PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

The mineral display at the county fair last Saturday was the cause of much comment by mining men. Special premiums were given to the displays of the Morning Glory, Flux and Victor mines.

Glen Perry of the Pennsylvania ranch was a county seat visitor Monday.

Postmaster H. B. Riggs was a Nogales business visitor today.

Our Golden Crust Bread is the best that can be made. You can get it fresh in Patagonia by 9 o'clock a. m. Made by HOME BAKERY, Nogales, Ariz.

Mrs. Sam White was among the local shoppers in Nogales Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zinsmeister of Circle 2 ranch and a party of guests motored to Tucson today.

W. D. Gray of Gray Bros. mine was in town today for mail and supplies.

FOR SALE—Young Durco-Jersey pigs, $4 and $6, depending on size. Write J. W. Jones, Amadorville Station, Arizona. 2tp

F. P. O'Neill of Pasadena, Calif., owner of the Rupert mine near here, arrived in Patagonia Wednesday morning. He will do some development work on the property before returning to the coast.

Fire extinguisher chemicals may be obtained of Bert Blahon at the East Side garage, Patagonia, for all makes of apparatus. 1f

SMALL ATTENDANCE AT COUNTY FAIR LAST SATURDAY

Attendance at the county fair last Saturday was very light. The day was ideal for the annual event, the weather being perfect.

Displays were in place early Friday morning for judging. Farm produce was mostly from the San Rafael Valley, and was very good.

A mineral display created much interest and was representative of the mining possibilities of this district.

Sports of the day were enjoyed by the spectators. The main event was a football game between Patagonia High school and Tombstone, the latter winning the game by a score of 66 to 0.

The local boys had had but two weeks practice for the game and should show much improvement. The most interesting feature of the program was a baseball game between the local high school girls and the boys of Sonoita and Elgin, which was won by the boys, although the girls claim the rules were not lived up to.

The dance in the evening was well attended and the net financial returns were satisfactory.

FIRE DESTROYS RANCH HOUSE

Fire of mysterious origin completely destroyed the ranch house of J. W. Buchanan, San Rafael Valley. There was no insurance on the building.

Mr. Buchanan recently purchased the homestead from J. D. Rountree, but had no taken up his residence there, having been living at the ranch of his father-in-law, J. W. Williamson. The house on the Rountree place was unoccupied at the time of the fire. It has all the appearance of an incendiary fire.

SENATOR CURTIS FOR PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—Senator Charlie Curtis of Kansas, Republican leader of the senate, today threw the 1928 presidential race.

The America supply of copper is said to be in danger of exhaustion. Too bad the same can't be said about brass.

ZACHAU OF FAIRBANK KILLED

Tombstone, Oct. 25.—Arthur H. Zachau of Fairbank, manager of the Boquillas Land and Cattle Company and a former supervisor of the Coronado national forest, died in a Bisbee hospital at 6 o'clock Tuesday night from the effects of injuries suffered in an automobile accident which happened about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day. It is reported that Zachau was attempting to turn his car around on the Tombstone-Nogales highway when he lost control of the machine. The car dropped a distance of about 20 feet and came to rest on top of its driver.

Zachau was 48 years old at the time of his death. He had lived in Arizona for about 30 years and for the last seven years was connected with the Boquillas company.

Exhibits at the fair will be housed in 15 big buildings. The gates will open at 9 a. m. and remain open until midnight.

Formerly fitted Korean girls had a design carved on their neck. Some American girls acquire the design before they are fitted.

NIGHT CLUBS WANT HIP-POCKET RULING FROM PROHIB

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Seventeen night club proprietors, believing their business jeopardized by a recent supreme court ruling on hip liquor, have organized to protect their investments and to learn from federal authorities how best they may observe the law.

The cabaret and night club men, meeting yesterday, picked three of their number to confer with a day or two with E. C. Yellowley, federal prohibition administrator here, to get any suggestions or advice he may have that will aid them in enforcement.

The case in which the supreme court refused a writ of certiorari was an appeal from Chicago padlockings which were made on "observation evidence."

The prohibition department here, which greeted with unconcealed enthusiasm the court action, has not indicated that it plans any drastic steps under it. Mr. Yellowley has been quoted as saying that all night clubs and restaurants are constantly under watch, and that action will be taken whenever it is indicated that action is necessary.

Possibility of carrying enforcement measures to trains was suggested by prohibition officials following receipt of an anonymous letter from a "disgruntled railroad employe" who wrote that drinking on trains is going on with little effort to halt it.

Alexander Jamie, assistant administrator, said that any railroad car in which it was shown that a passenger was drinking would be padlocked for a year, the same as public buildings.

MANY ARE RESCUED AS STEAMER SINKS NEAR BAHIA, BRAZIL

Rio de Janeiro, Oct. 26.—The Princess Mafalda, luxurious Italian liner on route from Genoa to this port and Buenos Aires, foundered and sank about 130 miles southeast of Bahia, Brazil, after striking a hidden reef, with a large loss of life.

The liner carried 1258 persons, 34 of whom are reported missing. Many of the passengers were emigrants to Argentina. While 1224 were rescued by the heroic efforts of the crews of four ships which answered the Princess's frantic wireless calls for aid, it is believed many of the steerage passengers went down with the ship.

Many of the ship's passengers took to lifeboats and rafts and some went overboard in life preservers.

LINDBERGH COMPLETES TOUR OF FORTY-EIGHT STATES

New York, Oct. 23.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh polished off another hitherto unaccomplished flying job yesterday, dropping down on Mitchell Field in the "Spirit of St. Louis" only one minute ahead of the time he set himself three months ago, when he started out to visit all of the states in the union by air.

Colonel Lindbergh started out preaching airports for every city. He returned with the same gospel, his health and enthusiasm undiminished. Behind him stretched a zig-zag trail of 22,300 miles, spotted with 82 cities inhabited by 30,000,000 persons who had seen him while he was hauled over 1255 miles of parade and to whom he had made 147 speeches since leaving Mitchell Field, July 26.

His tour, without a flaw in its accomplishment, is regarded in aviation circles as second only to his flight to Paris, and as even more valuable to aviation. His inspection of the nation convinced him that the Pacific coast region was the most progressive part of the country in aviation.

Lindbergh, emerging from his cockpit at Mitchell Field, regards the trip a completed job.

"I have no plans for the future," he said in answer to "What next?"

"I'm going to rest a couple of days or so."

Lindbergh landed from Philadelphia, his 32nd city, at 1:59 p. m., in a drizzling rain before a gathering of about 1000 persons.

