

STYLE PROCLAIMS TUNIC BLOUSE; JUNIOR MIDSEASON MILLINERY

IT REQUIRES more than one blouse or tunic to complete a stylishly appointed wardrobe. A blouse for every occasion is not an extravagance, but rather an evidence of careful thought. A sports blouse for outings and practical wear, a suit-blouse for one's tailored street costume, a dressy blouse or tunic, gay in coloring, to wear over one's plaited black satin princess slip or a handsome lace tunic which is the preferences are being given a very definite recognition. There is the matter of choosing one's hats, for instance. Nowadays juvenile, Junior and Miss Subdeb are invited to visit a special section or salon, if you please, which is distinctly their own realm where millinery designed by specialized talent is displayed in a very tempting array. A glance at the collection of charm-mode's latest word, these and a few extras for one's white plaited skirt are none too many if one would be dressed at a moment's call. The latest sports blouse, which after all is not so much a blouse as a waistcoat type, is made of checked linen toweling with a plain back and just below-the-shoulder sleeves, which is almost equivalent to saying sleeveless. To wear over a black plaited foundation choose a tunic of striking color. One cannot grow too reckless in the matter of bizarre coloring. The model in the picture features a gorgeous embroidery done after the manner of the handwork and colorings which so glorify the Spanish shawl. Some stylists go so far as to add fringe, which further emphasizes the ing hats shown in this picture reveals the fact that millinery for the younger generation is vastly interesting these days. In each model the spirit of youth is maintained and there is every evidence that infinite care and attention is being lavished on millinery for the growing girl. To be sure, the first is made of quilted silk after the manner of grown-up's smart styling, but somehow the designer has contrived to adapt it to the school-girl age. In the top model to the right silk is again the medium, although this time it is corded and tucked—which goes to show the importance of the all-fabric hat. A generous bow of hemmed taffeta gives a girlish aspect to the hat below to the left in the group. The off-

Spanish influence. Note in the picture that the girle shows a plaited panel. This is something new and matching the skirt as it does the tendency is to give the impression of a compose costume rather than a separate blouse and skirt. If you have never owned a lace tunic or blouse do not let the season go by without acquiring one. They are a real asset in one's collection. An outstanding enthusiasm among the youth of this day is that of self-expression. Nor is it a mere theory confined to classroom discussion. In the commercial world, as well as in every other walk of life, youth and its individual needs and the-face effect given by the plaiting of taffeta across the front assures becomingness. Very colorful is the large hat to the right. The crown is formed of knitted viscra in brilliant yellows, greens and blues offset by a brim facing and a rosette of shirred satin, which may be of any bright shade desired. Leghorn, that ever faithful friend of youth, appears to picturesque advantage when crowned and bound with silk and embellished with tiny handmade flowers such as one sees in the concluding hat of this group. THE LUSCIOUS PEACH

No more delicious dish for dessert can be served than one of sliced peaches with cream and sugar. When peaches are plentiful one likes to vary the method of serving.

A most appetizing pie may be made by baking a rich crust and when cold fill it with sliced peaches well-sugared; cover with sweetened cream, whipped.

To make the dish still more attractive sprinkle with finely-chopped pistachio nuts and shredded almonds.

A bird's nest pudding is another way of serving a peach pudding. Slice the peaches (those not too ripe may be used for this dish), cover with a rich biscuit batter and bake. Turn out inverted on a large plate, sprinkle with sugar, dot with butter and a sprinkling of nutmeg if liked and serve cut into pie-shaped pieces.

Peach Pudding.—Pour a cupful of hot milk over a cupful of dry bread crumbs and let stand five minutes; add half a cupful of sugar, the well-beaten yolks of three eggs and the stiffly-beaten white of one. Mix well and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Heap thinly-sliced peaches well-sweetened over the top and cover with a meringue made of two egg whites and three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Cover the pudding with the meringue and bake a delicate brown.

Peaches With Rice.—Cook one cupful of rice until tender, adding milk at the last of the cooking; season with butter, add sugar to sweeten, then pour into a hollow mold. When ready to serve unmold, and fill the center with sweetened sliced peaches. Serve with sugar and cream.

