ELGIN NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. John Going and daughter, Mrs. Whipple, expect to leave this week for a visit in California.

Thanksgiving day there will be a community basket dinner at the Elgin schoolhouse. Everyone is invited to bring a lunch and enjoy the day. There will be a short musical program.

Mrs. L. W. Klein was hostess Saturday night to a number of friends at the Starr-King ranch. Whist was the feature of the evening.

EARLY CHRISTMAS MATERIAL OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN AND TO GIRLS

In this issue, and probably for the next two or three weeks, the Patagonian will print a department of holiday material showing cuts and descriptive matter, containing many practical suggestions for Christmas gifts to be made by women, boys and girls.

We have secured this material at considerable expense from a leading authority on handiwork for children, and are sure that there is nothing better to start Christmas planning than the little suggestions for home needlework, etc., shown in this department.

SUNDAY SCHOOL NEWS

There will be regular Sunday school and church services next Sunday morning at the school house at 10 and 11 o'clock. Please come.

We will have a "sing" for everybody Sunday night at the Opera House at 7 o'clock—just for one hour. Come, help us.

Rev. R. W. Reed of the Arizona Children's home of Tucson was here Sunday and preached a good sermon. His visit was appreciated. The children promised to give him a thank offering Thanksgiving day for the orphans in the home.

There will be a Sunday school picnic Saturday (tomorrow) for the school children. Come and bring a lunch. We will meet at the home of Rev. Earl Cropp at 10 o'clock in the morning.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION HOME CALENDAR FOR 1923

The publishers of The Youth's Companion are sending to every subscriber who has paid $2.50 for the 52 issues of 1923 a calendar for the new year. The 121 pictures printed in red and black ink, and each tablet, besides giving the days of the current month in bold legible type, gives the calendar of the preceding and succeeding month in smaller type in the margin.

SUMMARY OF WORK IN SANTA CRUZ COUNTY BY THE HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

Work in Santa Cruz County for the past six months is now completed and the home demonstration agent, Miss Evelyn A. Bentley, is ready to begin work in Pima county. During the next six months a few short visits will be made to Santa Cruz county in order to keep up some work in progress here, but in the main all of the agent's time will be devoted to work in Pima county.

Sixty-seven meetings and demonstrations were held by the agent. These were attended by 1,875 persons. Besides these meetings, one extension short course was given with an enrollment of 75 women.

The work has been offered to groups of five or more women, and the general type of work presented has included organization, foods, clothing, home health and hygiene, the business of home making, home production, home improvements, recreation and community enterprises.

Two thousand two hundred and ninety-six miles of railroad and auto travel were necessary in order to carry through the program of work for the six months. Fifty-six family visits were made; some of these in connection with the Americanization work which is so necessary in a county so largely composed of a Spanish-speaking population.

Eight hundred and forty-six bulletins on various subjects were distributed, all of these of an educational nature and concerned with the upbuilding of the home—in some phase of its activity.

The rainy season is over in the state of Nayarit, Mexico, and Roy & Titcomb, Inc., of Nogales is again receiving shipments of Spanish cedar and mahogany logs at their lumber mill in the county seat. The first carload of cedar was received last week.

The lumber industries of southern Arizona have been supplied by Roy & Titcomb and large orders for the government have been filled. Much of the cedar from this firm is used in the manufacture of cigar boxes, "chips" being used for this purpose. The business has grown to enormous proportions and the Santa Cruz county firm is keeping pace with it.

Recent improvements in the housing facilities of the firm include the construction of a two-story reinforced concrete building on the mill site on Morley avenue, Nogales. The upper story of the structure will be devoted exclusively to carpentry and box making, and the ground floor will allow for further extension of the large planing mill section of the business.

Besides lumber, the firm above mentioned handles all kinds of mining and farming machinery, auto accessories, plumbers' supplies, and hardware of all kinds. It is one of the most successful business institutions in the southwest—and still growing.

Exports of corn during each of the first three months of 1922 were larger than during any month of 1921, according to a government report.

AMENDMENT 100 IS LOST

According to reports from Phoenix, Amendment 100, which was reported to have carried at the general election, has been defeated by nearly 200 votes. The amendment was for bond on the state for $2,500,000 for the construction of a "week-end" road from Phoenix to the Arizona-California line, and would have cost Phoenix more than any other part of the state. All counties except those through which the proposed road was to be routed (except Yuma) voted against the amendment.

CATTLE SHIPPED TO YUMA

Two carloads of cattle, consigned to Fritz Hodges of Yuma, were shipped from Calistoga Monday. The cattle were sold by Chapman Brothers, Bay Suzzelle, Harry J. Simon and Joe Wise.

SUNDAY DINNER IN PATAGONIA

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Barb and Mr. and Mrs. Theoran Richardson motored from the county seat Sunday evening and enjoyed dinner at the Commercial Hotel.

GENERAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF STATE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

The thirty-first annual meeting of the Arizona State Teachers' Association and joint county institute will be held at Phoenix November 27, 28 and 29. This meeting is one of general interest to the teachers and school officers of the state and promises to be one of the best meetings which this association has ever held.

The officers for the current year are Prof. A. O. Neal, president, University of Arizona, Tucson; Superintendent A. L. Jones, secretary, Phoenix; Superintendent J. O. Mullen, treasurer, Jerome.

The speakers for the general and special programs are men of outstanding prominence in the educational world. On Monday the United States Bureau of Education will be represented by Hon. J. J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education, who is one of the most pleasing speakers before the American public today and occupying, as he does, the highest official place in American education, it is regarded as an unusual occasion when he appears before the people of this state.

Many other outstanding figures in the educational field have been asked to attend the meeting, and many favorable replies have been received. They include Dr. Chas. H. Judd of the University of Chicago; Prof. Wilford Aldin, head of the Scarborough School on the Hudson; and Prof. C. G. Sargent of the Colorado State Agricultural College.

The question of Americanization and literacy is one of great importance to the people of Arizona. In this field there is no more outstanding person than Cora Wilson Stewart, head of the Literacy Commission of the United States. For the first time she is coming to Arizona and will be a speaker at the general and special sessions.

Leaders in educational work in Arizona will speak on the program and many conferences on local subjects will be held. The headquarters for the meeting will be the Adams hotel and the sessions will be held in the buildings of the Phoenix high school. Reduced rates on railroads have been secured on the certificate plan. Those attending the convention should ask for a certificate upon purchasing their tickets at the local railroad offices.

SPANISH CEDAR FOR ROY & TITCOMB, INC., OF NOGALES

The rainy season is over in the state of Nayarit, Mexico, and Roy & Titcomb, Inc., of Nogales is again receiving shipments of Spanish cedar and mahogany logs at their lumber mill in the county seat. The first carload of cedar was received last week.

The lumber industries of southern Arizona have been supplied by Roy & Titcomb and large orders for the government have been filled. TRAVELERS TOLD PATAGONIA-NOGALES ROAD IMPASSABLE

Due to erroneous information given out at various points, many automobile tourists have been refraining from traveling over the Patagonia-Nogales road. A. H. Gardner of Tombstone, recently in Nogales, said out-of-town auto dealers have been telling tourists that the road between Patagonia and Nogales is almost impassable. Such information is known to have kept many tourists away from this road.

The road to Nogales, it is true, is not in first-class shape, but it is far better for travel than some of the state's roads. Work is being done on the road at present to put it in better condition. It is far from impassable.

Some means to combat this method of diverting traffic to other routes should be found, so the motorists would use our road, to the mutual benefit of themselves and our business institutions.

SENATOR-ELECT C. A. PIERCE SAYS $10,000 WILL BUILD ROAD

Last Saturday's business meeting of the American Association of Engineers of Nogales, held at the King Cafe, was the banner meeting of the club for 1922, says the Nogales Morning Democrat.

Subjects up for discussion included roads, water and sewer systems, mining conditions, and amendments to the engineers' license law.

Senator-elect C. A. Pierce of Patagonia, who is one of the leading members of the association and a member of the county highway commission, said the Patagonia-Nogales highway can be placed in fair condition for from $8000 to $10,000.

Engineer W. J. Mitchell of the Mowry mine, in the Patagonia mountains, reported good strikes in his group of claims. A heavy flow of water recently was encountered in the main shaft and a larger pump and other machinery will immediately be installed.

J. P. Fraizer, highway engineer, reported that 13 concrete bridges are to be constructed on the Nogales-Tucson highway.

FORTY-NINE COWS MAKE HONOR LIST

The hundred and forty cows in the Maricopa County Cattle Testing Association produced an average of 672 pounds of milk containing 26.4 pounds of fat for the month of October, as compared to an average production of 633 pounds of milk containing 25.8 pounds of fat for the month of September.

Forty-nine cows are in the 40-pound or better list for October, as compared to 26 for September. Owing to a considerable number of the cows in the association freshening at this time of the year, Arthur D. Entz, official tester of the association, reports that he expects a still larger number of cows in the honor list for November.

L. A. Johnson's Bonnie of Mesa is first among the cows of the association during the month, with a production of 1193 pounds of milk containing 62 pounds of fat, while M. W. Turley's Seals Boone Patty Pontine is second, with a production of 1025 pounds of milk containing 55.8 pounds of fat and P. D. Krenz' Blanco is third, with a production of 1292 pounds of milk containing 55.7 pounds of fat.

COL. R. R. RICHARDSON BACK

Col. R. R. Richardson, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. O. D. Bleakley of Franklin, Pa., for several months, returned to Patagonia Thursday. He is much improved in health.

Val Valenciano Jr. and E. F. Rohlendorf went to Tucson to meet Mr. Richardson Wednesday night and accompany him home.

VISITORS FROM BISBEE

Harry M. Ziesmer, Roy F. Green and T. S. Best of Bisbee, were weekend guests of Howard Keener and his aunt, Miss Grace Van Osdale.

Early Sunday morning they made a trip to the San Rafael Valley on a duck hunt, returning with some game.

K. OF P. INITIATION HELD

At the regular session of the Knights of Pythias Lodge of Nogales, Wednesday night, first rank work was on the program. A good attendance was had at the ceremonies.

CATTLE SHIPPED FROM SONOITA

San Rafael Valley cattlemen sold their steers to Vail and Huntington recently and shipping will take place immediately from Sonoita. Several head were included in the sale, and the price paid is said to have been 4 cents per pound.

CELEBRATES BOTH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Mary Jane Keaton, mother of R. N. Keaton, a San Rafael Valley farmer, celebrated her 80th birthday on the 25th of this month. Mrs. Keaton is enjoying good health, and receives the congratulations of her many friends.

FRANK E. GOODMAN APPOINTED STATE HIGHWAY ENGINEER

Governor-elect George W. P. Hunt has announced that he has selected Mr. Frank E. Goodman of Coconino county for the position of state highway engineer for the incoming administration.

Mr. Goodman is an engineer of recognized ability. Is a member of two of the national engineering societies, the American Society of Civil Engineers and the American Association of Engineers. At the present time he is the county road engineer of Coconino county. During his 19 years' residence in Arizona he has come in contact with people and conditions in every part of the state. During the last ten years he has been engaged in highway work. He has served as division engineer in the northern part of the state under James K. Grand, territorial engineer, and during the entire administration of Governor Hunt he served as division engineer in the northern part of the state.

ELECTION RETURNS CANVASSED

Election returns from the general election, November 7, were canvassed Monday by the board of supervisors at the county courthouse.

The canvass showed no change in the unofficial figures published by the various county newspapers shortly after the election date.

Road matters also were discussed by the board, and plans laid for improving many roads in the county that need attention, due to damage done by the rains of the summer.

LAST GAME OF CONFERENCE

Tomorrow's football game, between the Nogales High school and the Tucson High will be the last of the Southern Arizona High School Conference games this season. If Nogales wins they will try to secure a game with the Phoenix high school squad.

Many visitors from Santa Cruz county will attend the game at Tucson and lend moral support to the boys, who are playing good football this year.

HARVESTING CANILLE CROPS

Supervisor James L. Finley of Canille reports farmers and cattlemen busy in his neighborhood. Cattlemen are rounding up a spin shipping cattle and farmers are busy harvesting milk maize, corn and beans, their principal crops. Mr. Finley was on his way home from the Monday meeting of the county board of supervisors, to which body he was re-elected as the third district representative. He has been an efficient member of the board for the last four years.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Mr. Colvard of San Antonio, Texas, took pictures of the different rooms Friday morning.

The seventh grade pupils are busy making relief maps of South America and Europe.

Ruth Gatlin has earned a certificate for writing with freedom movement in all her work.

Next week there will be a Thanksgiving vacation of two days—Thursday and Friday.

The arrival of the edition of geographies and dictionaries will help materially in the work of the upper grades.

The third grade took a half holiday, earned by good attendance, Thursday afternoon.

ELGIN OIL WELL DOWN 100 FEET

The oil well drilling at Elgin is now down 600 feet, according to information given out by officers of the Nogales Oil and Gas Company this week. Drilling is in a line and sand conglomerate formation at present, which means that sinking will be more rapid.

The progress of the Elgin well is being watched with great interest by all men everywhere. If oil is struck, and there is every indication that it will be, it will be the biggest thing that could happen in this part of the state and all business interests will receive untold benefit therefrom.