The Fairchild monoplane piloted by Philip Love, which accompanied him on the tour sponsored by the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, landed just before the "Spirit of St. Louis."

Neither plane had been overhauled or suffered any damage during the trip.

"Give the 'Spirit of St. Louis' to the Smithsonian Institution? Not yet. It is still in good flying condition," said Lindbergh.

Lindbergh quickly and gravely denied that he was planning to run for congress or that he was planning to "elope with somebody soon."

SOME LIGHT ON MOTOR VEHICLE REGULATIONS

Phoenix, Oct. 26.—Considerable confusion and misunderstanding have arisen from a recent statement in the press to the effect that the new motor vehicle code provides that all operators and chauffeurs must re-register. This is not the case, since the law provides that operators' licenses already issued shall be valid until suspended or revoked.

Such is the assertion of E. M. Whitworth, vehicle superintendent, to clarify the situation under the new motor vehicle code in regard to registration and license fees.

"Owners' licenses already issued are classed in the same situation as operators' license," Mr. Whitworth said. "The chauffeurs' licenses expire December 31 each year and shall be renewed annually upon application and payment of the necessary fees and proof of qualifications required by law.

"Chauffeurs' fees are $2 annually. Duplicate operators' or chauffeurs' licenses cost 50 cents, while duplicates of chauffeurs' badges cost $1. Operators' licenses other than owners' are 50 cents."

CHARLES F. HARRISON DIES

Tucson, Oct. 26.—Patrolman Charles F. Harrison, about 60 years old, dropped dead at his home at 113 North Main street, a few minutes after 12 o'clock this morning. Death was due to heart failure. He had been a member of the Tucson police force seven years, and was a patrolman on Congress street between Stone avenue and Scott street.

Harrison had been complaining of his heart for several days, it was said. He had gone to bed as usual, and about midnight his daughter, Mrs. Bob Gory, and his son, William, were aroused from sleep when they heard their father fall to the floor. He had gotten up and turned on the electric light, apparently falling while in the act. Night Captain Mark Robbins at the police station across the street summoned a doctor, but the officer had died in the meantime. His death occurred at 12:15 a. m.

Three sons, William, Frank and Louis, and six daughters, Mrs. Bob Gory, Mrs. Mary Wolf, Mrs. Ha Hately, Mrs. Blanche Wintz, Mr. Grace Stamford and Genevieve Harrison, survive. Deceased was a brother of ex-Mayor James A. Harrison of Nogales.

ORME WANTS M'CLUSKEY'S PAY STOPPED BY LEGISLATURE

Phoenix, Oct. 26.—The most important action taken by the House today was the introduction of a resolution by Orme of Maricopa county, calling on the state auditor to refuse to honor any more salary warrants in favor of H. S. McCluskey, as a member of the industrial commission. It requested the attorney general to take necessary legal steps to prevent his drawing any more salary.

In the Senate today the state dairy inspector requested an increase in travel allowance for the department. Senate Bill 15, by Akers and Joyner, provides for the creation of a bureau of labor statistics on the industrial commission and a director for the same; Senate Bill 16, by Joyner, for an act to regulate leasing of oil lands; Senate Resolution, by Colter, requesting Congress to not accept certain phases of the Colorado river commission report; both Houses adopted Betts for a position on the interstate commerce commission.

Phoenix, Oct. 26.—Acting as a committee of the whole, the Senate of the fourth special session of the Eighth Arizona Legislature passed a bill appointing a special code committee here this morning and an appropriation of $30,000 to defray the expenses of this body was included in the bill.

The committee is to work in conjunction with the code commissioner in preparing a revised civil and criminal code to be submitted at the general or special session.

Several displays of verbal fireworks in both the Senate and House marked yesterday's session of the Eighth Legislature, the attaching of the emergency clause to House Bill 6 causing Senator W. C. Joyner of Pima county to leave his chair, where he was presiding as chairman of committee of the whole, and attack the practice of attaching the emergency clause to bills of minor importance. Joyner was followed by Senator Colter of Apache, who deplored the rushing of bills through the Senate with insufficient time for members to become familiar with the various provisions.

House Bill No. 5, introduced in the House on Monday by Representative Brooke of Yavapai county, Senator Joyner said, is a shining example of the manner in which bills are being "railroaded" through the lawmaking bodies, with the emergency clause attached, and misunderstood by the greater part of the members.

On the face of this bill, it appears to repeal Senate Bill 99, introduced at the regular session by Joyner of Pima county, and providing for the qualifications of school elections.

The words "school elections" were added to a paragraph in the Civil Code providing for the casting of absentee ballots in primary and general elections. By repealing the right to cast absentee ballots in primary and general elections, according to popular belief of friends of the law, which permits citizens to exercise the right of the ballot in state and county affairs.

New bills introduced yesterday include Senate Bill 11, by the committee on banking and insurance, amending the present law relating to the conduct of building and loan associations; Senate Bill 12, by Runke of Coconino, providing for the sale by county supervisors of toll roads to the federal government, under certain conditions, when such toll roads traverse territory dedicated to national parks, etc.; Senate Bill 13, by the committee on highway and bridges, which amends the present highway bill in several particulars.

First, the number of days which may be devoted to state affairs by highway commissioners is raised from 100 to 150 days, the chairman having his time doubled, or to devote 200 days to the supervision of highways.

The employment of help in the highway department, except as to actual workers on the roads, is taken away from the state engineer and given to the commissioners. The control of the motor vehicle department, under the bill, would be taken away from the engineer and put directly under the commission.

This bill will, no doubt, stir up considerable discussion, but may pass. Senate Bill 13, by Donnelly of Pima county, relates to the conduct and operation of building and loan associations. Representatives of such associations in Tucson, Nogales and Phoenix have been invited to appear before the banking and insurance committee, and the new bills will be explained to them.

"Can All You Can"—Corn Crop Slogan!

PRODUCTION OF MILK
Of the Average Cow in the United States and Dairy Countries.

Netherlands	7585 lbs
Switzerland	6950 lbs
Denmark	5666 lbs
United States	3627 lbs

WE NEED BETTER COWS
The only way to increase the production of milk is to have better cows. The cow is the backbone of the dairy industry. We need better cows to produce more milk for our people.

Good barn equipment helps profits.

CHICAGO—The 1927 crop of corn is going to be both "short" and "soft," according to the Research Department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers, which has been checking up reports and surveying 1927 crops and farm power. Not only was it planted late because of unseasonable wet weather that has flooded out many river bottom farms entirely, but weeds are unusually hard and much planting was being done up to July 1. That means four or five weeks late, and the old saying that "A bushel a day is the price you pay for corn planted after the middle of May" would cut 30 to 40 bushels off the possible crop in such cases.

