TOMORROW IS DATE SET FOR REORGANIZING COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEES

Next Saturday (tomorrow), September 23, is the date set for meetings at each county seat for the purpose of reorganizing the county central committees of both the Republican and Democratic parties.

These meetings will be attended by all persons elected precinct committeemen at the recent primary. They will organize by the election of officers and of members to serve on the state committee. State committeemen of each party will meet at Phoenix next Monday, September 25, for the purpose of reorganizing the state committees by the election of officers and a state executive committee.

None but duly elected precinct committeemen or their proxies are entitled to participate in the organization of county central committees tomorrow, and none but these can be named as members of the state committee. The number of state and executive committeemen to which each county is entitled is based on the number of votes cast for the party's candidate for governor at the last election.

Each county is entitled to name one member of the state committee at large and the county chairman is ex-officio a member of the state committee. In addition, each county is entitled to one member of the state committee for each 200 votes or major fraction thereof cast for governor at the last election.

Members of the executive committee are named by the state meeting, each county being entitled to one at large and one for each 1000 or major fraction thereof of votes cast for governor.

Following the organization of state committees at Phoenix next Monday, party councils will be held on the following day, September 26. The party council is made up of candidates for U. S. senator, congressman, state senators and representatives, and all state officers, together with the national committeemen, the chairman and executive committee and the state committee and the chairmen of the county committees of the several counties.

The purpose of the party councils is to decide on issues and lay plans for the coming campaign. Under the law, each party is required to file with the secretary of state a party platform by 6 p. m. of the day following adjournment.

The calling of the county organization meetings for next Saturday is the result of a special arrangement entered into between the heads of the Republican and Democratic state organizations.

This special arrangement was found necessary owing to a peculiar conflict in the law. The election law reads that county committees shall meet 14 days following the date of the primary election, and this would throw the date of the meetings to September 23. If the letter of the law were followed in this respect it would have been impossible to carry out another provision that the meeting of the state committee shall be held on the last Monday of the month, which this year falls on September 25, or one day previous to the date set by law for the county meetings. Inasmuch as the state committee is made up of delegates named at the county committee meetings, no state committee meetings could have been held September 25 if the date of the county meetings had not been set ahead two days.

MISSING BANK CLERK RETURNED FOR TRIAL

Armed with a revolver and a dagger, A. B. Van Zandt, 22-year-old bookkeeper who disappeared last Wednesday night with $2250 of the funds belonging to the First State Bank of Patagonia, was arrested in Magdalena, Mexico, Tuesday night, according to word received in Patagonia Wednesday morning. Two Chicanos and a Mexican chauffeur also were arrested with the young man, and they were all placed in the Magdalena jail, pending the return of Van Zandt for trial in the superior court on a charge of embezzlement. At the time of his arrest Van Zandt is said to have had $1600 in his possession.

Last Sunday W. P. Capehart, president of the First State Bank, followed the missing bookkeeper to Magdalena in an endeavor to locate him and bring him back to the United States. He secured enough information while in Magdalena to thoroughly convince him that the young man was hidden somewhere in that city.

"My trip helped to bring about the arrest of Van Zandt," said Mr. Capehart Wednesday. "The bank is not going to spare expense in prosecuting the man. The tip I had that Van Zandt was in Magdalena was right. We are going to arrange extradition papers and have him brought back to Santa Cruz county at once for trial, said the banker Wednesday morning.

The revolver found in Van Zandt's possession is the property of President Capehart, of the bank.

Van Zandt had been employed in the local bank since last February, and had been an acquaintance of Capehart's for 16 years, they having resided in the same town, De Leon, Texas.

Val Valenzuela Jr. of Patagonia left Wednesday morning for Magdalena to bring Van Zandt back to the United States for trial.

The young man's downfall is attributed to bad company and too much intoxicating liquor. He is said to have been infatuated with a girl named Carmen, a resident of the redlight district of Nogales, Sonora.

WATTS, AMPERES AND VOLTS

Terms Commonly Used by the Electrician Are Explained for the Layman.

The language of the electrician is Greek to most people. While he talks glibly of volts and amperes and watts, they know only that they have to pay an electric-light bill for so many units, and let it go at that, remarks a London Tit-Bits writer.

Though electricity is not a fluid, we can understand most of its terms by comparing it with water flowing through a pipe. If we turn a stream of water onto the paddles of a water wheel, the work that the wheel will do depends upon two things—the amount of water delivered every second and the pressure of the stream. We measure the first in gallons and the second in pounds.

In the case of electricity, we measure the rate at which it flows in amperes and its pressure in volts. The work which it will do is found by multiplying amperes and volts together, which gives the answer in watts, or units of energy.

The board of trade unit is 1,000 watts, often called a kilowatt, while the electrical equivalent of one horsepower is 746 watts.

You will find the number of watts they require engraved on most electric lamps, and from this you can discover what they will cost to use. A 25-watt lamp will use one unit of 1,000 watts in 40 hours' burning; and if electricity costs tenpence a unit, the lamp will work out at a farthing an hour.

The ohm is another electrical measurement which can be understood by a comparison with water. Water flows easily through a large pipe, but if the pipe is narrow, only a small quantity can pass its way through. What the pipe is to water, the wire is to electricity. The smaller the wire, the more difficult electricity will find it to pass, because the fine wire resists its flow. The electrician measures wires by their resistance in ohms.

Unqualified.

A policeman had found a dog and returned it to the mansion from which it had strayed. The nurse girl took the animal from him, at which the constable inquired:

"Do you have to take care of the dog?"

"Oh, no!" returned the maid. "The missis says I'm too young and inexperienced—I only look after the children."—London Weekly Telegraph.

GEO. W. P. HUNT ISSUES STATEMENT

Hon. George W. P. Hunt, Democratic nominee for the office of governor of Arizona, issued a statement last week on the result of the primary election last Tuesday. Mr. Hunt said:

"The vote cast in the primary election indicates a strong progressive tendency on the part of the electorate. The remarkably heavy vote cast in the primary—which exceeded by several thousand the vote for the head of the Democratic ticket in the presidential election year of 1920—suggests a keen interest in the principles and candidates of the Democratic party, and points to the election of the entire Democratic ticket in the November election.

"The primary contest, while keen and waxed warm at times, has left a united party, which will sweep the state in the coming election. My endeavor during the contest was to refrain from any act that might injure the Democratic party. My opponent, the Hon. Charles B. Ward, conducted an able and clean campaign.

"Of course, I would not be human if I did not feel gratified over the majority given me in the primary. I did not desire to enter a contest for any office this year, and it was with a great deal of hesitation that I finally bowed to the will of my friends and entered the race. Having won the nomination, I shall, of course, bend all my energy toward the success of the entire Democratic ticket. I believe that the people of Arizona are convinced that the election of the Democratic candidates, who were nominated in the primary Tuesday, is necessary to insure the future progress and prosperity of the state of Arizona, and I call upon the Democratic voters of Arizona, as well as the progressive people generally, to support all of the Democratic candidates in the election in November.

"Even more gratifying to me than my own nomination was the overwhelming defeat of the proposed amendments to the Constitution, which were sponsored by the Arizona Industrial Congress. The returns indicate that the co-operative marketing amendment was defeated, a result that I regret. I congratulate the voters of Arizona upon the decision to stand firm for those progressive principles which are the keystones of the Constitution of the state."

Mail service has "been all shot to pieces" here lately, owing to the failure of the motor car of the S. P. to make regular trips. To accommodate Patagonians, Postmaster Riggs has been putting in considerable overtime at the office distributing mail, which arrived two days this week after closing time.