NOGALES HUNTERS RETURNING

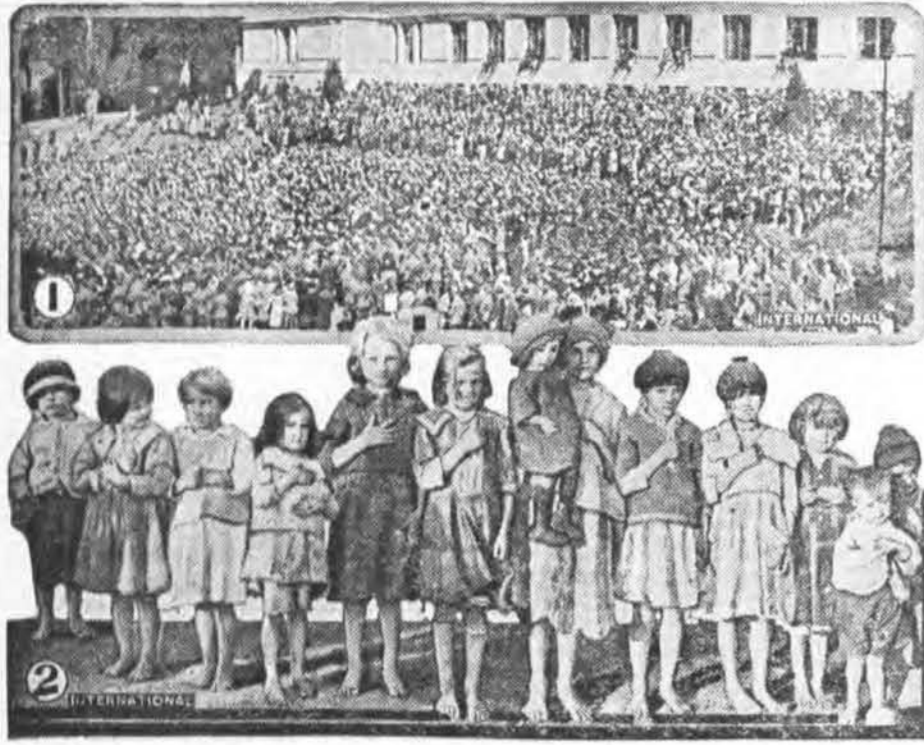

Mayor James A. Harrison, R. L. O'Neil, Bert Cunningham, and others of Nogales, who have been enjoying a hunting trip in Mexico, are reported to be on their way home. Their success in game-getting has not been learned.

E. F. O. E. MEMORIAL

The annual memorial services of the E. F. O. E. will be held the first Sunday in December. Attorney Norman Johnson of Globe has been asked to make the address.

ROAD PAVING FINISHED

The two and a half mile strip of pavement on the Nogales-Tucson road, north of Nogales was finished this week, and the road will open to traffic about December 1.

1—Ten thousand University of California students asking President Hoover to withdraw his resignation. 2—Wretched, ragged children of the tent city of evicted miners near Johnstown, Pa., for whom aid is sought. 3—Dr. Royal S. NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Democrats Score Great Victory and Almost Capture Control of Congress.

EIGHT G. O. P. SENATORS OUT

Al Smith's Success in New York Starts His Boom for Presidential Nomination—Turkish Nationalists Goaded the Allied Nations to Drastic Action.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

AL SMITH, former governor of New York, has been elected to that office again by a huge plurality and already is being boomed for the Democratic nomination for the presidency in 1924. Regardless of party affiliations, do you think he would make a good nominee, and a good President if elected?

REPUBLICAN control of congress was almost swept away in the Democratic landslide at the election on November 7. According to the returns at this writing, the G. O. P. in the next congress will have 53 senators, compared with 60 now, and the Democrats will have 42 compared with 36 now. Doctor Shipstead, who defeated Senator Kellogg in Minnesota, represents the Farmer-Labor party.

The lower house of the Sixty-eighth congress will be composed of 225 Republicans, 207 Democrats, one Socialist, one Independent and one Farmer-Labor member. If these figures are not changed by the revised returns, the Republicans will have a majority over all of 15.

Nine senate seats were lost by the Republicans by the defeat of Senators DuPont in Delaware, France in Maryland, Townsend in Michigan, Kellogg in Minnesota, Frelinghuysen in New Jersey, Calder in New York, Poincaré in Washington, and Sutherland in West Virginia, and of Albert J. Beveridge in Indiana. The Democrats lost two seats through the downfall of Senators Hitchcock in Nebraska and Pomerene in Ohio.

Among the outstanding results of the election was the great victory of Al Smith in New York. He defeated Miller for the governorship, which he once before held, by a plurality of more than 300,000. This makes him a logical possibility for the Democratic nomination for the presidency in 1924, and already his enthusiastic admirers are booming him for that honor. One possible rival, Senator Pomerene, is removed by his defeat for re-election by Fess, Republican, but it is likely Cox will want to try again. Another man who may be put forward by the Democrats is S. M. Ralston of Indiana, who defeated Beveridge for the senate and who is very popular among the Hoosiers.

Necessarily the election has its effects, also, on Republican presidential probabilities. Some politicians in Washington think President Harding will not seek another nomination because the great reverses sustained by his party are interpreted as the expression of dissatisfaction with his administration. However, if he should wish to lead the ticket again, two likely contenders for the place are now out of it—Beveridge of Indiana and Miller of New York. But there are other strong Republican possibilities. Senator Hiram Johnson of California was returned with a big plurality; Clifford Pinchot won the governorship of Pennsylvania by 255,000 plurality; and Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania easily won re-election. Any one of these may reasonably ask the presidential nomination, and so, too, might Governor Allen of Kansas. There is some talk even of Senator McCormack of Illinois as the choice of the progressive Republicans; and Jim Watson, now restored as the boss

CHICAGO TO HAVE CARDINAL

Dispatches From Rome Confirm Rumor That Archbishop Mundelein Will Be Elevated.

Chicago.—Reports that Archbishop Mundelein is to be made cardinal with the next promotion of American church dignitaries to that rank were confirmed by an Associated Press dispatch from Rome.

The date of the appointment, however, has been postponed by Pope Pius of his party in Indiana, might get ambitious and offer himself. His followers, as well as those of Senator New, are accused of having knifed Beveridge at the polls, and the charge seems to be true, as Republican congressmen were elected in nine of the thirteen Indiana districts.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts just managed to weather the storm. His plurality over Gaston was about 8,000—a fourth of what it was in 1916. W. N. Ferris, who defeated Senator Townsend in Michigan, announces that his first effort when he gets to Washington will be to unseat Senator Newberry.

Irrespective of partisan feeling, there will be widespread regret over the defeat of Senators Kellogg of Minnesota and Poincaré of Washington, for both have proved themselves able, honest and industrious servants of the people. The same may be said for Hitchcock of Nebraska, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, who was repudiated by his party two years ago, goes back for a third term with a majority of 34,000. Shortly before the election former President Wilson wrote a letter saying that if Reed were returned to the senate he would "of course be there a man without a party."

FOES of prohibition were considerably elated by certain features of the election. Illinoisans voted two to one for amendment of the Volstead act to permit beer and light wines; California defeated the proposed state enforcement law; Massachusetts rejected a proposal to harmonize the state prohibition law with the federal enforcement act; Governor Edwards of New Jersey, "sweetest of the sweets," was elected senator; New York Democrats won on a platform with a light wine and beer plank; and in Minnesota Congressman Volstead, author of the enforcement act, was defeated. The wets believe they have gained at least 30 and maybe 60 votes in the house.

On the other hand, the dries won a test vote in Ohio by 100,000, and their leaders insist they will still control congress. While Volstead was retired, the man who beat him, Rev. O. J. Kvale, Independent, says he is "drier than Volstead." However, Volstead will normally be succeeded as chairman of the judiciary committee by Graham of Pennsylvania, who is decidedly liberal in the matter of prohibition.

It was a sad day for the once weaker sex. Of all the woman candidates for seats in the senate and house, only one was elected, and her term will end on March 4 next. She is Mrs. Winnifred Mason Huck, who will fill out the unexpired term of her father, the late Congressman-at-Large William E. Mason of Illinois. Moreover, as Representative Alice M. Robertson of Oklahoma was defeated by a mere man, there will not be one woman in the Sixty-eighth congress.

PRESIDENT HARDING still hopes to have the ship subsidy bill passed by this congress and therefore has called an extra session to begin November 20. The measure is almost certain to encounter stubborn opposition in the senate, and many leaders of both parties believe it cannot get through.

MUSTAPHA KEMAL PASHA and the Turkish national assembly are not satisfied with the victories they have already won and are threatening to stir up a lot more trouble in the Near East. The sultan's ministry having resigned, Rafet Pasha, nationalist governor of Constantinople, assumed power there, and the allied high commission accepted the new regime. But about the same time the Angora government demanded that the allied troops be removed from the city at once, stating that its occupation by foreign soldiery was inconsistent with Turkish independence. The nationalists also announced that foreign warships could not enter the straits without permission and then only one at a time, and that only one vessel of each nation should be stationed at Constantinople. These demands were firmly rejected by the allied high commission, the French agreeing with the British that no such concessions should be made and that the allies must retain military control over the city until peace had been established and that the terms of the Mudania agreement must be observed. The request of the nationalists that the Turkish railways in Europe and Asia that have been under temporary allied control be handed over to them also was refused. Thereupon the Turks, reiterating their demands, called three additional classes to the colors and mobilized large forces near Constantinople. Lieutenant General Harrington warned Pasha he would permit no usurpation of allied authority. The allied governments admitted the situation was acute and growing dangerous. The British suggested postponement of the Lausanne conference, but M. Poincaré for France urged that it open without delay. It was said that Lord Curzon, Poincaré and Premier Mussolini all would attend the meeting because of the fear that the soviet Russians would try to persuade the Turks to join them in a combine for the domination of the Near East.

TO CELEBRATE the fifth anniversary of the Russian revolution, some 400,000 soviet troops and armed workers marched in review in Moscow last week before the delegates to the Third International now in session. It was an inspiring sight for the communists who dream of world revolution. Premier Lenin did not appear before the International, but others told of the Red progress in various lands. Leo Kamenoff admitted that there is "a temporary victory for reaction, capitalism and imperialism in the western countries, especially in Italy and Germany," but told the workers they must hold tight to their rifles. German delegates said there would be a Red revolution soon in their country.

FOLLOWING the advice of the International economic and financial experts, the German government has asked the reparations commission for a two-year moratorium on all reparations payments—coal, iron and other goods as well as cash—and for outside financial help. The experts assert that the stabilization of the mark, the first essential for the recovery of Germany, is impossible under present conditions and charge that the existing catastrophe is due to internal financial policies combined with the impossible conditions of the Versailles treaty. They propose the establishment of a currency bank which should have the support of foreign banks and also 500,000,000 gold marks from the Reichsbank's reserve. The lifting of restrictions abroad against German trade and giving to Germany full customs rights are recommended.

DETERMINED, as they themselves declare, to smash the Irish Free State government or die in the attempt, the Irish republicans are keeping Dublin in a state of perpetual disorder and alarm by sniping, looting and incendiarism. Sometimes they get even bolder, as on Wednesday when they placed machine guns on housetops and made an attack on the Wellington military barracks. There were numerous casualties before the rebels were ousted. Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late lord mayor of Cork, is in Mountjoy prison and has started on a hunger strike, declaring she will starve herself to death as did her brother in a British prison. Other republican prisoners have joined her in this.

ONE of the worst mine disasters of recent years occurred near Spangler, Pa., when gas exploded in a mine of the Relfly Coal company. Seventy-nine men were killed and thirty-two seriously injured. The state mine inspector says someone was guilty of negligence in not reporting gas pockets or in the methods of testing for gas.

IN MARION, ILL., great difficulty is being experienced in getting a jury to try the first batch of five defendants in the Herrin mine massacre case. The citizens are persistently dodging jury service. Judge Hartwell took under advisement a motion by the defense that the indictments be quashed on the grounds that the grand jury was illegally selected and was unduly influenced.

from Rome. The new cardinal is expected to remain in Chicago.

Shortly afterward, it is expected, he will leave for Rome.

Archbishop Mundelein has been prominent among American churchmen for a number of years. His greatest successes, perhaps, have been in organizing and correlating the many-sided activities of the church to the fullest modern standards. Greatest of all, probably, has been his work in developing the Catholic schools and universities.

Eleven noncommissioned officers in the Philippine constabulary will be hanged unless Governor General Wood pardons them, since the Supreme Court of the United States declined to review their case. Sixty-six privates will serve life sentences. The Philippine Supreme Court will await the official mandate of the United States court before fixing the date for carrying out the sentences.

Pennsylvania, with seven, will top all the states in big House committee heads in the new Congress, unless the seniority rule is abrogated. All told, there are sixty standing committees, but some of them have little to do with important legislation. The seven important chairmanships, Pennsylvania is expected to have. Banking, claims, foreign affairs, judiciary, naval, post-office and printing, a gain of two.

President Harding assured members of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers in a letter read at their annual dinner in New York City, that the upbuilding of an efficient merchant marine is one of the administration's chief ambitions.

Lee Tittle, recently defeated for United States senator, ended his life in his hotel at Yakima, Wash., by taking poison, according to Coroner W. M. Brown. Tittle, a former county treasurer, had been despondent since his failure to win the nomination.

Contracts made by the Standard Oil, Gulf Refining and other oil companies, under which retail dealers are loaned pump and tank equipment for the storage and delivery of gasoline on condition that it shall not be used to distribute the products of any competitor, will be reviewed by the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of Terence MacSwiney, the lord mayor of Cork, who died in prison on a hunger strike, and two others of nine women arrested for picketing the British embassy in Washington, refused bond for their appearance at a hearing before a United States commissioner.