The only real insurance for the corn crop now in most of the Corn Belt area, says the Research Department, is the silo, which will take immature corn and turn it into high class live stock feed for beef or dairy cattle or sheep. Those states like Wisconsin, where there are already nearly 110,000 silos, never have a corn crop failure, while their steady income from year to year is a joy to both farmer and business man in such territory. The old problems of silo filling with big crews are now overcome in Wisconsin by the ownership of small individual ensilage cutters, run either by the farm tractor or a gas engine, so that the home crew, or possibly two or three neighbors, can handle the job when it should be handled without difficulty.

The use of the silo also fits into the economic uplift of the American dairy cow to put her on a basis of competition with the high class producers of Denmark, Holland, Switzerland and other high-producing countries where the Cow Testing Associations have built up the average production to such a high point that their farmers can beat ours in the world's markets, as well as shipping butter and cheese to this country. Low cutting corn binders and low-hung wagons also aid in the harvest of the silage crop, while bundle elevators on the corn binders permit the elimination of the hardest part of the man labor while cutting costs materially. Ensilage cutter knives should be sharpened daily and the corn cut steady for best silage. In the corn borer territory, the ensilage cutter and the low cutting binder are sure "cures" for the borer and should be used.

MINING, FIRST AID TO PROGRESS

As late as 1865, aluminum sold for $90 a pound. In 1880, Professor Jewett of Oberlin College told his class that the man who could produce cheap aluminum would be a public benefactor. One of his students, Charles M. Hall, took up the challenge, and five years later was given his first patent for cheap methods of aluminum production. The price has gone down as low as 15 cents a pound, and cheap aluminum has revolutionized living.

Radium was discovered less than a third of a century ago. Helium gas was isolated a few years earlier, but the cost was almost in the aluminum or radium class until the last decade. Nobody knows what elements are still undiscovered; there are as important discoveries still to be made as aluminum or radium.

The business of mining is essential to civilization. It offers a career, employment, adventure, life. The community that has mine prospects of any kind, is committing industrial suicide if it fails to encourage mining as a first aid to community progress and social uplift.

TEACH 'EM TO SPELL

It is reported that among 298 young men and women who took a civil service examination in New York recently all but three failed in spelling.

This is not surprising to those who have had occasion to observe the spelling of the average high school graduate or even that of some college men and women.

Why our schools do not give more attention to spelling is an unsolved mystery. Hundreds of hours are devoted to subjects which a pupil never thinks of after leaving school, yet the art of spelling, which must be practiced every day of his life, is given scanty consideration.

Perhaps it is thought that everyone should be permitted to develop originality. If so, the plan works well. Few show greater originality in any respect than in spelling.

THE MOST POLITE EDITOR

Young writers, and a lot of older ones, too, must frequently undergo the disappointment of having their offering returned by editors who find them unsuited for publication.

Sometimes the editor will send back the manuscript accompanied by a note of regret over his inability to use the material; again he will merely enclose a printed rejection slip; frequently he will return the offering without comment of any kind.

But the most polite editor on record, according to the Manchester Guardian, has been discovered in China. A translation of one of his rejection slips follows:

"We have read thy manuscript with delight. By the sacred ashes of our ancestors we swear that we never before have reveled in so entrancing a masterpiece. If we printed it, his majesty, the emperor, our high and mighty master, would ordain us to take it as a model, and never henceforth to print anything inferior to it. As it would be impossible to find its equal within 10,000 years, we are compelled, though shaken with sorrow at our action, to return the divine manuscript, and for doing so we ask of thee a thousand pardons."

"Yes, Willard Mack is right, Luckies are best," says Paul Berlenbach

Popular pugilist tells his manager, Benedict Sterns, that Lucky Strikes are the finest cigarettes.

Willard Mack, Noted Author, Producer and Actor, writes:

"We people of the theatre are, as a rule, extremists. This is the reflex action from overworked nerves. When a man smokes forty cigarettes a day, as I do, he must be sure of his brand. I smoke Lucky Strikes because I have found they are soothing to the nerves and at the same time they cause no throat irritation. My voice is always in perfect condition and I am never troubled by any coughing which might be annoying to me in my work as an actor."

You, too, will find that LUCKY STRIKES give the greatest pleasure—Mild and Mellow, the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. Made of the choicest tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"IT'S TOASTED"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

"RIGHT TO KILL" PLUNGES ALL LONDON INTO DISCUSSION

London, Oct. 24.—All England had been plunged into a discussion of "the right to kill" as a result of the acquittal Saturday of a young widower, Albert Davis, of a charge of murder from drowning of his 3-year-old daughter to save her further terrible suffering from an incurable disease.

Most of the newspapers applauded the acquittal, but insist that the case is exceptional and that there should be no loosening of the laws protecting human life. On the other hand, the Daily Express quotes Conan Doyle, famous author and himself a physician, as saying:

"I think that if there were a law that three medical certificates would justify putting away a person who is in a hopeless position as regards life and death, it would be a very great improvement. It would only be humanity and common sense."

Someone has figured that there are 14,000,000 bobbed heads in the United States, but nobody has tried to count the empty ones.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

BUSINESS DEPENDENT UPON TRAFFIC

Department stores are giving more and more attention to street traffic problems because there is no getting away from the fact that business is partly dependent upon traffic.

Some department stores have established remote delivery stations to expedite the delivery of merchandise and to relieve traffic about their stores. In some cities cooperative delivery systems have been established. This tends to relieve traffic. If a woman goes to three department stores, makes three purchases and asks to have each delivered to her home, there is no reason why three trucks should stop at her residence when one would do just as well. In some communities attempts have been made with success to take loading and unloading off the street.

Some department stores have noted that as the proportion of faulty traffic regulations, lack of parking facilities, narrow streets and conflicting street cars increase, the amount of automobile patronage decreases.

There is no question but that traffic congestion has a definite effect on the buying public, that is, the public which comes by car to buy. Some one has invented the expression "parking blues," an affliction of those who go to stores to shop and then worry about their cars outside. A good shopper is one who has plenty of time in which to buy. He then purchases more merchandise, takes more time and selects goods of better quality and in the end obtains greater satisfaction.

The automobile is a definite part of our transportation system. And there is no question but that necessary business which can be satisfactorily transacted at one location will find a location where it can be transacted.

A recent shipment of razors to Africa indicates that they are going to have a big dance over there.

Arizona has planted 1,630,000 young trout in state's streams this year and will plant 10,000,000 more.

