put up one-half of the cost of the bridge provided the state highway department would put up the other half and do the work. J. P. Fraser, in charge of the maintenance work of the state highway department for this district, produced a letter stating that the state highway department would build the bridge if the county would furnish half of the necessary sum, which was given as $16,180.

A resolution was passed unanimously by the board of supervisors authorizing the bridge.

The construction of a bridge at the creek crossing will fill a long-felt need, as the crossing at that point is very dangerous during the flood season.

GOVERNOR T. E. CAMPELLE TO BE IN NOGALES SATURDAY

R. L. O'Neill, chairman of the Republican Club of Santa Cruz County, has issued an invitation to the general public to hear Governor Thomas E. Campbell speak at the Santa Cruz county courthouse, Nogales, tomorrow (Saturday) night, at 8 o'clock.

Other prominent Arizonians also will address the meeting, and a large crowd is expected to attend the speaking.

The governor and party will leave Phoenix early in the morning and will arrive in Nogales about 5 p. m. The party will include P. D. Overfield of Casa Grande, chairman of the Republican state committee, and Roy Davidson of Jerome, secretary of the organization. Andrew Bannert Jr., Republican national committeeman, also will be present, together with several state office holders.

Many Patagonians will make the trip to Nogales to hear the speaking.

WILL BE HONORED BY KNIGHTHOOD WITH PYTHIANS

Wednesday night was a red-letter day in the annals of the Knights of Pythias lodge of Nogales. Nineteen candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the third rank, and were numbered among the million knights in the nation. The names of the new knights follow:

E. L. Seger, Elmer H. Hoy, Ray Scholl, R. Q. Leatherman, Andrew Betway, Edward C. Fahl, Leo Parker, Melchor Valdes, H. H. Russell, Zack McKlaver, Arthur Wrotnowski, Richard A. Meyer, William H. Clarke, M. S. Cooke, C. E. Jones, James A. Marshall Jr., E. Bruce Spivey, Edward J. Clark, Hugh S. White and William H. Clarke.

This great lodge, based on the ever-lasting principles of Damon and Pythias, is growing with great strides in Nogales. Within the last year the membership has more than doubled.

Charles Fraizer is chamberlain commander of the lodge in the border city. After the initiation ceremonies a delightful banquet was served in Castle Hall, prepared under the supervision of George Jannal, and was enjoyed by the large attendance.

Many visiting knights from other parts of the state were in attendance at the initiation ceremonies.

CHURCH NOTICE

Regular church services were held Sunday at the school house. The opening song was "It's Just Like His Great Love."

Mr. Thomas of Nogales talked on the broad and narrow pathways of life, spoken of in the Bible.

The lesson was taken from the Third Chapter of Second Peter. The text was the fifth verse of the same chapter: "The Lord is not slack concerning His promises, as some men count slackness; but is long-suffering toward us, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance."

We were told of the blockades of life to help us keep from the road that leads to hell.

One of the sides to safety is our Bible, the book of all books; another, our Sunday school teachers, and the sermons we hear. The real Gospel we need daily. We have God's wonderful promises, 33,000 of them. They are to keep us in the pathway of righteousness. We need these promises, as there is so much deception and sin all around us. Let us be brave and do our part, as God has and is doing His. Will you? Please come to our services.

PIGGLY WIGGLY STORE HAS ADDED SHELVING SPACE

The business of the Piggly Wiggly store has grown so rapidly that it was necessary to provide more room to display its goods. Additional shelving has been installed, which allows for better accommodations to the crowds that patronize the store. The added shelves give a wider range for selection of purchases.

Members H. D. and A. E. Sellers, managers of the Piggly Wiggly store, are well satisfied with the patronage given them since their advent into the retail grocery field of Nogales. Their slogan is: "Give the people a good, clean, standard line of goods from which to select, make the shelves right, treat the patron courteously and business will keep improving."

COUNTY TREASURER SAYS LAW IS COMPLIED WITH

In a recent statement, County Treasurer Mrs. Louella Walker said that she has complied with the law in respect to the collection of bond taxes in the county.

"I have notified the owners, attorneys of all project owners, whose taxes are delinquent, and by his information that a blanket suit has been filed against them in arrears in their tax payments," said Mrs. Walker.

The statement of the county treasurer was made in view of efforts by the members of the city board of sidewalk of Nogales to collect delinquent taxes from the city of Nogales to prevent loss of taxing due for 1918.

RETURN FROM COAST

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Ashburn returned Sunday from San Diego, where they spent several days' vacation. Misses Paula and Bobbie Ashburn motored to Tucson Saturday to meet their parents, returning with them Sunday to their Pennsylvania ranch.

STATION AGENT BACK

Station Agent P. A. Stone, who was a hospital patient in Nogales last week, is again at his accustomed place at the P. P. depot.

Rain Dries Air, Says Scientist

Some Interesting Paradoxes Are Explained by Dr. Humphreys of Smithsonian Institution.

HOTTER SUN—COLDER EARTH

Old Sol Rises Before He is Up and Sets Before It Goes Down—Bent Rays of Light Account for This Paradox.

Washington.—A rainstorm dries the air; more goes up than comes down; as the sun sets the air grows warmer; the hotter the sun grows, the colder the earth becomes; the sun rises before it is up and sets after it is down; these are strong statements and sound like a fairy tale, but they are all true. Dr. W. J. Humphreys, quoted in the annual report of the Smithsonian Institution which has just been made public, explains all of them. They are perfectly well known to scientists, if not to laymen.