With Congress called by President Harding to convene in extra session Nov. 20, members of the House appropriations committee aim to have several of the appropriation bills ready for the House by the beginning of the regular session immediately following on Dec. 4. During the two weeks of the extra session the House is expected to devote its attention to the ship subsidy bill while subcommittees of its appropriations committee work on the supply bills, which form the most important task of the regular session.

The first plank in the platform of the new Tory ministry in Britain is obviously an endorsement of the Anglo-French entente. Among all of the indictments of Lloyd George none has been more steadily pressed both in England and out of it than that of having almost if not completely destroyed the partnership between the two great powers which united to check Germany in 1914.

Japanese are not white, within the meaning of the American law, and are not entitled to citizenship in the United States, the Supreme Court has held.

The French consuls at Messina and Adana in Asia Minor have been expelled by the Kemalists.

Four thousand Armenian Christians have been killed in the village of Smyrna, and 8,000 more are missing. It was reported by the committee of bishops which has been investigating the plight of Armenians who took refuge in Smyrna after the Greek defeat. The Armenian losses in money total $18,000,000.

Investigation of the Philippine National bank of Manila by a committee of six members of the Legislature is proposed in a resolution introduced jointly in the Philippine Senate and House. The resolution instructs such a committee "particularly to ascertain the truth of the reports of falacious, exorbitant salaries paid bank officials and employees."

A bank for farmers, sponsored by the federal government, is one of the projects now being considered by the Chamber of Deputies of Mexico City, following the presentation of a bill to that effect by the Cooperista party, the dominant party in the lower House. The bank is designed to aid small farmers and will be modeled after similar institutions in the United States.

Terrific havoc was wrought by fire which broke out in the Italian fleet in the harbor at Naples, said a Central News dispatch from Rome, received in London. The light watercraft Mascola, Russo and Agnola were sunk. Two torpedoes were also burned. The fire spread from the slips, to the shore, destroying waterfront buildings, streets and barges.

Since the restoration by Eamon de Valera of his title of president of the Irish republic and the reconstitution of the republican council of state, backed by the republican army, the war in Ireland has entered a new phase. Captured correspondence has revealed proposed war measures which have been submitted to the Valera for approval, and it is assumed that whatever is now done is with his sanction.

The Spanish government, it was announced recently, denounced on Nov. 5, the commercial agreement made with the United States, Aug. 1, 1904. Under this agreement, Spain accorded the United States most favored nation treatment, with the exception of special advantages conceded to Portugal, while the United States agreed to special rates of duty upon certain Spanish products, notably crude tartar, brandies and wines.

GENERAL

Three persons were injured, one probably fatally, and a dozen women and children were saved in thrilling rescues in a fire believed to have been incendiary, which caused $150,000 damage to a West side apartment building in Chicago.

The soldier bonus, providing $50 a month for ex-service men, passed, according to figures given out from the State Election Bureau at Oklahoma City. The vote was 13,889 majority for the measure. The farmer vote was in favor of the measure.

The three-masted schooner Samuel Hart of New York was sunk in a collision with the sea-going tug Wyoming at the entrance of Casco bay, near Portland, Maine. Captain Johnson of the sailing vessel and three members of his crew were brought to this port by the Wyoming. A haze is said to have been responsible for the collision. The Wyoming was not seriously damaged.

C. V. Toner, oil field worker, was the hero of Humble, eighteen miles north of Houston, Texas. During the boiling over of the second of two earthen tanks on the Gulf farm, near Humble, Toner climbed upon a third tank belonging to the Texas Company, and extinguished sparks which in a few minutes would have added 250,000 more barrels to the loss which was estimated to total $30,000 barrels.

The prohibition enforcement measure on the California ballot, providing for making the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act the law of California, was defeated.

Fire that threatened for several hours to destroy the frame buildings at Selridge field, the army aviation post near Mt. Clemens, Mich., was brought under control after burning the structure housing the quartermaster's department. The stores destroyed and the buildings were valued at nearly $500,000. Fifty or more airplanes were removed from the hangars and parked on the flying field for safety.

The Mississippi Supreme Court at Jackson affirmed the decision of Chancellor V. J. Strickler in the Hinds County Chancery Court imposing fines and penalties amounting to $8,055,075 on the fire insurance companies formerly operating in the state, charged with violating the anti-trust law by conspiring to control rates. The affirmation carries with it the full penalty imposed by the lower court. About 130 insurance companies are involved, the heaviest penalty against any company being $195,875.

In a desperate but unsuccessful attempt to escape from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., Joe Martinez, serving a sentence of murder, fatally stabbed A. H. Red Has Beens. Representative Hok of Texas said at a banquet in Washington: "Our Reds find their audiences less and less sympathetic as Russia totters more and more."

"A Red was orating on a soap-box the other day. "Yes," he snarled, "you're afraid to revolt. You're like the prodigal son. All you get to eat is the husks the swine won't touch. But pretty soon the husks will all be gone. What'll you do then?"

Important to Mothers. Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the signature of J.C. Fletcher.

In All Humility. "How do you think the financial relationships of the world ought to be adjusted?" "Tain't for me to say," replied Farmer Courtessol. "I can't even get the mortgage paid off of a 50-acre farm."

Unexpected Results. "The phrenologist told Algy so many nice things—" "Yes—" "That's how he has a swelled head."

He could borrow money from an Edgeworth smoker. "I left the house in a hurry. Had bought my railroad ticket the day before, so I didn't realize I had left my money at home until I was aboard the train. I was going to a strange town to do business with a man I didn't know, so it would have been quite embarrassing."

"I went into the smoking car. I looked over the men and decided to tell my story to one of them. But which one? That was the question. It was answered quickly. A man pulled out a pipe. 'He's the man for me,' I thought. But when he took a can of Edgeworth from his pocket, then I knew."

"He lent me the trifling sum I asked for, and in thanking him I mentioned that I was an Edgeworth smoker and that was what influenced me to speak to him, a perfect stranger."

"Perfect stranger?" he laughed. "Not on your life. No pipe smoker is a perfect stranger to another—especially if they both smoke Edgeworth."

There does seem to be a friendship among Edgeworth smokers. We don't claim that the tobacco is responsible for this so much as the kind of men who smoke Edgeworth.

Perhaps you've had a similar experience. If you have, we'd like to hear of it.

And we'll send free samples—generous helpings of Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed or Plug Slice—to any man, whether he has some favorite brand or not. We know we couldn't change him from a tobacco that exactly suited him, but if Edgeworth could convince him—well, that would make us both happy.

After all, the happiest man in this world is the one who smokes a tobacco he likes—from the very first pipeful in the morning to the last pipeful at night. For all you know, that tobacco might be Edgeworth.

Send a postcard for free samples with your name and address to Larus & Brother Company, 44 South 21st St., Richmond, Va. If you would also add the name and address of the dealer from whom you usually buy your tobacco, we would appreciate your courtesy.

Edgeworth is sold in various sizes to suit the needs and means of all purchasers. Both Edgeworth Plug Slice and Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed are packed in small, pocket size packages, in handsome tin humidors, and in various handy in-between quantities.

You can also get Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed in glass jars that you'll find mighty useful.

To Retail Tobacco Merchants: If your jobber cannot supply you with Edgeworth, Larus & Brother Company will gladly send you prepaid by parcel post a one- or two-dozen carton of any size of Edgeworth Plug Slice or Ready-Rubbed for the same price you would pay the jobber.

Ramon Apocada of Albuquerque was held up by two highwaymen as he was returning to his home, and when the thugs found he had no money one of them beat him over the head with his gun, inflicting a bad scalp wound.

The coroner's jury inquiring into the death of Owen S. Barnett at Bisbee brought in a verdict that the deceased came to his death from a gunshot wound under the left eye from a pistol held in the hands of Walter L. Bailey.

William A. Denny, former employe of the Rio Grande Oil Company at Globe, Ariz., was arrested in Long Beach on telegraphic instructions from Globe. A complaint has been filed against him at Globe charging embezzlement of $1,295.48 of company funds.

Mrs. E. D. Nelson is believed to be dying at a road camp near Las Vegas as a result of a bullet wound, self-inflicted, officers said, after she made an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate her husband by firing a shot into a tent where he and several other men were spending the night. The bullet went wild.

There are three known dead in the fire which destroyed a large warehouse on the Chumbeon estate at Socorro. Mrs. Jose Crespin, wife of Jose Crespin, who perished together with his son, Cornelio, is in a hospital here critically ill. She had been ill, but the news of the death of her husband and son has caused a relapse and doctors fear she will not live.

At Tucson the experiment station has just published a "Timely Hint on Early Barnt Wheat." This will be sent to all wheat growers in Arizona who are interested. This circular gives a short history of the introduction and distribution of Early Barnt wheat in Arizona by the experiment station and of its displacing the common Sonora wheat. Early Barnt wheat is the most valuable grain crop grown in Arizona now.

Contrary to the opinion that most of the cattle in the southern part of New Mexico have been shipped out, it is said that there are still many for sale, most of them being in prime condition. Many announcements of cattle shipments from the southern counties have been made but the fact is that only a little over 11,000 head have been shipped to other pastures, and this is only a small part of the total which are on the ranges.

Word has been received in Wagon Mound, N. M., to the effect that the Santa Fé railroad will erect large stockyards at Levy during the coming year for the benefit of the local cattle and sheep men. The matter has been approved by the Corporation Commission and an appropriation will be made by the Santa Fé for this purpose during the winter. It is thought that the yards will be ready for the spring shipping.

Judge R. S. Stanford of the Superior Court at Phoenix has set Dec. 11 as the date for the trial of C. N. Stafford, president, and E. Stafford, vice president, of the old Central Bank of Phoenix, indicted by a Maricopa county grand jury recently on charges growing out of the failure of the institution. Judge Stanford set Dec. 8 as the date for the trial of Phil Lewis, former president of the same bank, also indicted in connection with the same series of transactions.

The auto dealers and merchants of Las Vegas are planning for the big auto and style show the last of March, 1923, the dates having been set for the 29th, 30th and 31st. The big show will be held at the armory and all the latest models in automobiles will be shown at this time. Good music will be provided for the three days and a big dance will be given each night. This is now an annual affair in the city and is said to be one of the best displays of its kind in the state.

According to the reports of the Cotton Growers' Association, most of the cotton grown in the Pecos valley in New Mexico this year will run over $100 to the acre. A large part of the crop has been picked and stacked in the fields and the price has been gradually going up for some time until now the growers are getting the top notch figure for the product. The big gin which was partly destroyed by fire some time ago is running again and there is every indication that the season will be a busy one. The gin at Hagerman is running full time and is turning out about twenty bales per day.

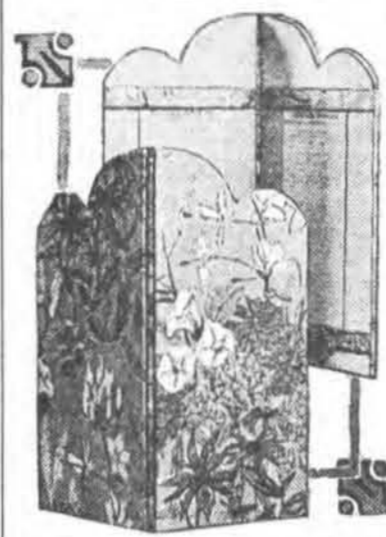

Three of the big mining companies in Arizona have refused to pay the taxes levied against them on the ground that the taxes were based on valuations in excess of the full cash value. These companies are the United Verde Extension and the United Verde, both of Jerome, and the United Eastern of Mohave county. This failure to pay the taxes was not on account of inability of the companies to pay, but the claim was made that the mining properties had been assessed for a greater sum than their full cash value.

James Hugo and Mrs. Rosa Castellano of Las Cruces were painfully injured when the auto in which they were returning from El Paso, turned over near Mesquite, plowing both of the occupants underneath the big machine. They were found some time later by a passing tourist and brought to Las Cruces.

William H. Brophy, Los Angeles banker, who was cruising in the Gulf of California with a party of Nogales business men, was swept overboard in a fierce storm and lost, according to advices received in Nogales.

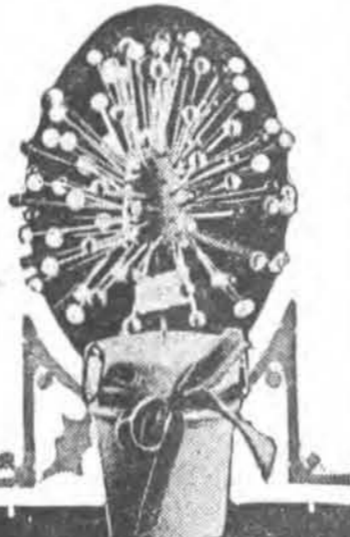

Deft Fingers Help Santa

To Screen the Phone

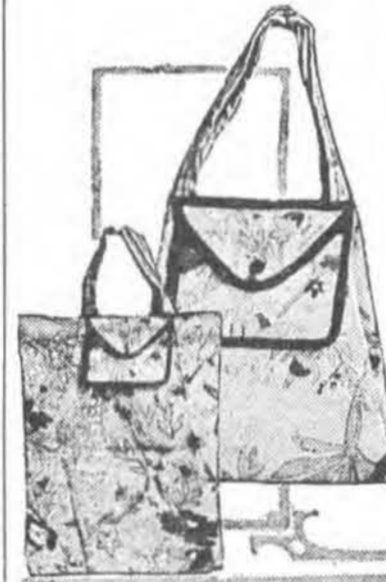

Little conveniences that adorn the house carry messages of good will at Christmas time. A phone screen covered with plain and figured cretonne, and providing a place for records of telephone numbers and calls will be welcome to men and women alike.

