Kathleen Norris, as Soul Doctor, Calls American Home Life Safe

"The Home is not really losing ground," declared Kathleen Norris in a recent interview. She adds, "The average life still centers there and just as the home is the scene of life's greatest satisfactions, so too is it the field of our greatest problems."

Kathleen Norris

Besides fame as a novelist whose every book is a "best seller," Mrs. Norris enjoys an unique title. She is, in her own words, "A Doctor of Domesticity." Through widely syndicated articles she deals with the problems of women in the home. And these problems embrace every domestic subject from economical home management, to serious marital difficulties and the yearnings of the modern flapper.

What quality essential to a happy marriage is most often lacking? Mrs. Norris was asked. "Humor," she said promptly. "There is almost no situation which humor will not save. Humor, understanding and sympathy are closely allied."

"Take any average case. Suppose that a man is pettish; that his children annoy him; that home life makes him irascible. Remember that he may have, besides the small home worries, a multitude of troublesome business problems, intimately connected with the family welfare, on his mind. Condemnation will never cure him. Nine times out of ten he condemns himself more severely than can anyone else. Intolerance is always futile. But if you laugh at him; if you assure him that he is making himself just a little ridiculous, it is quite possible that you will reach either his sense of humor or his self-respect."

"Remember too, that there is a genuine pleasure in being condemned. People who are overstrained, nervous and tired, rather like to think of themselves as great, lonely, misunderstood souls. But no one likes to be laughed at. "So much for the curative quality of humor. But sympathy and understanding are needed as well. Remember that every departure from normal, healthy behavior has a deep seated mental or spiritual cause. "Women so often get in a rut. They cease to grow. They make life a dull, dreary routine for their men, and then they are outraged if their husbands take to grumpiness, or something worse. They look everywhere for the cause, except within themselves. They have nothing to give to their husbands—not even thought.

In her latest book, "The Sea Gull," Mrs. Norris deals in startling fashion with modern love and its problems.

"An interesting, growing and happy home is, after all, the chief influence for good," added Mrs. Norris. "But the living heart of such a home is the family and the life and spirit of the family may be maintained even if its members are widely scattered. How may this be done? By frequent and loving letters, or, if the time be lacking for these, by the considerable use of greeting cards on birthdays, anniversaries and the great holidays. "Mother's Day, Father's Day, Christmas, New Years, Easter, the spirit of each can be expressed through a card of greeting, calling to remembrance and renewed vigor the sweetest loves and loyalties of life. "Being a 'doctor of domesticity' has its compensations," concluded Mrs. Norris. "I know of no better way to feel the pulse of the world. And this still beats strong and true, no matter what the cynics may say."

WOULD-BE ASSASSINS SHOT FOR ATTEMPTED OBREGON KILLING

Mexico City, Nov. 23.—Four men charged with trying to assassinate General Alvaro Obregon by throwing bombs at his automobile were executed here today before a firing squad. They were Miguel Austin (Projuarez, Catholic priest; his brother, Humberto Projuarez, Luis Agura Vilchiz and Antonio Tirado.

The first three were arrested Monday. Tirado was arrested after an attempt to assassinate Obregon on November 13. He was badly wounded at the time. The fifth man, declared to be implicated, Lamberto Ruiz, died Sunday of wounds received a trying to escape with Tirado.

The executions were carried out at police headquarters in the center of the city. Several thousands gathered outside heard the shots, and many people saw the penalty inflicted. All the executed men died bravely. Father Projuarez knelt in prayer just before the firing squad shot him. Police said all confessed completely in the plot last night, alleged to have been inspired by Catholics angry over the government's treatment of the church.

The execution took place only 50 yards from the American consulate, near leading hotels, newspaper offices and the foreign office. Ostensibly, the executions were private, but actually there was only an iron-barred fence between the court yard and the crowd. Mounted police kept order.

RUTH SNYDER AND HENRY JUDD GRAY TO DIE IN JANUARY

Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Ruth Snyder, her face tear-stained under her faded blonde hair, knew today that she must die in the electric chair the second week of January unless the unexpected happens.

Henry Judd Gray, her lover-partner, in the murder of her husband, Albert, knew, too, but he was resigned, and passed a quiet restful night.

Mrs. Snyder cried most of the night in her cell.

Snyder, the art editor, was slain in his bed at his home in Queens Village, Long Island, March 20. Mrs. Snyder and Gray, the corset salesman, had been lovers and plotted the death of the deceived husband, whose life had been insured for more than $100,000.

At the sensational trial, when the lovers turned upon one another, it was brought out that Snyder was formed jointly by the pair while he slept; that Gray, with Mrs. Snyder urging him on, had beaten the unconscious man over the head with a sash weight; that one of them had then strangled him with a picture wire; that they drank whiskey while they arranged the murder to look like a robbery, and that Gray then bound Mrs. Snyder and fled to Syracuse, where he was later arrested in spite of his carefully prepared alibi.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 23.—The state court of appeals today set the week of January 9th for the execution of Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, convicted for the murder of the woman's husband, Albert Snyder. The doomed loves are now in death cells at Sing Sing, where nothing but commutation by Governor Smith can stay execution. In accordance with the usual custom, the executions probably will take place Thursday before midnight.

Forgive Boozing Parson After Arrest for Intoxication

Ashland, Ore., Nov. 23.—William K. Ray, who resigned as minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, of Medford, Monday night after his arrest on a charge of intoxication near here, was fined $100 in justice court here yesterday when he pleaded guilty through his attorney, Percy A. Bray. The lawyer said his client's health prevented him from appearing personally.

SEATTLE TEACHERS FORM UNION

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 23.—Approximately 4 per cent of the high school teachers of Seattle have joined a union. W. E. Milliken, who was selected temporary chairman at an organization meeting last night, declared today.

The organization is to be known as the "Seattle High School Teachers' Union, Local No. 200, of the American Federation of Teachers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor."

Kingman—Tom Reed shaft work well under way.

The Livestock Situation

Los Angeles, Nov. 24.—(Special to The Patagonian.)—The coming Christmas fat stock week, December 5 to 10, in Los Angeles marks another milestone toward an annual livestock event which, no doubt, eventually will assume international proportions. This is the second affair of this character attempted in California, and those in close touch with the livestock industry are agreed that the foundation has been laid for the development of an annual fat livestock exhibit that will prove of a great deal of benefit to everyone from the producer to the consumer in an educational way.

The Fat Stock Week cannot properly be called a livestock show, as it was inaugurated to satisfy demand for premium quality meat foods during the holiday season. However, along with this a great deal of benefit results through the bringing together of the many classes of livestock from the standpoint of comparison which is always of a great deal of value to the producer.

It has been demonstrated that the most democratic place imaginable is a fat livestock exhibit. Breeders of all classes forget their differences and rub shoulders in a mutual endeavor to bring about a common end; namely, better breeding and finishing of livestock. In the old days the sheepman, the range cowman, the dairyman and raiser of hogs had little in common and many times differed severely in their views. However, all lines of this nature are forgotten at such an exhibit and everyone throws in for the good of the cause.

The Los Angeles exhibit is unique inasmuch as it is held entirely for the purpose of collecting together an assortment of high-class, well finished, fat livestock to meet the demand at this season for choice offerings of all kinds. To this feature has been added the offering of substantial prizes contributed by people in a wide range of activities, many of whom are rather removed from the livestock industry. But this serves to show that the public is appreciative of the importance of proper production and distribution of meat food animals. These prizes are awarded to classes in the fat stock exhibit as a recognition of superior quality.

The basis of the Christmas Fat Stock exhibit in Los Angeles is somewhat different than the practice at other points where livestock exhibits are a regular occasion. The Los Angeles exhibit is open to all classes, all colors, and all breeds. It is being supported by many individuals throughout the southwest, selling agencies at the yards, meat packers, producers, the livestock exchange, meat jobbers, retailers, bankers and many others, and is conducted wholly from the standpoint of meeting the requirements of the trade for premium quality offerings at this season of the year.

As has been demonstrated at other points where activities of this character have been started the benefit from an educational standpoint through the opportunity to compare methods and in bringing the requirements of the consumer and packer to the notice of the producer brings about a more practical, economical and profitable operation in the production, distribution and marketing of meat food animals and products incident thereto.

It would seem well founded to predict that the Pacific Southwest and California is due for rapid development in efforts of this kind which have been so successfully worked out in other sections, and everything points to a large exhibit of quality livestock from all sections of the west.

SELIM FRANKLIN DIES SUDDENLY ON TUCSON GOLF LINKS

Was Pioneer Lawyer, Well Known Throughout State; Death Occurs While Playing Golf

Tucson, Nov. 23.—Selim Franklin, 63, pioneer Tucsonian and veteran lawyer, died on the course of the Tucson of the Tucson Golf and Country Club yesterday afternoon shortly after falling to the ground with a heart attack. Playing with him were C. C. Wheeler, W. A. Kingsley and W. E. Guern, who attempted in vain to restore consciousness.