As everyone knows, Dr. Humphreys declares, water evaporates and is taken up in the air as vapor. This action is continuous all over the earth and the atmosphere would soon become very soggy if it weren't dried out. Rain is the collection, or condensation, and precipitation of these moisture particles, consequently the more it rains the less water there is left in the atmosphere, or the drier the air becomes.

Contradicts Old Saying.

The second of Dr. Humphreys' paradoxes seems flatly to contradict the old saying "whatever goes up must come down." However, as the writer expresses it, vertical circulation in the atmosphere is only gravitational action, consisting in the sinking of relatively cold and therefore denser air, and rising of warm and light air. Contracted air descends, expanded air ascends. Therefore, mass for mass, the volume of ascending air is always larger than that descending.

The third paradox is merely a way of stating that the warmest part of the day is not at noon, when the sun is at meridian or overhead and should seemingly be pouring down greater heat, but several hours later in the afternoon. That is because the surface of the earth and the lower layers of air continue to absorb more heat from the upper layers for some time after the latter have been receiving the maximum amount of heat radiation from the sun.

While it is not yet universally conceded that the next puzzler, "the hotter the sun, the colder the earth," really is true, Dr. Humphreys states, the evidence in favor of it is already very strong.

Another Paradox Explained.

The paradox of the sun rising before it is actually up and setting after it has actually gone down is explained by the bending of light waves when passing through the air. A stick when placed in clear water seems to bend; a light ray when sent through the air does actually bend. The rays from the rising sun are bent when they strike the air envelope. This angle varies according to well-known laws, but on the average the light from the

Woman Making Record Killing Wyoming Snakes

Gillette, Wyo.—Gillette ranchers have declared open season on rattlesnakes, and a woman, Miss Betty Carter, is running the head of the list a neck-and-neck race in disposing of the rattlers. To date she has killed fifty-six in the Pleasant Hill community, which is a close second to the number reported by Dick Bell and Bill Jones, who have slain sixty-four from two dens.

sun is bent 3 1/2 seconds of degree, so that the upper limb of the sun when first seen is actually half a degree below the horizon. As the angular diameter of either sun, moon or star is less than this fraction it follows that when the sky is sufficiently clear the whole of either may be seen before even its topmost portion is geometrically above the horizon.

Contradicts Old Saying.

While the reverse is not absolutely correct astronomically, it is added, when sun, star or moon set, because of the slight modification of refraction due to earth rotation, nevertheless the difference is exceedingly slight. Consequently, as the light rays are bent upward by earth's atmosphere the sun has actually gone down before it is seen by a terrestrial observer.

HAS LARGEST ANNUAL INCOME

New York State Gets Eighth of Total for the Nation.

Analysis of Distribution of Income by States Shows Diversity in Per Capita Income in Different States.

New York.—New York leads every state in the Union with an annual income of $9,074,850,000, or more than one-eighth of the total national income, according to figures announced by the National Bureau of Economic Research, Inc. Nevada brings up the rear of the procession of states with $65,791,000 as the total income received by its inhabitants.

These figures form part of an exhaustive investigation of incomes in the United States, made by the research staff of the National Bureau of Economic Research, led by Dr. Wesley C. Mitchell. The bureau's report on "Distribution of Income by States," prepared by Oswald W. Knauth, shows the extraordinary diversity in the per capita income of people in different parts of the country.

While per capita income in the United States as a whole in 1919 was $227, the per capita income in the region embracing the Pacific states was $790 and in the middle Atlantic states $783. In the south central and east south central states the rate sank to $463 and $394, respectively.

New York State also heads the list of per capita incomes, striking an average of $874. Nevada, California, Wyoming, Massachusetts and Washington are next with per capita incomes around $800. The people of the middle Atlantic states alone received more than one-fourth of the entire income of the country in 1919, and with the east north central states received nearly one-half of it. On the other hand, the people of the twelve Southern states, comprising more than 21 per cent of the population, received less than 15 per cent of the total national income.

Farmers in the Pacific states in 1919 had an average income of more than $2,800; in the west north central states their average was $2,300. These figures are in excess of the average of $1,190 for farmers in New England, $1,340 in south Atlantic states and less than $1,000 in the east south central states.

The total income of the south is derived largely from farming. The south Atlantic states draw about one-fourth of their income from this source, and the south central states about one-third. The only other group of states that is equally dependent on farming is the west north central states, which draw about one-third of their income from this source. New England and the middle states draw less than 4 per cent of the income from agriculture.

WANT HERO MEDAL FOR HIM

Charles Crozier, New York, Plunged into River and Saved Seven-Year-Old Boy.

As Charles J. Crozier of 518 Tully street, Syracuse, N. Y., was driving a truck across a Syracuse bridge he happened to look at the river below. Crozier's casual glance underwent a decided change. He saw something in the water. A small hand and arm seemed to be just level with the surface. Not many seconds elapsed until Crozier was beneath the surface of the water to see who was attached to the arm.

The next thing he really saw very distinctly was the small wet body of a seven-year-old boy silhouetted against the white interior of an ambulance. Crozier and William John Hanley, Jr., whose life he had saved, were on their way to the hospital.

For his act of heroism his buddies of the American Legion are helping in the movement to secure for him a Carnegie life-saving medal.

A FUTURE AUXILIARY WORKER

Bonnie Jean Kelly, Youngest Member at Organization of North Dakota State Department.

The youngest member present at the organization of the North Dakota state department of the American Legion auxiliary was a little lassie only four months old. Bonnie Jean Kelly of Tim Running post at Devil's Lake was immediately adopted by the entire state department when she was presented as "one of the directors of the auxiliary's affairs tomorrow."