Gay Little Pin Trees

We can help start the new year right by giving Christmas gifts of little pin trees to our women and girl friends. Two corks and a florist's pin, sharpened at both ends, make the foundation for the pin tree illustrated. The large cork—of wood—is painted green and the smaller cork is gilded. They are joined by the long pin, and into the gilded cork many pins, with colored heads, are thrust to form a tree. A band of baby ribbon, tied about the larger cork, holds small safety pins.

Ever Welcome Bags

Christmas time is the springtime of bright cretonnes when they blossom out into all sorts of ingenious and beautiful gifts. The picture shows a work or shopping bag folded and unfolded. It is merely a capacious oblong bag of cretonne, with small envelope, bound with braid, sewed to one side, and, by means of snap fasteners, it can be folded and converted into a pretty shopping bag.

Smart Nanette Fans

These brilliant little Nanette fans began their careers humbly in France, one of them, as a plain, small palm leaf and the other as a platted fiber fan. By means of paint, satin ribbons, organdie or millinery flowers they have graduated into the smart set and will accompany gay frocks to joyous parties. One of the fans pictured has a shirred binding of ribbon in green. Its handle is bound with ribbon, finished with a loop and organdie roses in soft colors adorn it. Painted flowers or millinery flowers and foliage adorn the platted fan and ribbon covers its handle.

This Year's Camisoles

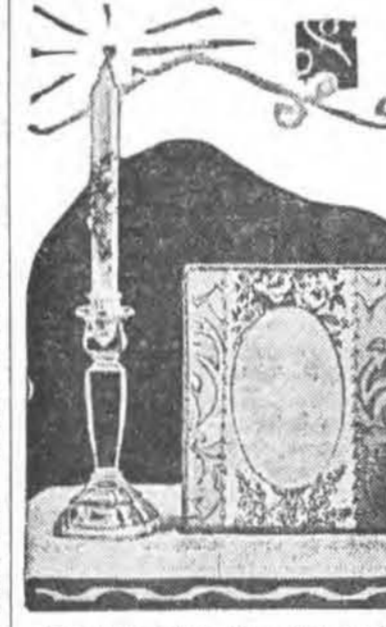

Every Christmas brings its camisoles and this year's are the daintiest ever. Many of them are made of net and lace, like the model pictured here; others, less transparent, of crepe de chine satin, wide ribbons or georgette. Baby ribbon adjusts them at the bust line and flat elastic at the waist. They are easily made and are lovely gifts from woman to woman.

Among House Slippers

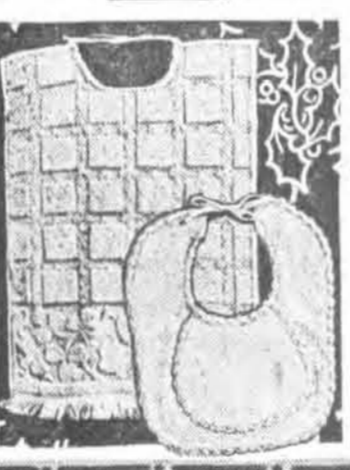

Most people look to Santa Claus to provide them with house slippers and he always carries a generous supply of all kinds in his pack. This year you will find among them beautiful bedroom slippers, like those shown above, that are made of ribbons and adorned with little ribbon flowers.

For Men or Women

Christmas brings its pretty candies gayly decked out this year with seal-glass flowers, or painted and gilded. They make lovely gifts for men or women, and so will the ribbon or cretonne-covered picture frame, fastened to a glass front and cardboard back with gold braided binding. The cardboard back is cut out to form an easel support.

To Remember the Baby

Everyone wants to remember the baby and here are two bibs for him, one of them made of pink and white Turkish toweling and the other of honeycomb cotton. The square bib is bound with tape which provides the ties and the edges of the smaller bib are finished with a shell crochet of mercerized cotton.

EXCITEMENT IN THIS GAME

When a lively diversion is wanted for the Christmas guests, try "Cat and Mouse," really a children's game, but played with enthusiasm by older people. A circle is formed. One player is selected as "cat," and another as "mouse." The cat endeavors to catch the mouse, who runs into the circle and out again. The players assist the mouse in its escape by allowing it to pass freely under their arms into the circle, or out of it; but they try to hinder the progress of the cat as much as possible, lowering their arms as he tries to go in and out of the circle while pursuing the mouse.

The End of Porterhouse

When serving short steak or T-bone steak, do not fry the tough ends. Instead cut them off, and the next day make an excellent soup from them. All that is necessary to add to the broth is a carrot, a potato, an onion, a little rice and a few tomatoes, and you have a soup fit for a king.

BRITISH VOTERS BACK BONAR LAW

ELECTORS IN ENGLAND RETURN CONSERVATIVE PARTY TO POWER.

DEFEAT LLOYD GEORGE

LADY ASTOR ONLY WOMAN TO WIN SEAT IN PARLIAMENT.

London.—The Conservative party has returned more members to Parliament than all the other parties combined. The Laborites come next and the Labor party is considered due for congratulations, as it already has a gain of twenty-eight seats.

These are all in the congested industrial areas, notably in Glasgow, where predictions that labor would triumph, have been fulfilled, and the results of the last election overturned by a flood of Laborite votes, the Conservatives and Georgeite Liberals being ousted in several divisions. Of all the women candidates, Lady Astor is the only one returned.

There has been no great surprise. The Conservatives are leading all the other parties combined. The Labor members elected thus far are less than half the number of Conservatives, but more than both sections of the Liberal party.

The returns are regarded by students of politics as a fair gauge of Labor's strength as compared with the other parties. Great gains by Labor in the country districts are not expected.

Viscountess Astor was elected for the Sutton division of Plymouth. The vote was: Lady Astor, Conservative, 13,924; Capt. G. W. Brennan, Labor, 10,831; Dr. H. W. Haily, Independent Conservative, 4,641.

Herbert H. Asquith was re-elected in Paisley, but his majority was greatly reduced.

Mr. Bonar Law polled 15,437; Rosslyn Mitchell, Laborite, 2,023, and Sir George Paiss, Asquithian Liberal, 2,518. In the last election, Mr. Bonar Law's majority over the Laborite was 12,915. The spectacle of children casting ballots at an election was witnessed in several cases in England. This was possible under the law which provides that if a name is placed on the register of voters, even mistakenly, it must stand unless challenged before election day.

One surprise on the bulletin boards was the election on a Liberal for Oxford, where in both town and university the Liberals have been in the wilderness for many years.

Banker Drowned in Gulf Storm. Nogales, Ariz.—William H. Brophy, Los Angeles and Arizona millionaire banker, copper magnate and dollar-a-year man during the world war, was swept from a small boat and drowned during a heavy storm in the Gulf of California, where he was cruising with a party of friends recently. Intense darkness and the ferocity of the storm made rescue work or the recovery of his body impossible.

More Earthquake Shocks. Santiago.—The authorities at Coquimbo reported that a strong earthquake and tidal wave had been experienced there again. No further damage was caused. The population was on the alert and no casualties were reported. Scarcely a house remains standing in the Valdivia valley in northern Chile as the result of the recent earthquakes and marine disturbances.

Emporia Editor Blocks Governor. Emporia, Kan.—William Allen White blocked the effort of Governor Allen to have White's trial on a charge of violating the Kansas Industrial Court law delayed until the governor had retired from office. White was arrested for putting a placard expressing 50 per cent sympathy for the striking shipmen in the window of the office of the Emporia Gazette, of which he is editor. Judge W. G. Harris, in District Court, refused the request of Governor Allen that the trial be continued after Nov. 22, as it now appears on the docket.

Receives One Day Sentence. Oklahoma City, Okla.—For conviction on a charge of stealing two bath tubs from a plumber here, C. H. Kessal will receive a one-day trip to the state penitentiary at McAlester, with all expenses paid and will come away from the prison with $5 and a new suit, from the state's gift to liberated convicts. A jury in District Court, which found Kessal guilty, assessed a penalty of one day in the penitentiary.

Bankrupt Merchant Kills Self. Memphis, Tenn.—During a recess in a bankruptcy hearing, at which Louis Schaeffer, a merchant, was under examination on a charge of having concealed his assets, Schaeffer ended his life with poison. A few moments before Schaeffer's body was taken to his home department of justice agents found 10,000 pairs of shoes valued at $50,000, alleged to have been part of the bankrupt stock of the merchant, concealed in false walls at Schaeffer's home.

Turks Will Respect Armistice. Constantinople.—Any immediate danger of a rupture between the allies and the Kemal authorities seems to have been dissipated by the receipt by the allies of a note from the Ankara government declaring that the terms of the Mudania armistice compact will be respected by the Nationalists and that there will be no insistence on the withdrawal of allied troops from the zones laid down in the Mudania convention.

WORKS FOR CHILD MUST KEEP WELL

Mothers in a Like Situation Should Read This Letter from Mrs. Enrico

Chicago, Illinois.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a serious trouble. I had tried doctors and all said the same—operation. At first I only felt the pain on my left side, but later I seemed to feel it on both sides. I am a power sewing-machine operator and have a little girl to support. I work in a tailor shop and that kind of work has been very slack this year and I am home part of the time. I do not like to take any chances, so I consulted my friends, and one lady said, 'Take Lydia Pinkham's medicine,' so I did. I have felt better right along and am in good enough health to go to work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash to all."—Mrs. MARY ENRICO, 459 N. Carpenter St., Chicago, Illinois.

Often the mother is obliged to support her children and good health is necessary. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just the medicine you can depend upon. It is a medicine for women's ailments and the relief it brought Mrs. Enrico it may bring to you. Keep well by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Coated Tongue

Nature's Warning of Constipation

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus replaces it.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

SQUEEZED TO DEATH

When the body begins to stiffen and movement becomes painful it is usually an indication that the kidneys are out of order. Keep these organs healthy by taking LATHROP'S GOLD MEDAL CAPSULES.

The world's standard remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and uric acid troubles. Famous since 1906. Take regularly and keep in good health. In three times, all druggists. Guaranteed as represented. Look for the same Gold Medal on every box and accept no imitation.

BLACK LEG

100% PROTECTION FOR LIFE from one vaccination with Cutter's Liquid or Solid Blackleg Antiserum. Also Cutter's Blackleg Vaccine. Cutter's Blackleg Vaccine. Cutter's Blackleg Vaccine.

Milk for the Baby. Two-year-old Betty had always used a special brand baby milk but recently I have been drinking very little, preferring the more solid foods. At the dinner table a few days ago it became the subject of discussion and it was decided to discontinue the special milk when Betty, six years old, who had been listening with interest, inquired: "Daddy, where do they get milk for babies? Is that calf's milk?"

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Backed Up and Sat Down. When I was a freshman in high school I had a crush on one of my teachers and was anxious to always appear at my best before her.

One evening after school I returned to the room to find to my horror, she was here and told me to sit down on a low stool by her desk to wait. I backed up and sat down.

The teacher had to pull me out of the wastebasket, which I had mistaken for the stool.—Exchange.

He who is equipped with patience and perseverance is equipped for work.

Refreshes Weary Eyes. When Your Eyes feel Dull and Heavy, use MURINE. It is a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store. Recommended by All Druggists.

HIGH LIGHTS ON HIGHWAYS

The bureau of roads of the United States department of agriculture states that there are enough motor vehicles in the United States to take the entire population for a ride at one time.

How climate affects the highway working season is shown by the fact that grading can be done on 199 days of the year in western Oregon, 119 in Maine, 259 in Maryland and 300 in several of the southern states.

Federal aid roads placed under construction in September amounted to 1189 miles.

At the beginning of 1922 there were 42 motor vehicles for each mile of road in the United States.

From 19 to 25 cents per hour is the range of wages for common labor on federal aid roads east of the Rocky mountains, with a few exceptions, where 43 cents is paid.

One hundred and twenty vehicles a minute was the rate at which motor vehicles passed an observing station on a trunk line highway in Massachusetts; according to the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture. This rate was kept up from noon to 10 p. m.

Recently a tourist in passing through four states was required to buy four different sets of lenses in order that his headlights would comply with state laws. More uniformity in highway regulation is needed.

REARRANGEMENT OF KITCHEN LIGHTENS HOUSEWIFE'S TASKS

New equipment is not always required to make home kitchens more convenient and less tiring to work in, says a report on extension work. Much can be done by rearranging the equipment already on hand, such as grouping objects commonly used in the preparation of food, or those used for washing or storing dishes, or articles belonging to the cleaning outfit. In many cases the attention of the housewife is drawn to the need of doing work requiring a good light by a window, or by having a good suspended light at night. One widely adopted improvement is that of giving old floors an easily cleaned surface. A number of simple contrivances can be made at home to lighten the housework, and frequently the former himself will assist by building shelves, a folding ironing board, dresser, school tray, and other labor-saving conveniences.

Improvements in farm kitchens are being carried on in practically all the states. Last year, through demonstrations given by extension workers, over 21,000 families are reported as adopting suggestions regarding home arrangement and management; 7099 kitchens were rearranged, 5099 water systems installed, 3099 washing machines and 4000 steam-pressure cookers purchased, 65,000 homes screened, 4600 septic tanks installed, and 7000 lighting systems placed in farm homes.