Contrasting Fabrics Combine for Chic

"GEORGETTE," says the young woman who has learned the smarter problems of division, "will go into a frock several times: put down a skirt and carry a jacket; carry it," she explains, "from the left shoulder of a lace blouse, topped by a Georgette chrysanthemum." The remainder goes into hands that tie around the wrists and encircle the hips. This double belt gives a faint suggestion that perhaps after all we are soon going to raise our waistline. This charming afternoon frock allows for a variety of combinations: it is rather formal in metallic brocade with skirt and trimmings of crepe satin, very summery in two tones of Georgette or of silk crepe, and very smart in printed crepe de Chine with plain skirt of harmonizing shade. STATE FAIR FLASHES

Phoenix, Oct. 27.—Monday of fair week, November 7, will be Children's Day with many special features on the program, according to Secretary Dillon.

This year's fair will feature five days of harness racing with many of the fastest trotters and pacers in the country in action. There will be three races, nine heats, daily.

Arizona ex-service men will be interested in the big Liberty Ball, to be staged at the Shrine Auditorium on Armistice night, November 11. According to those in charge, this is expected to be the big social event of the state for ex-service men. This is just one of the many entertainments being arranged for visitors here during fair week.

Wednesday of fair week, November 9, will be Indian day at the fair, with special sports and a football game the features of the afternoon. The Phoenix Indians will tackle the Albuquerque Indian eleven.

Armistice Day, November 11, will feature a special grandstand program. Among other things, there will be day-light fireworks.

Ten circus acts, including the world-famous Nelson Family, will perform for the patrons of the grandstand program. The joy zone will have all new shows and rides.

Candidates are being warned by the dries that wet planks make a slippery platform.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

President Is Informed of Good Business Conditions in Nation.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

ECONOMIC conditions in the United States are fairly good, business seems to be improving and the outlook for the future is encouraging. That is, in brief, a summary of the reports submitted to President Coolidge by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Secretary of Labor Davis, Secretary of Agriculture Jardine and Secretary of Commerce Hoover. The President was highly pleased with these optimistic reports, and considered the present situation is satisfactory.

In the reports on business conditions it was stated that the construction program of the country shows no material let-up. While there has been a falling off in receipts of the railroads, the President is of the opinion that any diminution in volume of railroad business due to development of motor transportation and the general use of automobiles reflects prosperity rather than otherwise. The amount of coal transportation was not quite so great this year as last, but the President attributes this to the fact that last year stocks of coal were accumulated in anticipation of a strike.

A considerable increase in the production of automobiles is in prospect, the President was advised. The railroads are to be in the market for a good deal of new equipment. The textile industry is in better shape than it was, and the steel industry is showing progress.

Exports are keeping up as well as last year, it was stated. Imports have not been quite so large in value as last year, but Secretary Hoover gave as a reason that this was due mainly to the fact that American consumers are getting British rubber at lower prices.

Secretary Davis, in commenting on the labor situation, said that at present there were only twenty-seven industrial strikes in progress as compared with fifty at this time last year. Reports presented by Secretary Jardine caused the President to believe that agriculture is in a somewhat better condition than it has been, and that this will be reflected in a greater buying power. Crops with the exception of cotton were stated to be fully as good as last year.

Despite the encouraging business conditions, President Coolidge let it be known that in his opinion taxes cannot be reduced by as much as $350,000,000 or $400,000,000, as is urged by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He has not indicated that the reduction could amount to even $300,000,000, and in Washington it was believed Secretary Mellon would advise congress to make a cut of between $200,000,000 and $250,000,000.

IT WAS understood in Washington that Henry C. Hall would soon resign as member of the Interstate Commerce commission, and that Amos A. Betts of Phoenix, Ariz., would be named to succeed him. Mr. Betts is a member of the Arizona corporation commission and is a Democrat.

CHICAGO'S night life is on the eve of being dried up completely as a result of the action of the Supreme court of the United States in declining to interfere with the issuance of injunctions closing several cabarets in that city because some of their patrons drank liquor on the premises and were served with the accompanying ice and soft drinks. And there is no apparent reason why cabarets and roadhouses everywhere else should not be in equal peril with those of the Chicago district. The prohibition enforcement agents were making preparations for great activity, and the proprietors of cafes and hotels were in a quandary, declaring they could not insult their patrons by searching them before serving them with soft drinks.

SENATOR NYE of North Dakota, as spokesman for the radical Republicans, has called on Frank O. Lowden to make plain his stand on various issues which are of especial interest to the West, and intimated that if he fails to satisfy the radicals in these matters, they will give their support to Senator Norris of Nebraska for the Presidential nomination.

"There are such problems as those involving freight rates, discriminations in freight rates, inland waterway improvements, permanent improvements growing out of any flood control program, the conduct of the federal reserve banking system, the administration of the federal farm land banks—all of these problems bearing directly upon the measure of prosperity which may accrue to the agricultural states," said Senator Nye. "Then, too, there are great national problems in which the West is vastly interested."

"Upon these problems the whole West knows well the position of one like Senator Norris, but it does not yet fully know the position of Governor Lowden, except that he is a believer in and an advocate of farm relief legislation such as is involved in the McNary-Haugen bill."

Senator Walsh of Montana, Democrat, prophesies a political "revolution" in the Middle West if the Republicans nominate a man whose views on farm relief are the same as those of President Coolidge. Copleland of New York and Pomerene of Ohio, have endorsed the candidacy of Gov. Al Smith. With the backing and support of the South, said Copleland, Smith's nomination and election are assured. He declared that southern opposition was "not so strong as it has been represented" and looked hopefully for assistance from Dixie. He believes the Republicans will nominate Charles E. Hughes.

Pomerene's endorsement was in a magazine article in which he praised Smith's accomplishment in New York and defended his attitude toward prohibition. He declared, however, that there were so many able leaders that he did not want to seem unequivocally committed to Smith.

Mrs. Florence Atkins of Georgia, a leader among Democratic women, said the nomination of Smith would mean "party suicide," since the South would not support him if he were named.

TRIAL of Albert B. Fall and Harry T. Sinclair in Washington on charges of conspiracy to loot the navy's oil reserves got under way before a jury which included two young women. Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene are handling the case for the government, and the former made the opening statement for the prosecution. Edward C. Finney, first assistant secretary of the Interior, now and during Fall's regime, was the first important witness. He described the unusual secrecy which distinguished the Teapot Dome lease transaction from dozens of others in the department, and asserted that the transaction was taken entirely from the hands of himself and his associates and conducted personally by Fall. His testimony purported to show further that for days the lease itself lay locked in a drawer of Fall's desk while members of congress and other officials asked in vain for information as to whether such a lease had been executed or was in contemplation.