Since 1883 Franklin has practiced law in Tucson. As a member of the territorial legislature, he was one of the authors of the bill founding the University of Arizona, of which he served as regent for a number of years. He is said to have been instrumental in advancing the school to its present high rating.

In paying tribute to one of Tucson's most honored jurists, Judge Gerald Jones of the superior court said: "Selim Franklin's death is an irreparable loss to the community." Mr. Franklin was a charter member of the Pima County Bar Association.

Besides Mrs. Franklin, the jurist leaves four children: Selim Franklin Jr., who is a first-year law student at the university; Miss Gladys Franklin, now in Florida; Mrs. George Farman of Los Angeles, who will arrive here tomorrow morning, and Mrs. Edward Adams of New York City. A brother of the dead man, A. M. Franklin, is also well known here.

DE LA HUERTA HUNTED MAN?

Los Angeles, Nov. 23.—Adolfo de la Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico, was found today, the Examiner says, to have been put under a deputized bodyguard for protection from six Mexicans who allegedly have crossed the border on a mission of assassination.

Ajo—New Cornelia Copper Company produced 6,274,420 pounds of copper in September, compared with 6,077,960 in August.

Morris Glatz and Robert White of Des Moines, Ill., were arrested for fighting after an argument over the merits of their respective cat and dog.

For every 100,000 inhabitants the United States has 133 physicians, Great Britain 92, Germany 51, and France 336.

A shoe cast off by his horse cut off the ear of Henry Surges of Ottumwa, Ia., and knocked him unconscious.

SCHOOL NOTES

(Frank Seibold, Editor)

Tootsie Lamma has finished her chart.

The new library books are being enjoyed by pupils in all grades.

The second grade dramatized the story of the "Travelers and the Bear."

The third graders wrote very good fables this week.

The seventh grade pupils had a test in history Wednesday.

School was closed Thursday and Friday for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. Farrell and Mr. Hughes visited the school Wednesday.

"BADGER" FIGHT HELD HERE

Monday night at the local opera house a "badger fight" was pulled off before a large crowd of interested spectators, who had been let into the secret. Advance publicity was given the affair owing to the fact that it is unlawful for badger fights to be held in Arizona, and fearing interference by the sheriff's office.

The "fight" was between a white bulldog from the Circle Z guest ranch and a "ferocious badger" captured by E. F. Bohlinger in a local bedchamber. David Fishman of the Victor mine handed the "badger" with great courage and efficiency, while the dog was seconded by Lee Zinsmeister of the Circle Z ranch. Principal Ralph H. Zimmerman of the Patagonia local high school acted as referee. The fight was declared a draw.

Squirrels Get "Jag On" and Cut Up

Kansas City, Nov. 23.—A few hours after police had dumped 20 barrels of mash into a ravine in a park here, they were called to see the result of their work. They found about a dozen squirrels, hilariously drunk. The little animals tried to crow like roosters, walk on their front legs and do the black bottom. They did everything but bite the steel cars and talk back to the cops.

Warren—Actual development work on the 2000-foot level of the Denn shaft of the Shattuck-Denn Mining Corporation property in progress.

Kirkland—Small test plant being successfully at property of Arizona Metals Company near here.

Tombstone—Mining activities in this vicinity show increase.

San Rafael Valley Notes

Dr. Booser of Nogales came to the Kinsley ranch Saturday evening as health officer. It was thought Thelma Kinsley had scarlet fever, but the doctor did not verify that impression.

Marion Francis was a Patagonia visitor Sunday.

Miss Henrietta Martin and Charles Pearce were Nogales visitors over the week-end.

Miss Vellie Williams and Otho Kinsley were valley visitors Monday night.

CHURCH DEDICATION SUNDAY

The revival at the Methodist church is creating much interest, and good crowds are attending. Good singing and interesting sermons are on the program every night. Rev. C. F. York, evangelist, and Rev. James Crutchfield, pastor, keep the meetings lively. It is planned to dedicate the church building, which is now free of debt, at the Sunday services, afternoon and evening. Mr. Crutchfield will preach in the afternoon following Sunday school, and Mr. York at night.

Evening services will be held at 7 o'clock. A collection is being taken to buy a good bell to be installed in the tower at an early date. A general invitation is extended to all to attend the services.

STATE TREASURER SAYS CHARGE OF COMMISSION UNTRUE

Phoenix, Nov. 23.—Denial that his attorneys had written to the Arizona State Highway Commission and requested a dismissal of the suit brought by the commission for a writ of mandamus to compel J. C. Callaghan, state treasurer, to honor warrants drawn against a $161,700 fund created by Governor Hunt through a special proclamation, as stated by the commission, was made today by Callaghan in a statement issued relative to the matter.

"The treasurer's statement charges that the move to drop the suit was started by the highway commission and its attorneys, and that Matthews Bilby, Tucson law firm, merely wrote the commission suggesting how that might be done.

The highway commission, through its secretary, yesterday announced that the commission had denied the request of the Tucson attorneys to dismiss the mandamus suit it had brought against the state treasurer, which is now pending in the supreme court.

COUNTRY DOCTOR DWINDE IN NUMBER, FARMERS SAY

Cleveland, Nov. 23.—Decrying the dwindling supply of country doctors, who care for the health of 30,000,000 in rural communities, Harry A. Caton, master of the Ohio State Grange, today placed a resolution to aid in reforming the present system of medical education.

The grange, by a close vote, decided to hold its 1928 convention in Washington, D. C., after Denver had made a strong bid for the meeting.

"There are increasing hosts in rural sections who are medically helpless, while the cost of medical services, where it is to be had, mounts higher and higher," the Ohio master declared in introducing his resolution asking that the medical profession take some steps to encourage young men to become general practitioners. The specialist who takes care of about 10 per cent of all medical cases has sounded the knell for the country doctor, and general practitioner, Caton said.

POLICE SERGEANT SHOT WHILE BANDITS

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Gangdom replied with bombs and bullets today to the Chicago police ultimatum that the gunmen must keep the peace. Police Sergeant Tom Lynch was wounded critically in a running fight with an automobile load of gangsters; a few hours earlier a bomb had blown out the front of the West Side resort of the Bertache-Skidmore-Zuta vice syndicate which Joseph Aiello and his brothers are allied.

The bombing apparently was a warning by cohorts of Scarface Al Capone that Aiello's attempt to usurp the underworld throne of Capone would meet the same answer. Previous rivalries against the powerful gangster chief have received death.

Chief of Police Michael said, after an investigation, it was possible that he had been shot accidentally by one of his companions in the police car. The pursuit of the gangster car by police was called one of the most sensational in recent Chicago history.

Misses Dorothy Farrell and Evelyn Francis of Tempe Teachers College spent the Thanksgiving holidays visiting relatives in Nogales and San Rafael Valley. They will return to school Sunday afternoon.

Kingman—Century mine new mill will have capacity of 80 tons per day.

WEATHER BUREAU RAPPED BY CAPTAIN GILES

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—Captain Frederick A. Giles, British aviator, arrived here tonight from San Simeon, Calif., and despite the assertion of weather bureau officials that his story was "impossible," reiterated his claim that "foul weather" upset and damaged his biplane 450 miles west of San Francisco Tuesday, forcing him to speed back to a safe landing in San Luis Obispo county.

In an interview Giles said: "I can't understand all this controversy over my accident. In the first place, I never described the foul weather conditions I encountered at sea as a storm in the sense one usually refers to a storm. The air conditions that caused my plane to upset would not be observed by ships nor could they be charted on any weather map. I did not fall in a squall.

"You may quote me as saying that as a foreigner to this country I am thoroughly disgusted with the action of local weather bureau officials who today took advantage of my absence from San Francisco by issuing statements in which they declared that atmospheric conditions that forced me back were simply impossible!"

THE RIGHT "TO KEEP AND BEAR ARMS"

The United States has been criticized as a country of freak laws. Our people may go wrong occasionally through lack of information or misinformation on a question of public interest, but in the long run they think straight and act straight, and the best evidence of this fact is the 150 years of growth and prosperity which our nation has enjoyed.

The right of individual initiative and freedom from unnecessary restraint is inborn in every American citizen. For some time there has been an effort made to prohibit the ownership of small arms although the second amendment of the Constitution of the United States says: "The right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

Target practice and good marksmanship has been part of the life of the normal American boy. Legislation to prohibit this on the theory that it would reduce crime, is a mistake, for the criminal would still get his guns from sources outside the United States. As a matter of fact, most of the worst crimes are not committed with a gun. Hatchets, axes, clubs, knives and other instruments take a greater toll.

