SHORT ITEMS AND LOCAL HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST

ROAD WORK FINISHED

The McDonald and H. H. McCuehan contracts for their sections of the Patagonia-Mowry road are completed.

The Titus contract on the San Rafael hill is nearing completion. The county highway commission will inspect all of these contracts next Sunday, January 22.

Bids will be opened January 30, at 3 p. m., for building the bridge at Elgin and for the first section of the Washington Camp road.

THIRD STREET IMPROVED

Tuesday of this week Ben Powell, C. L. Notheraft and Val Valenzuela Jr. took advantage of slack times and improved Third street by removing a large bump in front of the Catholic church and leveling the street for some distance.

PHYSICIAN NEEDED HERE

Dr. Randall of Cochise county, who formerly was in charge of the hospital at Bisbee, and was physician and surgeon to a high dignitary of Mexico recently, and owner of a cattle and fruit ranch in the mountains of Cochise county, has been spoken of by local business men as having made a statement that he would come to Patagonia provided competition was removed.

PROSPERITY COMING

Val Valenzuela Jr., the genial progressive manager of the Patagonia Commercial Company, reports counting twelve traveling salesmen in town last Tuesday. The advent of so many traveling salesmen in town in one day would seem to indicate a return of prosperity.

"DOC" CHENETTE LEAVES

Mr. H. J. Chenette, local druggist, who has been in poor health for some time, left Wednesday for the United States hospital for ex-service men near Tucson-Pastime Park.

COL. R. R. RICHARDSON IMPROVES

Col. R. R. Richardson, who suffered a painful accident recently, when scalding water was spilled on his foot, is rapidly improving. Colonel Richardson is cheerful through his enforced inactivity, but the citizens will rejoice when they see his familiar figure once more upon the streets.

MILKMAN AND ASSISTANT SHOT IN HUACHUCA HOLDUP

Negro soldiers, who had deserted from the U. S. army, are said to be responsible for the holdup at Huachuca, during which a milkman named Jackson and his helper, were shot. The object of the holdup was robbery. The affair occurred last Monday night.

Without warning, it is said, shot troops opened fire on the two civilians. They were thought to have had considerable money, as they were on a collecting trip among their customers. One of the injured men was shot in the leg, his limb being badly shattered. The other man also was wounded.

Although a thorough search has been made to apprehend the offending negroes, no clue has been found. It is believed the men fled to Mexico.

CHURCH NOTICE

"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." Doesn't this mean we should attend God's services on the Sabbath?

It surely is our duty to sacrifice a little for Him, who has done so much for us; or are we ungrateful for all His goodness and mercy?

Come and enjoy a good sermon and special music; we assure you you will come again. Sunday school at 2 o'clock. Church services at 3 o'clock. At the school house each Sunday.

16TH BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

The birthday party given at the home of Mrs. Henry Kane Saturday evening in honor of her daughter, Lona Nether-ton's, sixteenth birthday was spent in old-fashioned games.

Mrs. Jim Kane won first prize, Miss Alice Wilson annexed the booby prize, Bob Kane the boys' prize, and Virgil Walker was awarded the baby's rattle.

At 12 o'clock the birthday cake was cut for fortunes by Lona Nether-ton and Fred Sorrels, and refreshments were served.

Guests of the evening included Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kane, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Gattlin, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Woodman, Mrs. Joe Kane, Mrs. Walton Taylor, Mrs. Marshall Wren, Leila Shieble, Melvin Williamson, Miss Mae Farley, Thelma Johnson, Alice Wilson, Hazel Wilson, Bob Kane, Bertram Barnett, Lou Quinn, Virgil Walker, Bill McCormack, Pete Talley, Jim Hobbs, Charley Brown, Fred Sorrels, Chester Brodine, and Lona Nether-ton.

Miss Nether-ton was the recipient of numerous beautiful gifts. The guests had a pleasant evening, leaving at an early hour, wishing long life to the young hostess.

"THE LANE" BEING IMPROVED

Frank Seibold is filling in chuck holes and spreading gravel on that part of the road to the San Rafael valley known as "the lane," just outside of Patagonia. This has always been a bad place when the weather was bad and the improvement was a benefit to traffic.

MRS. MYRA HARRISON DIES

Mrs. Myra Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bronson of Mowry, and sister of Clarence and Robert Bronson, Mrs. Bert Logan of Mowry, and Mrs. H. G. Lehan of Nogales, died Tuesday morning, January 17, at her home, 316 Curtis street, Nogales, her death casting gloom over her large circle of friends.

Beside her bereaved relatives mentioned above, she leaves two small children, one 1 1/2 years of age, the other but 1 month old. Her husband, Frank Harrison, also survives.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Methodist church, Rev. G. W. Forman officiating.

Mrs. Harrison, the deceased, was but 20 years of age at the time of her death. Pallbearers were H. E. Borner, W. J. Mitchell, J. C. Towner, Earl Hammaek, Ed Jones and J. W. Mix.

MISS MARY DUFFY WEDS JAMES ROBINS

Wednesday morning, in the presence of members of their immediate families, Miss Mary L. Duffy, daughter of Judge Frank J. Duffy of Nogales, and James V. Robins, son of Mrs. Will M. Robins, were united in marriage at Sacred Heart church, Rev. Father DuVal performing the ceremony, which occurred at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. James W. Hiller of Hillsboro, N. M., sister of the bridegroom, and Francis Duffy of Nogales, brother of the bride, were the attendants.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast, strewn with the bridal party, was held at the Duffy home, 230 Terence avenue, Nogales.

The couple left on the 1:30 o'clock train for a two weeks' honeymoon in Pasadena, Los Angeles and other California cities. On their return they will be at home to friends at 220 Pajarito street.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Robins are very popular with a large circle of friends who wish them much joy in their new relationship.

The Patagonian extends its hearty congratulations.

CATTLE INSPECTED

Cattle Inspector Lou G. Stevens is in Hereford today to inspect cattle sent from Rain Valley and the Elgin country to be placed on pasture.

NO OCCASION TO FEAR ARTIFICIAL GOLD MAKING

Modern chemistry has shown that at least some of the supposed elemental substances of the chemist, what he calls "elements," are in fact compounds. In all ordinary chemical processes these compounds behave like elements, but it is nevertheless possible by special chemical operations to show that they are divisible into more simple substances. This discovery has revived to some extent popular belief in alchemy, and there have been of late many suggestions in the press that gold may be made artificially and become so abundant as to destroy completely such utility as it may have as a measure of value and a basis for currency.

It has even been stated that the late S. P. Emmons of the U. S. geological survey, claimed to have made synthetic gold from silver dollars many years ago. Mr. Emmons never made any such claim, and the statement is absurd. No one has yet succeeded in making gold or in obtaining it from any other chemical element. The fact cannot be safely called impossible, but it is fairly certain that if any chemist should succeed in transforming into gold some substance that has hitherto been regarded as a simple element, the process would be so difficult and costly as to make the gold far more expensive than the natural metal. The silver-dollar story is probably based on the fact that the silver and copper of which our so-called silver coins are made do contain exceedingly minute quantities of gold—quantities too small to be of any practical importance.

HARDSHELL MAKES NEW STRIKE

Farley & Hall, who have a lease on the old Bender claims, now belonging to the Harshell Mining Company, at Harshaw, have been developing large areas of milling ores for some time. A few days ago both headings encountered some high-grade ore. This work is now approaching the pyrite-lime stone contact, and while the present work has not advanced sufficiently far to give exact data, yet it is apparent that these gentlemen are opening up an ore shoot of high-grade ores within the wide lower grade areas. The presence of some sulphides in the heavily oxidized horizons gives added proof of the possibilities of their developing some rich ores within the very near future.

MOWRY HAS NEW ORE BODY UNCOVERED

A new strike at the Mowry, reported by the superintendent, W. J. Mitchell, states that the prospect shaft to the southeast of the Mowry shaft has encountered from four to eight feet of shipping grade lead-silver ore; the greater portion of the vein averaging about 65 per cent lead and from 20 to 30 ounces in silver to the ton.

There has been a deal on for the purchase of the Mowry mine, and this new strike should hasten the conclusion of the negotiations. Patagonia will receive much benefit if this property again is put to its capacity. The property has not been worked to any extent for several years. At one time it was the liveliest camp in Arizona.

TOM GARDNER MAKES STRIKE

Tom Gardner, the well-known local mining man, has again made a strike, this time on the Bacea Float, where he has, for some time, in association with Judge A. S. Henderson, been operating on a leased property—the old Eureka mine. Mr. Gardner has made many "lucky" strikes in this district, but has been unfortunate in some of them in that he has not benefited financially from them. Here's to Tom; may he make a million in this new venture. It loog good.

FARLEY SENDING IN ORE

John Farley, who has been mining in this district for several years, is sending in some good-looking ore from the Alto district.

CITY CLERK GETS INCREASE

Mr. E. E. Cole, city clerk of Nogales, has been granted a salary increase that will permit him to live. In future he will receive $300 per month. If salaries of other public officials were raised to the same level—or beyond—it would not be so hard to induce men of ability to become candidates for public office.