EIGHTY thousand soft coal miners of central Germany went out on strike last week, and many industries were threatened with disaster because of the lack of electrical power. The men had been earning an average of $3 a week and asked that this be increased to $8.64. The ministry of labor approved the demand but the mine owners would not grant it unless they were permitted to increase the price of coal accordingly. This the minister of economics vetoed. The central German chemical industry, the sugar industry and the paper mills began shutting down, and the beet sugar refiners told the government the entire industry would be ruined unless the strike were stopped. Food prices in Berlin and elsewhere began soaring, and the cabinet spent many hours trying to devise some means of righting the troubles.

Southern Colorado also had its coal strike, some 4,000 miners quitting work on the order of the Industrial Workers of the World. Members of the state industrial commission warned the strikers that picketing was against the law, and the sheriff at Walsenburg, center of the affair, told them every man caught picketing would be arrested. In spite of this the strikers, headed by I. W. W. leaders, began picketing the mines. These men were not permitted to carry arms but Paul Seidler, I. W. W. organizer, said: "We intend to conduct this strike peacefully, but if a striker is killed our men will be carrying cannon around with them."

Five more mining companies in Ohio have obtained from the Federal court in Columbus injunctions against the United Mine Workers to aid them in operating their mines on a nonunion basis.

EARL CARROLL, the theatrical man of "bath-tub party" fame, came out of the Atlanta prison last week on parole, after paying his fine and signing a pledge to abstain from intoxicating drinks, avoid bad company and behave himself generally. He had served a little more than four months of his year and a day sentence. Carroll's thoughtfulness for his former friends among the prisoners caused him to order many of his personal possessions left for their use, including an expensive radio set and a sum of money he had on deposit at the prison. The latter he ordered used to help his friends as Warden Snook saw fit.

Other objects of the federal parole board's clemency during the week were Gaston Meadors, notorious in many ways, and Colonel Forbes, once head of the veterans' bureau.

OVER in China, the struggle for Peking goes merrily on. After retreating some distance, the Shansi troops slipped back past Chang's forces and for a time seriously threatened the city again. But at last reports they were being pushed back, owing to their inability to reinforce their positions. The fighting was exceedingly fierce and bloody and the casualties heavy.

The Nationalist government succeeded in floating a domestic loan of $24,000,000 in Shanghai for the purpose of financing a new campaign against Marshal Chang, and announced plans for the drive northward in full co-operation with Gen. Feng Yu-shiang and the tapan of Shansi province.

LITHUANIA has formally applied to the League of Nations for intervention in its quarrel with Poland, and the matter will be placed on the agenda for the December meeting of the council. The note from Kovno complains especially of the suppression of Lithuanian schools in Vilna by the Polish government, and it points out that a state of war exists between the two countries, the frontiers having been closed for years and all relations prohibited. France has been frankly supporting Poland, and England has been unfriendly to Lithuania because of its Russian connections; but it is believed Germany will warmly espouse Lithuania's cause in December.

COSTES and Le Brix, French aviators, successfully made the flight from Senegal to Port Natal, Brazil, being the first to fly across the southern Atlantic without a stop. They continued their journey down to Buenos Aires with several stops.

Mrs. Frances Grayson and her fellow aviators of the plane Dawn made one start from Old Orchard, Maine, on their projected flight to Denmark, but were forced back because the plane was improperly loaded and nose-heavy. Then they waited day after day for favorable weather for another take-off.

LARGE numbers of Alabama klansmen have been indicted for the slottings that have disgraced that state, and the trials will begin in January. Attorney General McCall, who was elected on a Klan ticket, has resigned from the society and denounces it scathingly.

Find True Value of Dairy Sires

Records Are Now Being Used to Determine Real Worth of Bulls.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Dairy-herd-improvement-association records are now being used to determine the true value of dairy sires as well as to test cows for economical production. Dr. J. C. McDowell, dairy husbandman, and Mr. W. E. Wintermeyer, associate dairy husbandman, bureau of dairy industry, United States Department of Agriculture, have made an exhaustive study of the available association records and have drawn some striking conclusions concerning the use of proved sires in herd improvement.

In Circular No. 3-C, entitled "Proved Dairy Sires," just issued by the department, the authors discuss the influence of dairy sires on the production of their daughters, comment on the problem of keeping the bulls until their value has been determined through the records of their daughters, and point out the economy in the use of food by high-producing cows.

Up to the present time, about 270 dairy bulls have been proved by comparing the records of five or more daughters of each sire with the records of the dams of the daughters. A much larger number of sires has been partially proved through a comparison of the records of a smaller number of daughters with the records of their dams.

A comparison of 5,217 association records of daughters with those of their dams shows a gain of 3.9 per cent in milk production and 5.1 per cent in production of butterfat by the daughters over their dams. This indicates that the herds in dairy-herd-improvement associations are gradually being improved through the sires now used, but they might be improved much more rapidly if intelligently selected proved sires were used in every herd. For example, the daughters of 250 proved bulls exceeded their dams by 7.2 per cent in milk production and 10.9 per cent in butterfat production. These gains are about twice as great as those made by the 5,217 daughters of average association sires. In both cases the dams were about equal in production, above 8,700 pounds of milk and above 350 pounds of fat. Sires mated with cows of average production, that is, with cows producing about 4,500 pounds of milk and 180 pounds of butterfat, increased the production of the daughters by more than 60 per cent in both milk and butterfat.

Sires to Rely On.

Only the best proved sires can be relied on to increase the production of daughters over that of dams having a yearly production of 400 pounds of butterfat. The average dairy herd may double its production in two or three generations by the use of good proved dairy sires.

High-producing cows are economical in the use of feed, say the authors. A tabulation of more than 100,000 individual-cow records showed that the cost of feed for cows producing 9,000 pounds of milk a year per cow was only about 40 per cent more than for cows producing but half as much.

A copy of the circular may be obtained by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Small Grain Crops Were Badly Damaged by Rust

As everyone knows small grain crops were badly damaged by rust this year. Black stem rust of oats and crown rust of oats have materially reduced the yield of late varieties. Early varieties of oats were not nearly so much affected, although in some localities they also suffered considerably. The wheat crop did not suffer very much from black rust this year, but it was injured considerably by leaf rust. The crown rust of oats, the one which is commonly known as leaf rust, in one of its stages grows on buckthorn, the same as black stem rust of wheat starts its growth in the spring on the common barberry. In sections where the buckthorn is very numerous, leaf rust of oats may be reduced by getting rid of this hedge plant.