In their honest desire to bring about enforcement in this country, it is a question of whether the people will hastily adopt a measure which in the long run would simply make it easier for criminals to carry on their work.

Our idea of a boob is a fellow who pays $10 to join Big Bill Thompson's 100-acre centers.

Mr. Levine should be able to secure a vaudeville contract as the world's most unpopular hero.

JINGOISM AND WAR

There is no denying the fact that over-zealous appeals to patriotism are a fruitful cause of war. The spirit which seeks to instill into the youth of any country an undue regard for its own greatness, and a corresponding contempt for the people of other nations, is the greatest menace to world peace.

At a recent conference in St. Louis, Major General Henry T. Allen of the United States army, who commanded the American forces in Germany after the armistice, appealed for a more tolerant attitude toward other countries. He declared that the United States should sacrifice some of its nationalism in the cause of peace, "by conferring around a common table in a spirit of compromise with all other sovereign states."

Pride in one's country, love for its institutions and zeal for its advancement are all laudible qualities. It is also commendable to be ready to defend it against actual aggression which can be met only by force.

But to assume an attitude of superiority and assert it in an offensive manner is unbecoming and unnecessary. If persisted in, such an attitude may easily lead to war.

LAST CALL FOR BONUS

More than half a million veterans of the World War have so far failed to apply for their adjusted compensation, popularly known as "bonus," under the law enacted for their benefit. Unless they apply on or before January 1, their rights will be forfeited.

More than 3,100,000 veterans have already applied for the compensation provided, which is paid in cash where the amount due is $50 or less, or by a paid-up insurance policy in cases in which the bonus exceeds that amount.

Service officers of American Legion posts, officials of the Veterans Bureau, certain representatives of the Red Cross and others will gladly assist ex-service men in preparing and filing their applications, so that no one need forfeit his adjusted compensation through lack of aid in securing it.

The war department desires that every man entitled to the benefit of the law may receive it, and all who have not filed their applications are urged to do so immediately. This is the last call.

It appears that the French desire to find out how far our flexible tariff will really stretch.

Full Brings a New Black Frock

It isn't much harder to enter Europe without a passport than it is to get through fall and winter without a new crepe or satin frock. No matter what your daily program is, you will surely and constantly need a simple smart costume of the type generally known as "an afternoon dress." The frock above is smart for any daytime occasion of the immediate season, of winter and of spring. The long roll collar and vestee are new and becoming, and the gay looped-up girdle edged with the contrasting color furnishes the smart snug neckline. Shirring at the left hip gives the skirt an easy fullness, and novel pointed cuffs set off the long straight sleeves. (Copyright, 1927, by Butterick)

A. E. Sanders and Lella Sanders, Plaintiffs, vs. Rufus Walter and Harriet Mae Walter, Defendants.

Under and by virtue of a special execution issued out of the Superior Court of the State of Arizona in and for the County of Santa Cruz, on the 4th day of November, 1927, in the above entitled action wherein the above named plaintiffs, A. E. Sanders and Lella Sanders, did on the 4th day of November, 1927, in the above entitled Court obtain a judgment against against the above named defendants, Rufus Walter and Harriet Mae Walter, for the sum of Five Hundred Twenty-eight and 53-100 ($528.53) Dollars, current lawful money of the United States of America, with interest and costs, I am commanded to sell all of the right, title and interest, claim and demand of the said defendants, as said title existed on the 8th day of April, 1927, together with any and all right, title, interest, claim and demand thereafter acquired in and to the following described property:

That certain real estate and premises situated in the County of Santa Cruz, State of Arizona, and described as follows: Known as Lots "R" and "S" of the Potrero Acres Subdivision, Santa Cruz County, Arizona, as said lots are delineated on the Plat of the Potrero Acres Subdivision on record in the office of the County Recorder of Santa Cruz County, State of Arizona, under the date of June 10th, 1925.

Notice is hereby given that I will, on Tuesday, the 6th day of December, 1927, at eleven o'clock A. M. of said day, at the West, or main, door of the County Court House in the City of Nogales, County of Santa Cruz, State of Arizona, in obedience to said special execution and judgment aforesaid, sell at public auction the above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the said judgment aforesaid with interest thereon and costs and accruing costs, to the highest bidder, for cash, in gold coin of the United States.

Dated this 4th day of November, A. D. 1927.

H. J. BROWN, Sheriff.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

FIRST TRAFFIC RULES IN 1903

As we approach the end of 1927 it is interesting to recall that prior to 1903 there were no police rules for driving. Vehicles "made their way best they could."

In 1903 three mounted policemen were placed on Fifth Avenue, New York, to facilitate the movement of traffic.

New York's first traffic regulations were printed October 30, 1903. One-way streets were introduced into New York in 1908.

In November, 1903, 100 blue and white enameled signs, directing slow-moving vehicles to keep near the right-hand curb, were put into use in New York. They were probably the first traffic regulation signs ever used.

It may be remembered that the first four automobiles were produced and registered back in 1895. In 1903 there were but 32,920 automobiles registered in the United States. What strides have been made since then! At the close of 1927 there were nearly 20,000,000 passenger cars registered to say nothing of a few million trucks and buses.

Traffic problems are being given more and more attention because after food and shelter and clothing we must think about transportation. And traffic problems are simply transportation problems, perplexing some of them are but not at all insurmountable. The truth is we have made tremendous progress in meeting the requirements of motor vehicular transportation. And as we have done so communities have profited.

Crane is Director of P. D. Corporation
New York, Nov. 17.—Clinton H. Crane, president of St. Joseph Lead Company, has been elected a director of the Phelps Dodge Corporation.

James Corridge o'Flanely, Wales, attempted a daylight robbery, was arrested, convicted and sentenced, all within an hour.

Special taxes levied on automobile owners of the United States last year amounted to half a billion dollars.

Another paradox is that intelligent persons seldom engage in intelligence tests.

The number of automobiles in the state of New York no wreaches nearly two million.

Jim Daily, frequently convicted of crime, had his face remodeled, declaring that new features would help him to "go straight," but after a short career as writer and lecturer, he is back in San Quentin prison for violating the narcotic law.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Section of Pittsburgh Is Shattered by Explosion of Gas Tanks.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

THREE huge storage tanks of the Equitable Gas company in Pittsburgh blew up and an entire section of the city, at the point where the Allegheny flows into the Ohio river, was wrecked. The total number of lives lost may never be known, but it probably was forty or more; hundreds of persons were injured. In the immediate vicinity of the gas works many large industrial buildings were totally ruined, as were a number of tenements where women and children were among the victims. The force of the explosion was felt throughout the city and nearly all the glass in the downtown section was smashed.

Cause of the disaster was found in the blunder of some one who ordered workmen to repair the largest of the three tanks while it was partly filled with gas. One man was using a blow torch when the huge basin, which stood 75 feet above the ground, was blown apart and a great sheet of flame shot a thousand feet upward. A second tank holding 4,000,000 cubic feet of gas and situated about 200 feet away was crushed in, its contents ignited, and a second mighty blaze went up. A third tank, several hundred feet distant, of 500,000 cubic feet capacity and partly filled, was burst asunder by the force of the explosion and its contents added to the vast breath of flame that could be seen for miles.

THOUGH the Colorado coal miners' strike seemed to be slowly waning, the prospects for bloody fighting increased last week. After several days of intermittent picketing at the Columbine mine, the only coal property still operating in the northern Colorado fields, its owners informed Gov. W. H. Adams that the pickets would be shot if they set foot on the property. Machine guns were mounted behind barbed-wire entanglements, and the gunners had orders to shoot any trespassers. A large band of pickets led by a woman were turned back Wednesday by these warlike preparations. Meanwhile the I. W. W., through their official paper, were calling for "all footloose rebels" in the country to flock to Colorado to aid the strikers.

Officers in charge of state police sent an appeal to the governor for fifty more men to meet any contingency. The situation was described as "acute" by William H. Young, a member of the state industrial commission.

Gov. John S. Fisher of Pennsylvania told representatives of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor that he would investigate charges they laid before him of the usurpation of power by coal and iron police and of partiality by state police in the strike district of the bituminous coal region. The committee which conferred with Governor Fisher made arrangements to see President Coolidge at the White House to discuss conditions in the bituminous fields of western Pennsylvania.

COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH was the central figure in a remarkable gathering of aviators in Washington. The men, and one woman, who have distinguished themselves by overseas air flights were entertained at luncheon by the President and then went to the Auditorium where before an audience of 6,000 "Lindy" received from the hands of Mr. Coolidge the Hubbard gold medal of the National Geographic society, a trophy that has been presented to only seven other men. Justices of the Supreme court, members of the cabinet, of the diplomatic corps, and of congress were in attendance, all joining in the cheering and applause.