CITY DIRECTORY FOR NOGALES

Jack M. Craig and W. Mansfield, representing the Acme Printing Company of Tucson, have been in Nogales for several days planning the publishing of a city directory to embrace the population of the "two cities." The book undoubtedly will be of benefit to business men of this county, and should receive their support. Not only will the directory be of benefit to business men but will be a great convenience to strangers in the city, the postoffice and every inhabitant.

The names of all residents of Nogales, Ariz., and Nogales, Son., Mex., will be included in the contents. Information of general interest also will be included.

STILL MATTER FOR RESEARCH

Astronomical Science, Although Enormously Developed, Has Yet a Great Deal to Discover.

A century of continuous achievements in the knowledge of other worlds has brought us, as Professor Eddington suggests, to the threshold of expectations which a generation ago would have been deemed fantastic.

We have giant telescopes beyond the imagination of fifty years ago. The camera has, in the minds of many of the public, almost brought the sun and his satellites into a dissecting table. Above everything else the spectroscope has revolutionized astronomical science by revealing the materials of which the sun, moon and stars are composed.

But we must calmly await the information of science which admits the existence of vegetation in Mars as to the mysterious "signals" of its inhabitants. There may be men in the moon in the breathable atmosphere of its stupendous craters. The field of astronomical research excludes nothing but the impossible. We all share the "feeling" to which Professor Eddington gave expression, "that we are on the verge of something greater than our dreams can shape."—London Mail.

WOODEN LEG A HANDICAP

Physician Had Forgotten That Appendage Would Not Help Duck in Its Native Element.

A distinguished doctor of Baltimore, Md., has a flock of Muscovy ducks running around his country place and hearing a great commotion in the chicken yard one afternoon hurried hence to see one of his ducks doing a line of dare-devil stunts in mid-air. The "falling leaf," "tail-spin" and such performances were following one another with startling rapidity when the doctor discovered that the cause of it all was a big rat which was hanging on the duck's leg. The rat held on until the leg came off, when the rooster dropped to the ground and escaped.

The doctor tied the injured member and his surgery was a success in that the bird recovered, but it had a great handicap in its possession of a single leg. The doctor made a wooden leg for the fowl which answered all purposes on the land, but when the bird ventured into the water its efforts to paddle with one leg caused it to describe one circle after another so that it finally did reach the shore it was by the merest accident.

Swallowed by London. Cheam was once a delightful village in Surrey; today it is fast becoming a suburb of London. But it still has some respect for the days when it was simply a decorative feature on a beautiful countryside. When it was found that Cheam's beautiful fourteenth century cottage was in the way of the road being widened, Cheam did not say either "Down with the cottage" or "Let the motorcars go round another way." It simply decided to put the house on rollers and move it back a little way, as was done a few years ago with Trinity house, in the old cathedral city of Worcester. Every body gains, the motorist by having a wider road, and artistic folk by contemplation of a fine specimen of fourteenth century architecture; while Cheam should be happy in having entered a practical protest against an act of vandalism.—Christian Science Monitor.

Work and Play. The two principal things in life are work and play. Everybody ought to do both in proper proportions, systematically, religiously. To fail to do either is perilous. To overdo one and fail to do the other is foolish. Extremists do not know how to balance these two obligations aright. One person believes in work, work, and more work. He has too many irons in the fire. He tries to do so much work that he spreads his output over a large area, and naturally it becomes thin. The quantity gets the best of quality. This person's work soon becomes self-slavery. He drives his tired, aching body when it ought to seek diversion and relaxation. He gets old prematurely. He wears out before his time. Wearing out under these conditions is about as bad as rusting out under other conditions.—Get!

TO LOG ROAD FROM BORDEE TO GUAYMAS

J. B. Bristol, secretary of the Nogales Chamber of Commerce, is arranging to leave the border city shortly to log the road from Nogales to Guaymas, Sonora. Many inquiries have been received by the chamber of commerce from all parts of the country regarding the condition of the road mentioned, and the information is to be secured to satisfy this demand for knowledge on the subject. Automobileists wishing to make the West Coast trip, first want information as to the condition of the road.

SENATOR NEWBERRY RESIGNS

Senator Newberry of Michigan, who was convicted in Michigan under the corrupt practices law governing elections and who was seated after an investigation by a committee of senators by the slim majority of 5 votes, has resigned his seat, giving as the reason for his action the defeat of his colleague in the recent election.

Public sentiment had as much to do with his resignation as anything else. Newberryism was made the issue in the Michigan senatorial contest, and the opponent of Newberryism was elected.

CHAPTER XI—Continued.

"Tell him yourself," Gramont laughed, good-humoredly. "Gumberts is coming out day after tomorrow, is he? That'll be Friday, hm? I think that'll be better bring Fell out here the same day, if I can make it. I probably won't see Gumberts until then—hm? I'm not working in with him and he doesn't know me yet—but I'll try and get out here on Friday with Fell. Now, I'll have to beat it in a hurry. Any message to send?"

"Not me," was the answer. Gramont scarcely knew how he departed, until he found himself scrambling back through the underbrush of the Ledanos place.

He rushed into the house, found the door had been closed and he dashed, and swiftly removed the few things they had taken from the car. Carrying these, he stumbled back to where he had hidden the automobile. He scarcely dared to think, scarcely dared to congratulate himself on the luck that had befallen him, until he found himself in his own car once more, and with open throttle sweeping out through the twilight toward Paradise and Houma beyond. A whirlwind of mud exultation was seething within him—exultation as sudden and tremendous as the past weeks had been uneventful and dragging.

Gramont, in common with many others, had heard much indefinite rumor of an underground lottery game that was being worked among the negroes of the state and the Chinese villages along the gulf coast. And now he knew definitely.

Lotteries have never died out in Louisiana since the brave old days of the government-ordained gambles, laws and ordinances to the contrary. No laws can make the yellow man and the black man forego the get-rich-quick heritage of their fathers. On the Pacific coast lotteries obtain and will obtain wherever there is a Chinatown. In Louisiana the days of the grand lottery have never been forgotten. The last two years of high wages had made every negro wealthy, comparatively speaking. The lottery mongers would naturally find them a ripe harvest for the picking. And who would gravitate to this harvest field if not the great Gumberts, the uncaptured Memphis Izzy, the promoter who had never been "mugged"?

Here, at one stroke, stumbling on the thing by sheer blind accident, Gramont had located the nucleus of the whole business!

Gradually his brain cooled to the realization of what work lay before him. He was through Paradise, almost without seeing the town, and switched on his lights as he took the highway to Houma. Sober reflection seized him. Not only was this crowd of crooks working a lottery, but they were also managing a stupendous thievery of automobiles, in which cars were lured by wholesale! And the man at the head of it all, the man above Memphis Izzy and his crooks, was Jachin Fell of New Orleans.

Did Lucie Ledanos dream such a thing? No, Gramont dismissed the question at once. Fell was not an unusual type of man. There were many Jachin Fells throughout the country, he reflected. Men who applied their brains to crooked work, who kept themselves above any actual share in the work, and who profited hugely by tribute money from every crook in every crime.

To the communities in which they lived such men were patterns of all that wealthy gentlemen should be. Seldom, except perhaps in gossip of the underworld, was their connection with crime ever suspected. And this thought was sobering to Gramont—never did they come within danger of retribution at the hands of the law. Their ramifications extended too far into politics; and the governors of some Southern states have unlimited powers of pardon.

"This is a big day!" reflected Gramont, dismissing the sinister suggestion of this last thought. "A big day! What it will lead to, I don't know. Not the least of it is the financial end of it—the oil seepage! That little fridescient trickle of oil on the water means that money worries are over, both for me and for Lucie. I'm sorry that I am mixed up with Fell; I've enough money of my own to drill at least one good well, and one is all we'll need to bring in oil on that place. Well, we'll see what turns up! My first job is to make sure Hammond is safe, and to relieve his mind. I'll have to leave him in jail, I suppose."

Why did Fell want to "get something" on Hammond? To this there was no answer.

He drove to Houma to find the town abuzz with excitement, for the news of the sheriff's murder had stirred the place wildly. Proceeding straight to the courthouse, Gramont encountered Ben Chacherre as he was leaving the car.

"Hello, there!" he exclaimed. "Last night, where's Hammond?"

"Chacherre jerked his head toward the courthouse.

"In yonder. Say, are you going back to the city tonight?"

"Yes," Gramont regarded him. "Why?"

"Take me back, will you? I've missed the last up train, and if you're going back anyhow I won't have to hire a car. I can drive for you, and we'll make it in a couple of hours, before midnight sure."

"Hop in," said Gramont, nodding toward the car. "I'll be back as soon as I've had a word with Hammond. No danger of his getting lynched, I hope?"

"Not a chance," said the other, conclusively. "Six deputies up there now, and quite a bunch of ex-soldiers comin' to stand guard. You got to fight the case?"

"No," said Gramont. "Can't fight a sure thing, can you? I'm sorry for him, though."

"Chacherre shrugged his shoulders and got into the car.

Gramont was so relieved to find that there was no danger of lynching, which had been his one fear. It was with much persuasion that he got past the guard and into the courthouse, where he was received by a number of deputies in charge of the situation.

After conferring with them at some length, he was grudgingly taken to the cell occupied by Hammond. The latter received him with a wide grin, and gave no signs of the grueling ordeal through which he had passed.

"Listen, old man," said Gramont, earnestly. "Will you play out the game hard to the end? I'll have to leave you here for two days. At the end of that time you'll be free."

The listening deputies snickered, but Hammond merely grinned again and put a hand through the bars.

"Whatever you say, cap'n," he rejoined. "It sure looks bad—"

"Don't you think it," said Gramont, cheerfully. "A lot of things have happened since I saw you last! I've got the real murderer right where I want him—but I can't have him arrested yet."

"It's a gang," said Hammond. "You watch out, cap'n, I heard 'em say somethin' about Memphis Izzy—remember the guy I told you about one day? Well, this is no pliker's game! We're up against somethin' solid—"

"I know it," and Gramont nodded. He turned to the deputies. "Gentlemen, you have my address if you wish to communicate with me. I shall be back here day after tomorrow—at least, before midnight of that day. I warn you, that if anything happens to this man in the meantime, you shall be held personally responsible. He is innocent."

"Looks like we'd better hold you, too," said one of the men. "You seem to know a lot!"

Gramont looked at him a moment. "I know enough to tell you where to head in if you try any funny work here," he said, evenly. "Gentlemen, thank you for permitting the interview! I'll see you later."

The corner's jury had already adjudged Hammond guilty of the murder. Returning to the car, Gramont had Ben Chacherre drive to a restaurant, where they got a bite to eat. Twenty minutes later they were on their way to New Orleans—and Gramont learned for the first time of Joseph Maillard's murder by the Midnight Masquer, and of the arrest of Bob Maillard for the crime.

CHAPTER XII
The Ultimatum.

Upon the following morning Gramont called both Jachin Fell and Lucie Ledanos over the telephone. He acquainted them briefly with the result of his oil investigation, and arranged a meeting for ten o'clock, at Fell's office.

It was slightly before ten when Gramont called with the car for Lucie. Under the spell of her smiling eagerness, the harshness vanished from his face; it returned again a moment later, for he saw that she, too, was changed. There was above them both a cloud. That of Gramont was secret and brooding. As for Lucie, she was in mourning. The murder of Joseph Maillard, the arrest and undoubted guilt of Bob Maillard, dwarfed all else in her mind. Even the news of the oil seepage, and the fact that she was probably now on the road to wealth, appeared to make little impression upon her.

"Thank heaven," she said, earnestly, as they drove toward Canal street, "that so far as you are concerned, Henry, the Midnight Masquer affair was all cleared up before this tragedy took place! It was fearfully imprudent of you—"

"Yes," answered Gramont, soberly, reading her thought. "I can realize my own folly now. If this affair were to be laid at my door, some kind of a case might be made up against me, and it would seem plausible. But, fortunately, I was out of it in time."

"Will You Play Out the Game Hard to the End?"

Gramont looked at him a moment. "I know enough to tell you where to head in if you try any funny work here," he said, evenly. "Gentlemen, thank you for permitting the interview! I'll see you later."

"Yes," answered Gramont, soberly, reading her thought. "I can realize my own folly now. If this affair were to be laid at my door, some kind of a case might be made up against me, and it would seem plausible. But, fortunately, I was out of it in time."

"Will You Play Out the Game Hard to the End?"

Gramont looked at him a moment. "I know enough to tell you where to head in if you try any funny work here," he said, evenly. "Gentlemen, thank you for permitting the interview! I'll see you later."

The corner's jury had already adjudged Hammond guilty of the murder. Returning to the car, Gramont had Ben Chacherre drive to a restaurant, where they got a bite to eat. Twenty minutes later they were on their way to New Orleans—and Gramont learned for the first time of Joseph Maillard's murder by the Midnight Masquer, and of the arrest of Bob Maillard for the crime.

CHAPTER XII
The Ultimatum.

Upon the following morning Gramont called both Jachin Fell and Lucie Ledanos over the telephone. He acquainted them briefly with the result of his oil investigation, and arranged a meeting for ten o'clock, at Fell's office.