Some varieties of grain are less resistant to rust than others and an effort should be made to secure varieties that are as rust resistant as possible.

Alfalfa Hay Excellent Feed for Laying Hens

Hens are not usually considered as consumers of roughage, but recent feeding practices have demonstrated that good leafy leguminous hay is one of the important winter feeds for poultry. Green feed is recognized as one of the most important parts of the ration for laying hens. The leaves of alfalfa or clover hay constitute an excellent substitute for green feed. In tests recently conducted at the Ohio Experiment station alfalfa, clover and soy bean hay all proved good substitutes for green feed. It is recommended that hay be put into a rack where the birds can pick off the leaves, or they can be cut rather than put in hay on the floor. When a lot of alfalfa hay will mold more easily than hay or clover, which is the product used for litter.

Outbuildings Need Coat of Whitewash

Best Time to Apply Is in Fall and Early Winter.

Fall and early winter being the best periods to use whitewash on the farm, some suggestions as to the best method of applying coats to outbuildings and machinery may be timely. This is the slack period of work on the farm, and the farmer is given an opportunity to "dress up" his place. As whitewash has proved an economical preservative, it plays an important part on many farms.

Neglect of exposed surfaces is "penny wise and pound foolish." A few cents may be saved, but a few cents saved in necessary repairs will usually cost dollars very soon. When it is not practical to use oil paint, exposed surfaces may be protected by applying a coat of whitewash or cold water lime paint.

Outbuildings Need Coat of Whitewash

Best Time to Apply Is in Fall and Early Winter.

In whitewashing the outside of buildings, the best results are obtained when the work is done in clear, dry weather. The surface to be treated should be cleaned of dirt, scales or other loose material by brushing well with a clean, stiff brush, or by first scraping and then brushing. The final results and the increased life of the new coating will more than compensate for the time and care required to be sure that the surface is in good condition.

In using whitewash for interiors, the walls and ceilings, if previously whitewashed or calcimine, should be washed off with a cloth or sponge and hot water.

Store Potatoes in Dark, Reasonably Cool Cellar

Keep potatoes in the dark, reasonably dry, and above freezing temperature, whether they are to be sold soon after harvest or stored for winter.

Carelessness in exposing the crop to sunlight for several days results in a greening. This is accompanied by the development of a disagreeable and mildly poisonous solanine. To prevent this, potatoes should be covered or moved to a dark storage as soon as possible after digging.

When this precaution to prevent greening is taken by moving the potatoes to storage or covering them with straw, the accumulation of moisture may seem serious, as potatoes normally give off moisture, or sweat, after digging. This sweating is usually more disagreeable than dangerous. If the tubers are sound and free from injuries when stored, the moisture rarely leads to rotting.

Removing the excess moisture by ventilation will prevent moisture stains and the crop will be more attractive when removed from storage.

Although the temperature is not important in the fall, it becomes very important when the crop is held through the winter. The temperature in storage should be between 36 and 40 degrees by the middle of December. If the temperature is above 40 degrees after the middle of December, the potatoes will sprout and the shrinkage may be serious.

Splendid Job for Rainy Days Is to Repair Mow

A good job for rainy days is to put the floor of the hay mow in good condition. Any barn should have a good tight floor under the hay, not only for reasons of safety but to prevent hay-seed and litter from falling down upon the live stock below.

An inspection should be made of the joists and other mow floor supports to see that they are holding up properly. If any undue strain is noticeable anywhere, take steps to see that the condition is remedied. If the floor is broken or has opened up as a result of heavy loading or dry rot, put in some new boards.

If there remains a mass of litter, chaff and seed from the past year's filling, clean it out carefully; throw it into the poultry yard, letting the chickens pick it over, or spread it over the pastures and lots, which will benefit from the seed it contains.

Agricultural Notes

It wastes labor to leave good machinery scattered around the farm.

Farmers seldom have trouble getting good prices for high-grade produce.

The biggest factor in preparing garden soil in the fall is plenty of fertilizer.

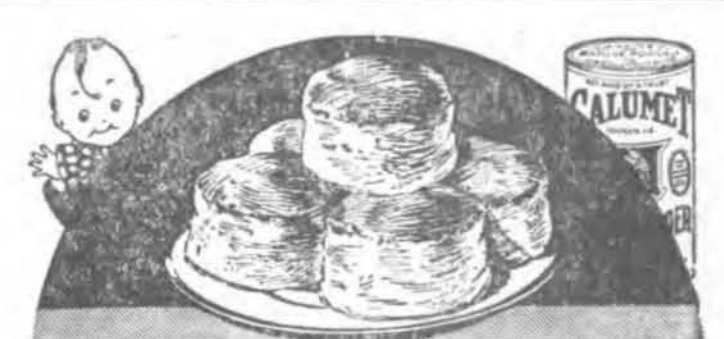

A heavy rain falling on a sloping field will carry away soil to an average depth of one-sixteenth of an inch.

Poultrymen usually make the most money when two-thirds to three-fourths of their flock are pullets each year.

Better breeding, better housing, better feeding, and culling are the stepping stones to success in poultry raising.

A good way to store seed corn ears is to cover them with dry threshed oats in a bin. They may be left until spring.

A good time to cut alfalfa is in the late afternoon because the sun will dry the leaves long quickly and cause them to shrivel.

Rare Collection of Coins and Currency

One of the most valuable collections of old United States coins of every denomination is owned by H. DeLong, of No. 314 South Twelfth street, Philadelphia.

Mr. DeLong has been collecting old coins and paper currency since his childhood days. He is now sixty-one years old. In a gold frame he has a collection that he values at $1800. The redeemable value of the framed currency in an American bank would be approximately $92.

One of the most unique coins in the collection is a brass, undated cent. On one side of the cent is engraved a bust of Washington. On the other side is inscribed "Success to the United States."

In the frame are other such rare coins as 25-cent, 50-cent, $1 and $3 gold pieces. Three, 5, 10, 15, 25 and 50-cent denominations of silvermasters are also included in the collection. Also half-cent coppers that date back to 1797.—Philadelphia Record

The Average Man

Lincoln Steffens, the noted reformer, was the guest of honor at a dinner in New York, and in his after-dinner speech he analyzed the average man. "The average man," he began, "the average man sets out to conquer the world and ends up by getting married."

"Fair" Marriage Record

All Cupid's records for fair time at Glasgow, Scotland, were broken this year. Twenty-nine couples were wedded before the sheriff on Fair Friday, the popular day for nuptials. The number is one more than a year ago. Nineteen couples were married the previous day.