The famous flyers present included Lieuts. Lester J. Maitland and Albert Hagenberger, first to hop from San Francisco to Hawaii; Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, who flew from New York to Germany; Ruth Elder and George Haldeman; Bert Acosta, Berndt Balchen and George Noville, who flew with Commander Byrd to France; William S. Brock and Edward H. Schlee, who crossed the Atlantic to London and then flew by successive stages across Europe and Asia to Japan.

Capt. R. H. Macintosh and Bert Hineckler, English aviators, started from Upavon, England, in an attempt to break the distance record for non-stop flights held by Chamberlin and Levine by flying to Karachi, India, a distance of 4,000 miles. At this writing the outcome of the venture is not known.

Sir Alan Cobham, with a crew of six and accompanied by his wife, began a flight around Africa to show the possibility for communication between the various parts of the British empire by air.

IF THE story told by William J. McMullen, a Burns operative, is true, there was a deliberate and elaborate plot to frame the government in the Fall-Sinclair case and to force a mistrial. According to his statements he revolted at the plan of falsely accusing Assistant Attorney General H. R. Lamb of attempting to influence Juror Glasscock, and told the whole story to Clifford Pinchot, who in turn communicated it to the government counsel. McMullen was directed to "play along" with the Burns men and to report their activities to the district attorney. This he says he did, and the whole alleged plot was then revealed to the grand jury. That body also heard W. J. Burns, head of the detective agency, and his son, W. Sherman Burns, who declared the story told by McMullen was false. Justice Siddons, who presided at the Teapot Dome trial, appointed a committee of lawyers to determine whether those involved in the jury fixing scandal should be cited for contempt of court.

The government also undertook to bring about the punishment of Harry M. Blackmer, a millionaire oil man, who fled to France several years ago rather than testify in the Sinclair-Fall conspiracy trial. An order entered by Justice Siddons directed Federal Marshal E. C. Snyder to seize $100,000 worth of Blackmer's property wherever it may be found within the United States and summoned Blackmer himself to appear on January 6 to show cause why he should not be held in contempt and his property confiscated.

CHINESE students and workmen created disturbances at Yeung-kong, 150 miles southwest of Canton, making demonstrations against American workers and an American mission. The United States gunboat Asheville was sent there from Hongkong by the commander of the south China patrol. The Chinese military forces arrested leaders of the mobs, but there was fear of further trouble.

The Labor party under Chang Fatul attempted to seize Canton and there was long continued street fighting. Martial law was declared and the gates of the foreign settlement were closed.

Nanking Nationalists gained a big advantage by the collapse of the radical faction at Hankow and its abandonment of that city. The region was immediately overrun by Kwangsi men belonging to the Nanking party. In the struggle of the southerners with the northern armies the former are reported to have met a severe defeat north of Mingkwang. However, Feng, the Christian general, won a three-day battle against Marshal Chang's forces in Shantung province.

WITH the aid of 102 lawyers, Mihail Manolescu, former under-secretary of state of Rumania, won acquittal in his trial by court-martial on charges of plotting to place former Crown Prince Carol on the throne. The defense, engineered by General Avarescu, bitterly attacked Premier Bratianu and his policies and the result of the trial was admittedly a severe blow to that dictatorial official. One of the defense witnesses, an eminent historian, declared: "One-fourth of the country is against Prince Carol, but Rumania is 75 per cent Carolist." The government fears an uprising of the Carolists, and hurriedly put through parliament the new national defense act, which provides penal servitude and heavy fines for persons who "by word or deed" directly or indirectly seek to overthrow the present monarchical regime.

MOULAY YOUSSEF, sultan of Morocco, seventeenth ruler of his dynasty, died at Fez, chief of his four capital cities. He was the son of Sultan Moulay Hassan and succeeded his brother, Moulay Hafid, in 1912, holding his throne since 1923 under the French protectorate and residing usually in the French zone. He was only forty-five years old but had been in bad health for some time.

THE British government had rather an unpleasant time last week. Its coal policy was attacked in the house by the Labor-Socialist opposition which declared the government had neglected the difficulties of the industry and demanded immediate action to secure an efficient organization. The Laborites insisted on a reply from Prime Minister Baldwin and would not listen to Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, president of the Board of Trade. They created such a disturbance that the speaker was obliged to order an adjournment.

In the house of lords Viscount Cecil attacked the government's attitude toward disarmament, and asserted that its refusal to admit the principle of mathematical parity in naval strength with the United States "hangs, bolts and bars the door against any hope of agreement with America on naval armaments. He blamed Winston Churchill for the failure of the Geneva conference. W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the admiralty, announced that in view of the situation disclosed at Geneva it was not thought necessary to proceed with the three cruisers originally provided for in current naval estimates and therefore only one would be laid down.

ITALIANS, who deeply resent the new Franco-Yugo-Slav treaty, believe France is arming the Serbs against Italy and have been "demonstrating" before the embassy and legation of those nations in Rome. Dispatches explain that enormous orders for steel, leather and wood are being placed in Germany by the French on their reparations account. The goods are delivered to French agents at the frontier and shipped to Yugo-Slavia. The Germans are delighted over this development as each mark's worth of goods which is delivered to France frees them from delivery of a mark in cash under the Dawes plan.

OUR little tiff with France over tariff rates is virtually ended. French Minister of Commerce Maurice Bokanowski said that the United States had agreed, after the conclusion of a provisional agreement, to study the possibility of a reduction in American tariff rates based on a comparison of American and French costs of production.

ELEVEN cities have applied for the honor of having the Republican national convention next year. They are Chicago, San Francisco, Detroit, Cleveland, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, Seattle, Minneapolis, San Antonio, and Philadelphia. The winner will be picked by the national committee when it meets December 6. Just now it looks as if San Francisco would be selected, but Detroit also has strong backing. Chicago is said to have little chance because of Illinois candidates for the Presidential nomination.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, whose duty it often has been to decorate others, was himself decorated Thursday evening in Philadelphia, receiving the Union League's gold medal for distinguished public service and a certificate of membership in the club. The occasion was Founders' day, and the President delivered the chief address at the banquet. Two other Presidents, Lincoln and Johnson, have received the club's medal, and Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft were made honorary members.

FOUR men attempted to assassinate General Obregon, Presidential candidate in Mexico, with bombs, but the general escaped with cuts on his face from broken glass of his automobile windshield. Three of the assassins were caught, two being wounded by the police.

STOP PLAYERS' LITERARY WORK

Public Bored by Flood of Stereotyped Stories.

It is understood in National league circles that the directors of that circuit will be asked to take action on the ever-growing tendency of manager and players to join the ranks of the so-called special writers.

Men vitally interested in the success of the sport are frank in pointing out the reaction already felt as the result of indiscretions of pilots and privates in "revealing baseball secrets, stirring up dissension and waving old skeletons while collecting the extra compensation for their literary efforts."

The league moguls realize that in some instances the errors of judgment have been unintentional, due mainly to the fact that the player or star probably didn't even see the copy which was produced under his name. The big league moguls first awoke to the danger of the player-writer nuisance when one of the great figures of the American league burst forth in a tirade against Gay Johnson in one of his daily "articles." The matter was brought to a head when one or two playing stars of the participating teams in the world's series revealed some "inside dope" in their eagerness to supply material for their articles.

This action is contemplated as the public apparently has become a bit bored by the flood of such material. During the world's series the stereotyped views of the various games, the failure of the player-experts to add any new facts to the daily grind, and the sorry showing on the field of one or two of the player-scribes while laboring over the typewriter by proxy, brought the fan under discussion.

In one edition of one of the Pittsburgh papers, for instance, appeared the thrilling accounts of four or five scribes, and most of them began with the startling and unique announcement that "Well, we lost today's game, but the boys aren't downhearted."

The fan, of course, works a hardship on the four baseball stars who have developed skill as writers and produce their own copy. Their efforts are lost in the rush of "special writers."

It is believed that the National league, and perhaps the American league, will act to the extent of prohibiting participants in the world's series from permitting their names to appear over newspaper accounts of the games.

Murphy, Grand Circuit Driver, Out of Sport
Tommy Murphy, veteran Grand circuit racer and holder of several world records on the trotting track, announces that he has definitely decided to withdraw from active participation in racing. His future plans, he said, are uncertain.

Classed as a logical successor to "Pop" Geers, dean of Grand circuit drivers, who fell a victim in his sport in an accident three years ago, Murphy declared that his decision to withdraw was influenced largely by the wishes of his family.

For 20 years he has been at the top of the Grand circuit race world, and over that period Murphy believes he has been the largest race money winner in the United States, with purses of over $2,000,000 to his credit.

Gamekeeper's Find

A gamekeeper near Aberdeen, Scotland, has had a remarkable experience among foxes.

He discovered the lair of a fox among the heather, and after a good deal of hunting succeeded in trapping the old pair. A few days later he found on the ledge of a rock near the den five young fox cubs.

