

Expect Sixty Countries to Observe Golden Rule Sunday

MORE than sixty nations throughout the civilized world are expected to join in the observance of International Golden Rule Sunday this year, according to Gordon L. Berry, Executive Secretary of the International Near East Association, under whose auspices the day will be celebrated.

Originally intended to promote peace and better understanding throughout the world and to attract world wide attention to the situation in the Near East, where American and foreign philanthropy are caring for an army of war orphans, the day this year will have the additional purpose of aiding victims of the earthquake in Armenia, a large number of them children now under the care of the American Near East Relief.

On Golden Rule Sunday people throughout the world are asked to serve in their homes the simple meal of a Near East Relief orphanage and then to contribute as generously as their means will permit to relief work and child welfare work in Bible Lands. The children thus cared for are being trained as apostles of a more peaceful world.

Reports submitted to Mr. Berry indicate that last year fifty-one nations joined in the observance of the day. Official sanction to the idea in this country was given by the endorsement of President Coolidge and abroad by rulers, statesmen, and diplomats.

The appeal for aid to children in Bible Lands has received a universal responses in all civilized countries. Practical application of the Golden Rule is the sole purpose of the observance. Golden Rule Sunday will be celebrated everywhere as a day of self-sacrifice and kindly thoughts toward children in distant lands.

RED TAPE

A gun collector recently sought by buy some obsolete war material for museum purposes. Some of it dated back to the Civil War; all of it is old and as little usable as witch charms. It was for sale. But it took days of time of officials to whom the government pays thousands of dollars a year to negotiate the sale of $3 worth of stuff. A private company would have handled such an order between mails. This incident has a lesson for those who wish to learn.

STAY WITH THE SHIP

President Coolidge, in his message to congress, stressed national economy as an ever urgent need. The enormous revenues of the government are "in charge on all the people whether or not they directly pay taxes." He takes the ground that whatever distress may exist for the farmers, can be traced directly to inflation which followed the war. But he asserts that, with some exceptions as to localities and crops, "agriculture is continuing to make progress in recovering from the depression of 1921 and 1922."

Speaking of the nation as a whole, he says: "What this country requires is not so much new policies as a steady continuation of those which are already being crowned with such success."

OLDEN CLUB RULES

The custom among luncheon clubs in the United States, whereby a club is supposed to limit its membership to only one of each business or profession, recalls a similar rule of the famous Spectator Club, organized by Addison, the English essayist, more than two centuries ago.

In that day the rule was stated thus: "None shall be admitted into the club that is of the same trade with any member of it."

Some other rules of the Spectator Club, however, find no counterpart among the modern regulations governing Rotary, Kiwanis and similar organizations, but they are nevertheless interesting, the following being examples:

"If any member swears or curses, his neighbor may give him a kick upon the shins.

"If any member tells stories in the club that are not true, he shall forfeit for every third lie a half penny.

"If any member brings his wife in

More Rye This Year

(Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation)

American thumbs have always been turned down where rye for table purposes is concerned. Most of our rye crop has been exported to Europe and the bulk of the remainder fed to farm animals, according to a survey by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. This year, however, a crop of 42,000,000 bushels is expected and less than usual will be sent to Europe as their crops will also be fairly large. This fact, coupled with feed-crop failures in many of our rye-growing sections, means that more of our rye crop will be fed to farm animals this year than usual. Hogs, on an average, consume 53.4% of the rye used on the farm, horses 26.5%, poultry 14.6% and cattle 5.5%.

Yokes That Are Easy to Wear

This modern young girl believes in being free from all dictates, except from those of fashion. In fact she is so captivated by smart style that she wears a frock with a yoke. This is a pleasure, for the yoke is new and most interestingly cut, being V-shaped in front and slashed for a tie, while in back it follows an unusual and attractive outline. There are inverted plaits at the sides and in front, and a narrow belt which ties in the back. The frock is especially effective in satin crepe with the shiny side used for yoke, cuffs and inverted plaits.

KEEPING FIT WITH FAMOUS AMERICANS

Thomas Edison Eats Light and Works Hard

THOMAS A. EDISON, inventor and creator of questionnaires that befuddle college men, preserves his remarkable health with plenty of work and a minimum of food.