House Made in Two Days

Two two-story houses were made in two days at Leicester, England, recently. They were of concrete, and at the end of the second day were ready for doors, windows and roof. After the foundations were laid, standard molds of wood were erected, and into these the concrete was poured. The molds were then removed, revealing the house in its final shape.

Famous Overnight

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

THE other day two news items appeared in daily papers all over the United States. This was one: Edinburgh, Pa., Sept. 23.—Edward R. McDonald, sixty-six, who dashed through the valley on horseback to warn thousands of residents of the approach of the flood that wiped out Johnstown in 1889, died today.

And this was the other: Skoplje, Yugo-Slavia, Sept. 28.—The death here today of Milan Ciganovitch took away the last of the conspirators involved in the assassination of Francis Ferdinand at Sarajevo in 1914, which precipitated the World War.

Ciganovitch held a position on the Bosna frontier. He arranged for the entrance of the three assassins to Sarajevo by forging passports, and supplied them with bombs and revolvers. His name appeared in the Austrian ultimatum, which precipitated the war, as one of the conspirators whom Serbia was ordered to deliver to the Austrian authorities for execution.

The three assassins who actually committed the murder died in jail in Sarajevo during the war, while a Serbian colonel also involved in the plot was executed by the Serbs in 1917 for high treason.

Johnstown and Sarajevo! Ever hear those names before? Probably. But you've almost forgotten what they stand for now, haven't you? Thirty-eight years ago the newspapers didn't go in for big streamer headlines as much as they do today, but the name of Johnstown was on everybody's lips because there occurred one of the great disasters that have lived in American history.

If, before June, 1914, you had asked the average American where and what Sarajevo was, not one in a hundred could have told you. But a few months later he could, for it was the assassination of an Austrian archduke there which proved to be just the necessary spark to set off the greatest conflagration in the history of the world.

Important as were the names of Johnstown and Sarajevo once, they are almost forgotten now, and it was a curious coincidence that the names of both should be recalled for an instant on the same day recently. It illustrates also the curious fact of how small towns may become famous overnight and almost as rapidly relapse into obscurity.

War and disasters seem to be the commonest agents for bringing one brief moment of fame to what had heretofore been out-of-the-way and obscure places. As long ago as 1803 a little town on the coast of England witnessed a battle which was to be a turning point in world affairs and the name of Hastings was added to the roll of historic places. Who ever heard of the town of Waterloo in Belgium before Napoleon's dream of becoming another Alexander the Great was shattered at the gigantic battle which took place there? It is doubtful if the name of Thermopylae would ever have meant much to anyone except the ancient Greeks if it had not been for the battle which took place in the mountain pass of that name in the year 480 B. C. And ten years later another great battle was raging near the ancient town of Marathon in Greece, a battle which was destined to give that name immortal fame. But when we moderns speak of a marathon (notice that we don't even capitalize it!) we're thinking of a foot race and not the name of a famous town.

But to get the thing nearer home—before the Revolution Saratoga in the province of New York was somewhat noted as a place where there were springs which, the Indians told their white brothers, had health-giving properties. Then in the year 1777 General Burgoyne, blundering along through the wilderness on an impossible campaign suffered defeat after defeat and finally made what was destined to be his last stand at Saratoga. When he finally was forced to surrender to General Gates and his Continentals, Saratoga entered the select list of the "Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World." Incidental to the Burgoyne campaign might be mentioned the name of the little New York town of Wallomsac in New York. Ever hear of it? Probably not. Ever hear of Bennington, Vt.?

"Sure," you say, "That's where Gen. John Stark said to his men, 'There are the redcoats, boys. We beat them, or tonight Molly Stark sleeps a widow.'" As a matter of fact the "Battle of Bennington" was fought at Wallomsac, but this particular engagement goes under the name of "Battle of Bennington" because that Vermont town was Stark's headquarters. When Virginia was a colony Jamestown was much better known than Yorktown. But when Cornwallis was penned up in the latter place by Washington and Lafayette and virtually ended the Revolution by surrendering there, Yorktown became a most important place.

Take the sleepy little Pennsylvania town of Gettysburg in the year 1863. No one who lived there then would have believed that it was destined to fame. Yet when the Blue and the Gray became locked in desperate combat there early in July, Gettysburg was very definitely "put on the map." And two years later the little town in Virginia with the Indian name of Appamattox became almost as famous.

Twenty years ago Americans knew of Chateau Thierry only by reading the guidebooks. Then, in 1918 a bunch of hard-fighting marines made that place forever famous in American history, even though it is on French soil. Up in Belgium there was a little town named Ypres—barely known outside the borders of its own country. But French poilu, who derstood that many plants may be poisonous in one part. A striking example is the rhubarb, where only an inch or two at the top of the stem lies between the poisonous leaf and delicious fruit.

COAST GRIDDERS ARE VERSATILE

Football Squad Recruited From Many Sports.

Athletes at the University of California generally are proficient in more than one sport, leading one to surmise that athletes are born and not developed, although there are instances too numerous to mention at Berkeley where men started in only one sport and were unable to make the squads in another activity.

Basket ball players at California show an aptitude for football, especially in the wing and back field positions where one of the main requirements is an ability to handle the football, both receiving and passing. This factor is one of basket ball's essential requirements and the combination finds five of the Pacific coast champion quintet on the football squad.

Track has contributed six men to the football squad, while Capt. Frank Ribbel of the boxing team is a formidable representative of the leather pushers. The track men playing football include Russell Ewing, sprinter; Frank Fitz, high jumper; John Kabetz and Irving Marcus, broad jumpers; Irvine Phillips and Elmer Gerken, weight men.

Basket ball has donated Paul (Dutch) Clymer, quarterback; Jim Doungery, end; and Eisan, another quarter. Thornton and Wendell, two likely sophomores, starred for the freshmen in the hurdles last spring.

Baseball players, as a rule, especially if they are good, appear to pass up football, but are found in other nonconflicting sports. Risk of slight limb hurts which might end their careers on the diamond are against baseball men in football.

Players of 14 States on Haskell Grid Team

Fourteen states are represented on the Haskell Indian football aggregation for 1927, a list prepared by the coaching staff shows. Oklahoma heads the list with seventeen, more than three times as many as Wisconsin, its nearest rival, with five. Four squad members have given North Dakota as their place of residence. Montana, Idaho, Minnesota and Michigan have two braves out for practice. Washington, Utah, Nevada, Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa and North Carolina are the other states represented with one each.