Eastern Banker Visits Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Marshall of New York City, who had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Evans of Patagonia for several days, have gone to California, where they will spend several months. Mr. Marshall is a banker and manufacturer in the east, and is a brother of Mrs. Evans.

RESPECT FOR TREATIES IS SOUGHT BY POINCARE

PARIS, Jan. 19.—"Respect for the treaties that fixed the peace terms" is the platform Premier Poincare decided to present to his cabinet today before the chamber of deputies.

The declaration blames the "shameless propaganda" for the picture drawn abroad of France as "tainted with a sort of militaristic madness."

Of the economic conference, the premier's statement says, "We insist that the conditions of the Cannes protocol be accepted or rejected by the delegates prior to any discussion so that none of the stipulation treaties can be debated, even indirectly."

"Unless we have precise guarantees on this point we will be compelled to retain our liberty of action."

HOW LEGISLATORS SHOULD QUIT JOBS

PHOENIX, Jan. 19.—Any member of the legislature who wishes to resign should do so in writing to the presiding officer of the house of which he is member, and the presiding officer should in turn transmit it to the governor. This is the procedure which should be followed, according to an opinion rendered by W. J. Galbraith, attorney-general.

In his opinion Mr. Galbraith advises that in view of the fact that no provision has been made by the statutes for notifying the board of supervisors in order that the vacancy may be filled, the governor should officially notify the board. He further suggests that the member resigning advise the governor and supervisors of his county of his action when tendering his resignation to the presiding officer of the house with which he is affiliated.

The opinion is of particular interest at present with rumors of a special session and a number of resignations said to be pending. In at least one instance that of I. P. Feizer of Santa Cruz county, there is a question as to whether his resignation is legal in that he made it to the board of supervisors without first notifying the speaker of the house of representatives and the governor.

Mr. J. E. Bolton of Tucson visited in Patagonia Wednesday.

MINES REOPEN IN BUTTE, MONTANA DISTRICT

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 19.—Further indication of a new era in the mining and smelting industry was the announcement that four mines of the Anaconda Copper Mining company had resumed operations Monday with a full shift, numbering about 3000 men.

Announcement was also made that other properties in the district had increased their operations, adding a large number of men to payroll.

Seven hundred men were employed at the opening of the Anaconda smelter Tuesday. Eventually 1800 men are to be employed. The number of working men at the Great Falls smelter is to be increased within a week.

The various mining properties in this district have been closed several months because of depressed copper market conditions.

Complete optimism is reflected in the district and it is believed that from now on the copper industry will show steady improvement.

3-R MAY OPEN SOON

John Hays Hammond, the well known mining engineer of New York, is reported to be experimenting with the 3-R ore in an endeavor to find a new method of treating it. If the new method is successful, which it is claimed it is, Mr. Hammond may purchase a controlling interest in the property, form a stock company and start operations there on a large scale.

The 3-R has been owned by the Magna Copper Company for some time, it having been purchased from Col. R. R. Richardson, who still has an interest in the property. The company spent quite a lot of money and time diamond drilling the claims to locate ore bodies and secure samples. It is said the drilling showed the property to be as good as has always been claimed for it—even better than the most optimistic miner would admit. The 3-R is a proven property, and much copper ore has been taken out in the past.

The 3-R mine is near Patagonia, and the resumption of work there on a big scale would be of untold benefit to Patagonia.

DRAGA-Z LOOKS GOOD

Frank Reichert, operating the Draga-Z mine, located southeast of the Mansfield camp, in the Alto district, is installing a mill to handle ore that is now on the dump and in preparation for removal from the mine. The ore, like that of other mines in that district, is lead silver, and is reported to be high grade. Major H. P. Mulligan is interested with Mr. Reichert in the property.

George Crane Here

Mr. and Mrs. George Crane, formerly residents of Sonoma, where Mr. Crane conducted a general store, are visiting in the Sonoma district. The Cranes are now residents of Los Angeles. Mr. Crane has invented and patented an automobile lock, which he is demonstrating.

Patagonia Garage Busy

A visit this week by the editor to the American Garage disclosed the fact that that institution is a very busy place, owing to the fact, it is said, that Mr. Bradshaw, a high-class mechanic, is now employed there. Mr. Bradshaw is an ex U. S. army aviator, who since the war has been engaged as mechanic and foreman in several garages throughout the southwest. Mr. Bradshaw's work is highly spoken of by those having had work performed on their cars by him.

Former Patagonia Resident Ill

A. G. Miles, formerly with the Evans Mercantile Company and the Washington Trading Company of Patagonia, is reported in a dangerous condition in a San Francisco hospital, where he recently underwent an operation for stomach trouble. The news reached us through A. D. Sydeman, with whose family Mr. Miles had been visiting for some time in Berkeley, Calif.

Population Increased

Monday night Mrs. Frank Caballo, a local resident, presented her husband with an 8 1/2 pound boy. Both mother and child are reported as doing nicely.

McPhersons Pass Through

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McPherson of the San Rafael valley were Nogales visitors Monday, and Thursday of this week were in Patagonia.

Visit Nogales

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ismond and Mr. and Mrs. George Crane of Sonoma were Nogales visitors Tuesday of this week.

PATAGONIA'S IMMEDIATE FUTURE APPEARS BRIGHT

For the third time, I have purchased the Santa Cruz Patagonian. At the present time business conditions are as bad as they have ever been since I have known Patagonia—thirteen years. In spite of that fact, I have had enough faith in the community to take over the local paper. You may say that it was not a sound business venture, but I will not agree with you, for the reason that I have as much faith in the future of Patagonia as I had when I first came to the country, which has always been anything but pessimistic.

It is not the fault of Patagonia nor its surroundings that there is a business depression here. The fault is with the world in general, which hasn't recovered from the effects of the world war. When normal conditions return to the country (which I hope and believe will be soon), this community and town will reap its just share of the reward for its patience.

The mining industry seems to be—or to have been until the present time—almost at a standstill. It is a great mistake to hold the opinion that our camp is not active, in spite of the fact that smelters throughout the southwest are temporarily closed.

Prospects of much activity in the near future in the mining industry are very bright—in fact, brighter than they have been for many years. You doubt this? Well, listen:

A large body of high-grade lead-silver ore has been uncovered at the old Mowry mine, at Mowry; a very rich strike has been made on the Bender claims, at Harshaw, now the property of the Harshell Mining Company; Farley & Hall have the lease on the Harshell property that has made the new strike, both of whom are good mining men. Another item of great importance to the district is the reported purchase by the C. & A. Copper Company of the Duquesne properties, at Duquesne, near here; which news, if authentic, means that that valuable property will be worked to the limit; that eventually a railroad may be built to the property to handle the freight question; that Patagonia will get practically all the traffic in both directions.

The Duquesne property consists of 62 patented claims covering 1240 acres of ground, it is said.

Another property on the active list is the Draga-Z, in the Alto district, being developed by Frank Reichert, a well-known local mining man. A mill has been purchased and will be installed as soon as the work can be accomplished. The property is a high-grade silver-lead mine, and ore on the dump and that being blocked out will enable a mill to work indefinitely. Some of the ore has been hauled to Patagonia, for shipment to the El Paso smelter, which is one of the few in the United States that is not closed down.

J. J. Farley also has a very promising mine in the Jefferson, which is on the Bacea Float, and on which he has a lease. The mine at the present time has some nice-looking high-grade ore on the local loading platform, in preparation for shipment to the El Paso smelter. The ore is lead-silver—mostly lead.

Ore is being hauled to Patagonia from the Eureka, another Bacea Float mine, on which Tom Gardner has the lease, together with Judge A. S. Henderson, our newly-appointed state legislator. Mr. Gardner has the reputation of being one of the best practical miners in this district and has been operating here for many years. His past operations are well known to local people. The Eureka, also, is in the silver-lead country, which has in the past produced much wealth for operators who first operated there.

T. E. HEADY RETURNS

Thomas E. Heady, general manager of the Green Cattle Company's San Rafael ranch, returned last Sunday from Tulare county, Calif., where he had gone in business for the company. Mr. Heady reports the trip as having been disagreeable owing to the almost incessant rains in California. He was glad to get back to Santa Cruz county.

Those who gather nothing in youth have the same amount in old age.