Peach Chutney.—Peel three-pounds of peaches, put them into a saucepan with a pint of mild vinegar, cook until tender. Pound in a mortar four ounces of onion, two ounces of garlic, five ounces of fresh ginger root; add the peaches, six ounces of raisins, one ounce each of white mustard seed and chili peppers, and six ounces of sugar. Simmer for ten minutes, adding more vinegar if needed. Bottle for winter use. This is especially well-liked by the English, though they use apple instead of peaches.

CAKES AND SWEETS

A delicious cake which will be enjoyed by all the family, is:

Orange Cake.—Beat thoroughly two cupfuls of sugar with one-half cupful of butter, the beaten yolks of five eggs and the whites of three, the latter folded in at the last. Two and one-half cupfuls of flour (scent measure), two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and the juice and rind of an orange. Bake in layers and use with the following: Beat the two remaining whites until stiff, add powdered sugar, the juice and grated rind of an orange until the icing is thick enough to spread.

White House Pound Cake.—Take the grated peel from one lemon and add it to one pound of butter; when very creamy add one pound of sugar and continue beating for ten minutes. Add the yolks of nine eggs and the juice of five lemons; beat for another ten minutes. Add to this mixture a quarter of a pound each of stoned raisins and currants, chopped seeded cherries and seedless raisins with preserved orange and lemon peel mixed and cut into shreds. Fold in gradually one pound (four cupfuls) of flour. Bake in a well-greased paper-lined tin for three hours. If carefully packed in tin this cake will keep for months.

Alhambra Bonbons.—Chop very fine in a meat chopper one-half cupful of blanched almonds and one-fourth cupful of seeded raisins. Mix with one to one and one-half teaspoonfuls of honey or maple syrup to make a paste that will roll into balls. Roll in granulated sugar and cinnamon or in chopped almonds. This may be used as a bonbon with halves of walnuts.

Fudge.—Take two cupfuls of sugar, one-third of a cupful of corn syrup, one-half cupful of milk, one tablespoonful of butter, two squares of chocolate or the same amount of cocoa—less if not liked so strong. Boil to a soft stage, cool before stirring then beat until creamy. Adding other flavors, nuts or dried fruit, will make a different fudge.

Prune Roll.—Prepare a rich biscuit dough and roll very thin, spread with the following, then bake: Take one tablespoonful of grapefruit juice, one teaspoonful of flour, two-thirds of a cupful of cooked mashed prunes, one-third of a cupful of seeded raisins, cover the raisins with half a cupful of water and simmer for half an hour. To the prunes, one-tablespoonful of sugar and the other ingredients add to the raisins and cook until the mixture is thick; cool slightly before spreading. Serve with cream.

Interesting Light on Early American Tribes

Explorers sent out by the Ohio Historical and Archeological society to open the great central mound of the Scip group, near Bainbridge, Ohio, recently, revealed another page in the amazing history of the ancient race which populated the interior of the North American continent.

They discovered that, like the Egyptians, the American mound builders sometimes buried their precious dead in heavy-timbered mausoleums under canopies of exquisitely fashioned cloth, and that when these tombs were built the tribesmen carried earth in baskets and heaped it on the sepulchers until they had reared mounds 30 feet above the level of the surrounding country.

Observations made were centered around the disinterment of four skeletons believed to be the remains of members of a royal family. In the sepulcher was found the first bit of cloth ever seen in a North American mound.

Donor Hides Identity

A man, whose only identification is his statement that he was born in England but has lived in the United States for the last 80 years, recently sent Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer in England, bonds to the value of $8,850, to be applied to the reduction of the Anglo-American debt. This is the third donation sent by the man in the last three years as a contribution toward the English war debt. Churchill was unable to write the man through lack of address, but publicly thanked him through the press.

Canada Protects Railways

The custom of American manufacturers of automobiles to drive new cars across the Canadian border has aroused the customs department at Ottawa, the officials of which maintain that this is a discrimination against the railways that should be stopped. They say it is not only unfair to railways, but if allowed to continue would cause congestion in highways at times.

Which Wheel for New Tire?

To obtain the longest mileage, the two best tires on a car should be placed on the rear wheels. Some drivers assert that the best tires belong on the front to minimize the danger from blowouts and the risk of losing control of the car, but this hazard is considered negligible, and the real fault usually lies in the driver losing his head.