It chanced that he had at home a cat with kittens the same age as the cubs, so he took two of them home and placed them beside the mother cat. She took kindly to her common enemy, and cared for them. The young cubs have become quite friendly with the kittens, and the cat is proving an excellent foster mother.

Big Projects on Foot for Harnessing Tides

The feasibility of harnessing the tides at certain places is so well understood that the French government has under way a project to develop a 5,000-horse power plant near Brest, writes Henry Williams, in the American Magazine.

England contemplates a $150,000,000 development in the Severn estuary; and the state of Maine has ratified a bill to develop tidal power in the bay of Fundy, to cost $100,000,000, which is expected annually to produce the equivalent of power from $10,000,000 worth of coal.

In the tide reservoir system as contemplated in the bay of Fundy and elsewhere, the gates are shut after the water has flowed in, and power is gained by letting the water flow out, operating turbine wheels meanwhile, as the tide recedes. Part of the power thus gained may be used to pump some of the basin water into higher reservoirs, to be used to operate other turbines as it flows back again.

Aerial Signposts

For some time past the British air ministry has been considering the question of providing identification marks at points all over the country for the convenience of airplane pilots. The first of these novel "signposts" is shortly to be established near Weydown common, Haslemere, where the ministry has rented a piece of ground sufficiently large to enable the name "Haslemere" to be outlined against the turf in large white letters.

Up till now only aerodromes have been indicated by this method, but it is intended to develop the identification scheme until every town and village will have its name inscribed at a convenient spot. Airmen will then have no need to carry maps, since the whole of Great Britain, seen from above, will be one vast map.—London Answers.

CHINESE EMBROIDERY IS FEATURED ON BLOUSE, BAG

By JULIA BOITOMLEY

frankly of Chinese inspiration. The picture shows a blouse of this type. The fact of an embroidered wrist bag to match, presents a novel and fetching angle to the mode. As to the effectiveness of such an ensemble, little need be said, for the picture tells its own story.

The idea of the all-over embroidered blouse is being worked out in beautiful form, for the velvet two-piece frock. Fascinating models feature the blouse, which is of the same velvet as the skirt, with skillful embroidery bordering neckline, wrists and about the neckline, extending up and down a semi-front opening. Little repeat designs are scattered over the entire tunic. One such, recently displayed, is of almost green sheer velvet. The motifs and borders are done in oriental colorings which are intermingled with gold and silver threadwork.

In the present vogue for the embroidered blouse the home dressmaker with an artistic turn of mind should find inspiration for designing costumes which shall carry the distinction of fine handwork.

The all-over repeat design is one way of accomplishing a unique effect. Perhaps it may be just a simple rose-bud motif scattered here and there or a conventional patterning, or as is very effective, a single flower spray across the front of the blouse.

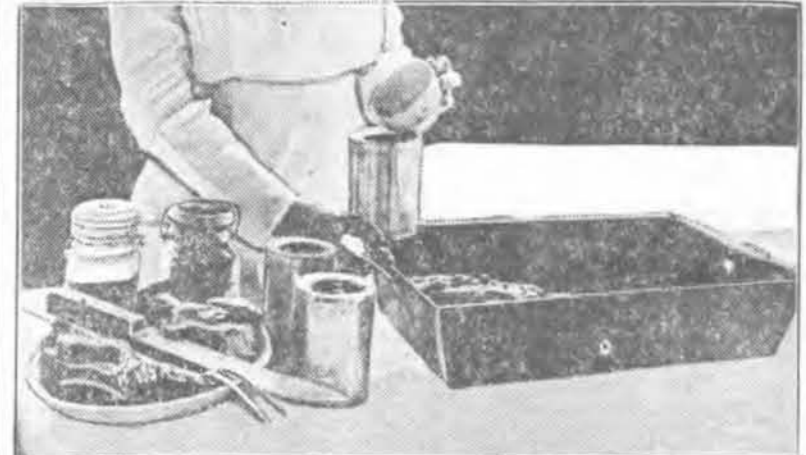

The blouse starred all over with tiny gold or silver millheads is also very modish. A black satin frock whose skirt is plaited or draped takes on a smart appearance if its blouse be thus polka-dotted with metal millheads. With this wear a narrow satin belt which has been solidly encrusted with the millheads—the effect is stunning.

Now that oriental embroideries are so featured in the mode, one can pick up lovely specimens of Japanese and Chinese handwork, in the form of panels and squares. These can be inset in the velvet or satin blouse with extreme effectiveness.

Another clever way is to set the embroidery pieces in with gogoting which is done with gold thread.

CANNING MEATS ON THE FARM

Adding Hot Gravy to Meat in Cans Before Canning in Steam Pressure Canner.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The canning of meats on the farm has become one of the most important methods of food preservation. Only meats that have been freshly killed and cleanly handled should be preserved in this way. The United States Department of Agriculture recommends that the steam pressure canner should always be used. A high temperature of 250 degrees equivalent to a steam pressure of 15 pounds per square inch, is required to sterilize meats properly and prevent spoilage.

Prepare for Canning.

After slaughtering the meat may be prepared for canning as soon as the animal heat has disappeared. The directions below are given for canning roast pork, but they may be applied to similar cuts of beef or lamb. The meat should always be cooked and seasoned before it is canned—whether it is roasted, fried, baked or stewed—just as though for immediate serving, so that the flavor will be retained. It need not be cooked tender, but it should be cooked until the center is no longer red. Pack the meat as hot as possible. Remove all bones and fill up the jar or can with hot gravy stock, so that the sterilization period will not be longer than necessary.

Either glass jars or tin cans may be used for canning meats. Full directions for each step in the process in either case will be found in Farmers' Bulletin 1186-F, "Pork on the Farm," and also recipes for preparing the various parts of the hog in different ways for canning. The flavoring and proportions in these recipes may be varied to suit individual taste, but the length of time and temperature for the processing period of each meat or mixture should never be changed.

Piece for Roasting.

In the case of pork, the ham, shoulder or loin is generally used for roasting. Scrape the skin clean and wipe it with a damp cloth. If the ham is used and the skin is left on, cut with the point of a knife just through the skin so as to dice it, and trim with cloves and tufts of parsley if desired. Salt and pepper to taste should be sprinkled over the ham. Heat in a roasting pan from two to three table-spoonfuls of grease. Put in the roast when this is hot and sear it quickly all over to seal the pores and prevent loss of the juice of the meat. Add two small turnips to the roasting pan and from one-half to one cupful of boiling water. Leave skin side up and do not turn, but baste frequently. When cooked through and nicely browned, slice and pack in cans or jars to within one-half inch at the top of the can. Add the gravy from the roasting pan, or soup stock so that it barely covers the meat. Close the can or jar, and process it in the steam pressure cooker. No. 2 cans or pint jars are processed for 45 to fifty minutes at 250 degrees Fahrenheit or 15 pounds of steam pressure. No. 3 cans or quart jars from 55 to 60 minutes at the same pressure. In case the meat is fat, time for processing must be prolonged 10 minutes.

CANNING SURPLUS CHICKEN

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Canning the surplus birds from the home poultry flock is often times an economical practice. Either young or old birds may be canned by home methods. Plump well-fledged hens two years old have as good texture and better flavor when canned than six-month-old chickens.

Prepare the chicken for canning as you would for cooking. Pick, singe, remove pin feathers, and wash the birds. Then disjoint and cut them in the usual pieces, and discard the entrails. Remove and discard the oil sac and the lungs and kidneys, and do not use the giblets and gizzards for canning. Be particularly careful not to break the gall bladder. If this does happen, do not use that chicken for canning because it will have a very unpleasant taste. Trim off any large pieces of fat. If there is a great deal of fat in the jar, it is likely to cook out on the rubber ring during the processing and may cause it to slip, thus spoiling the seal. Cut the white meat in large pieces from the breast bone and shoulders. Leave the meat on the bones in the other pieces. Cut the neck off close to the body, and use it and the other very bony pieces, such as the back and perhaps the feet, after they have been skinned, for making broth to fill up the jars. Cover these bony pieces with lightly salted cold water, bring to the boil, and simmer for 15 minutes to make this broth.

Chicken should be packed hot in hot, clean jars. It may be prepared for packing in either of two ways. Simmer the pieces of chicken in a small quantity of water until it is boiling hot all through. Or sear the pieces in hot fat until they are golden brown, and then pour hot broth over them and let them heat through to boiling temperature. Do not roll in flour before cooking, because this makes it more difficult to process effectively.

Pack the pieces of hot chicken in pint jars. Put some white and some dark meat into each jar, or pack all the white meat into separate jars if desired for some special use. Be sure, however, not to get so close a pack that the broth cannot circulate freely in the jar. Two four-pound birds, when cut up and cooked ready for packing into the jars, will fill five pint jars. Add a half teaspoonful of salt to each pint jar and enough boil### ing broth to cover the meat. Adjust the rubber rings and covers and seal the jars.