BIDS THROWN OUT

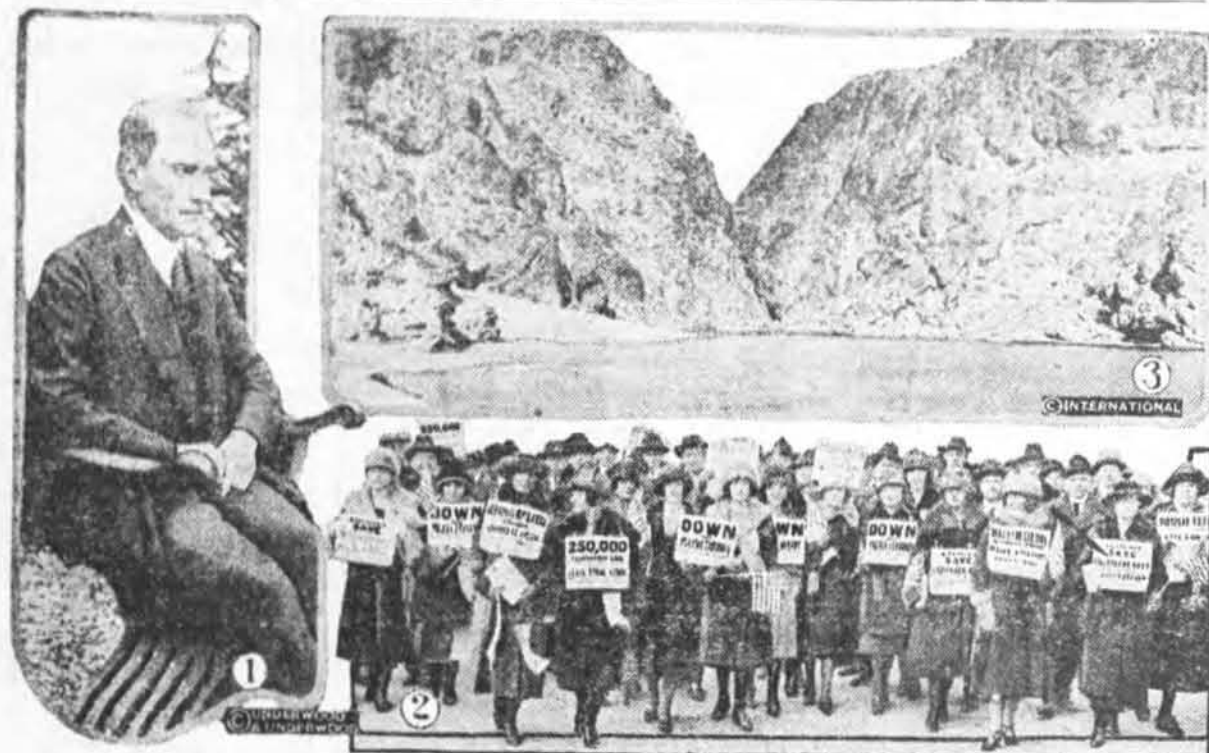

Tom Frazier returned from Nogales Wednesday, where he had gone to get returns from the bids for sinking the new well for the city of Nogales water department. As one of the bids was reported as too low to be "responsible" and the others were considered too high to be profitable to the city, all bids were thrown out and new ones will be advertised for in the near future. Mr. Frazier will try his luck again.

Arms Conference Receives the Completed Program for Naval Reduction.

"SUB" TONNAGE NOT LIMITED

China Delegates Reveal Alleged Franco-Japanese Secret Alliance—Allied Supreme Council at Cannes—Bitter Debate Over Irish Treaty in Dail Eireann.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

WITH its work almost completed, so far as it can be, the arms conference at Washington met in plenary session at the close of the week and heard a report of the program for naval reduction and limitation as completed by the naval committee and its corps of experts. The treaty for a ten-year naval holiday to be entered into by the five principal powers of the world was presented, together with the technical details for carrying it out.

As finally decided upon, the agreement is not so drastic in its plan for reductions as was proposed by the American delegation, but the fact remains that it puts an end, for a decade, to the navy building race that threatened to swamp the taxpayers of several nations, and it is admittedly a great step toward world peace. Modifications of the original plan resulted in slight increases in the tonnage limits, and it is asserted these changes really strengthen relatively the American navy.

For the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, the capital ship ratio is 5-5-3-1.67-1.67. The tonnage allowed America and Britain is raised from 35,000 to 35,500 each, and that of the others is proportionately increased. France is permitted to build a limited number of capital ships during the ten-year period, and Great Britain may construct two 37,000-ton vessels of the Hood type. France won out in her contentions concerning submarines and auxiliary craft. No limit is placed on the aggregate tonnage of these vessels, but their maximum size and gun caliber is fixed. A limit of 10,000 tons each is put on auxiliary ships and light cruisers, and their guns are not to exceed eight inches. The ratio for airplane carriers is to be 5-3-2-2-2-2-2 and the maximum tonnage for the two largest carriers 135,000. These vessels are limited to a tonnage of 27,000 each, and their gun caliber is restricted.

American naval officers, it is asserted, rejoiced over Japan's successful demand that she be allowed to retain the dreadnaught Mutsu and France's persistence regarding submarines and auxiliary ships. In both cases the necessary adjustments re-founded to the relative strengthening of America's navy. It retains two almost completed dreadnaughts, and it will have almost as great a tonnage in submarines as it first proposed instead of only 60,000 tons, the point to which the American delegates were about to recede when Great Britain asked the abolishing of the U-boat. The British announced that if France had a great submarine fleet, they must be permitted to build as many auxiliary cruisers as they wished, and it is now agreed America will equal the British fleet in every respect.

At this writing there appears to be little doubt of the approval by the conference of the Root resolutions declaring the employment of submarines against commerce as piracy, and Mr. Haffour's amendment under which the banning of submarine operations against merchantmen shall become immediately effective as among the five major powers.

SEES RECOVERY OF POLAND

American Business Man, Who Has Investigated, Says That Country Is Returning to Normal.

New York—Poland will be one of the first countries of central Europe to recover from the effects of the war, Francois de St. Phalle, vice president of the Baldwin Locomotive works and president of the Polish chamber of commerce in New York, said on his return from investigating conditions

Tientsin railway were still the sticking point. Japan persists in her demand that Chinese borrow the necessary tools from Japanese bankers, which, as has been explained, would mean a continuation of Japanese control of the road's operation. It was hoped, however, that this Shantung matter would be settled early this week through the "good offices" of Messrs. Hughes and Balfour.

The delegation from the Far Eastern republic, not being given a hearing by the conference, created something of a sensation by giving to the press copies of alleged secret notes and treaties revealing a military and political alliance between France and Japan for the purpose of establishing Japanese domination in Siberia and stabilizing French interests in Russia, and to frustrate America's policy in the Far East. The documents were declared to be fabrications, by both the French and the Japanese delegations, and the United States government stated it has no official information concerning any such agreement. But it is asserted there are in the files of the State department reports from American observers in a general way confirming the allegations of the China representatives, and there is talk of a senatorial investigation into the Siberian situation.

Later in the week the China delegates produced another document, this time an alleged treaty between the Japanese army in Siberia and Russian officers connected with Semenov, anti-Bolshevik leader, whereby the Japanese agreed to support with arms and money an offensive against the Chita republic. Baron Kato, in reply, admitted that a former Japanese cabinet paid Semenov a certain amount of cash to keep him in the field.

SENATOR HIRAM JOHNSON in an address in San Francisco set forth in considerable detail his objections to the Pacific peace treaty agreed to by the arms conference. He especially dislikes Article 2, which he thinks as bad as Article 10 of the League of Nations. Senator McNary of Oregon thinks the treaty offers a fine chance for settling the Philippines problem and when it comes before the senate he will offer this reservation: "The United States agrees within two years to grant complete independence to the people of the Philippine Islands, provided the high contracting parties will obligate themselves to respect the political independence and territorial integrity of the Philippine nation."

FRANCE'S attitude in the Washington conference had its reflection in the conference of the allied plenipotentiaries in Cannes, France, for the purpose of discussing German reparations and the economic welfare of Europe generally. Lloyd George went there apparently with the intention of making the improvement of Franco-British relations dependent on Briand's consent to plans for the economic rehabilitation of Germany and Russia. Briand and his staff were pledged to make France's reconstruction the basis for the rebuilding of Europe, but they found that they had the full support of Belgium alone. In an interview in the London Daily Mail Briand proposed a defensive alliance between Great Britain and France, and in a preliminary talk with Lloyd George he suggested that such an alliance was the only way in which the two nations could avoid a controversy over submarines and naval strength. It was said the British premier rebuffed the suggestion, and there is good reason to believe the British public would not stand for an alliance with France has made considerable concessions, especially concerning Germany and Russia.

Ambassador Harvey is present at the Cannes conference, but only in the capacity of official observer, for the United States has no vote and has taken the position that it will enter European affairs only when its interests directly are involved. While not concerned in the plans for payment of the reparations money or for a moratorium for Germany, the United States is decidedly interested in the proposal of a consortium for the reconstruction of central and eastern Europe because it involves the matters of markets and raw materials. The in the evolution of the present government to suit the theories and aspirations of the masses. "Future trade with Russia depends on the existence of a government which can be depended upon to honor its contracts and concessions." He said that, while people were dying in the famine-stricken Volga district, there is surplus in the Ukraine, but the Ukrainian peasant cannot be induced to part with it, saying the Volga region can give him nothing that he really wants in return.

meeting of the allied supreme council was opened on Thursday.

DEBATE on the Irish treaty was almost overshadowed in Dublin by the kidnapping, presumably by supporters of De Valera, of A. B. Kay, correspondent of the London Times, and by a hot discussion in the Dail Eireann concerning the freedom of the press, provoked by an attack on the Freeman's Journal because it advocated ratification of the pact. The correspondents united in a demand that Mr. Kay be released and that a public apology for his kidnapping be made in the Dail Eireann.