Bonnie Jean's father, M. P. Kelly, served as first lieutenant of the Ninety-third pursuit squadron of the First army.

ORIGINATED THE GOLD STAR

Medal Showing Appreciation of the Idea is Presented to J. M. Buck of Omaha, Neb.

A medal purchased with funds given by the governors of many states, General Pershing and a hundred notables in civil and military circles, has been presented to J. M. Buck of Omaha, Neb., who originated the gold star which was placed on the caskets of our war dead to be returned to this country from European battlefields.

Omaha was a distributing point for the United States graves registration service. After the federal agency began to return bodies from overseas, thousands of caskets passed through Omaha. Mr. Buck suggested to the Omaha American Legion that a gold star be placed on each soldier's casket. The Legion immediately accepted the idea and through the Legion's organization, the custom of placing the star on all soldiers' caskets in all parts of the United States was adopted.

Every contingent of soldier dead arriving at Omaha was met at the railway station by a delegation from the American Legion. Mr. Buck always accompanied the Legionnaires and supervised the placing of the stars on the caskets. The medal was presented Mr. Buck as an expression of appreciation of his work.

Three Myths.

A man's auto had broken down. When he crawled under it no crowd collected and attempted to advise him how to fix it.

A miner was entombed for three days and three nights as the result of a cave-in. When he was finally rescued it was found that his hair had not turned snow white.

A soldier was on guard duty and was approached by an officer who asked him to give his general orders. The sentinel recited them off, making many mistakes, and the officer corrected him, thus revealing the fact that he knew them himself.—American Legion Weekly.

Stars and Stripes History.

Former members of the staff of the Stars and Stripes, the newspaper of the American Expeditionary Forces, have organized a historical association to prepare a history of the newspaper and to present a complete file of original issues to the congressional library in Washington, D. C. The association's honorary committee includes President Harding, Woodrow Wilson, Secretary of War Weeks, Hansford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, and others.

MADE WORLD WAR PICTURES

Capt. E. N. Jackson of Signal Corps Photographed Important Events During Conflict.

The history of America's part in the World War as told in pictures, from scenes of death and destruction in France to the eye pictures of returning soldiers landing at Hoboken, was photographed by or under the direction of Capt. E. N. Jackson of the Signal Corps.

His work did not end with the cessation of hostilities. Perhaps the most interesting role played by any member of the A. E. F. after the armistice. When President Wilson went to France the story of his activities was photographed by Captain Jackson. Whether the president shook hands with a European soldier, signed an important paper or had dinner with a king, Captain Jackson was there with his camera.

Today, the official photographs taken by Captain Jackson and his staff are to be found in galleries, libraries, public buildings and private homes in every part of the United States. Mr. Jackson, no longer a captain, is now clicking the shutter as one of the staff photographers of the New York Daily News. He spends his spare time at the clubrooms of the American Legion, Signal post No. 343, in New York city.

GREETINGS TO THE TOMMIES

Vice Commander Jackson Carried Commander MacNider's Message to the British Legion.

The first man to cross the American continent in an automobile was the first man to cross the Atlantic ocean with a message from American World War service men exclusively to British Tommies. That man is H. Nelson Jackson of Burlington, Vt., one of the national vice commanders of the American Legion, who recently represented the Legion at an annual meeting of the British Legion, made up of World War service men of the British Isles.

During the war Mr. Jackson served in the Medical Corps and for gallantry in action was decorated with the D. S. C., Croix de Guerre and the Legion of Honor of France. He was promoted through the various ranks from first lieutenant to lieutenant colonel.

The greetings which Mr. Jackson presented to the British Legion in behalf of Commander Hanford MacNider declared that: "No generation of our nations have been so closely bound together. Through the coming years it must be our mutual duty to so strengthen and cement these ties that from this great undertaking may come peace to all the world."

SPENT MONTHS IN AN ASYLUM

New Zealand Government is Probing Case of Subject Imprisoned at Elgin, Ill.

The New Zealand government is investigating the case of Robert M. Thompson of Christchurch, World War veteran, who has just returned to his home in New Zealand, after having spent several months in the asylum for the insane at Elgin, Ill.

Thompson came to the United States after having his health shattered in the war. Acting on the advice of the Canadian government, which looks after New Zealand military pensioners in America, he called at the office of the veterans' bureau in Chicago. A week after Thompson first called at the office of the bureau, he says that he found himself a regular inmate in the asylum at Elgin, receiving very poor food and indifferent treatment.

He finally succeeded in smuggling letters out to a former college friend who took the matter up with the asylum authorities. His release was arranged on the condition that he leave the United States immediately.

Carrying On With the American Legion

Jesup, Ia., with fewer than 600 population has 130 American Legion members.

Strangers seeking help in Correctionville, Ia., must be passed on by a committee of leading citizens, the business men and American Legion posts of the city have decided.

Out of 550 men 276 were found to have some kind of physical disability in Clay county, Iowa, conducted by the American Red Cross and the American Legion.

A delegate at the state American Legion auxiliary convention at Cedar Rapids, Ia., was enthusiastically applauded when she stated on the convention floor that she was "German in birth but wholly American in spirit." She had two sons in service.

The Legion post of Mimbiliton, Ia., has established a free library for the benefit of the citizens of its community. In one week, half the volumes were loaned.

Ex-service men and women who should be considered for the various medals for meritorious services during the World War will be considered for these awards until April, 1923, by a special act of congress passed upon the recommendation of the military affairs committee of the American Legion.

RAW FOODS

The raw-food enthusiasts make some remarkable statements in regard to the value of raw foods. They claim that all diseases of man have their beginnings in waste matter accumulated in the body.