Place the hot-packed jars immediately in a pressure canner, and process for one hour at 15 pounds pressure, at 250 degrees Fahrenheit. Begin to count time when the pressure gauge registers 15 pounds, not before. When the hour is up, allow the canner to cool until the gauge registers zero before opening the net rock.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Liver is a food especially recommended for anemic persons because it contains iron.

Mend and use that crippled furniture in attic or cellar, or give it away, or burn it in the fireplace.

PEANUT BUTTER CUP CAKES JUST A LITTLE DIFFERENT

Whether you are wishing for something just a little different in the way of a cake recipe, or just happen to have some peanut butter you would like to make use of in a new way, try these peanut butter cup cakes, which have been tried out by the bureau of home economics and found delicious.

- 4 tablespoons peanut butter
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 1/2 cups soft wheat flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Mix the butter, peanut butter and sugar well. Add the beaten egg and the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Add the vanilla. Bake in greased muffin tins in a moderate oven for about 20 minutes.

MARY GRAHAM BONNER STORY FOR CHILDREN

The reindeer were ready. The sleigh was ready. The great pack was ready, and Santa Claus was ready.

"We're going to the cities, of course," said Santa Claus, "but first we must go to many of the country places.

"We won't forget a single one, my beautiful reindeer.

"We're going to the farthest away farm house where there are children.

"Yes, my beautiful reindeer, wherever there are children, we will go."

Off they started in the cool, frosty air.

Off they flew, off they hurried, off they dashed.

Never had the reindeer gone any more quickly. Never had they felt more like going.

Or, did they feel the same way every Christmas?

Certainly it was a beautiful way to feel.

But, any way, they had never felt more like rushing to the different houses than they had felt this year.

Never had they felt more like hurrying. Never had they enjoyed the cool, frosty air more.

Never had the presents seemed nicer. Never had Santa Claus been more pleased with the work that he had accomplished in his shop throughout the year.

Never had the letters he had received pleased him more.

Never had the traveling seemed ## more exciting, or more comfortable.

Never had the sleigh traveled with such lightning speed.

It was all quite perfect.

And then they began stopping at the out-of-the-way country houses.

Sometimes they would go to a house far, far, far from any other.

Almost the reindeer would never have been able to tell there was such a house had not Santa said so.

He Always Knew.

But Santa Claus knew.

He always knew the houses where children lived.

No matter how far away they might be he knew about them.

And from house to house they went. And as Santa came back each time he would say to his reindeer:

"They were almost the nicest children I've ever seen—in that house."

The reindeer chuckled and grinned

RECIPES - - By NELLIE MAXWELL

For a simple luncheon or a supper the following salad is most appropriate:

Fruit Salad.—Pour a cupful of boiling water over one-half pound of dates and drain dry; cut into lengths and remove the stones.

Add to the dates one cupful of finely diced apple, two slices of finely cut pineapple, sprinkle with salt and cover with two tablespoonfuls of French dressing and one-half cupful of the ly cut celery. Let stand one hour, then serve with mayonnaise and whipped cream, using a cupful of cream to two tablespoonfuls of mayonnaise. Serve on lettuce.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Pineapple.—Peel medium-sized tomatoes, cut a slice from the top of each and remove the seeds and pulp. Sprinkle the inside of the tomatoes with salt and fill with shredded pineapple or finely diced pineapple mixed with nuts and mayonnaise dressing. Arrange the tomatoes on lettuce, garnish with mayonnaise and half of a walnut meat.

Pineapple and Cucumber Salad.—Drain one cupful of crushed pineapple, add one cupful of finely diced cucumber, add a teaspoonful of onion juice, mix with mayonnaise and season with salt and cayenne. Serve on lettuce garnished with narrow strips of red and green peppers.

Pineapple Cake Filling.—Take one cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of water and cook until it threads. Pour over one egg white, beating well. When thick enough to spread, spread well-drained pineapple over the layer of cake and cover with the boiling frosting.

Sponge Cake With Pineapple.—Arrange small pieces of sponge cake in a bowl, pour over as much pineapple juice as it will absorb. Set in a cool place. At serving time invert on a platter and serve garnished with whipped cream.

Quince Pudding.—Take three pound- of quinces, scald them until tender, then peel very thin. Add sugar to make very sweet, with a little card ginger or cinnamon. To a pint of cream add four eggs and the quinces. Butter a baking dish and bake until firm.

Sweetbreads a la Napoli.—Parboil a large sweetbread and cut into eight pieces. Cook in a hot frying pan with plenty of butter, add enough beef extract to give the sweetbread a glazed appearance. Cut bread into slices, shape with a circular cutter and toast. Spread each piece with two table-spoonfuls of grated Parmesan cheese-seasoned with salt and pepper and moistened with two tablespoonfuls of cream. Arrange one piece of sweetbread on each piece of toast and season with salt and pepper. Put into individual glass-covered dishes, having two tablespoonfuls of cream in each dish; cover each sweetbread with a fried mushroom cap, on the covers and bake in a moderate oven eight minutes.

The French people excel in the preparation of the delightful confection called marrons glacés.

They are made by a very simple process. Blanch and boil a quart of chestnuts till tender, then drain and place in a shallow buttered platter, ready to have the candied sirup poured on them. Boil one pound of sugar and one-fourth pint of water until it threads from the spoon. Do not stir. Cool and while still warm pour over the nuts and let them stand in a warm place for thirty-six hours, then remove the nuts. Have ready a sirup made like the first with one-fourth teaspoonful of cream of tartar added. Boil hard for seven minutes without stirring. Take from the heat and drop the nuts into it, place over the fire and bring the sirup to a boil, then stir carefully; skim out the nuts and drain them. When dry they are ready to pack away.

Escalloped Veal With Potato.—Minced veal very fine. Butter a baking dish and put a thin layer of veal on the bottom, sprinkle with chopped onion and cover with a layer of mashed and seasoned potato, add another layer of veal, onion and seasoning and cover with potato. Moisten with milk, cover and bake until thoroughly heated. Remove the cover and brown.

Orange juice is ideal for young and old and if taken daily will keep the body in good health.

Are You Left-Handed?

The Left-Handed Man Was Highly Honored in Those Days

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

ARE you left-handed? And if you are, do your friends look upon you as being—well, just a bit "queer" because you're different, even in this little respect, from the rest of humanity?

If you are, and they do, don't let it bother you. For, instead of left-handedness being something to be concerned about, it's something over which you can be just a bit proud. Here's one reason: away back in ancient times a left-handed man was considered "the darling of the gods" and he was frequently honored with high office for no other reason than that he was one of those "darlings of the gods," the evidence of which being the fact that he was left-handed. So, although you may not believe in gods, as did the ancients, if you have any faith in Lady Luck, or any of the other members of the modern pantheon which we know by a variety of names, all having to do with luck or chance, you might well allow yourself to believe that these modern gods will smile upon you because you're a "southern-paw," even as the ancient deities did in the olden days.

And you can tell your friends too, that you have illustrious company in your left-handedness. The Pharaohs are said to have been left-handed, as were the greater Caesars—and they were rather important people in their times. Alexander the Great, who conquered the world, did it with his good—not right but—left arm, for his story records that he grasped his trusty sword with his left hand. Then there was Charlemagne, the patron of scholars, who, when he did any writing, it all, grasped his pen in his left hand. Surely these are no fables with which you wouldn't be ashamed to claim left-handed kinship!

But to get down to more modern times—which would you rather be, one of the host of right-hand pitchers in the major leagues or one of that more exclusive group of diamond stars, such "port-wheelers" as Willie Sheridan of the St. Louis Cardinals, one of the heroes of the 1923 world's series, or Herb Pennock, the hero of the 1927 championship battle, or Babe Ruth, who was a left-handed pitcher before he deserted the slab to become the "Sultan of Swat"? Of course, one of the earliest of the great south-paws, "Rube" Waddell, is still remembered as one of the "quickest" players in baseball history. But the fact remains that he was one of the truly great slab artists of all time so it doesn't matter whether he was "queer" because he was left-handed or left-handed because he was "queer."

As a matter of fact a lot of this belief about the "queerness" of left-handed people is mere superstition that every other family is just as happy as our own.—Lieut. Belvin W. Maynard in Boys' Life.

After all, to get at the explanation of left-handedness and some of the phenomena, such as the so-called "mirror" or reversed handwriting, connected with it, it is necessary to go back to the earliest day of the genus homo. In the day of the cave man neither right nor left hand had preferred usage and modern excavations have brought to light just as many implements fashioned for left-hand use as for right-hand. When the cave man desired to set down his thoughts in picture writing, it was done with either hand.