The strength of the opposition to the peace treaty in the Dail Eireann when it resounded after the holidays was unexpected. De Valera, Countess Markievicz and many others denounced the pact bitterly and were not at all abashed by the arguments of its supporters. On Wednesday De Valera issued a proclamation to the "People of Ireland" and also circulated copies of the "Document No. 2" shown of several of its clauses. This latter was De Valera's proposed alternative pact, and a fierce debate at once arose over whether it should be considered as an amendment to the treaty and voted on first, as De Valera wished, or whether a vote should first be taken on the treaty and, if it was unfavorable, then on the alternative. In the course of the row De Valera shouted that he was "going to move this amendment at my own time and in my own way," and when reminded this was a matter for the chair to decide he hotly retorted: "I am the president here and I am going to make my own rules of procedure in my own way and at my own time."

The alternative is not vastly different from the treaty arranged in London. It provides that the legislature, executive and judicial authority of Ireland shall be derived solely from the people of Ireland; that for the purpose of common concern Ireland shall be associated with the states of the British empire, with rights, status and privileges in no respect less than those states, and that for the purposes of the association Ireland shall recognize his Britannic majesty as head of the association. Most of the other terms are similar to those of the treaty.

THE death of Senator Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania not only deeply grieved his many friends and admirers, it also caused considerable dismay among those who do not approve of the so-called agricultural bloc in the senate. For Penrose was chairman of the senate finance committee and if the system of seniority is adhered to his successor in that place of power will be Senator McCumber of North Dakota, one of the charter members of the bloc. Penrose also was recognized as the leader of the conservative element in the senate, and in this position he is succeeded by Senator Watson of Indiana.

Gov. W. C. Sprout of Pennsylvania was urged by some Republicans to resign and accept appointment to fill out Penrose's unexpired term, but this he declined to do.

PRESIDENT and Mrs. Harding received the custom of holding a New Year's reception to the public, and all official Washington followed suit by keeping open house on Monday. Among the callers at the White House and guests at the diplomatic breakfast was Dr. Karl Lang, the newly arrived German charge d'affaires.

ACCORDING to a New York newspaper, Postmaster Will Hays has accepted the position of director general of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry which was offered him some time ago. It is said his contract is for three years at a salary of $150,000 a year. The association embraces in its membership all the motion picture producers in the country.

CUTTING down the estimates of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes by $750,000, the house appropriations committee recommended the appropriation of $9,250,000 for prohibition enforcement during the next fiscal year. This will provide for the employment of about 800 more agents. Mr. Haynes also wanted $750,000 to increase the salaries of agents to keep them honest, but this the committee refused.

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for this Department supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

FIGHTING PARSON IS LIKED

Rev. Earl Blackman, National Chaplain of American Legion, is Regarded as Man's Man.

"Fighting parsons" were common during the World war, but those who actually fought were not. Rev. Earl Blackman, Kansas, earned his sobriquet, however. He has been elected national chaplain of the American Legion.

To make fun for the boys while in France, Reverend Blackman offered to box a match with any chaplain of the A. E. F. of his weight. He wasn't chosen chaplain of the Legion for that reason, however, his followers declare. It was because "he is at all times a man's man and represents the liberal spirit of the organization."

Returning from France, Reverend Blackman resumed his pulpit in Chanute, Kan. One of his first acts was to attend a public dance. He didn't dance, but thoroughly enjoyed the fun. A protest came from his congregation and he resigned. His resignation wasn't accepted.

Then he began doing other things. He rigged up a gymnasium in the basement of his church and gave boxing lessons to the boys of the Sunday school. The church liked it.

Reverend Blackman refused offers from larger churches to stay with his pastorate in Chanute. His view of Sunday "blue laws" is characteristic: "To my mind the advocacy of such laws only serves to cheapen religion in the minds of the masses and tends to push it back into the superstitions of the past. What is rest and relaxation to the farmer may not be such to the bank clerk."

HONOR BRITISH WAR MOTHER

General Pershing Gives Her Kiss and American Legion Women Pay Tender Tribute.

The alliance between those who served the United States and Great Britain against the common enemy during the World war was further strengthened by a kiss from General Pershing and honors from an American war mother, before she sailed for return to the island kingdom.

Mrs. McCudden, mother of the noted major of the British air force who brought down more than 50 German planes and won the Victoria cross before he was killed, was sent to America to represent England's war mothers at the ceremonies for the unknown American soldier. At a banquet in Philadelphia in her honor, General Pershing upon being introduced leaned over and kissed Mrs. McCudden. In New York she was taken into membership of the American Legion auxiliary, composed of mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of the Legion, and the gold star of women whose relatives were killed was awarded her.

MANY LEGION MEN BACHELORS

Investigation Discloses Facts That Majority of Ex-Servicemen Prefer Single Blessedness.

Three years after the war 61.6 per cent of the former service men are still bachelors, according to Gray Waggett, adjutant of the Evanston (Ill.) post of the American Legion. Mr. Waggett has been conducting a campaign to gain information about Legionnaires in the Middle West, and bases his statistics on 100,000 replies received.

Of the 28.4 per cent who married American, French or German girls, 10 per cent have children.

The house owners totaled 13.8 per cent and the business owners aggregated 15.5 per cent; nevertheless 21.7 per cent are able to drive their own automobiles.

Legion posts, too, have the billeting fever, 44.5 per cent having permanent quarters now, while 28 per cent will get theirs in a short time.

These statistics apply only to that part of the country.

She Passed Up the Marines. Discovery that Mrs. Helen Ferguson Drexler was receiving $400 a month from the government in soldiers' allotment checks led to her arrest in Chicago. She is said to have had eleven husbands in the army and navy, but none in the marines.

No Time to Waste.

"Twas a dark and stormy evening. (They always are.) It was a new sentry post. (It usually is.) The relief, shattering all precedents, love in sight, but never a challenge came from the guard. The corporal, halting the relief, strode up to him. "Hey, you," he demanded angrily; "why the blinksy-blank didn't you halt us?" "Halt you, the devil!" snarled back the sentry. "You're half an hour late for your duty."—American Legion Weekly.

COMPENSATION BILL TO PASS

Five-Fold Measure Scheduled for Favorable Action by Congress During Present Session.

Cash, paid up insurance, vocational training, farm or home aid and land settlement are options offered World war veterans in the five-fold adjusted compensation bill which congress is expected to pass during its present session.

According to National Commander MacNider of the American Legion, who bases his statement on information given him by Senator McCumber, North Dakota, author of the bill in the senate, and Republican Forney, Michigan, who introduced the bill into the house, the legislation will become law during February, 1922.

The measure will become effective in July, 1922, as originally provided, Mr. MacNider believes. In connection with the bill, it is significant that the Legion has termed it "adjusted compensation" from the first, as against the common term of "bonuses."

When the bill becomes law, each ex-service man or woman will be entitled to any one of the following options: (1) Adjusted service pay, at the rate of $1 a day for home service and $1.25 for foreign service. Maximum of $500 for man without overseas service; $625 for man with overseas service.

(2) Adjusted service certificate (so called insurance feature), a paid-up 20-year endowment policy. The face value of this policy will be 3.35 times the amount that would be received in cash. The face value of this policy would be payable to the veteran at the end of 20 years, or if he dies before the expiration of 20 years, the face value would be paid to the beneficiary of the policy. Loan values are also provided for.

(3) Vocational training aid of $1.25 a day while taking a course in vocational training. The amount thus paid in no case would exceed 140 per cent of what would have been paid in cash.

(4) Farm or home aid, 140 per cent of what would be paid under option No. 1, if the money is used to purchase, improve or make payments on approved farm or city or suburban house.

(5) Land settlement. (A) Provides for the establishment of reclamation projects for the development and improvement of vacant land. This may be government land or may be land purchased by the government. If possible, projects will be located in each state, the state paying part of the purchase price of private lands bought for this purpose. Ex-service men to be employed on the project as far as possible.

(B) Provides for the sale of farm units on these projects when they are ready for settlement. Sale price is to include purchase price of land plus cost of improvements. Terms: part down, rest in 40 years at 5 per cent interest.

(C) Veterans may have their adjusted service pay applied as first payment on this land.

Carrying On With the American Legion

Families of police killed by Wichita (Kan.) handits received the proceeds from a Legion benefit show.

Some $4,000 of the W. C. T. U.'s war-time fund has been turned over to the American Legion to aid sick and wounded.

Sale of tags bearing the name of Worthington, Minn., is being made by the local post of the Legion to advertise the town.

Bulletins and special announcements of the New York Legion will be sent by the Westinghouse Electric company's radio-telephones.

Bay Shore (N. J.) post of the Legion owns and publishes a weekly newspaper which devotes most of its space to local and county affairs.

Punishment of draft evaders to prevent wholesale evasion in another war is recommended by Major General Harris, adjutant general of the army.

Canoes will carry delegates from Realdiff, Minn., at the head of the Mississippi river, to the annual Legion convention next fall at New Orleans.

Protest against the use of the American flag for commercial purposes has been made by the Warsaw post of the American Legion, department of Poland.

Increase in vocational training for former soldiers costs the government $2,000,000 more now than before September, 1921, according to Director Forbes of the veterans' bureau.

Tubercular and nervous former service men will not receive the million dollars proposed in an amendment to the deficiency appropriation bill. The amendment was canceled and the hospital residant will not be erected.