They also tell us that fatigue is caused only by improper food, and that no one can possibly be fatigued, however hard he or she may be worked, unless that poison is there. One becomes sleepy, but fatigue and sleepiness are quite foreign to each other. With proper food, the muscles may be worked indefinitely and yet not realize any sense of fatigue or stiffness.

Horace Fletcher, at the age of sixty-seven, is said to have outclassed the finest trained college athletes, who became fatigued and whose muscles grew lame; yet he sensed no fatigue, lameness or stiffness though he submitted himself to a longer and harder strain than the students against whom he competed.

This all sounds interesting and is easy enough for anybody to put to the test.

Another good salad is cold cooked cauliflower placed on lettuce with small strips of pineapples to add to its appearance. Serve with French or mayonnaise dressing.

A main dish is prepared as follows: Equal parts of chopped green peas and sweet corn pressed from the kernels, chopped raisins and dates mixed with honey and olive oil, pressed into cups to mold and then served with a rich sweet cream sauce, made with cream, honey, maple sirup and nut meal made from Brazil nuts.

By this time the novice is well satisfied, for it takes far less raw food to satisfy the appetite than cooked food.

These foods are easy to prepare, easy to obtain, and economical when compared with the average diet. One can live anywhere in the world on such fare, and it is at least worth giving a fair trial. A month or two would show a vast saving of time in food preparation and the advocates of the diet promise much more perfect health.

In the world that lies before you There is much for you to win; But beforehand you must conquer Foes without and foes within. And if now your tasks can rout you, Then when life's real battles call, Will you, in their heat and struggle, Victor stand, or vanquished fall?

IF YOU HAVE HONEY

Honey eaten in its natural state is so healthful that any, who can, should keep a hive of bees to provide this delectable sweet. Cakes, cookies and other such foods retain their freshness much longer when honey is used for the sweetening.

Honey Tea-Cake.—Take one cupful of honey, one-half cupful of sour cream, two eggs, one-half cupful of butter, two cupfuls of flour, scant one-half teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

Soft Honey-Cake.—Put a teaspoonful of soda in a measuring cup, add five tablespoonfuls of hot water to the soda, then fill the cup with extracted honey. Take one-half cupful of softened butter and one egg; cut well, add two cupfuls of flour and a teaspoonful of ginger, stir all together and bake in a slow oven.

Crackerjack.—Take one cupful each of brown sugar and extracted honey, boil until it hardens in cold water. Remove from the stove and stir in one-half teaspoonful of soda; add all the popcorn it will take, with a handful of shelled peanuts. Press into a greased dripping pan and mark in squares.

Potato Cake.—Take two cupfuls of mashed potato, one cupful of sugar, one cupful of honey, one cupful of butter, one cupful of sour milk, four eggs, two teaspoonfuls of soda, one-quarter of a cupful of grated chocolate, one teaspoonful each of nutmeg and cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of cloves, two cupfuls of flour, one cupful of chopped nuts and two cupfuls of raisins. Beat the butter, sugar and honey to a cream, add the beaten eggs, then the chocolate, milk, soda, flour, mashed potato, spices, nutmegs and raisins. Turn into a well-greased and floured tin and bake in a moderate oven.

Honey Ginger Snaps.—Take one pint of honey, three-fourths of a pound of butter, two teaspoonfuls of ginger; boil together for five minutes, then cool; when nearly cold add flour to make a stiff mixture, roll very thin and bake quickly.

LITTLE KINGDOM OF TONGA

One Remaining Nominally Independent State in Pacific is Under Limited Monarchy.

Tonga, little kingdom of 100 isles, is the one remaining nominally independent state in the Pacific, and, though under British protection, it still flies its own flag. Its government is a limited monarchy.

Time was when its legislative assembly gathered only once in three years, and steamship companies with vessels plying to Tonga advertised the fact as a tourist attraction.

George Tuhon II was then on the throne. He was a man six feet seven inches in height and weighing something over two hundred and eighty pounds. He was wont to open parliament with great ceremony, the boom of brass saluting cannon and much gold blarf. Attired in a scarlet coat, blue trousers, plumed helmet, with an ermine-trimmed plush cloak, trailing from his shoulders and held by two velvet-clad pages, King George would march from his palace to the parliament buildings. Guns popped at intervals, while the populace stood around and howled low in honor.

But George II's daughter Batone now rules and parliament meets once a year in less Gilbertian display.

Russian Refugee Stowaway Permitted to Enter Country.

First Officer of the Mantowoc Falls in Love With Girl He Found in Hiding on Ship—Passports Are Waved.

Washington.—Love came to Anna Tivdenko, a Russian refugee stowaway on the high seas, after she and her companion, Evguenia Bonar, had been discovered hiding on the American steamship Mantowoc, bound from the Black sea to Baltimore.

When John Brakke, first officer on the Mantowoc, ordered the trembling girls to emerge from their hiding place, he little thought that before the voyage ended he would have pledged his troth to Anna. But this is exactly what happened, and the bureau of immigration, Department of Labor, has set aside the recommendation of deportation made by the board of special inquiry at Baltimore, and admitted them for six months. The State department, "for humanitarian reasons," waved passport requirements.

Anna and Evguenia, the former a vocalist and typist, the latter an actress, were employed on the deck at Neversesick, Russia, when the Mantowoc arrived for cargo. They conspired to stowaway on the American vessel and seek fame and fortune in the new land.

Two Russian boys, with whom they had worked, were taken into the secret, and the four found a black hole big enough to accommodate them all. Two days out they were discovered, and their problem became the problem of Capt. Waldemar Knudsen.