An average of sixteen hours of each day are spent by Mr. Edison either in his shops or laboratories. He avoids tea and coffee and eats about one-quarter the food consumed by the average man, selecting it with the view to obtain the essential health-giving properties. Although in his seventy-ninth year, Mr. Edison still religiously follows his rule for a long working day. His chief exercise is obtained by walking around his shops. He follows no outdoor sports, he employs no athletic equipment, and neither does he perform calisthenics. "I eat just enough of simple food to keep my weight constant—which food is surprisingly small. I drink only milk and water. My general rules of health are to work sixteen hours a day and to eat about one-quarter the food consumed each day, by most people."

Hunting a Name in Two Million

Girls sorting mail received in the name finding contest. Above, left, J. H. Westrich, "the man of the million letters," who had charge of the contest; right, Hans Simonson, the winner.

Close to one million people, filling more than two million names, joined in the search for a name for a new automobile tire, in what is said to be one of the largest name finding contests ever staged. It was conducted by Sears, Roebuck & Co., Chicago. It required a small army of mail openers months to handle this mountain of mail and select the winners. Replies flooded in from every state in the union, every province of Canada, Alaska, Porto Rico, Hawaii, South America and Europe, written in twenty-five different languages. The $5,000 first prize was awarded to Hans Simonson of Bismarck, N. D., for the name "Allstate."

HOW MANY SOULS?

Professor Frederick H. Sears, eminent astronomer of Mt. Wilson observatory, has been making some interesting estimates concerning the inhabitants of the universe, which run into big figures.

First, he notes that there are about 30 billion suns, many of them immensely larger than our own, each of which has at least one world spinning around it, while many have several, like our own solar system.

The earth has an estimated population of about two billion people, or if each of these suns has only one inhabited planet and these planets average as many inhabitants as the earth, it would mean that there are 60 quintillions of living people. To write this in figures you have only to put down a 6 with 19 ciphers after it.

This estimate, or guess, assumes only the possible number of people inhabiting the now visible universe. How many more suns there may be no one knows, and it is not likely that a telescope will ever be made powerful enough to discover them all.

But, taking the estimate as it stands, it refers only to people now living. The number that have lived and died, and those who are yet to live and die are left entirely to the imagination. Supposing that all have or will have immortal souls, it appears that there is little likelihood of anyone's getting lonesome in the hereafter, whatever his destination.

Some husbands don't even dare to make a minority report.

Edward S. Jordan, automobile manufacturer, favors light exercise and simple food.

KEEPING busy and avoiding too much food are the maxims for good health, according to Edward S. Jordan, automobile maker and "The Writer" of the automotive industry. Mr. Jordan, who worked his way through college as a reporter and became a salesman before entering the automobile business, finds exercise in golf and tennis. On the question of food he is most particular, all of his meals being "light" and sufficiently rich in the substances that are essential to humans. "Good health is largely hereditary," he says. "If you are fortunate enough to be born with it, you can keep it. If you are born without it, you can improve it. To keep it requires:

- "1. An active mind devoted to thoughts outside yourself.
- "2. A little less food than you would like to eat.
- "3. Perspiration at least once a day.

"Too much food and too little elimination are the two great detractors to health."

High-Priced Practical Joke
Mrs. Arnold Nichols of Chicago probably includes in her New Year's resolutions a vow to refrain from practical jokes. Recently she put a suitcase in the bed of a guest, Mrs. H. L. Bannock, who, thinking it was a man, fled and fell downstairs. The Nichols family had to pay Mrs. Bannock $3500 on account of her injuries.

Schedule of Prices for Murder
While no schedule has been published, some idea of murder prices in Chicago may be gained from the confession of one Loren Patrick. He admits killing Fred Lindstrom, at Mrs. Lindstrom's request, for $137. The lady had hoped to collect life insurance and return to her first husband.

America and England will soon be connected with direct telephone service by wire to coast, thence by radio over the ocean.

Justice a la Solomon
Judge Lacroix of Montreal displayed Solomon-like qualities in disposing of a handsome collie dog claimed by Mrs. Alice Paquin, who charged that Albert Corbell had stolen it from her. She was placed on one side of the courtroom and Corbell on the other, when the dog was released in the center. The animal bounded, with a display of affection, to Corbell, who was declared the rightful owner.