"He needs the money and I can pay him." Is the statement of an ex-soldier who has asked the Oklahoma American Legion to locate Ollie Kendall, formerly of the One hundredth and fourth infantry, Thirty-fifth division. The questioner borrowed a "book of frames" from Kendall while in France and fears that Kendall and his wife and children may be in straitened circumstances.

Tomnies and decks of Minnesota school children will help rebuild the village of Belleau, France. The move is sponsored by the American Legion and J. M. Connell, commissioner of education.

Displacement of the bodies of American soldiers buried in Brest, France, has been completed. The American Legion has been notified. The 1480 bodies not requested to be returned to relatives here have been divided among the four permanent cemeteries for American soldiers in France.

EDITORIAL

OUR FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE

You don't appreciate your weekly newspaper as you should. But we are not quite so charitable to our neighbors as the editor of the Hilight Homesteader.

The Hilight (Wyo.), Homesteader is published 2 miles from any town or other newspaper. Frontier newspapers such as this render a service to the state which is not fully appreciated.

Editors in these far scattered towns make a nation such as the United States possible.

Our people, from Maine to Washington and from Florida to California are held together under one flag largely by the power of the country press in making neighbors, from the standpoint of information and news, of the most distant sections of the land.

In what other manner could 105,000,000 people, scattered over approximately 3,000,000 square miles, be held so closely together as through the information constantly disseminated by our twenty-one thousand newspapers?

The editor of the Homesteader is typical of the rural publisher who is rendering an invaluable service to this country.

TAX EXEMPTION LOOPHOLE

As it becomes increasingly difficult for private industry to finance itself, due to the vast amounts of money that are being absorbed by tax exempt bonds of the government, states, counties and cities, public demand is more insistent that the tax-exemption privilege be repealed.

Not only does industry suffer, but the government is losing millions in taxes which should be paid on income derived from such bonds.

What justice is there in a wealthy man buying $100,000 worth of tax-exempt bonds and thus escape all taxes from the income he receives, when the man who puts $100,000 into an industry which employs many people and involves large risks, must pay every known form of taxation that can be invented.

Government securities are the safest in the world, and this fact alone is sufficient inducement for capital to invest, without removing all tax features to the great detriment of the government and industry.

A NATION OF OIL BURNERS

Supposing the motor loving United States was dependent on foreign corporations and supplies for its oil and gas?

The little gasoline shortage in 1920 was a mild sample of conditions which would result, not to mention the increased price we would pay.

It would be about as hard for us to get on comfortably without gasoline as without shoes.

We have had timely warning that this country as the world's greatest oil user must maintain its place as the world's greatest oil producer.

To that end every legitimate government encouragement should be extended to this industry to see that it has every incentive and opportunity to produce and develop oil resources.

TAXATION AND HAZARD

All taxation systems, when applied to the oil or mining industries, should consider the hazard involved in investment in those industries, and not alone the reward being earned at the time of the tax levy.

That reward must be commensurate with the risk undertaken. If the consideration suggested is not shown, then still more difficult will it be to finance such hazardous enterprises, with consequent loss to the world of much new wealth.

PINK-TINTED FEMININE TOES TO BE NEW FAD WITHIN TWO YEARS

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Pink-tinted feminine toes will make their appearance on the main streets of the nation within two years, it was predicted at the National Retail Shoe Association convention here.

The fascinating Cleopatra pinked her—why not next year's flapper ask forward looking men in the shoe business who observe a decided tendency on the part of the stylish young women of today to display "more and more ankle and less and less shoe."

"In less than two years our girls will be almost barefooted—by choice," predicted K. M. Stone, importer and manufacturer, of New York.

Tingling bells on galoshes have been accepted without undue excitement in biased Sioux City, according to dispatches, and, say the shoe men, the advent of the protruding toe will be accepted by the nation with equal equanimity.

"Girls of tomorrow will pay as much attention to their feet as to their hair," predicted K. M. Stone, importer and manufacturer, of New York. "In the last five years they have progressed more in shoe styles than in 25 years before. That's why I predict protruding toes as the rage within two years."

COUNTY ATTORNEYS CONVENTION TO OPEN TOMORROW

Arrangements have been completed for the annual convention of the County Attorneys Association of Arizona, to be held in Nogales, tomorrow and Saturday.

The delegates will be met at Tucson early tomorrow morning and brought to Nogales in automobiles.

The first business session will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the courthouse, a banquet will be given in honor of the visitors at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Cosmopolitan Cafe in Nogales, Sonora, and business sessions will be held Saturday. A number of the visitors will remain over for the annual convention of the Arizona Good Roads Association, Monday and Tuesday.

County Attorney A. H. DeGieter is in receipt of word from two-thirds of the county attorneys of the state that they will be here for the convention. Besides the county attorneys, there will be present representatives of the attorney general's office, and the office of the United States attorney in Arizona.

GOOD ROADS MEETING

The next annual meeting of the Arizona Good Roads Association will be held Monday and Tuesday, January 23 and 24, 1922, at Nogales. The meeting will be called to order at 1:30 p. m. at the Santa Cruz Club.

Governor Francisco S. Elias of Sonora will be a guest of the association. The county should be fully represented. It is expected that this meeting will be one of the largest and most advantageous meetings ever held by the organization.

Governor Thomas E. Campbell will address the convention. Mayor James A. Harrison of Nogales, T. G. Norris of Prescott, H. M. Claggett and others will speak.

THE STATE AND INDUSTRIES

The professional politician is not dead nor reformed. His activities are still cast on the side of industrial de-structivism. He does not seem to realize that he is a luxury only to be supported permanently by a continuously prosperous commonwealth. Colleges are even establishing departments to invent and promote new forms of taxation aid to avert multiplication of legislation as though business were not already legislated and regulated to a state where locomotor ataxia and St. Vitus dance would be comparatively athletic qualifications. In one little factory in a western state where one man manufactures fish kegs, seventeen deputies and inspectors called inside of three months on state and federal tours of paternalistic supervision, collecting fees and requiring reports, all riding in publicly paid motor cars and burning gas paid for by the taxpayers and the industries.

COMMERCIALIZING HIGHWAYS

We have all been good roads boost-ers from Maine to California and hundreds of millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money have been spent to build what would have been considered perfect roads five years ago.

Today our hard-surfaced roads are being torn up by truck traffic just about as rapidly as our one-lane roads were torn up by automobile traffic from 7 to 10 years ago.

It is a question of how far the state is going to go in providing permanent highways to be destroyed by overloaded commercial vehicles long before the bond issues, which built the roads, have been paid off.

Richard Kunde of Red Rock and O. A. de la Osa of Lochiel were Patagonia visitors last Wednesday.

Additional Locals

"Black Jack" Gardner, well known miner and prospector, who has been in Denver for some time visiting friends, returned to Patagonia Wednesday. He will leave soon for the hills of Alto, where he has charge of some mining property that is idle at present.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Heazel and wife of Tucson were in Patagonia Tuesday and remained over night as guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Kenward.

Chester Brundine of the local ice and light plant visited Nogales and Amado-ville Wednesday.

Mr. Ed Bollinger was a business visitor to Nogales Wednesday.

"Today you can't give shoes away. Girls won't wear shoes. They want slippers, low slippers—the lower the better. Skirts, high, slippers low, that is the idea. As much ankle as possible must be shown. The tendency everywhere is toward sandals and slippers with straps where the leather used to be. The less leather in the slipper the better it will sell. It is only another step to the protruding toe. 'Tickle, Tickle, Toe Heel!'"

"You have a little chance. I venture to say Mark Anthony thought so. You will soon see our girls dabbling their toes with henna and washing their feet as often as they now wash their face."

"Silk stockings our girls will six-year wear. But when the toes are revealed the stockings will be sheer—very sheer."

The corrugated brows of many of the 10,000 delegates are the direct result, it was said, of Miss America's sudden abhorrence for wind fathers and husbands who paid the bills for merely knew as the shub. What to do—sell slippers and sandals exclusively or turn foot manufacturers, that seems to be the question.

25 LOCAL TEACHERS TO ATTEND SCHOOL NEXT SUMMER

"Now, who gets the benefit from this continuous study and preparation on the part of our teachers? The teacher, it is true, gets her share but the children of our city are the ones for whom this preparation is made and it is they who are directly benefited. There is no other group of professional or hired people in the city which has so large a percentage of its group attending summer courses at the personal expense of its members. If one asks how teachers are spending the money that has come from the salary increases they have received, the question is partly answered by these facts.

"This recognition by teachers themselves that the teacher must always be a learner has even approached and is convincing evidence that the teachers of our schools clearly recognize the obligation to confirm and justify the confidence that the public has expressed in them and their work."

"In the Nogales public schools there are twenty-five teachers who have already signified their intention of taking summer courses next summer," said Supt. G. H. Madden of the city schools when interviewed today.

"This number is fifty-four per cent of the teachers employed. There were fourteen Nogales teachers in summer school last year. The average expenses of those who attended last summer were three hundred and fifty dollars. Most of the teachers could have returned to their homes last summer and lived without additional expense instead of going to summer school. This means that twenty-five teachers will spend approximately $8,500 next summer going to school.