More than that, the writing was from right to left quite as often as it was from left to right. And this survived to a much later day for a form of writing, called "boustrophedon," used in early Greek and Latin inscriptions, often showed every other line written right to left in mirror fashion, that is, it would resemble left-to-right writing if reflected in a mirror.

The increasing usage of the right hand in preference to the left came about as primitive methods of warfare developed. The left hand and arm were used to hold the shield over the heart to guard it from a fatal thrust and the sword or spear was wielded in the right. Since the nerve fibers which govern the right arm and right leg (you remember from the study of physiology in school, of course, about this "crossing over" in the nervous system) are located in the left side of the brain, that side of the brain, being more active, became highly developed and the right side of the brain, controlling the left side of the body, accordingly became less highly developed. So as time went on men became not only right-handed and right-legged and right-footed but right-eyed as well (that is to say, the vision in the right eye became keener than in the left). The skin also became more sensitive on the right side and the senses of touch, taste and smell became more acute on that side.

Along with this greater development on the right side there began to grow up a certain amount of superstition. It included the old paganistic Roman custom of putting the right foot forward at the beginning. From this custom originated the saying, which persists to this day, about "putting your best foot forward." The best foot being, of course, the right. This superstition is responsible also for the fear which many people have of entering a room with the left foot forward.

Despite the fact that most people are right-handed, approximately one out of every twenty-five is a "throw-back" to the primitive days when all were ambidextrous and these four per cent persist in being left-handed. Just why they are left-handed science has never yet been able to explain satisfactorily. One of the earliest evidences of this "throwback" is the tendency toward the so-called "mirror" or reversed writing, although not all left-handed persons have that tendency.

A short time ago one of the news pictures which was widely published in this country was that of Willie Cozens of London, Eng., a six-year-old boy who was described as "suffering from a rare ailment. He is physically normal, but because of a peculiar development of the brain he writes backward, beginning at the right side of the paper and writing all the letters the wrong way round." As a matter of fact Willie's habit of writing his name "snezoc malihw" (only the letters themselves are also reversed) is not a "rare ailment" at all. It is rather common, as the testimony of Dr. Robert Kingman of Brooklyn, N. Y., a physician who has made a special study of "mirror" writing, will show. He says:

In nearly every school there are several left-handed first graders who will annoy their teachers and alarm their parents by insisting on writing words backward, as "elppa" for "apple." They may also copy numbers backward, as "234" for "432." Unfortunately there are many teachers and parents who stigmatize such a child as "feebleminded" or "queer." They ridicule him and force him to write with his right hand only. Many girls and boys are afflicted with stuttering and other nervous disorders from just such coercion. If allowed to use their left hand they could learn to write the conventional way and later become ambidextrous.

Ambidexterity is advisable as a means to promote symmetrical development of body and mind. Bimanual dexterity is of practical advantage to ball players, carpenters and surgeons. The hero of the western movie thriller always saves his fair lady with two-handed gun play, and there seems sound reason for the belief that two-handed facility would serve equally well to real life.

As a matter of fact, mirror writing is the easiest and most natural movement for any untrained person who holds a pen in the left hand. This is true because outward movements are easier than inward movements. I know personally of many cases where adults of high intelligence resorted to mirror writing unconsciously at some period of their life.

According to Doctor Kingman, there are two different centers for the act of writing as for all other muscular movements. One is particularly suppressed by modern habit and often tries to work at the same time as the other. When the child tries to learn a skilled movement with the right hand he cannot prevent the left hand from following with the same movement. So the left hand when it produces mirror writing uses muscle movements that are natural because the brain centers for mirror writing unconsciously are formed symmetrically with those for the right hand. Because our system of education is one-sided the mirror-writing centers in the right brain are suppressed but they are potentially available just the same. They crop out in the left-handed person but that is not a sign of "queerness" at all. It is simply the "throwback." If your child is left-handed, don't try to "break him of it," encourage him to use his right hand more, to become ambidextrous, thus promoting that "symmetrical development of body and mind" of which Doctor Kingman speaks.

It has any defect. Fathers cherish the reputation for the perfection to preserve it; mothers are snobbish and filled with false pride. It is far better to face one's defects honestly. To be a hypocrite is to be a liar.—Winthrop D. Lane in Delinquent Magazine.

Troublesome Weed

The hawkweed, introduced from Europe into Canada and the New England states, has become one of the most troublesome weeds in grass lands.

Information Is Need of Poultry

Market Man Must Base His Operations on Limited Knowledge.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Need for more complete poultry statistics with which to enable producers and the trade more efficiently to meet consumption demand was emphasized by Rob. H. Stocum, poultry marketing specialist of the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture, addressing the National Poultry, Butter and Egg association at Louisville, Ky.

"Under present conditions," Mr. Stocum declared, "the market man must base his operations on such limited information as is now available and on his own opportunities, often decidedly limited, to form an opinion as to probable production. The producer, likewise, must adjust his production program on a decidedly inadequate basis on which to judge of the probable size of the poultry and egg crops which will be available during the ensuing season. The industry needs a much clearer picture of current conditions and of the probable trends of the immediate and the more remote future to enable it to regulate production most intelligently and to market the poultry and egg crops to the best advantage."

Value of Product.

The poultry industry, according to Mr. Stocum, accounted last year for 16 per cent of the total value of live stock and its products, but because the industry is widespread and because of the relative invisibility of the crop, accurate and complete poultry crop information is particularly difficult to obtain. A Department of Agriculture committee has been giving careful consideration to the problem of developing more adequate and statistics for this industry, the collection, tabulation and release of which, the committee believes, may be performed most logically by the state and federal government.

Collection of Statistics.

A tentative program formulated by this committee includes the collection of statistics on producing stocks on hand, hatchlings, young stock on farms, and receipts at country concentration points, a great deal of other important data can be derived.

"To undertake the collection of these basic statistics," Mr. Stocum said, "it would be necessary for the department to expand considerably the reports which it now receives, probably to reclassify its list of voluntary reporters and to extend their number considerably, and very likely to employ some paid observers. It would also be necessary to employ a competent staff with adequate assistants who could devote their entire time to work for the poultry industry. The wholehearted support and co-operation of the trade would be required."

Make and Store Butter for Use During Winter

"Making and Storing Farm Butter for Winter Use" is the self-explanatory title of Leaflet No. 24, just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. It is designed for use in farm homes where there is a surplus of butter in the summer and where the winter supply is not always adequate for the needs. For butter which is to keep for months, it has been found by experiment that Pasturized sweet cream should be used, and the butter churned at a fairly low temperature. After being churned it should be washed carefully, salted, wrapped in rolls or pints and covered in a strong brine and kept in a cool place. The best method of preservation in stone crocks was found far superior to covering with parchment paper, storing in dry salt, or covering with paraffin. This leaflet is devoted primarily to suggestions for storage and supplements the more detailed bulletin No. 57, "Making Butter on the Farm." These publications may be obtained by application to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Agricultural Notes

Sugar beet tops have been used for silage and are quite satisfactory.

Alfalfa and corn for silage are among our most profitable crops.

Every man who grows legumes operates his own Muscle Shoals nitrogen factory.

The fertilizer value of the manure that is lost in feed lots that are not paved is so small it should not be overlooked.

If vines, cornstalks and other truck aren't gathered up and burned they'll shelter insects through the winter that'll make you grief next season.

Pumpkins and squashes should be allowed to ripen and harden but not freeze. Well matured specimens should then be stored on racks or shelves in a dry, warm room.

Paving of feed lots is an investment that pays good dividends. If a complete program of paving the entire lot cannot be carried out, there are certain places that should be paved by all means paved.

Increasing Demand Made for Soy Beans

Call for Expansion of Production in This Country.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Soy-bean growing is a branch of agriculture in which the national supply does not meet the demand, W. J. Morse of the United States Department of Agriculture pointed out to an Illinois audience at the State Soy Bean day celebration at Urbana. In spite of the very rapid spread of soy-bean culture in the United States in recent years, we imported last year about 31,000,000 pounds of soy-bean cake, 43,000,000 pounds of soy-bean meal, and 4,000,000 pounds of soy beans. These large imports and the increasing utilization of the crop, Mr. Morse said, call for an expansion of soy-bean production in our own country.

In the United States the industry is in its infancy and although soy beans are used primarily for forage, our oil mills offer an opportunity for a greater production of seed. In China the soy bean is primarily a cash crop. It is used in many food products and is an indispensable part of the national diet. In Manchuria, which produces about 70 per cent of the world supply of soy beans, the crop occupies about 25 per cent of the cultivated area, producing on the average about half a ton to the acre.

That the Department of Agriculture is doing its share in promoting soy-bean culture is reflected in the fact that one of its agricultural explorers in China obtained approximately 2,000 introductions of seed, which are being tried out by the government with promising results.