It was slightly before ten when Gramont called with the car for Lucie. Under the spell of her smiling eagerness, the harshness vanished from his face; it returned again a moment later, for he saw that she, too, was changed. There was above them both a cloud. That of Gramont was secret and brooding. As for Lucie, she was in mourning. The murder of Joseph Maillard, the arrest and undoubted guilt of Bob Maillard, dwarfed all else in her mind. Even the news of the oil seepage, and the fact that she was probably now on the road to wealth, appeared to make little impression upon her.

"Thank heaven," she said, earnestly, as they drove toward Canal street, "that so far as you are concerned, Henry, the Midnight Masquer affair was all cleared up before this tragedy took place! It was fearfully imprudent of you—"

"Yes," answered Gramont, soberly, reading her thought. "I can realize my own folly now. If this affair were to be laid at my door, some kind of a case might be made up against me, and it would seem plausible. But, fortunately, I was out of it in time."

"Will You Play Out the Game Hard to the End?"

Gramont looked at him a moment. "I know enough to tell you where to head in if you try any funny work here," he said, evenly. "Gentlemen, thank you for permitting the interview! I'll see you later."

Were we merely characters in a standardized detective story, I suppose I'd be arrested and deluged with suspense and clues and so forth."

"Your escape was too narrow to joke over, Henry," she reproved him, gravely.

"I'm not joking, my dear Lucie. I learned nothing about the tragedy until late last night. From what I can find in the papers, it seems agreed that Bob was not the real Masquer, but had assumed that guise for a joke. A tragic joke! Since he was undoubtedly drunk at the time, his story can't be relied upon as very convincing. And yet, it's frightfully hard to believe that, even by accident, a son should have shot down his own father—"

"Don't!" Lucie winced a little. "In spite of all the evidence against him, in spite of the way he was found with that aviation uniform, it's still awful to believe. I can't realize that it has actually happened."

"According to the papers, poor Mrs. Maillard has gone to pieces. No wonder—"

"Yes. I was there with her all day yesterday, and shall go again today. They say Bob is terribly broken up. He sent for his mother, and she refused to see him. I don't know how it is all going to end! Do you think his story might be true—that somebody else might have acted as the Masquer that night?"

Gramont shook his head. "It's possible," he said, reluctantly, "yet it hardly seems very probable. And now, Lucie, I'm very sorry indeed to say it—but you must prepare yourself against another shock in the near future."

"What do you mean? About the oil—"

"No. It's too long a story to tell you now; here we are at the Maison Blanche. Just remember my words, please. It's something that I can't go into now."

"Very well, Henry! Do you think that it's possible your chauffeur, Hammond, could have learned about the drinking party, and could have—"

Gramont started. "Hammond? No. I'll answer for him beyond any question, Lucie. By the way, does Fell know anything about Hammond having been the first Masquer?"

"Not from me," said the girl, watching him.

"Very well. Hammond got into a bit of trouble at Houma, and I had to leave him there. It was none of his fault, and he'll get out of it all right. Well, come along up to our oil meeting! Forget your troubles, and don't let my croakings about a new shock cause you any worry just yet."

He was thinking of Jachin Fell, and the girl's closeness to him. Had he not known that Fell was responsible for Hammond's being in jail, he might have felt differently. As it was, he was now forewarned and forearmed, although he could not see what anti-Fell could possibly have against Hammond.

It was lucky, he reflected grimly, that he had never breathed to a soul except Lucie the fact that Hammond had been the first Masquer! Had Fell known this fact, his desire to lay Hammond by the heels might have been easily fulfilled—and Hammond would probably have found himself charged with Maillard's murder.

They found Jachin Fell dictating to a stenographer. He greeted them warmly, ushering them at once into his private office.

Gramont found it difficult to convince himself that his experiences of the previous afternoon had been real. It was almost impossible to believe that this shy, apologetic little man in gray was in reality the "man higher up!" Yet he knew it to be the case—knew it beyond any escape.

"By the way," and Fell turned to Gramont, "if you'll dictate a brief statement concerning that oil seepage, I'd be obliged! Merely give the facts. I may have need of such a statement from you."

Gramont nodded and joined the stenographer in the outer office, where he dictated a brief statement. It did not occur to him that there might be danger in this; at the moment, he was rather off his guard. He was thinking so much about his future assault on Fell that he quite ignored the possibility of being placed on the defensive.

Within five minutes he had returned to Lucie and Jachin Fell, who were discussing the condition of Mrs. Maillard. Gramont signed the statement and handed it to Fell, who laid it with other papers at his elbow.

"I suppose we may proceed to business," began Fell. "I have drawn up articles of partnership; we can apply for incorporation later if we so desire. Lucie, both Henry Gramont and I are putting twenty-five thousand dollars into this company, while you are putting in your land, which I am valuing at an equal amount. The stock, therefore, will be divided equally among us. That is understood?"

"Yes. It's very good of you, Uncle Jachin," said the girl, quietly. "I'll leave everything to your judgment."

The little gray man smiled. "Judgment is a poor horse to ride. Here's everything in black and white. I suggest that you both glance over the articles, sign up, and we will then hold our first meeting."

Gramont and Lucie read over the partnership agreement, and found it perfectly correct.

THE TEXAS HOSPITAL PLAN

State Department Places Work First on List—Financing the Responsibility of All Units.

"The department of Texas places hospital work first and considers it a privilege to do everything possible in this service," writes Miss Ada May Maddox, secretary of the department of Texas. And her report of the hospital work which has been done in Texas during the past year bears out the statement.

A state hospital fund was instituted May 23, 1921. The first check which came into headquarters was from Santa Anna, a unit so young that it had not yet received its charter. The Wichita Falls auxiliary, known as "Ma Burdick's unit," was among the first to contribute. Since then approximately $6,500 has been deposited in the hospital fund, four Legion posts having sent in, without solicitation, about $300 of the amount. One post held a goat-roping contest to raise funds and others sent in the receipts of their poppy sales.

The object of the state fund is to make the financing of the hospital work the responsibility of all units, not limited to the ones nearest the hospitals. The state hospital committee, a chairman elected by the state convention and three members from each unit situated near a hospital for ex-service men, handles the money that comes in. The chairman directs the work, instructs her committee, approves statements and vouchers, prepares bulletins and does an enormous amount of work among the boys themselves. Mrs. David M. Duller of Houston served faithfully in that capacity last year, and Mrs. J. Ward McKee, also of Houston, is the active chairman.

The report says: "Mrs. Murray's messages to the units in the hospital work has inspired the Texas units to accomplish all this. It was her idea, also, that the units adopt patients and break the monotony of days in the hospital wards by writing to them and sending little gifts. Greatest help is given to men without compensation, but men with compensation who need cheering are adopted also."

Mrs. Edward Clinton Murray of Houston is president of the department of Texas, and is also one of the national vice presidents of the American Legion Auxiliary. She was one of the first organizers of the auxiliary in Texas and was elected to the state presidency when the organization was formed in San Antonio in December, 1920. Under her direction many units have been formed and it is her purpose at present to establish a unit for each of the 291 Legion posts in Texas. Two of her policies are justice for disabled soldiers and discouragement of memorials which are not of some living good to the men.

The department of Texas was first to contribute to the national hospital fund.

LEGION MEN FEAR FOUL PLAY

Thomas Stuart Bloodworth Mysteriously Disappears From His Home in Natchez, Mississippi.

Thomas Stuart Bloodworth disappeared from his home in Natchez, Miss., September 13, and members of the American Legion post, the Herbert J. Remondet post No. 4, are seeking news concerning him. It is feared he may have met with foul play. Bloodworth is twenty-three years old, 5 feet 6½ inches in height, weighs 140 pounds, is fair complexioned, has dark brown hair and black eyes. When he disappeared he wore an O.D. army shirt and corduroy trousers. He is married and has a nine-months-old child.

Any information concerning him should be sent to W. A. Gelsenberger, commander Herbert J. Remondet post No. 4, Natchez, Miss.

Legion Hotel in London.

London (England) members of the American Legion—there are American Legion posts in virtually every country—have opened a big hotel, where veterans of the World War are finding a homelike place to stay. Though the London post has only 128 members, the hotel project was launched successfully and, known as the American Legion hotel, already has gathered an excellent patronage. The hotel has rooms, lounge, dancing and entertainment parlors, etc., and furnishes the post with officers, a meeting place and entertainment facilities.

Lot for Memorial Building. A lot which adjoins country property at Eighteenth and Figueroa streets, Los Angeles, has been purchased by the Los Angeles county board of supervisors for the purpose of clearing the way for a war veterans' memorial building, according to an announcement by Mendel B. Silberberg, commander of Los Angeles post No. 8 of the American Legion. The veterans have made available the sum of $170,000 for the start of this work this year, with $135,000 for the structure next year.

BOTH WERE IN THE SERVICE

Dr. William C. Speakman and His Wife, Department Heads, Continue Work for Legion.

When the war call came, Dr. William C. Speakman of Wilmington, Del., told Mrs. Speakman that he couldn't stay at home.

Mrs. Speakman said: "All right, I'll find plenty of war work to do at home." And when the war was over, Doctor Speakman returned to his home, and she and Mrs. Speakman took up a work of peace—the care of war's disabled, the furtherance of the ideals and purposes for which the American Legion stands. And now both are working side by side in the cause, Doctor Speakman, who was a major in the army, as department commander of Delaware, and Mrs. Speakman as department president of the American Legion Auxiliary of the department of Delaware.

During Doctor Speakman's absence Mrs. Speakman headed numerous organizations for soldier welfare, and won fame for her labors. Born in Neuchâtel, Switzerland, and speaking several languages, her efforts were particularly valuable among the soldiers who had not learned English well. She was known as an indefatigable worker, and after the war was ended she was one of the first to join in the organization of the American Legion Auxiliary, as Dr. Speakman was one of the first to realize the value of the American Legion.

"And we find it mutually advantageous to be department heads at the same time," Dr. Speakman says. "We have a constant interchange of ideas and plans, which we try to make of value to our organizations."

A FAMILY OF LEGIONNAIRES

Grandfather, Mother and Two Sons Connected With Organization at Redwood Falls, Minn.

"Grandpa is a Legionnaire, so are the kids Legionnaires, and 'Ma' is a Legionnaire, too—rather a member of the Minnesota American Legion Auxiliary. 'Ma' is Mrs. Maude G. Winter of Redwood Falls, Minn., and, besides being a member of the state executive committee of her organization, is noted for her efforts throughout the state on behalf of the former service men, particularly the disabled.

And "Grandpa" is Mrs. Winter's father, the oldest Legionnaire in the state. He is seventy-three years old and his name is Dr. G. P. Gibson of Redwood Falls. He served Uncle Sam during the war at Fort Benjamin Harrison.

And the "kids" are Mrs. Gibson's two sons, who were under twenty-one years when the United States entered the war, but they enlisted, anyhow. They are John and Leigh Winter.

"It is mighty proud I am to have two sons members of the American Legion, and I am eligible to be a member of the American Legion Auxiliary," Mrs. Winter said. "It is an organization, the American Legion, that has been found to stand for all that is worth while in our country, and the implacable enemy of all that is bad. And we know that it always will be so."

"It was hard to give up my boys—mighty hard. And, as every mother does who went through this agony, I pray that never again will mothers have to give up their sons to war. The American Legion and the women who make up its auxiliary are building against war every day, all the time. We are educating, Americanizing all against future war and for permanent peace."

Hot Dogs!

"An' dat," concluded Sam, who was arguing with Snowball about the relative merits of dogs they had once owned, "was a wonderful hound. Why, one day he come tootin' round mah daddy's blacksmith shop an' mah daddy got mah an' chucked a hammer at him, an' dat dog—you know what he done? Well, he done made a bolt fo' de dog!"

"Humpt!" sneered Snowball. "Nuffin' 'tall, nuffin' 'tall! One time Ah throwed a hammer at mah dawg an' he started makin' tracks fo' de Atlantic Seaboard railway an' mah daddy's blacksmith says 'mah daddy's dawg, fo' he sho' was de wonderfulest dawg.'"—American Legion Weekly.

195,000 Auxiliary Members.

The rapid growth of the American Legion Auxiliary was shown in the national convention bulletin. The numbers totaled approximately 195,000, an increase of 74,000 the first year of the auxiliary's organization.

Welcomed by His Home Town. When Perry Faulkner returned to his home in Shelbyville, Ind., as the new department commander of the American Legion of Indiana, the entire town turned out with a band to welcome him. Faulkner is a "home-town boy," having been born and reared in Shelbyville. And the community realized the honor which had come to him and considered it an honor for Shelbyville—an honor that each year grows greater as the American Legion becomes more and more a vital factor in the nation's development.

FOOD THAT'S DIFFERENT

Just ordinary food served in an extraordinary way is what epicureans call fancy cookery—an art in which the French chef excels. It takes imagination to serve an egg so daintily, so tasty, so attractive, that it is artistic. Such a dish is:

Planked Ham With Eggs.—A slice of ham minced and moistened with cream sauce is spread on a fireproof platter with depressions for each egg which is to be placed on it. Drop an egg in each small nest, season, place the dish in a hot oven to set the eggs. Serve corned beef hash in the same manner and garnish with parsley. A plunk may be used, but must be very hot when the meat is placed upon it.

Salad Anna.—Cut half-inch slices lengthwise of head lettuce. On these sections lay alternately segments of orange, grapefruit and tangerines from which all tough skin and membrane has been removed. Serve with French dressing beaten smooth with a spoonful or two of catsup.