"This is ten per cent of their yearly income spent in preparing themselves for more efficient work. We must bear in mind, at the same time, that this is for additional training above the generally recognized standard of every teacher in the Nogales public schools, with one exception, has already the equivalent of a state normal or university education.

The GIRLA HORSE AND A DOG By FRANCIS LYNDE

FROM a silver-spoon and soft-mattress existence, Stanford Broughton suddenly is confronted with the alternative of looking for a job, or another kind of quest, try and locate a mysterious legacy left him by an eccentric grandfather. He does not know the character of the property, but the grandfather's directions say that it is somewhere between the 105th and 110th degrees of longitude west from Greenwich, and the 35th and 40th degrees north latitude. When he finds it he will be able to identify it by the presence of a girl with brown hair and blue eyes, a small mole on her left shoulder, a piebald horse and a dog with a split face—half black and half white. He is game and he starts to look for the combination. The troubles he has in locating it and the adventures and dangers through which he passes in securing possession of the property, also the romantic incidents in which the girl is a figure, make up this very fascinating narrative. It is Mr. Lynde's habit to tell stories like this, and there are readers in multitudes who would be sorry to have him depart from the custom.

Novice Aviator Lost On Arizona Desert

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Jan. 19.—Lieut. Gilpin of El Paso, novice aviator, is believed to be lost or to have met with an accident on the desert near Wilcox, Ariz., while attempting a flight from Tucson, Ariz., to El Paso, Tex., it was reported by Rex Smith, an aviator who arrived here yesterday.

With only three hours' training, Smith said, Gilpin hopped off from Tucson Tuesday in a newly acquired airplane, announcing his destination as El Paso. He had gasoline enough to last only several hours. A report from Wilcox said he passed over that town at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening. A search was begun but no trace of Gilpin had been found.

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 19.—Brigadier General R. L. Howze, commander of the first cavalry division at Fort Bliss last night said he was prepared to send a fleet of airplanes to search Charles W. Gilpin, El Paso amateur aviator, reported lost on the desert near Wilcox, Ariz. General Howze said he would send out the patrol immediately upon being officially notified Gilpin is lost. "Whether the flyer is in the military service or not makes no difference to us so long as human life is in danger," the general added. No word concerning Gilpin's whereabouts had been received in El Paso up to a late hour last night.

MURDER MYSTERY AT PHOENIX CLEARED UP

PHOENIX, Jan. 19.—John Knight, of Wichita Falls, was not murdered. He died from thirst, heat and fright, while struggling along the dry channel of the Hassayampa river, and his body was borne away by a summer flood in the stream. This is the conclusion reached by Sheriff John Montgomery of Maricopa county, after six months of searching and investigation following the death of the Texan.

"Knight on his way from Wichita Falls, Texas, to Los Angeles, stopped at El Paso and Juarez," said Sheriff Montgomery. "Then he drove on to Lordsburg. The next day he was in Tucson, where he had repairs made on his car and continued on to Florence, a drive of 280 miles. Telling that he was in a great hurry to reach the coast, he left Florence at 6 o'clock on the morning of July 9, arriving in Phoenix at 9:30 the same morning,

CHAPTER XVII.

Bill Dale Laughs.

Bill Dale sat thinking of what he had done there in the Big Pine country. From the stone-and-cinder chimneys of the cabins of the Littlefords on the other side of the river the howling wind snatched sprays of blue wood-smoke. The Morelands had gone to farms lying around Carversville in the lowland, on each of which a fair-sized first crop had been made, the borrowed capital was to remain borrowed for another year. The Morelands were steadily losing their outlandishness and growing into universal respect. David Moreland's dream was at last being realized.

Then Dale frowned heavily. If only he could do as much for Babe's people! But he couldn't. The men of the Littlefords still worked the coal mine. They received almost twice the customary wages, but even that wouldn't buy them farms and educate their children.

Under his eyes lay two unanswerable letters from his parents. He found little pleasure in answering their letters, for he was still somewhat bitter toward them—toward his father because of his father's ill treatment of David Moreland and David Moreland's people; toward his mother because she had let him go hungry for mother-love as a baby, as a child, as a boy, and as a man; toward them both because he had been reared a do-nothing.

The door opened suddenly, and By Heck came stamping in with a gust of cold air at his back. He carried in one hand the mail satchel; in the other was his ever-present rifle. After throwing the satchel to the floor at Dale's feet, he turned to the glowing wood stove.

"I'm dang high friz, Bill," he chattered. "My gosh, I couldn't be no colder'n what I'm in! I'd ha' 'em the north pole necked. Say, Bill, why'n't ye turn out 'stid o' wood? 'Iod, it's luffin'."

"Coal is worth money, Wood isn't." Dale ran through the mail hastily. He threw aside a letter from the Alexander Crayfield Coal corporation, which took the entire output of the mine at an extraordinary figure, and picked up a letter which bore the postmark of his home city.

It was from Babe Littleford. Since he paid so little attention to the letters of his parents, they had requested him to come home for Christmas dinner. Wouldn't he come?

He arose and paced the office floor for two or three minutes, then he sat down at his desk and dashed off a letter that contained only two sentences.

By Heck sat beside the stove and watched his god with thoughtful eyes. He understood, he believed. How any woman on earth could turn down a man like Bill Dale was utterly beyond him. By Heck was a great deal like a good-natured dog. . . .

If Bill would only laugh, it would be good for him. It had been so long since he had heard Bill laugh. By Heck decided that he would make Bill Dale laugh.

"Old boy?"

"Well?"

"Do ye want me to tell ye a funny tale?" drawled Heck. He barely heard the answer:

"I guess I don't mind, By."

Heck's sympathy made him gulp. But he swallowed the lump that came up in his throat and began bravely:

"One time the was a feller named Smith, Odd name, Bill, ain't it? 'Hossly' Smith, they called him, 'cause it was said 'at he could easy shoot a hossly off'n a hoss's ear and never break hide on the animal. He was a hellion, too. One time Hossly, he was a-tryin' to git appointed the chairman o' some sort o' politics doins, and on that same day he was a-drinkin' sort o' to'able heavy. They agreed to make him the temporary chairman, but Hossly, he didn't want that. So he hops right up in the middle o' the meetin', and he hollers out and says:

"Feller citizens," he says, 'I want to be the permanent chairman! I ain't a-goin' to act in the capacity of a durned temporary chairman; I also—a-lottery ain't it?"

"His odd name, By Wright, he yells back and says smart-like: 'Set down that, Hossly,' says he—'you're drunk, and you don't know the difference a-ween temporary and permanent'."

"Well, they 'knowed Eb had it a-counin' to him right then, and they letted 'em to it. Hossly, he addresses the whole meetin', and this here is what Hossly says:

"Feller citizens," says he, 'Eb Wright here 'toves I don't know the difference a-ween temporary and permanent. I'll prove to you that I do know the difference. Eb Wright says I'm drunk, I say, 'That's temporary, Eb Wright is a joke-nosed idjit. That's permanent'!"

Heck finished with a hazy laugh: "Haw, haw, haw! Hee-haw, hee-haw!"

"That funny," Dale said wearily, "has been told on dozens of politicians. It has become a part of the history of this state."

"Well, my gosh!" moaned By Heck. He thought deeply for a moment, decided that Bill Dale wouldn't laugh at the story of Tom Jones' pig—which had drunk all of a gallon-pail of buttermilk and then gone to sleep in the well-sown field—and went on:

"Here's one, by Jake, 'at ain't been told on dozens o' politicians. And every word of it is the solemn, dyin' death-bed truth, too.

"One time I was out in the mountains a-huntin', a-goin' along slow and a-lookin' fo' a squirrel, when all of a sudden I hears a skeery noise right ahead o' me in the laurels—Z-z-z-z-z-z-z-z-z-z! Jest like that. I stops. I stops a-lookin' still. I looks keen. That was a den o' rattlers, and the very least one was as big around as my left hand leg! Then I hears a terrible growl right ahead o' me. I looks keen. That stands a big old she-bear with her teeth a-showin', and two cross-eyed cubs! Then I hears a widdle at my left. I looks keen. That stands a she-panther as big as a hoss, with her eyes jest a-blazin'! Then I hears a spittin' sound out to my right. I looks keen. That was seven full-grown wild-cats, and all of 'em had been bit by a mad dawg! Some fix to be in? Yeah; some fix!

"Well, I thinks to myself. Ef I shoots the rattlers, I thinks to myself, the bear and the panther and the wild-cats'll git me. And ef I shoots the she-panther, the rattlers and the wild-cats'll git me. And ef I shoots the rattlers and the bear'll git me. And ef I shoots the wild-cats, the rattlers and the bear'll git me. And ef I don't shoot none o' 'em, they'll all git me! Some ogoddy fix wasn't it, Bill? Now, how do ye reckon I got out of it?"

Bill Dale only smiled. "I can't imagine, By," he said.

"I can't imagine, neither," grinned Heck. "But anyhow, I'm alive today. Well, now that ye're in a good humor one time more, I'll tell ye some news. I intend to ruffle ye up like a yaller goose a-flyin' back'ards whilst ye was so cussed, dang'd blue. Bill, old boy, it ain't but five days outel Christmas. A lot of them Sawth Caliner Turners from Turner's Laurel is a-visitin' their kinfolks, the Balls, and they'll every disabuted one o' em git drunk on white lightning! Hecker fo' Christmas, and—they'll shore think o' Black Adam. The Morelands ain't with ye no more, Bill, rickollect; only the Littlefords is here now."