The captain decided to put the boys ashore at Messina, Italy, but the girls pleaded so piteously to be allowed to remain that his heart softened towards them. So, when soviet soldiers searched his ship at other Russian ports he found a hiding place for the girls and brought them to the United States.

The barrier of language did not prevent John Brakke from speaking to Anna in the language of love, and before the ship reached Baltimore she had consented to become his wife.

Anna sang small parts in Russian grand opera and Evguenia was an actress of ability, their papers show. Anna is nineteen and her companion twenty-one. Brakke is forty-one. When they reached Baltimore the girls' combined wardrobe consisted of three pieces and one hat.

Law Also Attracts Greater Numbers Than Before, While Medicine and the "Kultur" Studies Suffer Declining Attraction.

Berlin, Germany.—Accommodations at most of Germany's universities and technical high schools have been so severely cramped since the war by increasing enrollments that steps are being suggested for stemming the rising percentage of foreigners.

A leading professor in the movement to restrict the foreign influx states that in his lecture room he has noted from 50 to 100 non-Germans. He declares the preparatory training as well as the conduct of these "outsiders" frequently leaves much to be desired.

Technical High Schools Double. Enrollment in German universities as a whole has shown an increase of 30 per cent since the war, and that of the technical high schools has more than doubled.

While the knowledge that the war resulted in a greater eagerness for learning in the younger generation has proved gratifying to the Germans, there is a disturbing factor in that "kultur" studies have suffered declining fascination.

French Baby Is First to Be Born in Airplane

London.—There has been keen rivalry among Americans in London to gain entrance to King George and Queen Mary's court levees, which have been revived for the first time in eight years.

"The dominating and most lasting impression was the appearance of the queen. I had been led to expect from photographs and published descriptions that she was of a severely womanly type.

"The machinery of the ceremonial was so wonderful, so perfect in its apparent effortless, that there really was no reason to be nervous. White-gloved hands were always ready to arrange our trains, to point the route we were to go, to hold us for a moment, or indicate that we should proceed.

"The difference between the court and a presidential reception at Washington is essentially one of background and size. We lack the brilliance of uniforms and decorations, but we excel, I think, in the beauty of our women and the elegant simplicity and quiet dignity of the dress of our men."

"The court was everything I had imagined it would be in pomp and grandeur, but throughout it all there was a wonderful human note. The king and queen seemed delighted to welcome us. Of hauteur there was none; in fact, the manner in which the queen and Princess Mary kept chatting and laughing during the intervals seemed to indicate that the members of the royal family were enjoying themselves as much as we were.

SWEDEN OPENS SCHOOLS FOR ALL

Social Barriers to Be Removed in Reorganization of Educational System of Sweden.

Stockholm.—Sweden's educational system faces reorganization the purpose of which is to place full educational advantages within close reach of every child in the land irrespective of social standing.

Under the new plan all of Sweden's public schools, from the elementary grades to the universities, will be co-educational. At present only the elementary schools and the universities receive both sexes.

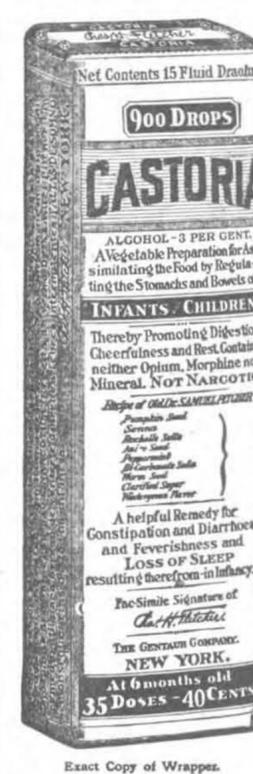

An important change will be the elimination of several subjects as compulsory and the concentration of individual students on a smaller group of subjects logically related to the occupation or profession which most interests them.

When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

An old lady was crossing the street the other day. A dog ran into her with such force that it knocked her down. Just then a light auto ran over her. A gentleman witnessing the accident came to her assistance.

RICH MINES NOT GONE

Mining folk are waging a controversy among themselves as to whether any good mines are left, and whether the prospector of the old type stands any chance of finding them if they do exist.

Controversy is futile; both contestants are right. It will always be possible to discover new mines, or to reopen and re-work old mines at a profit, through better business management or metallurgical or geologic skill.

Nevertheless, it is true that we cannot afford to lose the prospector. Even if his numbers are few, he should all the more be encouraged.

THE ARIZONA SUPREME COURT

In these injuncheon days, when forward looking men and women are beginning to look upon the courts of the land as the last refuge of entrenched special privilege, it is well to look over our courts files to home.

The Arizona constitution was conscientious progressive, not to say radical, at the time it was adopted by the people by a 3-to-1 vote.

Of the present members of the court, Chief Justice Ross, whose term expires on January 1, is the only one of the original court still sitting.

WHEN THE BIRDS FLY NORTH

One of the Great Mysteries of Nature is the Migration of the Winged Voyagers.

Have you ever arisen before the birds awakened you, when the dawn sky was still flecked with clouds that drifted, it may be, across the face of a dying moon, and heard far, far above you, the speech of unseen voyagers going north?

It is a strange, a memorable sensation, to look into the blank sky while your ears tell you that the aerial migration is winding past.

When their little voices drop from the mist or the darkness, bearing a message of their passing, it is a poor soul, indeed, which does not thrill in answer, and in answer to the sweet twitter of some flock of tiny warblers no less than the heroic clang of the Canada geese.

ORNATE COIFFURE OF GEISHA

Headress of Japanese Dancing Girl is Expensive and She is Careful of It.