Celery With Cheese Sauce.—Cook celery cut in small pieces until tender. Butter a baking dish or individual baking dishes, put in a spoonful of celery, some seasoning, then a spoonful of rich white sauce; cover with grated cheese, finish with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven until thoroughly heated through.

French pastry owes its charm to its frivolous appearance, shape, color and decoration. The same ingredients used in the ordinary way would not appeal. We have (the most of us) not passed from the ginger-bread-man stage; we like the taste of food that appeals to the eye, imagination and color sense. The allurements of attractive food draws us to out-of-the-way places, and the most popular places where food is served are those which cater to the magic influence of well-prepared and well-garnished food.

Stafford Sausages.—Put six ounces of lean beef through the meat chopper, add one small onion, two branches of parsley. Add one cupful of cold corn meal, one teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of cayenne, one-half teaspoonful of poultry dressing; mix well to blend. Mold into sausages and fry until a golden brown in hot fat.

Oh, wisdom of the gods that made us! When the dog-cart of life at which we tug miles utterly, we still can slip the collar.—Clyde Davis.

MORE GOOD THINGS

When serving broiled fish, cook it in a steamer or dropped in water tied in a cheese cloth. Rather, move, drain, bone and skin the fish, divide into fillets and serve with:

Fingaree.—Take the juice of half a lemon, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of finely-minced onion, two tablespoonfuls of minced parsley, one teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of mustard, one-half teaspoonful of paprika, half a clove of garlic, the yolk of an egg and three tablespoonfuls of water. Put the butter, lemon juice and seasoning into a saucepan and bring to a boil, add the yolk of the egg and water but do not boil; stir until well blended and thick and remove from the heat. Serve at once.

Braised Swc threads.—Wash the sweetbreads using one-half pound, cover with cold water and add the juice of half a lemon. Let stand for two hours, then simmer in hot water for twenty minutes, cool and press under a weight to flatten. Remove the tubes and cut in slices. Place two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add the sweetbreads and one tablespoonful of chopped onion, one cupful of mushrooms, and when well-heated arrange on squares of buttered toast and cover with:

Supreme Sauce.—Take one cupful of cream sauce, the juice of one lemon, one well-beaten egg, one teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of paprika, pinch of powdered cloves, the same of nutmeg. Heat until very hot and pour over the sweetbreads and toast. Garnish with finely-minced parsley and sliced hard-cooked egg.

Pumpkin Pudding.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of well-cooked pumpkin, add one cupful of milk, the yolk of two eggs, a third of a cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of melted butter, a teaspoonful of ginger, a few drops of lemon extract and a little salt. Mix well, pour into custard cups and bake for an hour in a slow oven. Set the cups in a pan of hot water. Garnish with whipped cream and grated cheese. This pudding is better for children than the old-fashioned pumpkin pie.

Electricity From Fish. The electric eel has a powerful generating plant. The cells are fewer in number than the 400 hoisted by the ray, but they are larger. The electricity produced by these fishes is the same as that generated by batteries.

Sunflower.

The seeds of sunflowers make good food for live stock and poultry, their oil is said to be equal to the best linseed oil, and the stalks can be used as a fuel and in the making of potash.

The conference was being held at Bishop's Lodge, four miles from Santa Fé.

Wrecks House of Ward Ruler.

Chicago.—A bomb explosion jolted Alderman William R. O'Toole and his family from bed and damaged their residence in West Garfield boulevard. The alderman said he was unable to assign a cause for the attack, although the police supposition was that a possible political animus may have been behind it. A meeting of ward captains was held at the alderman's home recently.

World Armies Reduced.

Rome.—The armies of the vanquished in the World War have been reduced to 100,000 men for Germany, and 30,000 each for Austria-Hungary and Bulgaria, according to the newspaper La Epoca, which has collected statistics on the military strength of various countries in Europe from official sources.

Mail Clerks Are Sentenced.

Council Bluffs, Iowa.—Eleven of the thirty-four railway mail clerks who pleaded guilty to larceny from the mails in connection with alleged wholesale thefts from the Union Pacific mail terminal here were sentenced by Federal Judge M. J. Wade to varying terms in both federal and state penal institutions. Twenty-two others were placed on probation until the next term of court, when they must submit to the court a written report from two disinterested persons as to their conduct in the interim.

Rockefeller Photoed While Voting.

New York.—A news photographer prevailed upon John D. Rockefeller to submit to a picture while he deposited his vote in the ballot box. But when the photographer asked for another pose, Mr. Rockefeller demurred. "They might think I'm a repeater," he objected. He finally submitted to a second exposure after exacting a promise that the first plate would be destroyed.

Protest Imprisonment of Leader.

Vera Cruz, Mexico.—Workers belonging to the Maritime League were on strike here in protest against the alleged unlawful imprisonment of Ricardo Flores Magon, former Mexican rebel leader, in Leavenworth prison, Kansas. Magon in 1917 was sentenced to twenty years for complicity in a Communist plot in Los Angeles. The workers made a demonstration before the American consulate and presented a petition for the release of Magon.

Bandits Fail to Rob Bank.

Baltimore, Md.—Frustrated in an attempt to rob the Clinton National Bank at Clinton the bandits fled in an automobile, which later was wrecked against a tree near Upper Marlboro. The occupants, five in number, apparently were unhurt and sought safety in a woods. When the bandits entered the bank, Cashier, J. P. Dent defied their pistols and pressed a burglar alarm, which brought out virtually every man in the town.

World Weather Station Urged

Internationally Owned and Operated Wireless Bureau at Baffin Bay Is Planned.

U. S. OFFICIALS ENTHUSIASTIC

Would Help Observers Who Are Often Handicapped by Unforeseen Weather Changes, Originating in Northern Canada.

Washington.—An internationally owned and operated wireless weather observation station on the shores of Baffin bay, to supply data for the world's weather services, has been proposed, and steps are being taken to insure its installation.

Baffin bay is pretty far north, as a glance at a map of the top of our continent will show. Cold winds blow cheerlessly much of the time, ice and snow hold sway over the land and sea for a good portion of the year, and the life of those stationed there, cut off from the world except by radio, would not be of the easiest, but the values of their services to the world would be inestimable, it is said.

U. S. Officials Enthusiastic.

Officials of the United States weather bureau are enthusiastic over the proposal and will urge the participation of the government in the co-operative scheme. They point out the valuable work of the international weather observation station on the lonely little island of Jan Mayen, off the southeast coast of Greenland, where reports are sent to all the European government meteorological services, as well as to the Canadian and United States weather bureaus. V. Bjerkus Ekerold, a Norwegian scientist and meteorologist, through whose efforts the Jan Mayen station was erected, has been in the United States and Canada for some time in the interest of the proposed Baffin bay station.

The great value to this country of such a station is shown by observers in the fact that they are often handicapped by the sudden arrival of unforeseen weather changes, originating in northern Canada, where there are few stations. Thousands of miles of the continent, up to the Arctic sea, hold no observation posts, nor means of messaging observations if any were made. The northernmost weather station in Canada is almost 4) degrees from the northern edge of the continent, which puts it far south, close to the international boundary line. Consequently, officials say, much weather which originates in that vast stretch of land is unobserved until it is right down upon us. For this reason, it is added, cold waves often bear down from the north in winter, and our weather bureau can give only scant warning.

A recent example of this sudden and unforeseen change occurred in a series of showers that ended the long country-wide drought that gripped the country during August, September and early October. Continued dryness was predicted for some days because conditions were sluggish and changes were observed within the scope of the reporting stations. Between two days, however, sudden showers swept down from the uncharted regions, freshened the entire Atlantic seaboard and the Southern states, quenched destructive forest fires in Canada and brought an end to the drought.

If there were more stations farther north, it was said, the change could have been foreseen far ahead of its actual arrival, instead of in about two days or less, and farmers and others to whom weather conditions are important could have had longer warning to prepare.

It must be explained that through general interchanges the weather observations of nations are made available to all other countries having weather services, and to whom the data are important. Canadian stations therefore make observations which are as important to this country's weather service as though those stations were owned by the United States. The Baffin bay station would be financed and operated by the countries of the northern hemisphere to whom the data would be of value when reported by wireless.

Yanks Rescue Wrecked Japs

Save Forty-Five Sailors From Drowning or Death From Bites of Centipedes.

WENT ASHORE OFF MINDORO

Men of the Ryokai Maru Had Battle of Life on Coral Ledge—Vessel Comes to Grief in Treacherous Channel.

Manila.—Forty-five Japanese sailors, rescued through the efforts of an American destroyer and a naval tug from the wreck of the Japanese freighter Ryokai Maru, arrived at this port after a thrilling battle with death by sea from drowning and by land from giant centipedes, which infested the coral ledge on which they had found refuge.

The Ryokai Maru, bound from Java to Yokohama with a cargo of sugar, ran upon the deadly coral ledges of Panagatan Cay, in the straits of Mindoro, three nights ago, according to the story told by Captain Mizuno of the wrecked steamship. The vessel was proceeding through the treacherous channel, he stated, with a heavy fog hiding the shore, and a strong wind from the south that threw the vessel off her course and sent her suddenly crashing upon the reefs. As soon as the steamship struck the wind and tide swung her around, with her starboard side upon the reef and 150 fathoms of water in the port.

The shock of the collision damaged the radio so much that it was not for three hours that it could be used. An SOS was then sent out and was picked up by the naval radio station at Cavite. Captain Cross, commandant of Cavite, sent the destroyer Whipple racing for the scene at daybreak, followed by the naval tug Wompatuck.

When day broke the position of the vessel was so precarious that Captain Mizuno decided to abandon ship. The forepeak was stove in and the vessel was grinding badly with every breaker and threatening to slide back into deep water, where she would have sunk like a plummet. Volunteers of the crew scrambled out or the reefs and managed to carry lines to the narrow ledge of the cay that seemed to offer refuge. As the men clambered up on the rocks a nest of giant centipedes was discovered and several men were bitten, one of whom died shortly after.

That afternoon the Whipple hove in sight and the destroyer sent a boat in through the boiling surf to the stranded steamship. By clever seamanship the boat's crew managed to round under the Ryokai Maru's stern into a bit of shelter and the officer in charge boarded the freighter, where Captain Mizuno still remained. It was decided that the crew of the steamship were in comparative safety, and that it was not necessary to risk the eggshell destroyer in the swirling waters of the straits. The Whipple accordingly stood off and on until the Wompatuck arrived.

Rescued the Japanese.
The stanch navy tug, under the guidance of Capt. "Dad" McGrew, ran in as far as she dared and, with her boats, rescued the Japanese from their precarious shelter on the ledge and then left the freighter to her fate. Wrecking experts say the chances of saving the vessel herself are very slim.

The Ryokai Maru was formerly the Oristano, launched at Newcastle, England, in 1911 for the Gulf line. She was sold this year to the Yamamoto Kisen Shokai and was during the present voyage under charter to the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha.

Pried Mule's Jaw Open.
McKee's Falls, Pa.—When a vicious mule seized the leg of John Fry in its jaws the other day, the animal was lashed with a black-snake whip for several minutes in vain. Then a mail fet was procured, but blows with this failed to induce the animal to let go. Finally it was beaten into unconsciousness and then its jaws pried open Fry's lower leg was torn almost to the bone.

Ring Up Loot on Cash Register.
Metamora, Mich.—The cash register in Julius Ludwig's public garage read "$200 paid out" when he opened for business one morning recently. Julius was puzzled until he discovered that $200 worth of tires had been stolen during the night.

BAR BALLOT TO EMPLOYERS
Soviets Permit Only Soldiers, Employees and Peasants to Vote at Polls in Russia.

Moscow.—In elections of delegates to the village, provincial and government soviets proceeding throughout Russia, a large percentage of the Russians who, in previous years of the revolution, were entitled to vote, are now deprived of the ballot because they have become "exploiters of labor."

The soviet constitution confines the right of the ballot to actual workers whether with hand or brain, to peasants and soldiers. Many of those "exploiters" were, until this year, of necessity in these preferred classes. The government has issued strict instructions to election officials that the following persons must be prevented from voting in this year's elections:

"Persons who employ hired labor for the purposes of profit; persons who live on unearned increment; private dealers, traders and commercial agents, clergymen, monks and all employees of religious cults."

Jailed for Stealing One Kiss as He Helped Girl
Frank Dunn, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was sentenced to 15 days in the workhouse by Magistrate Ellpern for kissing Margaret Svenson.

Something lodged in the girl's eye while she was walking along the street and Dunn offered to remove it for her. He removed the irritating object and, without asking for his recompense, he gave the girl a resounding kiss. She then had him arrested.

NEW STAR IS LONG WAY OFF
Latest Discovery is in Constellation Lynx, and is 990 Quadrillion Miles From the Earth.

Cambridge, Mass.—A new outpost of the stellar system has been found. As a result, man's knowledge of the limits of the Milky Way has been extended by 50,000 to 100,000 parsecs, or light years. That is, the known stellar system probably has a diameter of between two quintillions one hundred quadrillions of miles, and two quintillions four hundred quadrillions of miles.

This represents a newly estimated diameter for the Galactia system of 850,000 to 400,000 parsecs. It was only a few years ago that scientists placed the furthestmost limits of the Milky Way at 30,000 parsecs.

This latest increase in the stellar system, as it is known to men, came with observation of photographs of a globular cluster of stars in the constellation Lynx, by Doctor Lundblad of the Lowell observatory and by Prof. Harlow Shapley and a staff of the

Tanlac Put Him Back on Job, Says Davis

"I've never been much of a hand at praising medicines, but I can certainly say something good for Tanlac," said Geo. Davis, 110 Naglee St., San Francisco, Calif.