Bill Dale rose and stood there staring at By Heck with eyes so bright that they sparkled.

"If they came down on us looking for trouble, I'd be a sort of clan chief, wouldn't I?" he asked. Without waiting for an answer: "I wouldn't mind that, y'know. I've got a letter here, By, that I want you to put aboard the next southbound train that passes the Halfway switch. You've got about an hour; can you make it?"

"Ef the world was made in six days, by God, it shorely looks like By Heck could make six miles in a hour, don't it?"

The tall hillman left the Moreland Coal company's office with the letter in one hand, his rifle in the other, and tears of joy in his eyes.

For Bill Dale had laughed, actually laughed.

By Heck put the letter on the train. The train carried it to Bill Dale's home city, and the postman carried it to the stately mansion of Old Coat King John Dale.

"Believe me, I am very appreciative of your invitation. But I am having Christmas with your mother, here in my own country."

Bill Dale bore himself proudly, and he rode like a man born to the saddle. He found a queer joy—a joy that brightened his steel-grey eyes and flushed his sunburned cheeks, a joy that he didn't even attempt to understand—in the thought:

"For this one day I am a clan chief; I am leading my own people against a foe, in my own country."

And so overwhelmingly did the idea take hold of him that he whistled, even then, for the repeater that awaited him at his office back in the heart of the mountains. These his conscience and flushed his sunburned cheeks, a joy that he didn't even attempt to understand—in the thought:

"As I told you, Jimmy, I don't—"

He interrupted almost sharply: "I know you don't love me. But you'll learn to—after you've seen how much I shall adore you."

He made a move as though to take her into his arms, and she shrank from him; she had done that same thing, dozens of times before. . . .

With unseeing eyes Elizabeth watched Mrs. Dale step from her room at the porte-cochere and go into the house. Jimmy Payne, too, saw Mrs. Dale, but he was wholly unaffected by the sight of her; Mrs. Dale, somehow, did not object to his seeing the girl quite as much as she had once objected.

"Jimmy," after a long silence, said the elder Moreland turned quickly to his two stalwart sons—

"Guns and horses, boys! It'll be our last fight, and let's be at it and make it a good fight."

Less than five minutes later the three erstwhile mountaineers rode out at the livery yard with full belts of cartridges around their waists and with repeating rifles across the points of their saddles, and joined Dale, the four huddled to the homes of the other Morelands; and not long afterward the old clan, in full strength, rode toward the big, dim-bled hills with Bill Dale acting as its leader. It was to be the clan's last fight, and a fight for a good cause, and every man of it was eager for the fray. . . .

Bill Dale bore himself proudly, and he rode like a man born to the saddle. He found a queer joy—a joy that brightened his steel-grey eyes and flushed his sunburned cheeks, a joy that he didn't even attempt to understand—in the thought:

both white and helpers and suffering, but still full of the old Littleford fighting spirit.

Dale seized his Winchester and belt of cartridges from the hands of the man who had brought them to him, and turned to the others. A bullet crashed through the wall and struck the door at his feet; he paid no attention to it.

"Listen to me, boys," Dale was bawling his overbarged with rapid, steady fingers. "From where they are hiding, the Balls and Turners can hardly see the lower story of this building. We'll go downstairs, open the front door, and run to the edge of the laurels at the foot of the mountain. Then we'll turn to the right, make a wide detour, and get above the Ball outfit; we'll be fighting downhill instead of uphill. Get me? Are you all ready?"

To a man, they were ready.

They reached the thick undergrowth without being seen by the enemy. While the Balls and Turners fired now or less aimlessly at the building, drank white whiskey and called themselves for the surrender to them of Bill Dale, Bill Dale and his men were making their way steadily in a wide half-circle up the side of David Moreland's mountain.

Half an hour after they had left the office building, Dale had stationed his men, deployed as a line of skirmishers, behind sheltering trees some two hundred feet above the Balls and their kinmen.

John Moreland, Ben Littleford and Bill Dale were not far apart. "It's a shame to do it," said Dale. "I swear, we can't shoot men in the back like this."

John Moreland twisted his mouth into a queer smile of contempt, and it was almost a sneer. "You might go down him and give 'em some candy, and kiss 'em, and ax 'em wouldn't they please surrender?"

Dale leaned around his tree, a great quivered chestnut, and called loudly: "You've got a chance to surrender now—and you'd certainly better take it quick!"

One of those below yelled surprisedly: "Where you?" Then they all whipped to the other side of their sheltering timber.

The answer came at once: "I'm Bill Dale, and I'm proved! You're at the mercy of the finest hill clan that ever looked along rifle barrels; will you surrender, or fight it out?"

"You're on!" growled Bill Dale, slipping his rifle out beside the tree. "Give 'em a—, boys!"

He was amused to this sort of thing, and he was incautious. He showed a little too much of himself—there was a sudden keen report from below, and a bullet hole appeared in the rim of his hat! John Moreland fired the next shot, and he broke the right arm of the man who had just fired at Bill Dale. This opened the battle in earnest.

REALLY GENIAL OLD FRAUD

South Sea Native Proud of Useless Knowledge of English and Equally Useless Fountain Pen.

Humal, the native conside of a lonely South Sea atoll, was the only one who made any heavy social demands upon me. He had once made a journey from Papeete to San Francisco as a stoker on one of the mail boats, and was immensely proud of the few English phrases which he had picked up during the voyage.

He didn't know the meaning of the word, but that made no difference. He could put on "side" before the others, make them believe that he was carrying on an intelligent conversation. "What's the matter?" "Oh, yes," "Never mind," were among his favorite expressions—musically mild ones, it seemed to me, for one who had been associated with a crowd of cockney stokers—and he brought them out apropos of nothing.

He was an expensively old hypocrite, but a genial one, and I couldn't help replying to some of his feints at conversation. Once, out of curiosity, wondering what his reply would be, I said, "Humal, you're the worst old four-flusher in the seventy-two islands, aren't you?" He smiled and nodded, and came back with the most telling of all his phrases. "You go to h—, h—!" On that occasion it was also, I thought with some reason, a happy day for me, for I was able to reply.

Clipped to his undershirt he wore a fountain pen, which was as much a part of his costume on these dreary occasions as his dungaree trousers and sandals. It had a broken, pointed nib, was always dry, and Humal could hardly write his own name. No matter. He would no more have forgotten his pen than a French soldier his cross de guerre.—James Nor-din Hall in Harper's Magazine.

Magnificent English Seal.

The highwater mark for English official seals was reached in the magnificent seal of Henry IV, which was also used by his two successors. The matrix is of gold and is a marvel of the goldsmith's art. Not only does this seal take impressions amongst seals, but it is also often printed in its own right. It was made in 1405. A fine framework on the obverse side divides with nicety and compass the space into numerous compartments containing no less than 21 figures. Besides the charges on the shields and banners, herein is reflected the perpendicular style of architecture just beginning to assert itself. The figures all have a political significance to convey.

Alan Wron, one of the most careful writers on the Great Seals of England, discovers in the work the desire of impressing upon the people the claim of Henry V to the English throne.

Nellie Maxwell

Vast Wealth in City Street.

The Chaplain Church, or "Silver Street," is the main bazaar of Detroit, and one of the richest streets in the world. Many of its shops are occupied by jewelers, whose hands of brilliant stones represent fabulous sums.

WHAT TO EAT

While strawberries are still in the market, many housewives can them for use when they are out of season. To one quart of the berries add one cupful of cold water, cook slowly, straining until smooth. Press through a colander, measure, and add equal quantity of sugar; seal while hot. Less sugar will be all right for keeping. If one does not like them so sweet.

Pecan Nut Loaf.—Mix one cupful of hot boiled rice, one cupful of pecan nuts finely chopped, one cupful of cracker crumbs, one egg well beaten, one cupful of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of paprika, a few dashes of cayenne. Mix well and turn into a well-buttered bread pan. Pour over one tablespoonful of butter and bake in a moderate oven one hour. Turn on a hot platter, garnish the top with parsley and pour around the following sauce: Cook three tablespoonfuls of butter with two slices of onion three minutes, stirring constantly. Add three tablespoonfuls of flour and stir until well blended, then pour on gradually, stirring constantly, one and one-half cupfuls of milk. Bring to the boiling point and cook two minutes. Season with salt and pepper and strain.

Pineapple Pie.—Bake a pastry shell and fill with the following: Scald a can of graded pineapple in a double boiler; sift three tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, half a teaspoonful of salt, one cupful of sugar until thoroughly mixed, then add to the hot pineapple mixture and cook until smooth and thick. Cover and cook 15 minutes; add two tablespoonfuls of butter, the juice and rind of half a lemon, mix well and turn into the pastry shell. Cover with a meringue and brown in the oven.

Baked Stuffed Apples.—Core and peel enough apples to serve the family. Place in a baking dish and fill the cavities with sugar mixed with cinnamon, chopped raisins and butter. Add a little water and bake until tender, basting often. Serve as a dessert with cream.