Probably the Japanese geisha has created her hair into the most elaborate coiffure that fashion has accepted for one of her modes in any country in the world.

The long black hair is oiled so that not a single strand shall be out of place, and the final effect is that of a carved black lacquer frame around the delicate yellow of the face.

KILLED ENEMIES BY PROXY

Many Races of Savages Had Implicit Faith in Their Power to Bring About Death.

Synthetic magic used as a means of wreaking vengeance upon an absent enemy was believed in and practiced by savages in widely separated parts of the world.

The principle on which the theory was based was that like produces like, or that by hurting an image of a man you would thereby hurt him.

A Malay charm consisted in making a wax image of the person marked for destruction, in which were some of his hairs.

the death of Judge Baker, has proved to be a lawyer who knows the law and is capable and fearless in uttering it.

Judge McAlister, who is serving his first term as associate justice of the supreme court, has lived up to his reputation before coming to the bench as a capable and fearless lawyer who knows the law and interprets it in a progressive manner.

If all the courts of the nation were as scrupulous not to exceed their authority and confined themselves to the interpretation of the law as the Arizona supreme court, and did not take every opportunity to usurp the right to legislate, there would not be the criticism of the judiciary which now exists.

"Bird of Passage."

The earliest use of the term "bird of passage" is found in eighteenth century book of the Natural History of Pliny the Elder (23-27 A. D.), where he says: "The bird of passage known to us as the cuckoo, and the term has since been applied to birds which migrate with a season from a colder to a warmer, or from a warmer to a colder climate, divided into summer birds of passage and winter birds of passage.

The term is said to have been first applied to sailors by Bacon, who declared that the uncertainty, the instability and fluctuating stage of human life was most aptly represented by those sailing the ocean.—Exchange.

We hear a good deal of birds and animals as weather prophets, but are apt to overlook the wonderful little barometers which grow at our feet in the fields.

The chandelion has a similar habit. Best known of all such prophetic plants is the scarlet plumbago, the "poor man's weather glass," which is really a capital barometer.

RELIC OF SPANISH ARMADA?

Anchor Fished Up Off Scottish Coast Is Thought to Be Three Centuries Old.

Not long ago the crew of an English trawler engaged in lobster fishing near Kinloch, had great difficulty in getting their anchor aboard.

When at last they succeeded in bringing it to the surface, there was attached to it a very ancient anchor, five tons in weight.

This anchor, which probably belonged to one of the ships of the Spanish armada, wrecked on this coast, has become covered with marine growth, and this, in the three centuries during which it had been embedded in the sand, had been converted into a rocky fossil substance.

The anchor is, of course, considerably worn, but it still presents a very massive appearance, and must have belonged to a very large ship.

OPPOSES VOTE ON TARIFF BILL

SENATOR LENROOT UPSETS THE PLANS FOR FINAL VOTE ON AUGUST SEVENTEEN.

ASKS PROBE OF PRESS

GOODING OF IDAHO INTRODUCES RESOLUTION FOR PROBE OF PRESS.

Washington.—Upsetting plans of Republican and Democratic leaders for a final vote on the administration tariff bill on Aug. 17, Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, gave notice in the Senate that there would be no unanimous consent agreement for a final vote, at least until all important committee amendments to the measure had been discussed and acted upon.

The Wisconsin senator said he was anxious to limit debate and proposed an arrangement under which discussion would have been confined exclusively to the tariff with each senator limited to ten minutes' talk on amendments on the bill after Aug. 11. Senator Lodge, the Republican leader, objected to this, however, and the effort to come to an understanding in the open Senate ended.

Senator Gooding of Idaho, chairman of the Republican agricultural tariff bloc, introduced his resolution directing a special committee of five senators to inquire into and report to the Senate on:

"The financial interests of senators in the wool and sheep industries.

"The financial interests of Mr. Frank A. Munsey in European American industries which compete with American industries; the amount and percentage of his income derived from advertisements placed in his newspapers by the importing department stores which have financed a campaign of defamation against the pending tariff bill and which will profit by the defeat of the bill.

"The number of senators owning or controlling or financially interested in newspapers, the amount of revenue obtained by these newspapers from its importing department stores, which will benefit financially by the defeat of the pending tariff bill.

"The financial interests of all members of the senate, or their relatives, in any American industry or in any property in any community in the United States which may be affected, directly or indirectly, either by the passage or defeat of any proposed schedule in the pending tariff bill.

The preamble of the resolution recited that charges had been made by the New York Herald, owned by Mr. Munsey, "that members of the senate are engaged in the sheep industry had thereby been financially interested in the wool schedule of the tariff bill."

Senator Harrison and Senator Simmons, Democrats, North Carolina, contended that the Gooding resolution seemed to propose an investigation of no publications other than the Munsey newspapers, and suggested that the inquiry be extended to all dailies attacking the tariff.

Chemical wool pulp was restored to the tariff free list by the senate, which rejected, 39 to 22, an amendment proposed by the finance committee majority to make it dutiable at 5 per cent ad valorem. Three senators who publish newspapers—Copper of Kansas, Glass of Virginia and Hitchcock of Nebraska—withheld their votes.

Opponents urged that a duty on this pulp would result in the denuding of American forests, and also that it would constitute a tax on the dissemination of knowledge. Proponents argued that only a small proportion of the timber cut annually went into pulp; that the industry needed protection from Canadian mills and, finally, the tax imposed, while only a small burden on the newspapers, would yield the government $3,000,000 in revenue.

Mob Kills Rail Worker.