Twenty tribes have warriors out for practice. Eight Cherokees, seven Chippewas, five Creeks, three Oneidas, two Sioux, Bannocks, Caddos and Winnebagos, one Gros Ventre, Yakima, Ute-Shoshone, Menominee, Bannock-Shoshone, Omaha, Delaware Pawnee, Plaute, Assiniboine and Kiowa are out for letters.

Forty-two players have reported to Coach John Thomas and his assistants, John Levi and Egbert Ward, both former Haskell players.

Health Is Better Than Wealth, States Stag

Conch Alonso Stag, the "grand old man" of the University of Chicago, does not want to live to be more than eighty years old unless he can live "well and to capacity." He made the statement in an address to the Collegiate club of Chicago in which he declared that health and not wealth is the achievement of the greatest success in life.

"I am sixty-five years old," Conch Stag said, "and I am an exception to the accepted rules of life that 38 men out of every 100 never reach that age and that 54 out of 100 who do are unable to support themselves."

Bosses His Idol
Dan Howley, as manager of the Boston Browns, has a man working for him who was his boyhood hero. As a small boy Howley used to get nickels by "standing room only" space, and use it to sit, not stand, in right field at Boston, 12 miles from his home. Buck Freeman, a noted home-run hitter, was then the Boston first fielder. Today Freeman is a scout for the club Howley is managing.

No Sinecure for Huggins

THEY didn't believe in Miller Huggins when he took charge of the Yankees in 1918. They didn't believe in him when, in 1921, he won a pennant with the New York team. His scalp was called for when the Giants beat him for the world's title. His prestige wasn't appreciably enhanced in the eyes of the Gotham fans when he sent the Yanks back to top the flag twice in the ensuing two years. Then, when Washington broke in and won in 1924 and 1925, they were ready to suspend the little manager from the Brooklyn bridge and cut the rope. But Colonel Ruppert knew his man. He stood by him loyally.

In 1926, the Yankees came back for another pennant and this year they have made history with the most crushing triumph in the history of either of the major leagues.

Ruppert and Huggins.

Wind Dies Out and Golf Title Lost to Duncan

A real heart-breaker in the way of tough luck golf shots was that of George Duncan in playing to the final green in the 1922 British open at Sandwich.

Walter Hagen had finished with 300. Duncan could tie if he could ring up a 68.

George made a stupendous effort. He went out in 34, and, with the last nine holes very hard, there being but one short one in the lot, he arrived at the sixteenth needing 2, 4, 4. He got his 2 and first 4, and drove perfectly to the left in the last effort of that heroic battle.

The wind was left to right as George prepared to play his second. "Just his shot," everyone said.

Duncan trusted the wind to bring his ball around to the green. His shot appeared perfect, but the wind played traitor. His ball didn't come around. It went into a shallow hollow at the left of the green 30 yards from the hole.

At the edge of the green, squatted in front of the encircling gallery, Hagen said to a friend:

"That's strange; I played my second to that exact spot on my last round, and I took a five. Are you sure he needs a four to tie me?"

"Yes." It was a tense moment. Hagen stood up. Then he sat down again. Duncan clipped. He was five yards short. He, too, took a five. Hagen was champion.

Tad Jones Again Yale Head Football Coach

Tad Jones will again be at the head of the Yale eleven this fall, according to the announcement made by the board of control of the Yale Athletic association. Myron E. Feller, Charles A. Commerford and Maj. V. E. Prichard of the Yale R. O. T. C. will again be his assistants.

Ted Blair will not be on the staff, while M. A. Stevens will be shifted to the second varsity squad, where he will work with W. M. Lovejoy and Philip Bennell.

The hockey committee will again be headed by E. S. Bronson. The other members of the committee, as announced, are George T. Adee, Sanford Stoddard, J. E. Bierworth and J. O. Bulkeley.

Lost 42 Games

Jack Coleman still holds the record for the number of defeats sustained by a pitcher in a single season. When Coleman pitched for Philadelphia in 1883, the first season that city was in the National league, he lost 42 ball games. It was not altogether the fault of Coleman's pitching because his support was far from the best. The Philadelphia club finished the season with a percentage of 174.

LABOR SUPPLY IN COLORADO SUFFICIENT TO MEET DEMANDS

Washington.—A special survey showing employment prospects for the remainder of 1927, made by the U. S. employment service, just released says that while employment will increase during the next sixty days, particularly in connection with fall harvest work, coal mining, rail road freight operating departments and in some lines of manufacturing the supply of labor in Colorado will be sufficient to meet all demands. Practically all seasonal outdoor work will be over by the 1st of December and a large number of laborers will be released. Approximately 25,000 workers will be employed during October, November and December in connection with the harvesting of the large sugar beet crop. The beet sugar factories are now operating and will afford employment to about 10,000 people for a period of from sixty to 120 days. Three hundred and fifty men will soon be employed in a large cement plant which is practically completed. The rail department of a steel plant at Pueblo will resume operations about the middle of October, giving employment to some 400 workers who will be available locally. Lumbering activities will gradually decline as the winter approaches. Employment in the meat packing plants will increase somewhat during the next three months. Flour milling plants are gradually increasing production and forests. Canning factories will probably end their seasons runs during October. Metal mining is expected to continue on a steady basis for the next few months. There will be a seasonal increase in coal mining production and employment. Building and general construction will decrease; work on the six-mile Moffat railroad tunnel will be completed in about sixty days, when approximately 1,000 men will be released. Highway construction will continue until inclement weather interferes. As a result of the movement of large agricultural crops, coal, and other commodities, freight train service forces are gradually being increased. Railroad shop and maintenance of way employment will show a gradual reduction during the next sixty days.

Labor to Enroll Women
San Francisco.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, recently announced a campaign to enroll women workers throughout the nation was being planned. "The time has come when we must enlist the aid of the huge mass of unorganized woman labor," Green said. "Many women are doing work formerly done by men. They are underpaid in many instances. Woman must be paid the same wages as man wherever she does the same amount and as good work."

Coolidge Farm Worth $13,000
Indianapolis.—The farm deeded to President Coolidge by Luke Duffy, Indiana agricultural leader, is worth $13,000, it was estimated by the State Farm Bureau. But the bureau admitted the farm probably could not be sold for that amount. It carries a mortgage of $3,500. "Under average conditions, the farm should yield an income of $800 a year above expenses," L. L. Needer of the bureau said.

Mayers to Take Up Airport Problem
Chicago.—Invitations have been mailed to mayors of 4,200 cities throughout the United States to confer here Dec. 12 to 15 on municipal airport facilities. The invitations, sent by Mayor William Hale Thompson, point out that universal use of commercial planes will be impossible without adequate landing fields along the routes laid out. Thompson plans to organize the national airports association.