Let us have enough strength to be sweet, enough sweetness to be strong and too much of both to be noisy.

SOME GOOD THINGS

One of the best tomato soups is made as follows: Fry one tablespoonful each of butter, onion and parsley for five minutes. Add one tablespoonful of cornstarch, and when well cooked add one quart of tomatoes, one pint of boiling water, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper, four cloves and four peppercorns. Cook 15 minutes, strain and serve.

Cream of Chestnut Soup.—Take one pint of chestnuts, shell and blanch. Cook until tender and press through a sieve. To two cupfuls of chestnut pulp add salt and pepper to season. Take one cupful each of milk and cream, two tablespoonfuls of butter, the same of flour; cook with the milk until smooth and thick, add the cream, chestnut mixture and when very hot serve.

Minute Soup.—Take one cupful of bread crumbs, one tablespoonful of butter, one onion grated, salt, pepper and poultry dressing, one and one-half cupfuls of rich cream, three cupfuls of boiling water. Simmer one minute, and serve with crackers.

Baked Apples With Quince.—Quince honey may be used when the fresh fruit is not to be bought. Prepare as many apples as will be used, remove the cores, then peel them. Place in a baking dish, and in the center of each place a piece of fresh quince or a spoonful of the preserved fruit. Pour over a thick sleep of sugar or honey; add a little water and a piece of lemon rind; bake until the apples are tender, then add a little butter and continue to bake until well done.

Friendship Village Muffins.—Take two eggs, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, two of lard, one cupful of milk, salt, and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Add flour to make a batter like griddle cakes and put into muffin pans to bake. Bake in a hot oven. One cupful of corn meal may be used for corn muffins, adding one cupful of flour.

Yolks of eggs left over from cake making may be used to enrich soups, puddings and sauces. Yolks of eggs may be used in custards; to make the place of cream for puddings, sauces and desserts.

Help Your Kidneys Fight That Cold!

Winter Colds and Chills Weaken the Kidneys and Are the Direct Cause of Many Serious Kidney Disorders

Is winter-time your backache-time? Does every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you lame, achy and all worn out? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going another day?

Then look to your kidneys! Grip, colds and chills throw a heavy strain on the kidneys. They overload the blood with poisons and impurities that the kidneys have to filter off.

It's little wonder then, that every cold finds you suffering with torturing backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities.

But don't worry! Simply realize that your kidneys are overworked at such times and need assistance. Get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills today and give your weakened kidneys the help they need.

"Use Doan's," Say These Good Folks:

A. C. SAMMON, Railroad Station Agent, Main St., Buena Vista, Colo., says: "I caught cold and it affected my kidneys; the kidney secretions were highly colored. I bought Doan's Kidney Pills and two boxes regulated my kidneys."

MRS. L. L. BROWNING, 214 W. Cedar St., Deming, N. M., says: "Several years ago my back was bothering me and my kidneys were out of order. The trouble was brought on by a cold which settled on my kidneys. It seemed as though my back would never stop aching. Any housework like sweeping or dusting, which required stooping, was almost unbearable. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in the family with success, so I tried them. They soon removed all the trouble."

'I ain't doing no particular good. Tens like the doctor and the neighbors don't understand my case. Some says one thing about it and some says something else. I'll be dogged if I don't get to sorter wondering whether none of 'em have got any sense. I don't like to disappoint my friends, though, and I hate to waste what I pay the doctor for. So I've took enough of one thing and further to that a boat, and have kinda got the notion that what's the matter with me is simply what's the matter with 'em, and there ain't no—[it]—help for it."—Kansas City Star.

MOTHER! OPEN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP. Your little one will love the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" even if constipated, bilious, irritable, feverish, or full of cold. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the sour bile, and undigested food out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

How's Your Appetite? Headache? Weak? Good Looks Follow Good Health. Saratoga, Texas.—"A year ago I tried several different medicines, but kept getting worse, and felt that I never would have good health again. I became so poor and weak I could hardly do my housework. I suffered from loss of appetite, headache, constipation, shortness of breath, also functional disturbances. Sometimes I would have spells of indigestion and weak sick spells and thought I would die. I never expected to be well any more. At last I wrote to Dr. Pierce and he advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets (sold by druggists) and now I can truthfully say I am in better health than I have been suffering as I did to take Dr. Pierce's medicines. If there are any medicines on earth that will help women who are broken-down in health, these will."—Mrs. Winnie Comer.

FRANCIS LYNDE
Francis Lynde is another example of "When a Man Comes to Himself," the title of an excellent little book which ex-President Wilson wrote for young men some years ago.
He was born at Lewiston, N. Y., in 1856, went to Denver as a young man, got him a job on a railroad, married a nice young woman and sailed along in obscurity until he was thirty-seven years old.
Then he woke up and took his pen in hand. What he had to say didn't strike the nation appreciably during the first five years. In 1898 he wrote three novels within 12 months, each one of which was a ten-seller. After that it was easy.
Mr. Lynde has romanticized the railroads of the West and written many other fascinating tales of that region.
We have been fortunate enough to secure his late story, "The Girl, a Horse and a Dog," as interesting as its title implies, for serial reproduction in this publication. You must read it!

NEW JUAREZ BREWERY BRINGS LARGE CROWD

JUAREZ, Jan. 19—Hundreds of home brewers, who have delved into the mysteries produced by hops, raisins, yeast, old nails, wood alcohol and such things since Mr. Volstead slipped the lid on third emporiums in the United States, were among the thousands who Tuesday afternoon quaffed an amber and red liquid at the formal opening of the Juarez brewery and pronounced it good. It was praised from experts.
R. W. Long, president of the Juarez Brewing association, estimated at a o'clock that 5,000 people had been giving free drinks—and more were swarming into the grounds. So great was the crowd police reserves had to be called out. They manned the doors into the room in which the free beer was handed out. A hundred were let in at a time, and after they had wet their parched tongues they were asked to leave to make room for another quota.
One thousand pounds of meat were used for sandwiches and there wasn't half enough to go 'round, as the number of visitors was greater than expected.
Early in the afternoon 100 barrels of beer had been given away. The cost to the brewery was estimated at $2,400.
The new brewery cost $200,000. It has a capacity of 60,000 barrels annually.

WITNESS RECALLED IN ARBUCKLE TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19—Miss Zey Prevost was suddenly recalled from the stand today when the prosecution declared it was "surprised at her testimony" in the manslaughter trial of Roscoe Arbuckle.
Miss Prevost testified that she "did not remember" a number of salient points in her testimony at the previous trial.
Adjournment was taken for dinner to give the court an opportunity to look into the surprise features of Prevost testimony, and also the failure of certain witnesses to appear.

LONDON, Jan. 19—Pope Benedict's fever was somewhat diminished today, but absolute quiet and rest are still necessary for him. A Central News dispatch from Rome today quotes a statement of attending physicians.
"The pope is troubled by persistent coughing and pain in the head and chest, and by weakness, but continued in high spirits," the statement said.

EX-MINISTER TO FAR EAST
DISCUSSES NEW TREATY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19—The wisdom of American participation in the four-power treaty adopted at the Washington conference to preserve peace in the Pacific can be judged only by the results obtained in its disposal of remaining questions of the far east. Dr. Paul S.
Reinsch, former minister to China, declared today in an address before the National Popular Government League.
Reinsch, who is counselor for the Chinese government, asserted that the "enthusiasm" with which this country's signing of the treaty was received in "certain quarters" should give warning of expectation or hope "that the United States thereby" will support or at least condone aggressive actions and policies of one or other partners in the mainland of Asia.

WILL HAYS TO QUIT CABINET ON MARCH 4

NEW YORK, Jan. 19—Will H. Hays

New National Association of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors
"immediately after March 4," it was announced last night at a dinner at which the postmaster general was guest of a group of motion picture officials. Mr. Hays' resignation from the cabinet will be presented soon, it was said.
Mr. Hays announced he had signed a contract which makes him executive head of the organization. His salary is reported as tentatively fixed at $150, 000 a year, was not announced.
"The purposes of this association will be to attain and maintain the highest possible standard of motion picture production and to develop to the highest degree the moral and educational value of the industry,"
Mr. Hays said.
"I believe in the earnestness and integrity of their determination to carry out these purposes and am convinced of the production of large plays and successful consumption.
My service will begin immediately after March fourth."
A statement issued by the producers expressed confidence in Mr. Hays' ability to direct the industry to its predestined place of importance in the civilization of today and tomorrow.
"The public will find we will follow the leadership of Mr. Hays with faithfulness and enthusiasm which we have never failed to inspire," it continued.
"We are both proud and happy in our association with Mr. Hays and we look forward to the future with perfect confidence."
The producers whose names appeared on the formal announcement as the committee in charge of forming the association were Adolph Zukor, William Fox, Marcus Loebe, Lewis J. Selznick, R. C.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19—The far-day dealing with Chinese railways and Anglo-Chinese consideration of the status of existing commitments in China.

One railroad resolution, opened and presented by the British delegation pledges the powers and China against "unfair discrimination" in railroad rates and facilities.
Another by Secretary Hughes expresses hope for eventual unification of Chinese roads under Chinese control.