Chicago.—Robert Johnson, 42, a carpenter employed in the Illinois Central shops, was beaten to death a few days ago by a mob led by the police to be striking slupmen. Chicago.—E. J. Mr. Manion's letter, it was learned, pointed out that the members of the twelve unions still at work had many problems in relation to the strike and suggested the advisability of a conference of the twelve grand chiefs.

American Schooner Seized.

Pensacola, Fla.—The auxiliary schooner Success was escorted into Key West harbor by a coast guard cutter. Assistant District Attorney Hoffman was advised officially, on suspicion of being engaged in the smuggling of Chinese and liquor into the United States. C. A. "SIXTH SENSE" SAVES TRAIN

Railroad Passenger Engineer Had "Hunch" and Stopped Just in Time.

His "sixth sense" caused Robert Getz of Sunbury, a passenger engineer, to determine that something was broken under his engine as it raced along with 100 passengers on his train.

Getz stopped and found a brake rigging hanging by a small shroud of a broken chain under the tank of the locomotive. Had it dropped, railroad men said, nothing could have prevented a bad wreck.

Getz said "something" just told him all was not right under him, and he stopped.—Sunbury (Pa.) Dispatch.

Glaced Grasshoppers.

A sight that would have gladdened the heart of John the Baptist is shown in photographs of the newly discovered grasshopper glacier in the northern corner of Yellowstone National park.

These pictures, just received by the geological survey, show imbedded in the ice thousands of strata of grasshoppers of extinct species of a time long before the period in which the insects were considered delectable.

These glaced grasshoppers must have been flying over the mountains in living clouds of millions when they were caught in snowstorms and frozen into the glacier.

Motorists are visiting the remarkable glacier by the thousands this summer.

President Harding Still Tries to Bring the Railway Strike to an End.

CONFERS WITH THE LEADERS

Government's Plan for Fair Distribution of Fuel and Food and to Curb Profiteering Put into Operation—Bavaria in Revolt Against Control by Berlin.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

PRESIDENT HARDING and his administration forces devoted themselves last week almost exclusively to the problems arising from the railway and coal strikes. Their efforts might result in the ending of the former was the renewed hope at the close of the week, for Mr. Harding held a most important conference in Washington with Chairman T. De Witt Cuyler of the American Association of Railway Executives, and President Jewell of the railway shomen. His aim presumably was to induce the rail executives to modify their firm attitude concerning the seniority rule and to persuade the shomen to recognize the decision of the railway labor board and return to work pending a rehearing of their grievances.

After leaving the White House Mr. Cuyler announced that the executives of 148 of the largest railroads in the country would meet in New York on August 1 to talk over a tentative plan for settling the shomen's strike. He would not tell what Mr. Harding had suggested, but denied that he had asked the executives to recede from their position on the seniority rule. The presidents of western roads insisted the strikers would not be taken back with full seniority rights restored.

Having abandoned for the time being any hope of ending the coal miners' strike, the President and his aids turned their attention to the question of averting the threatened fuel famine and followed up the call on the various state executives to facilitate and protect the resumption of mining with measures designed to insure a fair distribution of such coal as may be produced and to curb profiteering. Secretary of Commerce Hoover devised a plan which was promptly adopted and put into effect with the legal approval of Attorney General Daugherty. It rests upon the powers of the Interstate Commerce commission, which body, declaring the existence of a national emergency, took charge of the routing of cars and the distribution of fuel and food. The plan provided for a committee of general supervision in Washington, to be named by the President and which will establish in every coal producing district a representative and a committee of operators. Also, there is an administrative committee comprising representatives of the presidential committee together with representatives of operators, representatives of the railways, and where necessary, representatives of the larger consuming groups.

The basis of prices agreed upon between the operators and the secretary of commerce on June 1 is to be maintained, except where varied by the presidential committee, and this same basis of price determination shall be applied to all districts which are so far not co-operating.

President Harding announced the appointment of Attorney General Daugherty, Secretary of the Interior Fall, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and Commissioner of Aftichson of the Interstate Commerce commission as members of the general committee. Mr. Hoover is chairman. A fifth member was to be added to undertake the administrative direction.

Mr. Hoover called on the governors of the states to set up state organizations to co-operate in the distribution of the available coal supplies to the points of greatest need. Distribution for railway use will be directed from Washington. It was stated there that states which have large bituminous deposits will be expected to mine their own coal instead of obtaining it from other fields under the emergency order.

ILLINOIS the prospects for ending the mine strike were slightly brighter. President Farrington of the Illinois miners, always an advocate of separate state agreements, came to the conclusion that the time for putting that policy into action had come and called a convention of delegates of every local union in the state to meet in Peoria August 3 to consider peace proposals of the operators. Next day he rescinded the call because of "premature" publicity. Acting Governor Sterling asked Farrington to consider the proposal that the miners of Illinois return to work at once at the wage scale and under the working conditions existing when operations ceased April 1 last, pending a readjustment of the same by an agreed tribunal, and that representatives of the miners and operators of Illinois should meet and endeavor to arrive at a settlement. Farrington replied that this plan was impracticable.

Orders for immense quantities of coal have been placed in England by Americans but not all of them are being accepted because of market conditions there. Prices of coal and shipping and freight rates have advanced sharply in Great Britain. The British miners may refuse to mine coal for America, and American dock workers may refuse to handle it if it comes.

ONE J. Cleve Dean, chairman of the railway employees' publicity association, sent to President Harding a telegram bitterly attacking the supposed attitude of the administration toward the two great strikes. He said: "For you or any governor to attempt to operate the mines or railroads by military forces or to attempt to draft men into mining or railroad service would be an attempt to establish involuntary servitude," and he predicted such an attempt would bring on the "long predicted war between capital and labor." He asserted, also, that the Republican party was hostile to the American farmer and labor and that the hard times that now exist is a premeditated plan to bring the farmer and labor down to their knees."