"I had a bad case of ptomaine poisoning and it came pretty near laying me out altogether. For three months I was in an awful condition and suffering constantly from diarrhea. I became weak all over and was going from bad to worse. I tried everything I knew of, but it was beginning to look like nothing would ever reach my case.

"Then, a friend of mine recommended Tanlac to me. And it's a fact, four bottles have made a clean sweep of my troubles and built me up to where I feel like a new man. I am working every day now and when it comes to recommending Tanlac I can't put it too strong."

There had been a veritable deluge of blotters. For days May had brought her offerings to the teacher's desk—mysterious looking packages which always proved to be the inevitable blotters. Finally, in perplexity, the teacher called May to her and said, "It's lovely of you, dear, to bring these blotters, but really, I've got so many now—"

"Oh, that's all right," was the answer, "we've got so many at home, mamma said: 'What'll we ever do with all these blotters? Why don't you take 'em to your teacher?'"

for Wheat Growing, Cattle Raising and a Happy Home of Your Own

Prosperous Farms and Happy Homes await those who are desirous of enlarging their present resources and securing for themselves homes in a country that, while yet in its infancy, has made itself famous by the quality of the grain it produces and by the excellence of its live stock.

There are Millions of Acres of the highest class of soil available for the man whose object in life is to become his own landlord, and who wishes to share in the opportunity which has given wealth to the thousands of Americans who, having started on Western Canada farms with but small means, are now writing home to their friends, telling of what they have done. Lands are cheap and homesteads farther from lines of railway are free to settlers. Upon these lands can be grown the best of wheat, oats, barley, flax, grass, hay, fodder, corn and sunflowers.

Cattle winter in most places without shelter; dairying is highly successful. Taxes only upon land (not on improvements). Perfect climate, attractive social conditions, good neighbors, churches, schools, telephones, excellent markets and shipping facilities.

Little Thing Like That Mentioned Was Nothing to This Applicant for American Citizenship.

At each hearing where applications of foreign-born persons seeking citizenship in the United States are considered and passed on, incidents come up which add humor to the otherwise serious process. At a recent hearing before Judge W. W. Thornton of the Superior court, Room 1, George Mackay, United States naturalization officer, was quizzing an applicant regarding his knowledge of the inner workings of the government and regarding the history of the United States.

"Who was the first President of the United States?" he asked.
"Washington, D. C.," replied the anxious applicant.
"Just leave off the D. C.," said Mr. Mackay.
"Oh, I don't care," said the applicant nonchalantly, with an accompanying gesture of his hand.—Washington Star.

Do you hear the clock strike the night hours?

HOW often you have heard people say, "I can't drink coffee; it keeps me awake nights!" They've learned from experience; have you?

If you are a coffee drinker and fail to get sound restful sleep, it means that your nerves are over-stimulated and that health needs protection from coffee's drug, caffeine.

There's no sacrifice in making health safe, as so many thousands have found who have turned from coffee to Postum. It has a delightful coffee-like flavor, and is free from any element that can harm you. As many cups as you like, and no regrets.

Your grocer has Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling fully 20 minutes.

Postum FOR HEALTH

APPLICATION FOR MINE PATENT Mining Application, 654291, United States Land Office, Phoenix, Arizona, October 31, 1922.

Notice is hereby given that PATAGONIA SUPERIOR COPPER COMPANY, by W. G. Browning, its Attorney-in-Fact, whose postoffice address is...

A PROCLAMATION

Executive Department, State of Arizona Our forefathers established the practice of dedicating one day in the year to public thanksgiving and praise to our Heavenly Father for the blessings of Providence bestowed upon the people of our state and nation...

We, as a people, have special reason at this time for observing this custom. A day for praise and prayer and serious reflection will be beneficial, and will help to a due appreciation of the good we have received and believed; it will give a proper frame of mind to meet the responsibilities of the present and future, enable us to correct our mistakes, cease irritations and give needed grace.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, ERNEST HALL, Acting Governor of the State of Arizona, by virtue of the authority in me vested, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, November 30th, 1922, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer, and I call upon the people of Arizona to suspend their daily business and to gather in their homes and places of worship in celebration of Thanksgiving Day.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Arizona to be affixed. Done at Phoenix, the capital, this 13th day of November, A. D. 1922.

COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT DOING GOOD WORK

County Agricultural Agent Lee Gould paid the Patagonian a visit last week and held his plans for organizing social clubs in various sections of Santa Cruz county. The clubs formed will help bring the people together for mutual benefit, both socially and financially.

Mr. Gould announced that a Thanksgiving dinner will be given at the Elgin school house, at which time an orchestra composed of local talent will furnish music. A Farm Bureau club will be organized, and community singing will be a feature of the day's program.

FOREIGN COUNTRIES REQUEST U. S. LIVESTOCK PICTURES

A series of 10 pictures showing various kinds and types of livestock recently issued by the department of agriculture is in demand principally by schools, banks, and livestock officials in the United States, but is also going to foreign countries. Among recent requests for the pictures are those received from Norway and Sweden.

PROLONGS LIFE OF RIBBON

Correspondent of Eastern Periodical Gives Valuable Hint That Makes for Typewriter Economy.

Some time ago I saw on the house-hold page directions for prolonging the usefulness of a typewriter ribbon by brushing it with typewriter or machine oil, and allowing the oil to sink into the ribbon over night. I tried it, but had difficulty in getting the oil on evenly. Then I tried removing the old ribbon, packing it in the little tin box the new ribbon came out of, and soaking it thoroughly with oil—maybe 20 drops of oil.

The little metal spools which carry the typewriter ribbon have a number of openings at the top and bottom through which the oil can be applied. The ribbon with which this is being written had had its third span of usefulness made possible by the 20 drops of oil. The luxury of having a new—or newly oiled—ribbon at hand, when it is needed, is beyond words.

This typewriter, which is a family possession and usually runs about ten hours a day, used to need two ribbons a month. Since the oiling process was begun, two ribbons have lasted three months, with frequent oilings, which takes less time than telling about it.—Christian Science Monitor.

EVEN THE TINY ARE STRONG

Shetland Ponies Willing and Able to Do Good Work Under the Right Conditions.

There is something startling about seeing Shetland ponies working. At least, two of them have regular jobs. They do not serve as mounts for children, nor do they pull many pleasure carts around the block. They put in the day at hard labor.

One of them pulls an express wagon, the other a small-sized garbage cart. To see them trudging along under the tracks of the elevated trains, pulling a load among truck horses that seem three times their size, is apt to give a soft-hearted citizen a jolt and make him wonder in a vague disconnected manner about the child labor law, remarks the New York Sun.

At his well-meaning notions of protect those who know Shetlands will laugh. Few horses are as strong for their size as a full-grown Shetland. When a vehicle is built to suit their size they are perfectly able to work and are, moreover, most of them, endowed with a temper that makes it virtually impossible to impose upon them or to force them to do any more work than they want to.

Jinx Phone Numbers Shunned.

The Japanese believe that there are lucky and unlucky numbers. In this respect they are not unlike many Americans, but their belief is much more deeply rooted, as is shown by the extreme care with which the Japanese select their telephone numbers, according to the Telephone Press service. The Japanese government, which operates the service and has been unable to meet the demand for telephones, permits the buying and selling of telephone subscriptions and the corresponding numbers, and frequently very substantial sums are paid for numbers that are reputed to be particularly lucky. It is said that the luckiest number for business purposes is eight, because the shape of the Japanese character for eight in some way suggests the idea of prosperity. The most unlucky numbers are 42 and 40, because the former is pronounced "shini," which means "to die," and the latter "shiku," which means "death" or "suffering."

Kings Who Never Grow Old.

A curious custom of a pastoral people of Uganda, known as the Banyoro, is related by the Rev. John Roscoe. He said that when once a king was enthroned his person became sacred, and his food was restricted to milk and beef from a sacred herd of cows. The Banyoro monarch never allowed himself to grow old nor his faculties to become impaired. When he thought he was going to be seriously ill he called a council, arranged state affairs with the principal chiefs without giving them any reason for thinking that he was about to die, and dismissed them to carry out his instructions. Then he returned to his private house, summoned his chief wife, and ordered her to bring him a cup of poison. He drank the contents, and in a few minutes was dead.

In Different Classes.

A visitor from an Australian home inquired of his host's little son, "Do you go to school now?" "Yes, sir." "And what do you learn—reading, writing, sums?" "Oh, yes, and I learn religion, too." "Religion?" "Yes. I learn the little religion which teaches that we all come from Adam. But my older brother is in a higher class; he learns the big religion and that teaches that we all come from monkeys."—Boston Transcript.

Wonder of Small Things.

The greatness of our life depends on so little! In the midst of the blindest incidents of ordinary days the verse of a poet may suddenly reveal to us something stupendous. No solemn word has been spoken, and we feel that nothing has been called forth; and yet, why has an ineffable face beckoned to us from behind an old man's fears? Or why does a vast night, starred with angels, extend over the smile of a child?—Maceterick.

A Sign.

"I think that small boy of ours is going to be a poet." "That so? Why?" "He never wants to have his hair cut."

EXPLAINING GRADES IN ARMY

Fanciful and Pretty Tale of the Origin of Insignia Which Denote Martial Rank.

Fanciful indeed is the tale woven about the selection and origin of the various marks of army insignia. The story begins with a two-barred fence, near a group of trees. One of these is a sturdy oak and another a silver poplar, the tree which grows to greatest heights in our forests. Above this tree flies an American eagle. It is night and the stars look down upon the scene.

The first step, or first rank of a commissioned officer is climbing the first bar of the fence, and is denoted by the one bar on a first lieutenant's shoulder. Another step up and the officer has his foot on the second bar of the fence—the two bars surmounted being indicated by the two-bar mark of the captain. The next stage of the climb upward is the branches of the trees, and the rank of major, denoted by the gold oak leaf on the shoulder, has been reached.

In order to go higher the candidate for higher rank must now surmount the tall silver poplar, and when he has done so he is entitled to wear the silver leaf of the lieutenant colonel. The eagle soaring over the treetops indicates the rank of colonel—the silver eagle being worn by officers of that rank. The stars are the highest of all and were reserved as insignia for generals.—Detroit News.

DISPUTE ORIGIN OF CALICHE

Scientists Disagree as to How Rock of Which Chile Has a Monopoly, Came About.

Chile's chief source of revenue, of which the country has virtually a world monopoly, is obtained from the rough rock known locally as caliche. Scientists disagree as to the origin of this valuable mineral, according to a writer in the National Geographic Magazine. Some claim (and Darwin among them) that it had its origin in seaweed of an ancient period. One savant argues that the deposit resulted from nitrogen contained in guano. Others believe in its atmospheric origin, advancing the theory that in a remote age electricity passing through the moist air, by combination, formed nitric acid; this in turn, impregnating the flood waters of Andean streams and coming in contact with the limestone of the rocks, formed nitrate of lime; another step in nature's laboratory brought this nitrate of lime in contact with sulphate of soda, forming the caliche found today.

Iodine, precipitated from the nitrate solution, is the most important by-product of the caliche rock. By agreement among the nitrate establishments, its production is limited to every sixth year, that the market may not be overstocked.

Four Used in Making Watches. Two barrels of flour are used every week in making watches at a well-known factory, which turns out from 2,000 to 3,000 watches a week. Since a baker uses about three pounds of flour to five loaves of bread, it follows that for every watch the maker uses the equivalent of a third of a loaf. The flour is made into dough and the dough is used to handle screws, rivets and other small parts.

Each man in that part of the business has a lump of dough always at hand, and when he wants to examine a screw he jabs a piece of dough on it. Then, turning it over, he has a good chance to look at it with his watchmaker's microscope eyeglass. Many of the screws are too minute to pick up easily with the fingers, and many more, though large enough to be picked up, would be so covered by the fingers or the forceps as to be almost hidden from sight.

Taxidermy Now a Fine Art.

The rise of American taxidermy to a level with the other fine arts thus far is a chapter of unwritten history. It is probable that not more than a score of persons now living know the real story of the Society of American Taxidermists and the revolution that it wrought. It would be utterly insignificant to write of the masterpieces of American taxidermy without setting forth at least an outline of the history that they represent. A few members of the youngest generation of workers, snugly ensconced in stone palaces of peace and plenty, have talked learnedly of the "new school" of taxidermy without mentioning the men who toiled in laying the foundations and in erecting high the walls of that "school." I am told that today there are taxidermists who do not like being called anything less than "sculptors."

Assuring Real Holidays.

A very interesting and important decision of the British courts is that a wife may take a holiday alone, if she desires, and that her husband cannot stop her. It was born of a case following twenty-one years of reasonably calm marriage. The wife decided on a vacation of a week without the company of hubby. He forbade it. She made an unexpected and astonishing appeal to the court and she won her case. And because the husband made any objection whatsoever she now sees him for a permanent separation and secures it—just for that ill-oiled.

Insects That Sing.

Japanese do not cure for ants and crickets is a singing insect, which is kept in a cage that hangs from the eaves of the house. Although the little creature does not perform on all occasions, the sound of rain will at any time start him chirping. So, to amuse strangers in a Jap home, one of the family will go on to the roof and pour down a bucket of water to produce the dripping sound of rain. As soon as the singing insect hears what he imagines to be the real thing, he begins to warble.