Life of Farm Machinery Depends on Winter Care

Many claims are made on the amount of saving made by housing farm implements, says John W. Sjogren, in charge of farm mechanics, Colorado Agriculture college.

One authority states that the life of a machine can be doubled through proper care and housing. There is no doubt that placing farm machines under cover will keep them in better running order and in many instances increase the life of the implements.

If a machine shed is not available, Professor Sjogren states, the implements should at least receive enough care to place them in some corner where they will be out of the way. All parts such as plowshares and cultivator shovels should receive a coat of heavy axle grease to prevent the formation of rust. Tongues and other wooden parts should receive a coat of paint to keep moisture out of cracks as far as possible.

While putting the machinery away a card should be made out for each machine and a list made of all overhauling that should be done and of repairs to be ordered. Repair work can then be done at odd times during the dull season.

Two Coats of Paint Are Usually a Sufficiency

A little paint is good, but more is better. A single coat of paint serves its purpose as a preservative for a while but it does not have the stamming weathering action so very long. If it is reinforced with a second coat, it will have much greater efficiency. It is estimated that a two-coat job of painting will last well and give as good results as three separate single coats put on at different times. In other words, single coat painting costs 50 per cent more to get the same efficiency.

Two coats are usually sufficient to cover a surface well if the paint is properly mixed and properly brushed out. Three coats are usually not necessary unless the surface is in exceedingly bad condition. If the paint is applied too thick it is likely to peel and blister and thus be impaired in value.

Pyrethrum Flowers Form Basis of Insecticides

Uncle Sam is preparing to "roll his own" insect powders. In other words, the Department of Agriculture is conducting field experiments to determine whether or not pyrethrum flowers, which, when ground, form the basis of many insecticides, can be grown successfully on a commercial scale in the United States.

The plant is closely related to the common oxeye daisy and has been produced commercially in California, but the supply now comes largely from Dulmatia and Japan.

It costs from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000 annually, and the department wants to know what can be done toward keeping the money at home.

Summing Up Economic Value of Farm Silo

Summing up the economic value of the silo, where large numbers of experiments and tests are averaged, you can safely figure that the silo will save $1 on the production of 100 pounds of beef or growth. It will save 12 cents on the cost of producing a pound of butter. It will save 40 cents on the production of 100 pounds of milk. It will save $1 in the production of 100 pounds of mutton. For keeping horses, mules, young stock, and dry cows, it will save 30 per cent on the feed bill. Every stock keeper can figure out the value of the silo to him on this basis.

Improved Uniform International Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. F. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Dean Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

Lesson for November 27

ISAIAH TEACHES TRUE WORSHIP

LESSON TEXT—Isa. 1:1-20.

GOLDEN TEXT—O magnify the Lord with me and let us exalt his name together. I saw the Lord and he heard me and delivered me from all my fears.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Worshipping God
JUNIOR TOPIC—Worship That Pleases God
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Worship That Pleases God
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Nature of True Worship.

Isaiah had a long ministry, beginning in the days of Uzziah and extending through the reign of Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah. For a history of the nation in this time see II Kings, chapters 15 to 20. Isaiah's visions present the redemptive purpose of God through the consummation of Messiah's kingdom. Chapter 1 is the title to the whole book. It contains the great arraignment of the people for their sins.

1. The Moral State of the People (vv. 2-4).
1. Filial ingratitude (v. 2).
- The universe is summoned to hear the Lord's complaint against Judah and Israel for their base ingratitude.
2. Brutal stupidity (v. 3).
- The ox and the ass are proverbially stupid, but Israel's stupidity exceeded theirs. Israel would not recognize His right as sovereign, nor author of mercies.
3. Habitual evil doers (v. 4).
- They were not sinners in act merely, but in nature and heart were laden with iniquity. By heredity they passed their vices from generation to generation.

11. Their Consequent Miseries (vv. 5-9).
1. Their perplexity (v. 5).
- Chastisement only hardened them. Their afflictions were followed by deeper and more heinous sins.
2. Their awful confusion (v. 6).
- The calamity which befell them extended to all classes. No one was able to minister to their comfort.
3. Desolations in the country (vv. 7, 8).
- Revolts from within and invasions from without left their country desolate. Physical ruin always follows moral and spiritual decadence.
4. A saved remnant assured (v. 9).
- God's purposes cannot fail. A remnant was saved in Israel—a remnant shall be saved in the church.
11. Formal Worship Rebuked (vv. 10-15).
- Their awful calamities were not due to the neglect of religious rites and ceremonies. They punctiliously observed the forms of religion while indulging in iniquitous practices.
1. God does not need sacrifices (v. 11).
- Worship and service are not for God's benefit, but for that of the worshippers themselves.
2. God's attitude toward formal worship (vv. 12-14).
- The very rites and ceremonies which God ordained for the purpose of helping men to approach Him become disgusting and irksome to Him.
3. God's refusal (v. 15).
- Every act of worship while the heart and life are steeped with iniquity only incites the anger of the Holy One.
- IV. An Amended Life God's Requirement (vv. 16-20).
- Though the nation had so grievously sinned, their case was not hopeless. In order to enjoy that mercy there must be:
1. A cleansing.
- "Wash you, make you clean." The washing by water symbolized the cleansing by the blood of the Son of God.
2. "Put away the evil of your doings."
- There could be no cleansing while continuing in sin.
3. "Cease to do evil."
4. "Learn to do well" (v. 17).
- One can only cease to do evil by learning to do well.
5. "Seek judgment."
- One must not only be upright himself but should protest against the wrongdoing of others. Burdens should be removed from the oppressed. Justice should be done to the fatherless and the widows should be befriended.
6. Encouragement to come to God (v. 18).
- Though their guilt was great and the judgment which befell them was awful, God's pardoning and cleansing grace were sufficient.
7. Conditional promise (v. 19).
- This means that they could only enjoy good on God's terms.
8. Solemn warning (v. 20).
- Rebellion against God brings ruin.

Religion
Trusting God with a sincere and open heart, ready to obey what He suggests, asking His guidance, and ready to take it, believing in Him and simply trusting life to Him—that is religion.—James Reid.

Cost of Discipleship
Christ tells us to count the cost of discipleship, but He never asks us to count the gain. He knew we could not; there is no arithmetic to compute that.—W. L. Watkinson.

Poultry Special Ends Tour Fort Collins, Colo.—The better poultry special train completed its first weeks' tour of western states at Ardmore, S. D. The exhibit cars will be dismantled here and at Laramie, Wyo., and Denver. It is estimated the train was visited by approximately 100,000 persons in New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and South Dakota.

Britain Fights U. S. Films London—Great Britain's efforts to break the United States monopoly of the British motion picture film market took another step toward realization when the house of commons passed the British film bill. The bill, which provides theaters must book a certain percentage of British films each year, was vigorously opposed by numerous theater owners, who asserted the popularity of their houses would be seriously impaired by the measure.

Lower Rates on Fruit Washington—The Interstate Commerce Commission affirmed its former decision that railroads must reduce rates on California fresh fruits other than apples and citrus products moving to the eastern half of the United States. By the finding railroads must make a rate on California fruit to the eastern half of the country of $1.60 per 100 pounds to replace the existing rate of $1.75. From California to Denver and Rocky Mountain territory, the roads must fix a fruit rate of $1.50 instead of the rate of $1.62 now applying. Railroads concerned in the traffic protested the decision sharply after its announcement last July, giving notice that they intended to appeal to the courts, and the commission allowed a rehearing.

Colorado Wins Livestock Honors Fort Collins.—Timnath high school has brought new honors to the state by taking fifth place in the national vocational livestock judging contest at the Kansas City Royal Stock show. Twenty-seven teams representing as many states were competing in this contest and only Oklahoma, Texas, California and Virginia were able to place ahead of the Colorado boys. Dwight Hessler of the Timnath team tied for third high individual in the contest.

High School Editors Meet Boulder.—More than 150 high school editors and managers of newspapers and annuals attended the seventh annual conference sponsored for them by the University of Colorado teachers club, the department of journalism, and Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic fraternity, last week. Yearbooks were entered from Arizona, Idaho, Kansas, Utah, Wyoming and from fifteen Colorado schools. Delegates were present from more than thirty Colorado schools.

Why I Love America

Now ask me why I love America! Such homes as mine are to be found all the country over and they are what make it a great country. Every boy scout has those loved ones that he prizes above all others. For these we would gladly give our lives, for all we would gladly give and unselfish. Being unselfish we are not only interested in the happiness of our loved ones—but we are determined to see that every other family is just as happy as our own.—Lieut. Belvin W. Maynard in Boys' Life.

Don't Ask for Perfection

Children who get the idea that it is a sign of weakness to admit any fault are being prepared for a whole series of lies. No one can maintain such a standard; none of us is perfect. Yet there are parents who hold up before their children impossible notions of how exalted the position of the family is; no member of