Mr. Harding's reply to this outburst, while dignified, was a scathing rebuke of Dean's "political partisan references" and of his false assumptions. The President explained at length the attitude of the government and asserted its intention to speak and act, not for any one class alone, but for "the American people as a whole and the common good of all its citizenship." He made it clear that while the right to strike was recognized, the government would fully protect those who desired to work. The latter, he said, in responding to the call of the country, are exercising their rights "and at the same time making their contribution to our common American welfare."

CHICAGO'S street car strike was still in the making last week. Hope and despair alternated, the former fostered by the optimism of International President Mahon who told the men they must take a referendum vote on a new proposal made by the companies, and the latter due to the pessimism of local President Quinlan, who said the employees would accept no offer the employers were likely to make. The workers were called to hold a mass meeting Monday evening at the Chicago public to prepare to find a strike in effect the following morning.

DEBATE on the tariff in the senate was enlivened last week by Senator McCumber's assertion that in 1912 spokesmen for the newspaper publishers told the senate finance committee that if newsprint paper were not placed on the free list they would defeat the Republican party at the polls, and that, the committee refusing to yield, the publishers therefore did defeat Taft for re-election. Other senators calling for names, Mr. Smoot said that the late John I. Norris, representing the publishers' association, told a finance subcommittee that if a duty were imposed on newsprint "the Republican party would be driven from power." This, Mr. Smoot supposed, was the basis of McCumber's statement, but he, Smoot, did not think Norris had been authorized by the publishers to make such a threat. McCumber retracted his statements with added details and was supported by Watson of Indiana who related how Norris and other publishers in 1908 offered to make Joe Cannon president if he would put through a bill placing newsprint and wood pulp on the free list. Cannon, he said, ordered Norris from his office. All of this, whether true or not, was highly entertaining to the Democratic senators.

COMMISSIONER BLAIR of the Internal Revenue bureau dealt the liquor industry a hard blow by forbidding further imports of wines and liquors until the supplies already in the country for nonbeverage uses are insufficient for national requirements. Secretary Hughes asked, and presumably was promised the aid of the British government in the suppression of liquor smuggling from Bermuda and the Bahamas. The British government, however, has refused the unofficial request of the United States for the right to search outside the three mile limit British vessels suspected of being engaged in smuggling liquor into the United States.

THAT the French are at last reaching a point where they will consent to a reduction of the German reparations debt is evidenced by the plan on which Premier Poincare is working. As it stands now—it is being modified daily—the proposition is that for every dollar paid by Germany on the reparations account and for every dollar of the allied debts which is canceled, France will cancel an equal amount of a certain class of bonds. In the second week in August, or sooner if the Italian government crisis is cleared up, the Morgan committee of bankers will meet again in Paris, and it is hoped that meantime the League of Nations council will have prepared the way for the bankers to propose a new reparations settlement. Poincare and Lloyd George are to hold their conference in London August 16.

THE Bavarian government is in open revolt against the central German government at Berlin and has issued a decree that rejects and supplants the recent legislation by the reichstag for the defense of the republic. The Bavarian minister at Berlin was instructed to inform Chancellor Wirth that any outside police official attempting to operate in Bavaria would be promptly arrested. Wirth has called a conference of all the German states to consider the problem, and if Bavaria does not suppress its new law President Ebert may summon the staatsgerichtshof, or tribunal of the states, to deal with the case. Chancellor Loechererfeld of Bavaria says he is opposed to any separatist movement but that his state will not submit to any abridgment of its rights. The old enmity between Bavaria and Prussia and the strong monarchist sentiment among the Bavarians make the situation difficult for Berlin.

FROM several widely separated sources comes the information that soviet Russia is planning military operations on her western front in the autumn. Frank Vanderlip, the American financier who has been in touch with the Russians in Berlin, says in Paris that the probability is increasing that the bolsheviks will force such a war on Europe in the harvest season, attacking Rumania and Poland "in an attempt to rally Russian morale and also to get food from the eastern harvests." Russian refugees in Belgrade assert the soviet government is preparing for a drive through the Balkans and then westward through Austria.

Whether the administration tariff bill will be enacted before the Navy's her elections has again become the subject of private discussion at the capital. There is a more or less general belief now in the Senate that the measure cannot be brought to a final vote in that body before Sept. 15, and there are those who believe the ironing out of differences between the Senate and the House in conference will be such a slow and tedious process that it cannot be completed before Congress goes home for the fall campaign.

The body of City Receiver Clement Denize, Port au Prince, Haiti, was found recently, a wound in the head indicating he had been murdered. This follows closely the attempted shooting of Mayor Edouard Mandones, for which a minor city official is under arrest, and which was regarded as a development from the mayor's activities in unearthing alleged local graft.

Eugene Jova, acting American consular agent, captured by bandits at Sagua la Grande, Cuba, and held for $20,000 ransom, escaped recently, but was badly wounded as he made his break for liberty. There were five dagger wounds in the young man's body when he was found in a ranch house to which he had sought shelter, but he was able to give the authorities information which was expected to lead to the capture of the bandits.

Because of the technical state of war still existing between the allied powers and Turkey, the plan of the British, French and Italian and American governments to investigate jointly alleged Turkish atrocities in Anatolia has been abandoned and an inquiry is to be made instead by the International Red Cross. The change in plans was made at the suggestion of the British and French officials after the United States had indicated its willingness to take part in a joint governmental investigation.
